Allan Siemers Writes World History Article For Education Monthly

Dr. Allan Siemers, Director of Secondary Student Teaching at the College, is the author of "World History: Practices and Problems" which appears in the current issue of Social Education.

In his article, which summarizes results of a study he did as part of his doctoral work at Stanford University, Dr. Siemers raises the question of how much variety of methods and materials exists in teaching world history and how well trained are teachers of world history. His study was made in California.

Dr. Siemers found very little variety in teaching methods and discovered that 46 percent of those teaching had no history or social science concentration in their college work.

STRICKLAND SPEAKS AT PIERCE COUNTY EDUCATION MEETING

"Much of the work of the world is face to face talk, which demands use of clear-cut statements and complete understanding", said Dr. Ruth G. Strickland, in speaking at Wisconsin State College at River Falls Thursday night. Dr. Strickland, nationally-known authority in the field of language arts, was guest speaker at the annual spring meeting of the Pierce County Education Association.

"Words are powerful things and cannot be tossed around carelessly," said the University of Minnesota graduate who is now professor of education at Indiana University. She said that the uniqueness of mankind is that we have a language, and that we can communicate, compare minds, and record thought.

Dr. Strickland expressed to her audience of teachers the importance of their position in properly preparing the American youth for their roles. She said that "teachers need to know as much as possible about a child's level of language and communicative understanding. You must help children to develop and express ideas, to analyze their goals, and to teach them suitable use of language," said the educator who recently returned from England after a four month study of the English school system.

"I think there is a danger that we are failing to captivate the in-

Eleanor's Opinions

Mrs. Roosevelt Speaks Informally

by Dawn Bergstrom

We witnessed two firsts at Wisconsin State College at River Falls last week when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the first president's wife to appear on campus, gave the first speech in the new R. A. Karges Health and Physical Education Building. Commenting mostly on issues of national interest, Mrs. Roosevelt gave these opinions during an informal interview.

Do you feel that American women are making use of the rights with which they are politically endowed?

Some aren't, but I feel that the majority of American women are making use of their political rights. Legislators are always asked the question, "Why aren't there more women in the legislature?"

Highlighting this year's Fine Arts Festival will be a visit to campus on May 11 by John Ciardi, poetry editor of The Saturday Review. He will spend the afternoon in an informal discussion in the Little Theater, to begin at 4 p.m., and will give a public lecture in North Hall Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Mr. Ciardi, professor of English at Rutgers University, has written six books of poems, as well as an introduction to poetry. "How Does a Poem Mean?" In this latter work he suggests that "showing how a poem means rather than what it means can lead to a more fruitful discussion of poetry." The pleasure in poetry, he feels, comes not from what is said but from how it is stated.

John Ciardi was born in Boston in 1916. He attended Bates College in Lewiston, Maine, and graduated from Tufts College in 1938. He did graduate work at the University of Michigan.

He was instructor in English at the University of Kansas City from 1940-42, and then served with the Army air corps until the end of World War II. From 1946 until 1953, he was instructor and then assistant professor of English at Harvard, from which he moved to his present position at Rutgers.

Some of the more notable honorary awards he has received are Blumenthal Prize, 1944; the Harriet Monroe Memorial Award, 1955; and the Prix de Rome, 1956. He has also served as president of the National College English Association.

Our women are not as free as women in most countries. It is true that we have more gadgets, but one still has to be home to work the gadgets. In India, for example, there are multiple families living together. This is much different from the United States. If the American housewife leaves the home she also leaves her husband and children. It's not always possible for women to be in legislative bodies, but I do think that they should take an active part in citizenship wherever they are.

How can high schools and colleges best meet the national interest? Do you consider the Conant report a true indication of the status of our high schools?

I do not always agree with Con-

The Editor Speaks . . .

Last Friday, approximately 100 students from Eau Claire, Stout, Stevens Point, Superior, La Crosse, and River Falls participated in the Third Annual Wisconsin State College Press Association Conference held in our Student Center.

