

Senate Removes Pressley, Sen. Harter Resigns Post

The Student Senate voted 6 to 2 last week to remove Senator Ron Pressley and to accept the resignation of John Harter.

The Senate voted in view of the fact that the two senators are ineligible because they do not meet the grade point set up by the faculty and enforced by President Delorit.

President Delorit told Bob Rasmussen, president of the Senate that he could not recognize any action by the Student Senate until the two were removed.

Rasmussen told the Senate that he was "not in full agreement with the decision, but I realize that Delorit has the right to administer faculty policy."

In a prepared statement to the Senate, Harter said he was resigning "in view of the neglect of academic studies." President Rasmussen noted that he was under no pressure to resign.

The Senate had voted the previous week to reinstate Pressley in light of a more liberal policy to "govern its own internal affairs."

Before the vote to remove him, Pressley said "I know it would be best to resign, but I cannot because the relationship between the two bodies (Faculty and Student Senates) is still hazy."

The Senate discussed the possibility of taking no action to remove Pressley until learning the viewpoint of the Faculty Senate at its meeting tomorrow night. Feltes made a motion to this effect but it was not seconded.

Feltes said he was not ashamed of the Senate's action to regulate its own affairs, but recognized the need of the student body to comply with the action of the administration. He said the problem lies in the Senate's "representing the student body, but drawing its power from the President."

During the discussion, Senator Wayne Weiss said there is a time to compromise and this is it. If the house is not clean, the faculty senate is not so likely to go along with us on other matters." He further stated that this "housecleaning" should have been done without need of the President's recommendation and if the Senate wishes to liberalize its policy it should be done gradually.

Chudy agreed with Weiss on this point. He said, "If the Senate is thought irrespossible, (by the faculty) there may be a breakdown on student power.

Several onlookers stated that the Senate should not back down at this point on its policy of liberalization.

It was decided that the vote should be a roll call voice vote. The votes were: Chudy, Feltes, Haines, Halvorson, Weiss, Vogler--Yes; Herberg and Pressley--No. President Rasmussen did not vote.

Pressley said he voted no because of the resolution of last week. He asked to be excused from the rest of the meeting after the vote.

In further action, the Senate voted to accept the resignation of Gordon Fleury from the chairmanship of LAC due to an increased academic load. Andy Anton was approved as new chairman.

Laverne Herberg reported the progress of the Greek Letter Council on its definition of when a member of a fraternity is considered to be representing his group. The Senate decided the definition should be made clearer before any action be taken.

The $150 "slush fund," approved by the Budget Committee, was given final approval by the Senate. It was suggested by Dr. Webster that perhaps a different title be given to the money since "slush fund" might create undesirable connotations.

The Senate discussed the problem of the Dorm Rules Committee in its slowness to make a report of progress to the Senate. It was decided that Chudy be delegated to attend the meetings, held at the same time as Student Senate, because he could "do a hell of a lot more there than sitting here for an hours."

Program Called Teach-in

A special Christmas show titled "A Christmas Bag: A Pot-pourri of Attitudes Traditional and Modern" will be presented Tuesday, Dec. 19, at 4 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

The program is being presented by a group of interested students and faculty members. According to Ronald Neuhauser, English Instructor and coordinator of the presentation, it will attempt to identify, by objectively examining through sincerity and satire and satires of sincerity and satire, existing meanings of Christmas. Neuhauser called it "an extracurricular tongue in cheek teach-in".

Part of the up-dating of Christmas comes through new lyrics to old carols, such as those set to "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen":

We're free to think just what we want but must watch what we say. We're free to act if we conform to the public's whim today, but must not sit or stand or walk without some fool's okay, who brings tidings of wonder and joy, wonder and joy, tidings of wonder and joy.

The presentation will include skits and songs about gift exchanges ("Any gift you give me, I'll give you better, I can give you a gift better than mine. No you can't, yes I can, etc"), commercialism (A living monument to American industry), and Santa Claus (Symbolically a pagan diety, who lacks the universal benevolence and understanding of Christ and favors good children over bad. The 'Big Brother' of totalitarianism who sees you when you're sleeping and know when you're awake).

