FALLS HAS NINETEEN AT NORTHFIELD CONVENTION

Many noted speakers are present to inspire ideals to almost three hundreds students.

Thursday afternoon a group of rather hilarious Normal students might have been seen literally piling into cars, and starting toward Northfield. The State Student Conference was in session in that city from Thursday evening until Sunday afternoon, November 19-22, inclusive. The local organizations took advantage of the nearness of the conference, and sent a delegation of nineteen people.

Among the speakers at the convention were:

Kirby Page of New York, a recognized authority on the World Court Question.

H. P. Van Dusen, Director National C. C. A. World Court Bureau, New York.

Conrad Hoffman, Secretary of World Student Christian Federation.

Frances Williams, National

PRACTICE TEACHERS VISIT SCHOOLS IN TWIN CITIES

The elementary school critic teachers took their practice teachers to visit St. Paul and Minneapolis schools Friday. The city supervisors had arranged to have them see their very best schools. This trip was a most enjoyable and profitable part of the methods practice course. The purpose was to observe lessons taught by good teachers showing applications of principles of teaching, and to observe a well-organized city system of education. A delightful luncheon was given in the Golden Rule Tea Room, at which Miss Eely, St. Paul Supervisor of Penmanship, was guest of honor.

THE FRESHMEN'S RECORD

The freshmen may be called "greenies," but if so, green is a vivid color on the the River Falls Normal campus. The first term is not over, but already the Freshman class has given the first snappy, original class party of the year, has paid fifteen dollars to the Students Social Committee, and given twenty-five dollars from its treasury for the band. Can any class or organization beat that record?

NOTICE

Due to the Thanksgiving vacation this week, and a consequent lack of news, there will be no Student Voice next Wednesday, December 2.

Basketball Practice Starts Promptly

Coach Cox's call for basketball was responded to by over 25 men. All the boys are practicing hard to cut off the rough edges. The last year men, Capt. Cleberg, Quandt, Lawrence and Lowell Dawson, Zamjohn, and Gibson, are showing great spirit and pep in every workout. "Tarz" Syverud, Brooks, Price, Landis, McNabb and others add speed and accuracy to the squad. The boys are working hard to get in trim for the first game which will probably be with Gustavus Adolphus College. Coach Cox will probably schedule games with other Minnesota colleges also.

If the student body gives the basketball team the pep that they gave the football team, the boys will bring home the bacon.

River Falls Normal Building Funds Are Not Released

"According to information received here River Falls is the only school not permitted to use the funds which the last legislature appropriated for normal school buildings.

Oshkosh gets $225,000 for buildings and a $25,000 land appropriation; Platteville $30,000 for land; Eau Claire $7,000 for land, and Stevens Point $150,000 for buildings.

"The legislature had voted River Falls an appropriation of $150,000 for building, and for several years this appropriation had headed the list in the recommendation of the Board of Regents.

"In reply to inquiry regarding the matter, Regent P. W. Ramer of this city declares that he is at a loss to understand why the building project here was left out in the recent release of appropriated funds. Mr. Ramer informs The Journal that the Board of Regents has placed River Falls first on the list of building needs for the past six years, and that the legislature, at its last session, gave no preference rating on the list.

"Mr. Ramer says that later action may be taken by the Governor

New Debate Question Being Considered

The debate squad is having a temporary vacation. Last year the debate coaches agreed that they would accept whatever question the colleges chose, so that they could debate colleges if they wished. The question chosen by the colleges this year was the eighteenth amendment, and so that became the question for debate between the normal squads. However, the presidents of the normals schools have agreed that they do not want to send out teams to debate for the abolishment of the amendment. Thus the question has been thrown overboard. The constitution by which the forsenics are governed does not provide any means of changing the question, so at present the normal debate squads have no question on which to work. The secretary is in correspondence with the various schools, and it is hoped that there will be some decision reached concerning the matter.

Many Minnesota colleges have thrown over the prohibition question, and are debating the child labor amendment. It is the consensus of opinion that this is the subject which should be chosen for debate by the normal schools.

1925 Football Financial Report Of The Normal Athletic Council

The following report of the athletic finances has been submitted by Mr. Whitenack, treasurer of the Athletic Council. The report gives the students an accurate idea of how the athletic finances are managed.

MISS FLEMING HONORED IN MEMORIAL ASSEMBLY

The plan for the Elizabeth Fleming Memorial of the Normal School library was presented.

Last Thursday's assembly was given over to a memorial program in honor of Miss Elizabeth Fleming, former English critic in the Junior High.

The first number of the program was a musical selection by the Junior High girls. This was followed by tributes given by President Ames, Misses Schlosser, Weld, and Armstrong. Miss Delander presented the Fleming collection of books. The last number on the program was a selection given by Mrs. Ames, Mrs. Shepard, and Avery Ames.