One of the main topics of discussion in the newspaper section was the role of the newspaper on college campuses. Some of the problems thrown about among the "journalists" were "How does your paper go about trying to give equal coverage to all organizations?"; "What are some ways to bring the paper respect from the students?"; "How do you keep from becoming a voice of the administration?"; and "Do you try to play a leading role in campus issues?"

As the name suggests, the STUDENT VOICE tries to remain the voice of the students.

We naturally try to report the news of all active organizations, and the more active organization naturally has the most news to report. While we try to find out about all elections, conference delegates, etc., we inevitably miss some of them. But it is very rare that an organization leaves a bit of news on our desk that it does not get published.

In trying to fully accomplish the above things, we feel that we have also answered the second question, which pertains to gaining the respect of the students.

Do you feel that the STUDENT VOICE has become the voice of the administration? Or do you feel that we play a leading role in campus problems.

We try to reach a compromise between the two, yet try not to give the impression that the two are in constant opposition. Last fall the VOICE came out with a very definite stand on the "brownbaggers" problem, which probably led to a rapid solution to the issue. On the other hand, we would like to "stick by" the administration on such issues as the wearing of shorts on campus.

We would be glad to hear any comments on the role of the VOICE.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"REMEMBER - AFTER TH' MOVIE DON'T LET HIM TALK YOU INTO GOING TO HIS APARTMENT TO SEE HIS ETCHINGS."

Letters to the Editor . .

Dear Editor:

We would like to extend a special thanks to all who had a part in planning the Leadership Workshop held on campus April 21-22. It was extremely worthwhile from the standpoints of being well planned, informative, interesting, and stimulating.

An outstanding feature of the conference was the two sessions on parliamentary procedure. The toastmasters did a commendable job conducting the meetings.

Future workshops, such as this one, should prove of much value to our campus organizations.

Associated Women Students

Dear Editor:

How long must we endure dissatisfaction and embarrassment with our Student Center catering service?

When we entertain guests, be it our mothers whom we love, or visiting dignitaries whom we hope to leave with a favorable impression, it would seem that a tasty meal, appropriately served, would help gain the desired impression, as well as playing the part of the host well.

It has apparently been too much to ask of Slater Service to try to please students. They, by their favored location, could have successfully and profitably provided for their daily clientele. Slater has failed in this respect.

Must Slater Service also persist in putting mediocre fare for our guests? I find it embarrassing to continually apologize for chilled salads that are frozen, cold food that should be hot, insipid meals that were hoped to be elegant.

Thinking it nobler to try to remedy the situation that exists rather than leaving it and searching for more amiable service, I suggest that every other avenue of cafeteria operation be investigated before consideration of the return of Slater Service.

Name withheld upon request.

Student Senate Minutes

President Curtiss Larson called the May 2 meeting to order. The secretary's minutes of April 25 were approved as read. Treasurer Ron Skone lists the present balance in the Student Senate Account as $1168.28.

Wayne Hendrickson, newly-elected president of the class of '63, was welcomed to the Senate. Also present were the Senators-at-large chosen April 27; Warren Rogers, Gene Miller, and Dawn Bergstrom.

Interviews were then conducted to choose the 1960 Homecoming chairmen. Harland Carlson, Earl Finder, and Raymond Metzger were interviewed. Chosen were Harland Carlson, Roger Christy, and Raymond Metzger.

The Student Senate will hold its banquet on May 18 at 7 p.m. as announced by Chuck Norelius. Dr. and Mrs. Kleinpell will be the Senate's guests.

The Senate is in receipt of a letter concerning the Tri-College conference on student government to be May 14 at Eau Claire. In view of the results of former conferences, River Falls will not participate.

Vice-President Arnie Kaluzny then reported on recent decisions of the Governing Board.

Cards will be issued to members of this year's and next year's Senate concerning the election of officers for the 1960-'61 Senate, to be at the May 9 meeting. Both groups will have voting privileges.

A letter to Carl Duch concerning student mailboxes was then read. The letter from Waupun State Prison stated that five units of 150 openings each, including name holders, could be obtained for a sum of $541. This steel unit then has a total of 750 openings. This issue was tabled and Carl will discuss it with President Kleinpell.