Information from Neuhauser also states, "The presentation will not step on any toes, but may saw off the limbs people go out on or hang them with their own rope." There will be no admission charge for the show.

Quest Policy Liberalized

A proposal concerning a more liberal guest policy was unanimously passed Tuesday night by the Associated Women Students (AWS) Executive Board.

The motion as it was passed stated that coeds should have free movement between women's residence halls until cots and other supplies run out, on a first-come-first-serve basis. This rule is restricted to weekends only, without prior permission. During finals and on week nights 24 hour permission would be needed from both resident counselors.

The proposal was then turned over to Dr. Nancy Knaak, Associate Dean of Students for her approval or veto. Her decision will be based on the opinions of the resident counselors of the women's dormitories. The counselors are Mrs. Ruth Harrigan and Miss Rezvaniyeh Mohragi, Hathorn Hall; Mrs. Genevieve Lomnes, McMillan Hall; and Miss Margaret Bailey, Parker Hall. If the Dean approves the proposal, it will again be considered by the AWS Executive Board or will be put to an AWS all-member vote.

A motion by Anne Parnell, representative from McMillan Hall, brought the issue to the floor for reconsideration.

The Legislative Committee of the AWS Executive Board presented the proposal at last week's meeting. Dr. Knaak expressed a number of reasons why she did not favor the proposal and the issue was dropped.

The Board decided to establish a policy concerning guests attending Executive Board meetings. A sophomore representative from McMillan Hall, Nancy Frey, moved that the AWS Executive Board hold open business meetings with the exception of disciplinary cases.

Plays Run Here

Two one-act plays, "The Tiger" and "The Collection," will be presented by the Student Directors' Workshop in the Pit Theatre on Dec. 18, 19, and 20.

A slightly unstrung mail carrier kidnaps a young suburban housewife with the intention that she, at least, will do as he orders in "The Tiger" by Murray Schisgal. The two roles in "The Tiger" are played by Jeri Rye and Noel Hoover with Ilona Hoover Krum directing.

The plot of "The Collection" by Harold Pinter concerns the effect that a single happening has on four people, two homosexuals and a couple living in an abnormal heterosexual relationship. All of their lives are disrupted when the wife tells her husband of a supposed affair with one member of the other couple. Steve Lockwood directs this play with cast members James Bancroft, Robert Kivela, Marilyn Schiel, and Timothy Schaffer.

Performances start at 8 p.m. with tickets selling for 50 cents for students and one dollar for nonstudents.

Greeks Get Temporary Colonization Guidelines

The Greek Letter Council (G. L. C.) examined several major issues concerning the nationalization of member organizations, formation of a new fraternity and the guidelines for colonization at their meeting last Monday.

Kappa Theta and Alpha Gamma Rho received formal approval from the G.L.C.

to join national fraternities. Kappa Theta will be affiliated with Phi Sigma Epsilon national fraternity of the same name.

A new social-agricultural fraternity, Delta Theta Sigma, submitted its constitution to the G. L. C. constitution committee for review in conjunction with a member of the fraternity's constitution committee.

The G. L. C. Judiciary Board submitted temporary guidelines for the state of colonization which must be reviewed and approved by each Greek organization before they become final.

The guidelines as submitted for approval are:

A member of a fraternity or sorority is representing the Greek organization when he is participating in any Greek sponsored activity or when he is wearing a Greek emblem, such as a pin, sweat-shirt, or jacket.