Throughout the entire program emphasis was placed on the beautiful life which Miss Fleming lived, and how she inspired others to do good work by her own appreciation of the beautiful. Although she is gone from us physically her spiritual influence will go on down through the annals of River Falls school history.

CLASS FOOTBALL SHOWS HAROLD LLOYD TACTICS

The Freshmen were sadly annihilated last Wednesday by the Third Year Seniors in a game that slightly resembled football. The standard shift used by the Freshmen rivaled the famous Old Minnesota shift, originated by "Doc" Williams, when it worked. The trouble was that it didn't work. The supreme passing of the centers of both teams kept the would-be ball carriers guessing where the ball would be passed next—whether over their heads or somewhere in the valley of torture. Ulrich, of the senior team, scored the first touchdown of the game, after he waited for Anderson of the Freshies to drop the ball behind the goal posts. Anderson was trying to pick up the ball without bending his knees, when dignity required him to leave the ball and run for the nearest tailor. At this point Ulrich came prancing upon the scene. He had his socks rolled to

MOVIE WELL ATTENDED

The benefit movie, "Baree, Son of Kazan," which was put on by the G. A. A., was well attended by the townspeople, but not so well attended by the students. The show was very good, the scenery being exceptionally interesting. The story was of the famous wolf dog, Baree, who showed great understanding and ability at all times. Northern Canada was the scene of the story. The G. A. A. cleared about $30.00 on this movie.

CELEBRATION BANQUET

In last week's issue, little mention was made of the banquet which was given for the football men Monday evening. The original plan was that it should be held in the dining room of the Gladstone, but so many of the students wanted to attend that they were unable to accommodate them. Miss Weberg agreed to do her best, so with some of the students to help her, the cafeteria soon took on a festive atmosphere.

There were about one hundred fifty present, including football teams, coaches, business men, and students. The speeches, and songs given by the various members of the team and by the coaches were greatly enjoyed.

Credit should be given John Jennings, head of the banquet committee, Miss Weberg, manager of the cafeteria, and the Junior High girls, who served, for the success of the affair. This shows that when the students really want to do something, they don't have much trouble putting it across.

"Dad" Ellicott, Regional Student
Secretary, Y. M. C. A.

Every hour was crammed full of lectures, students' discussions, special forums, etc. The delegates divided into groups and discussed campus life and its problems. Cribbing, sponging, cheating, swearing, cliques, petting—all came in for their share of approbation or condemnation. Under the direction of competent leaders. Forums were conducted on Community Life, Race, Industrialism, and Church. These leaders brought to the attention of the students many questions about which they had never thought.

Saturday afternoon sessions were impossible, as there were two football games in town—Carleton vs. Knox, and St. Olaf vs. Macalaster, while still a third, the Minnesota-Michigan game, was coming in over the radio. The delegates scattered, attended the game in which they were most interested, and returned in time for the evening session.

Every delegate had new ideas presented to him, and has himself formulated many ideas concerning what his campus should be.

Those from River Falls who attended were: Prof. Jacobson, Sherman Biles, Ed. Johnson, Bart Luttrell, Ted Jensen, Earl Brakken, Margaret Jackson, Alice Hagen, Beatrice Roe, Ruth Johnson, Lois Beers, Doris Frederickson, Orville Tostrud, George Wilson, Evelyn Moen, Marion Miller, Paul Gleiter, Ryda Morgan, and Dean Goodrich.

She—"What do you think of the new type of car that can be converted for sleeping?"

He—"It's the bunk."

Dumb—"You should worry, even if he isn't wonderful looking; he certainly has money to burn."

Belle—"Well, I've never suffered from the heat when I've been out with him."

I gave her all the line I had
To catch her was my wish.
Do not blame me for getting mad,
I lost the dog-gone fish.

Freshie: "You look so absent-minded when I look at you this morning."

Soph: "I was probably all wrapt up in thought."

Freshie: "It's a wonder you didn't catch cold."

Lady (to man in booth)—"Look here, you've been in there thirty minutes and haven't spoken a word."

Man—"I know it, I've been talking to my wife."

He (to girl on phone)—"Now, you get another girl, and I'll get another good looking fellow."

ORGANIZATION NOTES

G. O. P.

Miss Greene, who has been chosen to fill Miss Roherty's place as G. O. P. advisor, gave an interesting talk about her trip to Europe at the G. O. P. meeting Thursday night.

A letter from Miss Roherty was read, thanking the G. O. P. for the book ends and G. O. P. pin. Miss Roherty is lonesome for River Falls.