Karl Schmid requested permission for the Junior Class to use the Senate's piano for the Prom. Carol Hanson so moved; Arnie Kaluzny offered the second. Motion carried.

Ed Schlumpf moved for adjournment at 9:05; motion defeated.

C. E. Smith then asked for suggestions for Traditions Day. Arnie Kaluzny moved that it be recommended to the Recognition Day Committee that coffee for seniors and faculty is the only real "tradition." The motion, seconded by Chuck Norelius, was carried.

Carl Duch then moved that it be recommended to President Kleinpell that the plan for placing a flag pole in the center of the proposed garden area be reconsidered. Arnie Kaluzny seconded the motion. Following a discussion the question was called. Schmid and Smith voted against the question which was passed. The motion was then voted upon with Schmid dissenting. Arnie Kaluzny and C. E. Smith will visit Dr. Kleinpell this Wednesday.

Linksters Drop Two Duals; Win Saturday's Triangular

The River Falls golf team last week dropped dual matches to St. Olaf and Carleton and defeated Eau Claire and an independent team from Menomonie in a triangular match.

Tuesday afternoon Carleton, lead by medalist King Andrus defeated the Falcons 13½-4½. Andrus carded a two over par 72 for individual honors. He bounced back from an opening round of 40 to finish the back nine with a blazing three under par 32.

Topping the Falcon golfers were Jim Hallen and Ralph Ryan with 36-39-75. Both Ryan and Andrus posted eagle threes on the par five six hole.

Jerry Sterns was the only local to pick up points Friday at St. Olaf as the linksters bowed 12-3. Sterns shot a 47-43-90 on the wind swept course to better John Kelly's 49-45-94.

The Minnesota Oles so dominated the match that they captured the first four medalist spots. Leading the pack was Cal Carlson with a 36-39-75, followed by Chuck Skarshaug who had a 40-37-77. Barry Lindsay took honors for the Falcons with a 44-41-85. Ryan finished with a 42-45-87. In regular competition Saturday afternoon the linksters whipped Eau Claire 10½-4½. Ryan shooting in the number one slot picked up 2½ points with 40-38-78, good for medalist honors. Herb Brown edged Hallen on the first nine posting a 37 for a point and then on the back nine carded a 43 and an 18 hole total of 80.

Hallen scored 2½ more points for the Falcons as he came in with a 43-40-83 to whip his opponent Jack Hanson who finished with a pair of 44s.

The Blugolds scored a pair of points when their third man, Dave Niermeyer, nipped Barry Lindsay 84-85. Both men finished the first nine with 43's but Niermeyer picked up three strokes on the final three holes to win by one stroke with a 41.

Wrapping up the scoring for River Falls were Jerry Stern 43-41-84 good for two points and Dave LeClaire swept three points from his opponent with a 42-44-86.

Also Saturday in the triangular the Falcons whipped an independent team from Menomonie 17½-½. The Stout college students were unable to receive support from the college so they are playing independently and are not affiliated with the school.

Pete Fulcer was the only Menomonie player to break into the scoring column as he battled Dave LeClaire for his half of a point. The Menomonie team also dropped their match to Eau Claire 13½-1½.

Baseballers Blow Chance For Twin Killing at Stout

by Curt Thurston

The River Falls baseball team rang up their first conference victory last Monday as they split a double header with Stout, at Menomonie. Jack Scholz turned in another sparkling pitching performance in the lidlifter, as he shut out the Bluedevils 5-0. Stout took the second game in ten innings 6-4.

First Game

Jack Scholz continued his brilliant pitching for River Falls, as he scattered four singles shutting out Stout 5-0.

The only Stout player to reach third base was Dean Abbott, who led off the first inning with a single. Scholz then retired the next two players on a strikeout and a payout. Player-coach Duke Severson and Abbott advanced to third. Harley Lyons ended the threat bouncing out pitcher to first.

Stout's righthander Denny Chase held the Falcons scoreless during the first two frames. The roof caved in on Chase in the third as River Falls sent nine men to the plate and scored all five of their runs.