The guidelines for actions of the G.L.C. Judiciary Board are outlined as:

1. written warning
2. written warning with recommendations
3. probation time period (to be designated) in which organization will be under consideration for additional punishment -- depending on actions during this period
4. social probation, defined as no social activities as a Greek organization for entertainment of competition
5. social probation and colonization, probation as defined in #4 and colonization as defined in the G.L.C. constitution
6. social probation, colonization and no rushing and pledging during colonization and no rushing and pledging during colonization period
7. temporary withdrawal of constitution for not less than six months or more than twelve months--withdrawal of constitution means no meetings
8. withdrawal of constitution and disbanding of organization (indefinitely) with removal of Greek letter or designations

If the organization is found guilty of breaking rules 4, 5, and 6, rule 7 immediately goes into effect. If the organization breaks rule 7, rule 8 automatically goes into effect.

The G. L. C. committee concerned with rushing and pledging reported that the major complaint of Dr. Munns and the faculty members during spring pledging is the costuming of pledges. A suggestion that pledges wear suits and dressy clothes for the first five weeks of pledging and costumes only during the last week was made. No final decision was made at that time.

The Phi Nu Chi colony made three requests of the Council. They asked permission to go Christmas caroling on Sunday and Monday evenings, to participate in a preliminary basketball game with Kappa Theta and to accept an invitation extended by the parents of Jim Socia (president of Phi Nu Chi) for a hay ride. The first two requests were granted but the last was refused.

Comm. Looks Into Bus Service

Four alternatives were presented to the Student Affairs Committee last Monday after a deeper investigation into the possibility of establishing a University shuttle bus service between River Falls and the Twin Cities.

Douglas Davis, assistant professor in the speech department, and also a member of the Student Affairs Committee reported the 1) the status quo could be maintained, 2) that vehicles could be rented for each trip separately, 3) that a busing contract could be signed for the entire year, or 4) that the University could purchase its own vehicles.

Of this latter point, Davis said Cletus Hendrickson, business manager of the University, felt there would be no place available for housing these vehicles.

After hearing this report, Dr. Richard Darr, Professor of Economics, proposed a motion calling for the establishment of an action-study group of administrators, faculty and student representatives to further investigate these alternatives.

Chuck Feltes appeared before the Committee in behalf of the Student Senate seeking endorsement of a resolution concerning gradepoint requirements for qualification on the Student Senate. The Committee unanimously voted to approve only the section stating "Be it resolved: That the Student Senate of WSU-RF be allowed to regulate its own internal affairs in regard to academic standards of its members and Senate candidate qualifications."

The desire of Kappa Theta to go national was expressed at this time and also a supplementary meeting held on Wednesday, Dec. 12, Mr. Richard Hoskin, a representative from the executive office of Phi Sigma Epsilon, met with the Committee members to discuss the issue.

Mr. Hoskin explained that there "were more to school than textbooks" and the basic function of the national fraternity was to "add incentives for social inter-relationships" and to deal with problems encountered when living with people."

He also emphasized the fact that Phi Sigma Epsilon like its people to be involved in campus activities and that they were not a closed society.

He said if Kappa Theta went national they could begin plans for a fraternity house when they proved to the national organization that they could run one smoothly, profitably and for the betterment of the fraternity.

Hazing is definitely not condoned by the national organization and anyone found practicing it in any way is expelled from the national organization.

Minority groups are welcome to participate in the fraternity if they meet the academic and other requirements of the local group and Hoskin also stated that dues would be under $25 a year after the initial fee was paid.

"Why are we in Vietnam," a U.S. State Department movie will be shown next Tuesday and Wednesday on campus in North Hall auditorium. The movie presents explanations of current policy by President Johnson, Secretary of State Rusk, and Secretary of Defense McNamara, as well as scenes of peace and war in South Vietnam.

Following the 30 minute government movie will be "Time of the Locust," a 12-minute film showing the effects of the war on Vietnamese and on American soldiers. It was sponsored by the American Friends Society and was produced by Peter Gossner.

A total of four showings will be presented. The first at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 19 and one later the same day at 8 p.m. The next day, Wednesday, Dec. 20, will also have two showings at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. They are open to all residents of the area and are free of charge.