G. O. P. are not "going to sleep on the job," but intend to have those band uniforms here by the basketball season. Plans were made to give a matinee dance, charging a small admission.

RURALITES

Last Thursday and Friday, the 13th and 14th, Mr. Malott attended an institute at Hayward, Wis. Here he spoke about geography and told of his trip through the Yellowstone Park. He also talked on "The Inexcusable Lie" to the high school.

The following Monday he spoke to a Parent-Teachers' Association at Clayton. The title of his address was "The Measure of a Community."

Miss Jorstad was out to the Kinnickinnic school last week to make plans and arrangements for practice teachers.

The first group of rural people have finished their practice.

Two of our members are completing the work this quarter; they are Mrs. Ruby Iverson and Margaret Purfeerst.

AURELIA GIVES THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

The Aurelia was well attended although the past week-end was a rather strenuous one.

There was a short business meeting after which the meeting was turned over to the program committee. The program was a duplicate of a typical country school Thanksgiving program. Some of the Aurelia members took on a real kiddish attitude, put ribbons in their hair, and were ready to play a kid's part. The program "went off" just as such programs do, and set the remaining Aurelia members into fits of laughter.

Two new members that were not present at the regular initiation meeting were initiated at this time.

The girls adjourned, with many ideas on how to give a Thanksgiving program.

She—So Arthur proposed last night?"

Sec. She—Yes.

She—Did you accept?"

Sec. She—I don't know, I was so awfully excited. If he comes tonight I did; if he doesn't, I didn't.

HOW HONEST SHALL WE BE?

As the time draws near to the quarter examinations the old question of honesty is brought to our minds. During the past two weeks the Y. M. and Y. W. discussion groups have been discussing the question of "How Honest Shall We Be." The question has mainly been on the issue of cribbing and cheating in examinations, and of the possibilities of an honor system for River Falls. Some say an honor system will not work, yet it is working in the University of Virginia, the Simpson College, and in Gustavus Adolphus College.

Last week a few reasons were given as to why an honor system fails to function. They are given here with the hope that those responsible for them may read and heed.

1. Low individual standards that do not take cribbing as a form of stealing.

2. Cowardliness on the part of students who see the miscreant, but are afraid to speak up.

3. A false idea of tattling; without the realization that failing to do so is harming both parties.

4. Students have become caloused to cheating and expect is being practiced.

5. Unfair methods used by instructors in conducting exams. Students feel that it is as much of a crime for instructors to use sneaking methods as it is for a student to cheat.

6. Lack of cooperation between faculty and students interested in an honor system. Instructors say that no honor system will be used in their classes, and others laugh.

From the above reasons it will be easily seen that the honor system has a lot to overcome. One of the elements most necessary to an honor system is cooperation between faculty and students.

The average student today has a false idea of tattling. Of course no one who is always running to an instructor with some petty news about a fellow worker does not deserve much honor. But if an ideal is at stake, and if harm is being done, then it is as much a misdemeanor to fail to report as it is to be dishonest. Where honor systems are working it is a law that just as severe punishment be meted out for failure to report a case of unruly conduct as is given for the act itself.

Some members of the discussion groups thought "cowards" was too strong a word to use against those that take no decided stand against cheating and cribbing. There has been a great deal of talk on this subject for several years, but no great effort has been made to solve the question. Why? Because we are afraid that to stand against the evil might cause some unpopularity and disturb our pleasant smugness, and for this we remain self complacent cowards.

"Did they hold you up at the Canadian border?"

"No, they had to carry me."

This and that

Sid Scoville went home over the week-end.

Gladys Spriegel spent the week-end in the city.

Bob Gardiner was in Elmwood Saturday and Sunday.

Things did not settle down to schedule even on Tuesday.

Russell Dort was at home in St. Paul over the week-end.

Ed. Korbein spent the week-end at his home in Menomonie.

Margaret Hanley spent the week-end at her home in Roberts.

The Civics Club will have a joint meeting with the Mozart Club next Thursday, Dec. 3.

Gea Slauson is back after a week's absence. Gea was substituting at Somerset for her sister, Floy.

This week Mr. Geere and the quartette, also Mr. Davison, plan to give at program at Spring Valley and Elmwood.

Thursday evening Mr. Geere, Mr. Davison, Miss Wharton, Miss Hatch, and the quartette gave a program at Amery.

Some of the G. A. A. members are getting to be noted hikers. Some of them at any rate, hiked seven miles Saturday.

Lorene Brackin was out of town this week-end; she didn't give us the particulars of her whereabouts, but we'll guarantee you that she enjoyed herself.

Evidently Fred Wandrey and Fat Ingli are sure that Indian Summer is here at last, for they were to be seen playing tennis several times last week in their B. V. D.'s that is, from waist up.