Scholz opened the third by walking. Jim Pohl then sacrificed and Bill Halverson singled. Scholz tallied the first Falcon score on Frank Gombold's single. Rog Piehl walked to fill the bases. Chase then struck Mick Lauber. Gene McNamara followed with a single that drove across two runs. Dick Peper then smashed a double to drive across two more tallies. Jim Turnquist, the ninth man to bat in the inning, struck out to end the rally.

John Mihalko relieved Chase in the top of the fourth and held the Falcons to two hits in three innings. Thompson came on in the seventh and put the side down in order.

Second Game

Ed Gregorich started the nightcap for River Falls. Stout took advantage of a walk and four costly errors in the first inning to score three unearned runs.

In the second Gregorich walked the first two men he faced before he was relieved by Charlie Johnson. Johnson struck out the first two men he faced then walked Duke Severson to fill the bases. He ended the threat by striking out Harley Lyons.

The Falcons tied the score 3-3 in the third on two walks, an error, a double, and a sacrifice fly. In the ninth Stout grabbed the lead 4-3 when Fritz Kazlausk and Stan Hilgendarf singled and Lyons doubled.

River Falls bounced back in their half of the ninth. Jim Turnquist led off with a double and later scored on Bill Halverson's triple. The rally died when Frank Gombold grounded out to end the inning.

In the tenth Polzin grounded out to short. Thompson doubled and the pitcher followed with a single. Abbott was ruled out on an interference infraction. Fritz Kazlausk doubled to put the Bluedevils ahead 6-4. Hilgendorf grounded out second to first, but the damage had been done as the Falcons were unable to rally in their half of the tenth.

Johnson, Scholz Hurl Four-Hitter But Falcons Can Only Gain Split

by Phil Thurston

Coach Don Page's baseball team split a double header with Eau Claire here Saturday. The Falcons, plagued by a shaky defense in the opener, lost to the Blugolds 9-4. In the nitecap River Falls took advantage of eight Eau Claire errors and a four hit pitching stint by Jack Scholz to win 10-1.

First Game

Big Charlie Johnson tossed a four hitter in the lidlifter but lost as costly fielding errors continued to plague the team.

River Falls jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning. Dick Peper led off with a single and advanced to second on an error. Jim Pohl followed with a single sending Peper to third. Bill Halverson singled, scoring Peper. Dennis O'Melia got Rog Piehl to pop out to short and then struck out Frank Gombold and Gene McNamara to end the inning.

In the top of the fifth Eau Claire got five unearned runs on four consecutive fielding errors by shortstop Dick Peper, a field's choice and a double.

In the bottom of the inning the Falcons threatened again as Mick Lauber walked and Jim Turnquist was hit by a pitched ball. Johnson walked but was tossed out on Peper's fielder's choice with Lauber scoring. Peper then stole second and Pohl was awarded first on an interference play by the Blugold catcher. Halverson walked forcing in the second run of the inning. Piehl then sacrificed in the third run to make it a 5-4 ball game. Gombold struck out to end the inning.

Eau Claire chalked up four insurance runs in the seventh to put the game on ice.

Second Game

Jack Scholz struck out nine Eau Claire batters and held them to four hits in leading River Falls to 10-7 victory in the second tilt.

River Falls pumped off to an early 2-0 lead in the first inning. Dick Peper led off with a walk. Jim Pohl was awarded first on an interference play by the catcher. Bill Halverson was safe on an error as Peper scored. Rog Piehl walked and was forced at second when Frank Gombold grounded to short. The second sacker dropped the ball allowing Halverson to score from third. Gene McNamara grounded out to the pitcher.

The Falcons picked two runs in the second on two singles, two errors by the pitcher, and a wild pitch.

River Falls picked up an insurance run in the sixth and two more in the seventh.

THE 1960 EDITION of River Falls' par-busters takes time out from a rigorous training schedule to pose with their coach O. B. "Ben" Bergsrud. I-M Softball

The Intramural softball teams began on Wednesday, April 27, with 16 teams in two leagues. The games are being played on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday starting at 4:30 and 5:30.

The two top teams from each league will play a double elimination starting May 24. So far this spring the teams have had trouble completing their games with the continued rainy weather.