The films are being sponsored by the Student Voice and will begin a series of movies, speakers and debates on the war which will be sponsored by various organizations. An informal group of faculty, students, and townspeople is planning the series to provide information and promote constructive debates about the war.

STUDENT SENATE

Student members for the Student-Faculty Superior Students Committee will be selected at the Dec. 20 meeting of the Student Senate. The meeting will be held at 6:30 in room 204 Student Center.

Hathorn Women Become Mothers

The girls of Hathorn hall are now the proud mothers of a little Grecian boy. The child, adopted by the dorm through the Foster Parent Plan, is between the ages of five and eight. The name of the boy and his exact age are not yet known. Hathorn Hall is still awaiting its first letter from him, which it expects to receive sometime in January.

Each letter that the child writes will be translated into English before the girls receive it.

The idea of adopting a foster child originated at a spring, 1967, meeting of the Hathorn Hall dorm council.

The cost of such a project is $180 a year, which is taken from the dormitory treasury. This money goes to pay for clothes, books, medical bills, and other items for both the child and his family.

Sen. Chuck Feltes Explains Position Of Student Senate

What would you have done...if you were a member of a Student Senat which operates under two different grade point requirements?

What would you have done...if a Senator X whom you liked for his easy manner and corny jokes was disqualified from his seat due to academic ineptness.

What would you have done...if Senator X was disqualified from the Senate under Faculty rules rather than your own?

What would you have done...if no Senator or Senate had previously been able to buck that Faculty rule?

What would you have done...if you were in the process of changing that rule in an attempt to retain Senator X when the President of the University stated that he was following a policy of "Faculty Governance" and would no longer recognize the actions of the Senate until "disqualified" members were removed?

What would you have done...if you were a member of a body which was responsible to a student constituency but drew many of its powers and legal existence from the University President?

What would you have done...bucked a President who had every legal right to do what he did just because you disagreed with a faculty rule and his application of it?

What would you have done...risked the very existence of the Student Senate for a principle which would be laughed out of any court of law?

What would you have done...taken the glorious and righteous way out and "buck the Administration" so that everyone can admire you (including the VOICE) for your stand while you are also a member of a powerless and non-existent body?

What would you have done...ask the Student Body to lend its usual apathetic support to Student Government?

Run a referendum in which only 15 per cent of the Student Body votes?

Have a demonstration in which only 70 people show up; 20 of which whom are either cops or administrators?

Write a letter to the VOICE?

What would you have done...ask the Faculty Senate to retroactively reverse its past decision on Senate grade points?

Ask a Faculty Senate to buck the same President from whom they draw their power?

Ask the Faculty Senate to step on the President who was merely enforcing their rules?

What would you have done...take the issue to the Board of Regents and end up with a Uniform Grade Point Policy for the nine state universities?

What would you have done...risk the Student Senate's status, prestige and influence that the Senate has achieved in its 31 years of existence for a Student Senator who has fallen below a 2.0 for two consecutive quarters or defend a principle established a week previously which had not been officially recognized by any authority other than the Student Senate?

What would you have done...tried to turn back the clock and correct all the past tactical blunders which seemed good ideas at the time?

What would you have done...if you were in a position where the only two alternatives make you look and feel like an ass?

What would you have done...

What would you have done...

Counseling Problem

This school has a very definite counseling problem. Anyone who has had extensive contact with the Personnel Department is well aware of this fact. There are, at present, four persons employed in the Personnel Department under the title of "counselor." This University does not at the present time have four full-time counselors. Persons identified as such have assumed or been loaded with many additional outside tasks. Consequently, they often are devoting a majority of their work-days to non-counseling duties.

Where does this leave the student with a problem? It leaves him nowhere. Every year this campus has several suicide attempts. The most recent of these near tragedies occurred just prior to finals last quarter. The question that arises when such an incident occurs is: "Why didn't the individuals seek help instead of resorting to such drastic action?" The answer is complex and involved from the institutional as well as the psychological standpoint.

Before criticizing the counseling facilities, or lack of them, further, it is only fair to admit that with the best counseling and psychiatric facilities available there would still be problems and there would still be suicide attempts.