We should indeed be thankful for Thanksgiving. Besides having a chance to see the home folks, we can be thankful for sleep; we can be thankful for a chance to make up long lost lessons, and we can be thankful to get back here next week.

Mr. Malott's handkerchief joined the asthetic dancers Thursday evening. The disobedient handkerchief performed before an amazed audience, much to the professors disgust and humiliation. Mr. Malott threatens to boil the villain in strong suds next Monday.

Vivian Vassau entertained the following guests at a week-end party at her home in St. Paul: Lois Hunt, Harriet Beebe, Frances Squires, Bunny Sheldrew, Avery Ames, Alice Dunn, Inez Morrow, Lucile Johnson, Helen Sutherland, Litha Gregor, Wilmot Ableidinger, and Ella Mae Jones.

The Missing Link

Toot (to Landlady)—"I don't smoke; I don't drink; I don't step out with wild women—but I do like to d-a-n-c-e occasionally."

Landlady—"Why don't you take a chance Tooty? Columbus did."

He—"So Ruth is going to marry him! You know he's a tough egg."

She—"Don't worry. She knows how to use an egg beater."

Miss Delander spent Friday and Saturday in the city.

The "Stewart gang" gave a card party Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Davison, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Knowles, spent Saturday in the city.

"Spike" Mjaanes substituted in the Mathematics Department of the Baldwin high school last week.

Lester Timm stopped off here a few minutes Sunday on his way back to his "profession" at Somerset.

Thanksgiving has come. Just ask the girls who attended the D. O. D. class party Monday evening at the "Malott's." Pie a-la-mode, especially the a-la-mode, was a specialty. The program and the guessing games caused much merriment.

attended Thursday only, but on Friday some of the third year Ag. men drove over to the show with Mr. May. All students have remarked that the show was the best of its kind that they have ever attended. Mr. May is of the opinion that the show was of exceptional quality, though not well represented by this section of the state. He attributes the poor attendance to lack of advertising.

The Ags. are unable to hold their meeting this week, because of the Thanksgiving recess. The next meeting will be announced in the next issue of this paper.

We were told that Cliff Olson has been stepping with a lawyer's daughter, so now we are able to account for the sober and dignified look upon his face. He says "Night school in law is great."

George, alias "J. Stitt," Wilson attended the Y. M. C. A. conference held at Northfield, Minn.

Mr. W. Wichleman, '24, succeeded recently in having the Smith-Hughes course of vocational training in Agriculture, incorporated into the Bruce, Wis., high school. This is a real accomplishment, as Mr. Wichleman has only started teaching this year. Through this incorporation his salary was increased to $1900 a year. This certainly is a top salary for a man his shoe tops, and had the gay look of spring as he cruelly fell upon the innocent ball. Rosenberg scored the second touchdown after "Rollie" Williams, the flying Irishman, had put the ball near the goal posts with his plunges. All the Freshies could see was red hair coming into their midst. Mark Morton showed the large crowd that the "Peanut Limited" had no effect on his speed, by scoring the final blow over the Freshies. McNabb was the only ground gainer for the yearlings. The game proved to be scandalous when Bud Morton was seen warming up on the side lines with a brick in his hand. The victory gave the Third Years a right to lose to the Second Year men.

The Second Year team completely galloped over the Third Year Seniors, and left a few teeth marks for the lighter team to remember. The hard driving line plunges of Grahn and Baker kept the dignified seniors going backwards most of the time. Grahn discovered that his nose was not as cast iron as his plunges, after some affectionate head came into contact with that projection on his profile. Although his nose was damaged somewhat, he kept on playing spectacular football, and took his share of the day's honors. Besides scoring two touchdowns, he kicked three goals. Baker was the other outstanding star of the game. His hard drives into the midsection of the Senior team brought many groans from the victims. The flying Irishman had engine trouble, and found the ground much softer than the stonewall line of the Juniors. In the third quarter Cleberg surprised the opponents by kicking from his five yard line to the Juniors 45 yard line. Grahn returned the compliment by scoring a touchdown on the kick. His 55-yard dash showed clever field running. The Juniors displayed real football ability and deserve the inter-class football championship.

Opportunity

There were two distinct raps on the door.
There was but one man in the room at the time.
"Who's there?" he asked, not unkindly. He was alone, and company was what he desired.
"Oh, this is— opportunity," replied the intruder. "Let Opportunity in."
"Oh, no, you aren't Opportunity," replied the wise man alone in his room. "You can't fool me."
A sigh could be heard outside the door. Then the pretty voice spoke up again.
"How do you know this is not Opportunity?" it demanded.
The man in the room brightened.
"Because," he replied, "Opportunity knocks but once."