The Fireballs are presently rated as top contenders for the title as they have gone undefeated in their last 25 games. The Fireballs have won the Intramural title the last two years.

Dan Teetzen, ace pitcher for the Fireballs, has given up only 6 hits in three games and has led his team to three victories so far this season.

ant; however, I feel that we have not been adequately educated about the world. We definitely should know more about the world in which we live—this knowledge affects everything we do. We haven't been led to face the facts as they really are.

Do you believe that there should be more federal aid to superior students who cannot afford the cost of higher education?

The United States has wasted a great deal of material sources. We cannot afford to lose human material too. Every time we turn away a superior student because of lack of finances we are wasting human material. It is hard for the federal government to support better schools because the migration of the populus does not provide an adequate basis for taxation. I am in favor of federal aid primarily in two areas. We need federal aid for buildings and for raising teachers' salaries.

Which candidate do you endorse for the presidency?

I shall not announce the candidate I endorse until the national convention.

What do you feel will be the influence of the Chessman case in capital punishment during the next election?

I cannot predict what influence the Chessman case will have in the next election. I am against capital punishment. I believe that the main reason for punishment is for the rehabilitation value involved. I feel that it would be better if such a person were committed to life. This way he is safely out of the community. But we have a problem in the United States because punishment is handled by the individual states to which the people delegate their power. The important thing about the Chessman case is that twelve years have intervened before this action was taken. In this time Chessman has written several books and has been able to execute a change in the attitudes toward him.

Once having been a first lady of the United States, what do you feel should be the role of the president's leading lady?

You can't lay down a rule. Humans are inevitably going to be different. But there are a certain number of rules to which one must adhere. You must give a certain number of receptions and formal parties. Outside of this, you must fight to lead a life of your own and make life bearable.

One often hears the accusation that many American women place more importance on emphasizing their femininity than in fulfilling their political duties. Do you feel this is true?

Women are by nature feminine. But if a woman decides that she is just going to be content to look after her family the world crowds in on her. She must be a citizen of the world or she isn't doing the job with her own children. This is still a man's world. I feel that there is a place for women in politics but to get into politics a woman must be a lot better than the man. The situation is the same in politics as in many fields in business and almost everything else. If a woman wants to become influential herself, she finds it much easier to do so through man.

Mrs. FDR Speaks to 2200 in Gym

Addressing a crowd of more than 2200 persons Tuesday evening, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said America has not prepared to meet the challenge of world leadership which has been thrust upon her.

Mrs. Roosevelt's address on the College campus was the first event in the R. A. Karges Physical Education and Recreation Center. The gymnasium was filled to near capacity.

This country must offer spiritual leadership to the free world, Mrs. Roosevelt said.

"While the country was young we had the feeling of accomplishment in building a nation," the widow of wartime president Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "but we have lost a sense of purpose. We must regain it and express our belief in the worth of the individual. We have not been told that this is the challenge of our time.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that in a conversation with her, Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev said "World War III is unthinkable."

"He believes," Mrs. Roosevelt added, "that he can win a Communist world without war. We have not prepared for the peaceful penetration of other countries which the Russians have done so successfully.

"We are comfortable and complacent, but we must be told that there's a challenge which is not purely military but also cultural and economic," she added.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she would favor more aid for foreign countries being channeled through the United Nations since then the member nations would feel that they, too, were contributing. Where we must take the time to learn of the habits and customs of the people we seek to help so that our assistance will be used wisely.

The study of foreign languages and of areas of Africa, Asia, and Latin America was recommended by the former "first lady" as a means of learning to know the kind of world in which we live.

terest of our youngsters in reading and writing," said Dr. Strickland. "Our Task is to help the child build standards worthy of a lifetime," she added.

Dr. Strickland said that she was in favor of teaching phonics to the youngsters, "but they won't take us all the way," she added. "Reading is communication, not just deciphering," she said.

Dr. Strickland was graduated from the University of Minnesota and received the Ph.D. degree from Columbia University. She taught school in Duluth for a time, worked with the U. S. Office of Education in 1943, and was consultant in Japan for the War Department in 1948.