However, this is not to say that the situation can not be radically improved. The original question remains as pertinent as ever. It is underlined by the very real fact that the majority of counseling needs, though not as serious in nature as suicide attempts, face the same situation; a counseling service, if it can be identified as such, too closely identified with the administration and too heavily burdened with other duties to provide the time and service which is needed.

There is a distinct division in opinion among college authorities, not only on this campus, as to the nature and extent of the obligation of an educational institution to its members in regard to counseling. Some feel that it is the obligation of a university to provide, not only trained counselors and appropriate facilities, but also personnel with advanced professional training, in the form of a clinical psychologist or some other such personage. The role of such a professional would probably be to head the staff of a clinic of sorts and to handle the more difficult cases.

Although a psychiatric out-patient clinic of this sort would be ideal, it would seem to be hardly practical. There are several reasons. The first of these, as so often the case, is finances. Clinical psychologists come high. Very high. Probably in the $30,000 per year bracket. Expenditures for the remainder of the staff plus the cost of an adequate building to house the clinic would make this a costly venture to say the least. Although having a clinical psychologist on the staff is attractive, it still would not be a complete answer because that one individual, regardless of his training and caliber, can not attempt to handle the entirety of problems which cover the psychiatric spectrum. In other words, referrals to other centers would still be necessary.

This is not to say that the problem of insufficient counseling facilities must or will remain unchanged. While some officials feel that it is not the school's responsibility to "treat" cases of an extreme psychological nature, they do recognize that an educational institution must provide adequate and readily available facilities to its students.

Thus the long sought and badly needed re-organization of the counseling branch of the Personnel Department seems imminent. Hopefully, if such a change occurs it will be made very plain to students and faculty alike that the "counseling service" is a separate unit, in no way identified with the administration. This separation of counselor and administrator should be carried to the extent of housing the counseling service in a separate facility, removed from North Hall.

In introducing such a change in counseling practices, it is hoped that the University will thoroughly acquaint faculty members with both the services rendered by the facility and the procedures to be used when making referrals. At present faculty members are nearly as ignorant as are students to the offerings of the Personnel Department. Consequently, only a small fraction of the cases now handled are faculty referrals.

A change is in the offing. Let us hope that it is done in a manner which will insure the members of this academic community the best possible services to provide for a very genuine need.

The Ferret

by Michael Brecke

Last week the question of power, student power, came to the fore on our campus. The Student Senate reversed a decision which they made two weeks ago when they reinstated a Senator who had lost his right to be a Senator because of a faculty ruling concerning grade point. Last week they again removed this Senator from the Government body.

Two questions immediately come to mind. One, why did they change their mind? Two, how does this action affect Student Power on this campus?

According to many Senators, they changed their mind because they did not want to break down communication lines between their governing body and the other two political forces on campus, the faculty senate and the administration. The Senate seemed to feel that by heeding the "advice" of Dr. Delorit, to remove the senator in question, that they would have a better chance of working with him in the future. According to the Senators, Dr. Delorit told the Senate that unless they removed the ineligible Senator, he would not recognize any action taken by them.

This raises the second question and what about student power in relationship to our Student Senate. From my point of view, Student Power is a combination of things that the Senate did and did not do. First of all they did not stand up and demand the right to govern themselves. They simply backed away at the first challenge to their power. Secondly they did not join forces with the Faculty Senate soon enough. In other words they did leave themselves open to counter attack before they mounted their offensive. They have to their credit that they did attempt an offensive.

Today, be it in the state of Wisconsin or any state, Student power frightens administrators, regents and legislators.

It is a real tragedy that administrators, regents and legislators cannot look at students as struggling human beings, concerned about this thing called education. If these higher authorities took time to do this, they might find out that students had some good ideas.

Biggest Blunder

Last Wednesday, the Student Senate committed the biggest blunder and most assinine move they or we are ever likely to witness. Through pressure from North Hall, the Senate voted to oust Ron Pressley and John Harter from their ranks. These two students fell below what is stipulated by the faculty as requirements for a position of Senator.

Two different policies are in effect concerning the eligibility of Student Senators. According to the Student Senate's code, they must have a 2.0 overall and be carrying 12 credits. But, the faculty has ruled that they must have, in addition to the Senate's requirements a 2.0 the previous quarter. Both of the people ousted from the Senate did not meet the faculty's ruling but did meet the Senate's requirement.

Perhaps the administration has taken on this task because they are running scared. Every move this university makes is being watched by the backward legislature of this state. Our administration doesn't want any dissent among the ranks. They want the CHILDREN to stay quiet and obliging without any thoughts of student power circulating among the kids. This attitude is repugnant and must be abolished.

The Student Senate must take a positive stand for the students and not for the administration. The Senate should have the right to regulate their internal affairs. However, this regulation must be taken through mature thinking and not childish bickering as the Senate has been doing for the past few weeks.

It appears that the Senate has placed expediency above principle, in the action taken against Pressley and Harter and in so doing have paved the way for further erosion of student rights by the administration and faculty. The Student Senate must take a stand now or forfeit its rights to govern.

Jingle Bells, jingle bells...Ah, Christmas!
As it does each year, my heart overflows with love for my fellow man. And as I do once each year, I vowed to write a column in behalf of the poor, the destitute and the needy. Once a year is not too often, I say.
Take UNICEF. Now there's a worthy cause--selling gay Christmas cards to help feed hungry little children all over the world.
And so, bubbling over with the milk of human kindness, I decided to write a vitriolic column viciously attacking UNICEF Christmas cards.
"Oh, would you?" said Mrs. Andre Roegiers, a very nice representative for UNICEF. "We've had so little adverse publicity this year--a few angry letters to the editors and the usual anonymous letters and phone calls. But nothing that really stimulated sales."
I said she could count on my devotion to good works. And what was the standard way to attack this worthy cause?
"Well," she said, "most attacks come from right wingers who say the UNICEF funds help advance Communism. Actually, this isn't true. More Communist countries give to UNICEF than receive. And after all, there's no such thing as a Communist child and..."
Tut, tut, I said. Let's not let the truth stand in the way of a worthy cause. And I jotted down, "Communist conspiracy." Was it also, I asked hopefully, a Papal plot?
"I don't think anyone's thought of that yet," she said. "But a lady did call to say it was a Jewish one and she read my excerpts from the Secret Protocols of the Elders of Zion."
Good, good.
"And another demanded to know how we could conceivably call ourselves Christians."
Oh fine. There was certainly nothing more un-Christian these days than feeding hungry children of who knows what political and philosophical persuasions. And speaking of that, I supposed some of these children were undoubtedly Black and some undoubtedly were Moslems?
"Undoubtedly," said Mrs. Roegiers.
Marvelous. And I made a note: "Forments Black Moslen revolution." But let's get down to the nitty gritty, I said. I had here in my hand a Christmas card depicting an angel blowing a trumpet and inside it bore the message (pause for effect): "Peace on Earth."
Mrs. Roegiers gamely admitted it was a genuine UNICEF card.
Not "Peace with Victory," I pointed out. Nor even "Peace with Honor." But simply "Peace on Earth." Didn't Mrs. Roegiers realize that such pacifist statements gave aid and comfort to the enemy in Hanoi? Which is the legal definition of treason? "I hadn't thought of that," she said.
So I want to join the Birch Society and other do-good groups in warning you that these Christmas cards--on sale in volunteer booths at local department stores and all local UN centers-- are part of a Communist, Papist, Jewish, atheist, Black Moslem, treasonous plot. To feed hungry children around the world.
Ah, Christmas! It's the only season in which even the right-wing nuts do their share to help the needy. And now, all aglow with the Christmas spirit, I can hardly wait till next year.
Next year, I'm going to put the squeeze on the Mother's Milk Bank.

Remorse

To the Editor,
Fellow Students,
It is with remorse that I am forced to leave the Student Senate position which you have elected me to. I regret that I am no longer in the position to serve as your elected representative for the remainder of this academic year. I further regret that the Student Senate is not capable to "regulate its own internal affairs..." but has waived its rights to the student in lieu of the pressure placed upon them by the faculty and the administration. I leave this position with many thanks for your support and assistance, and for the opportunity I've had to serve all of you, hoping that I will again be able to serve you in the future.

Hal's Lowdown

by Robert Halverson
Sports Editor

The clock showed 27 seconds to play. The score: Falcons 8 and the Irish 6. Coach Tom Younghans clamly reached into his pocket and in the intangible Red Auerbach style lit the traditional cigar when the game is put away. When asked how it felt to win he said, "well, really good, but we have to tighten up our defense." Irish coach Jerry Pacquette claimed, "we just made too many mistakes." I don't care if you were a seasoned hockey fan or watching it for the first time, the game must compare with the RF Stevens Point football game of 66, the Red Sox winning the Series and Harvey Hotdog's upstart victory over Stubby Toe in horseshoes. The team gives much credit to the fans for their fine effort and requested the wonderful fans be thanked. Thanks. It was some hockey game wasn't it? It had everything: thrills, scores, penalties, speed, action, fights, tension, and the great consuming overpowering feeling of victory over a great tradition of winning such as that of the Fighting Irish. The road to victory was long and hard, but worth every mile of it. There is nothing in the world that will replace the thrill of watching the Falcons of River Falls whip the Irish of Notre Dame.

NEVE OUT

An unfortunate accident has left the Sports Page without a Basketball writer. A basketball injury to Jerry Meve has forced him to drop out of school. He injured both legs a week ago and is still not able to walk on crutches. If interested in writing roundball stories call 425-6114.

SEVEN SWIMMERS

Falcon Swim Coach Mike Davis now is down to seven (7) swimmers. His team's performance against the LaCrosse Indians with this undermanned team is typical of the performances the young coach gets from his squad, with seven more like the ones he has they would be unbeatable. Happy holidays from Hal!

Blademen Whip Irish 8-6

Coach Tom Younghans' Falconblademen opened their 1967-8 season Friday night by beating the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame 8-6.

Duane Seelander scored two goals for the Falcons, including the winning goal with 4:12 gone of the third period. It was obvious from the start that the local skaters were ready to play. With the game not a minute old Gene Hoff had beaten Notre Dame goalie John Barry with assists from John Humphrey and Jerry Trooien, to put the Falcons ahead 1-0.

The wild and woolly first period yielded 7 goals, RF 4 and the Irish 3.

Other Falcons scoring in the first stanza were Jerry Coe from Shorty Vogland, John Humphrey from Jerry Trooien and Shorty Vogland and Duane Selander from Jerry Coe.

In contrast to the first period, the second stanza was growing old before RF found the Irish nets. At 13:57 Jon Swenson slapped in a John Humphrey rebound shot and the Falcons were ahead 5-3. After an Irish score Joe Broneak with an assist from Duane Seelander at 17:45 put the Falcons out front 6-4.

The Fighting Irish lived up to their name as the third period started. At 2:46 of the final period the Irish scored their fifth goal and a minute later had knotted the high scoring tilt at 6-6 with Phil Wittliff's third goal of the evening.

The tie score was short lived however, as 19 seconds later Duane Seelander had his second goal of the night. The score came on assists from Dave Arntzen and Dennis Vogland. The final goal of the game was scored a minute later by Dennis Vogland. The final goal of the game was scored a minute later by Dennis Vogland from Duane Seelander.

The capacity crowd saw the Falcons open their season and the Irish season record now stands at 4 wins and 1 loss. Saturday night the South Bend six traveled to Duluth, Minnesota to tangle with St. John's University. The Irish won the contest 6-3.

Friday night Notre Dame goalie John Barry stopped 30 shots on goal and Pete Boelter of the Falcon net stopped 33 Irish stops.

Next game for the fierce Falcon puchsters will be against Augsburg over the Christmas Holidays.

Swimmers Lose to Indians

The Falcon swim team gave a good performance but lost to the La Crosse Indians last Saturday by the score of 72-32. As has been the case in the past, the Falcons were outnumbered as Coach Davis' team now has only seven swimmers who are eligible.

Dave Penticoff broke his week-old record in the 200 breaststroke with an excellent time of 2:28.5. He placed first in this event and also had a third in the 200 yard individual medley.

The 400 yard medley relay team of Chinnock, Penticoff, Wright, and Caldwell swan for the first time today and had an excellent time of 4:17.0, eight seconds faster than last years best, but nonetheless, three seconds slower than the Indians.

Jim Daniels swam to a first place finish in the 1000 yard freestyle, a second in the 500 yard freestyle, and a third in the 100 yard freestyle. Brian Petersburg placed third in the 1000, 500, and 50 yard freestyle events. Dave Chinnock was second in the 200 yard back and third in the 200 yard free. Dave Wells placed third in diving.

Lee Wright cut eight more seconds off his time for the 200 yard butterfly and finished first in that event with a very respectable time of 2:40.4.

Coach Davis takes his team to Menomonie on Wednesday to face the Blue Devils from Stout as they did against La Crosse that they can bring home their first victory of the season in four tries.

Legislators Hold Back Bill in House Committee

A number of Wisconsin legislators recently defeated an attempt at forcing the controversial "15 per cent" bill out of committee and on to the floor of the House.

The "15 per cent" bill was proposed shortly after the violent protests flared on the University campus in Madison. The bill is aimed at limiting out of state enrollment on the Madison campus to 15 per cent.

It is feared by many that if the bill is passed, the out of state limit will be made effective on the WSU system campuses as well.

There is no doubt that such a rule would hurt a number of schools in the system.

Last week an attempt was made to force the bill out of a House committee where it has been held up. The feeling of many is that if the bill was brought out now, it would pass.

Working under these assumptions, a vote for forcing the bill from the committee would be a vote for the bill. A vote to keep it in committee would be a vote to kill it.

In recent action, the representatives from counties containing State University campuses voted 8-5 to force the bill out of the committee. The five "no" votes came representatives of areas that would be hardest hit by the rule.

Reino Porala (D) from Douglas County (WSU-Superior), Leonard Groshek (D) from Portage County (Stevens Point), James Axim (R) from Grant (Platteville), Alvin Baldus (D) from Dunn (Stout) and Stanley York (R) from Pierce (River Falls) all voted no.

The "yes" votes came from representatives of La Crosse (2), Winnebago (3), Eau Claire (2) and Walworth Counties. These are WSUs La Crosse, Oshkosh, Eau Claire, and Whitewater, respectively.

In the two other University counties, the votes were split. Dane County, home of the University of Wisconsin, had three "yes" votes and two "no." Milwaukee County (UWM) counted 17 for and 10 against liberating the bill.

There was no indication that the vote is in any way a Republican-Democrat fight.

STUDENT SENATE

Student members for the Student-Faculty Superior Students Committee will be selected at the Dec. 20 meeting of the Student Senate. The meeting will be held at 6:30 in room 204 Student Center.

Psych Club Plans Campus Surveys

The Psychology Club decided at their weekly meeting last Tuesday at the Coffee House to go beyond their usual informal discussion group and to take a more active part in campus life.

Such things as field trips to mental hospitals, and experimental laboratories were also discussed along with the club's major proposed contribution to the University and the Student Voice.

A number of surveys are being formulated by the members of the club that will reveal the consensus of opinion at WSU-RF about such matters as sex, drugs, Vietnam, about such matters as sex, drugs, Vietnam, political issues and others. Hopefully, the club will contribute weekly to the Voice in the form of survey reports, questions or other psychological news.
