Students Receive Awards For Extra-Curricular Work

Outstanding students were recognized for their achievements at the Traditions Day Recognition Awards Convocation last Wednesday, May 20, at 10 a.m.

Dr. Robert Bailey, sophomore class advisor, pointed out in the convocation address that there are two movements in America concerning extra-curricular activities. The first is the fight to ban these activities and to concentrate on academic pursuits to fight the "Sputnik" crisis. The second is the tendency to emphasize extra-curricular activities to keep one from being an outsider or getting into a rut.

He said, "Living is becoming involved with life, and it is always good to step out of the involvement of rationality. Americans constantly live for the future, while Europeans live for the present. European students gain knowledge for the sake of knowing, while Americans participate in extra-curricular activities as part of the preparation for life." In concluding, Dr. Bailey quoted, "One must live now, in the present, for it is indeed later than you think."

The Editor Speaks . . .

This past year two clubs have sprung up on campus which will be a strong influence in years to come. The non-teaching agriculture students have formed the Agrafallian Society. The economic majors and minors have banded together into an Economics' Club.

One of the aims of these newly formed clubs is to aid placement facilities for their members. With the percentage of liberal arts graduates increasing each year a better placement arrangement is necessary.

About a month ago the Economics Club took the initiative and set up a committee to meet with Dr. Stone and Dean Knaak. The committee included representatives from similar clubs on campus.

This meeting was one of the most encouraging things to happen at River Falls in recent months. It served to put the placement bureau and interested liberal arts graduates on common ground. Regular scheduled meetings between the committee and representatives from the placement bureau and the deans office next year will retain this close contact. These meetings will provide the opportunity for the club representatives to air certain difficulties. It will also give the placement bureau the same opportunity to determine student's reaction to proposed changes in placement procedures.

As the result of this interest demonstrated and future co-operation by the graduates the placement of liberal arts should attain as high a level as the present teacher placement which is one of the top in the state.

Letters to the Editor . . .

The education laboratory activities which are part of the sequence course in Child Development have been the subject of much discussion among students and faculty members for years.

The organization of the program, which requires a minimum of 15 hours of pre-teaching experience with children each quarter, has taken on a professional quality due to the extensive work of Dr. Wilfred Harris and Dr. Samuel Saden of the Psychology Department. What used to be, in the students eyes often times, a tiresome assignment has now become a meaningful project which allows the prospective teacher his first opportunity to work directly with children.

There are few students in education who do not have some qualms about their ability to work with children and more qualms in regard to what they can expect from children of various ages.

The new program also intelligently directs the project to a meaningful end by its additional requirements, such as the compilation of an anecdotal record, the organization of a sociogram, and lists of specific features to observe . . . requirements designed to improve our abilities of observation and evaluation of the actions of the children . . . abilities which are needed to fully command a teaching situation.

"GOOD GRIEF, WE'LL NEVER GET A SEAT-I FORGOT ASSEMBLY THIS PERIOD."

SAC - SENATE MINUTES

May 18, 1959

The meeting was called to order by President Clarence Dulek. After the secretary's report was approved as read, the treasurer reported balances of $1,662.88 in the Student Senate account, $1,127.64 in the vending machine account, and $13.13 in the River Falls account.

Arnie Kaluzny reported that the Junior Prom was a musical and financial success, the class taking in over $400 in ticket sales.

Carl Duch was welcomed as the new member on the Senate. It was announced that the Senate will hold its final meeting of the year in the Union at 6 p.m. on Monday, May 25.

Election of Senate officers for the 1959-60 school year was held, with the following results:

- president - Curt Larson
- vice-president - Arnold Kaluzny
- secretary - Carol Jennings
- treasurer - Ron Skone

The Senate voted 9 to 1 to allot a salary of $27.50 per quarter to the editor of the Prologue. Voting in favor were Ross, Kins, Jennings, Benson, Kaluzny, Nelson, Larson, Skone and Laue. Opposed: Schlumpf.

Next year the Senate will set up an equipment storage room for spotlights, wire, etc., which can be saved after initial use at dances or Homecoming.

SAC MINUTES

The Student Advisory Council meeting of May 21, 1959 was called to order by Student Senate president Clarence Dulek. President Dulek turned the meeting to Curt Larson, newly elected Senate president.

Carol Jennings presented the new accident-health insurance policy adopted by the Senate for the student body. After much discussion, representatives voiced their approval of the new policy, which will cost students $18 for the school year or $24 for the entire year. The main objection raised was the price which is much higher than the $2 per quarter fee assessed in the former insurance plan, covering only accidents.

Jim Durning reported that a Liberal Arts Placement Committee has been formed and has voted to join the Midwest Placement Bureau. Organizations interested were the Math, Chemistry, Economics and Psychology Clubs, the Agrafallian Society and the social science department.

A committee of the class of 1962 has volunteered to help with freshman orientation for next fall.

President Larson announced that the Senate would like to set up an equipment check-out service where wire, lights and other such material used at dances and Homecoming may be stored for future use. All organizations were asked to cooperate in this venture next fall.

Jerry Marlette, Bob Vermillion and Ken Zahorski have been named to the Homecoming Committee.

Mr. Rozehnal pointed out that organization meetings for the 1959-60 school year will be scheduled by the quarter, with a strict adherence to the schedule. There will be four large meeting rooms in the new Union. Mr. Rozehnal also asked SAC representatives to urge better attendance at all-school convocations.

The Senate is now accepting applications for membership on the Social Committee.

Falcons Lose Pair to 'Kato End Season At 9-11 Mark

Five River Falls seniors closed out their careers on the baseball field Thursday in what could appropriately be termed a "day of disaster" on the diamond. The Falcons dropped both ends of a twin bill and finished the season with a pathetic 9-11 mark. Playing their last game for RF were third-sacker Don Swanson, Swanson Suezaki shortstop Al Suezaki, first baseman Duane Teska, outfielder Jim Larson, and pitcher Gordie Hoff.

Lefty Bill Freeman started the afternoon by pitching a brilliant two-hitter for the locals only to Larson Hoff lose by a single tally 5-4.

Teska's triple in the first frame got the Falcons off to a early lead but the advantage changed hands throughout the game and River Falls entered the

by Swami Schlumpf Is the picnic over for the New York Yankees? That question lingers in every baseball fan's mind from Nitro, West Virginia to Pocatello, Idaho this week as the once-almighty Bombers find themselves mired in the American League cellar for the first time in 19 years.

The writer has contemplated writing a story concerning the New Yorkers' plight for the last three weekends but each time has pushed the thought aside, knowing that next week things would be different. But alas week after week the same startling fact hits the reader's eye each morning. There are the Yankees struggling to stay out of the basement.

If it was the first week of the season, no one would become much alarmed. Even if the teams had completed a fifth of their schedule (the majors have played nearly 40 games), and the Yanks were hovering near the .500 mark, most people would shrug it off with not much second-thought.

But the Bombers are nowhere near the .500 mark. They have lost 19 of their first 31 games which leaves them with an anemic .387 percentage - last place standards for any league.

Even the sarcastic old master, Casey Stengel, has become alarmed. "If some of those pitchers don't win some ball games, they may find themselves looking for a job," growled the grizzled string-puller.

In analyzing the situation several things come to light. Much of the credit for the American League mess can be attributed to Frantic Frank Lane. It was he who harped all winter about the league rolling over and playing dead before the fight had started. It was Lane who advocated "ganging up" on the bullies. He told the clubs to stop saving their best hurlers to pitch against weak opponents in order to fatten their records. His "give 'em all you've got" policy has resulted in a general upheaval throughout the circuit.

Another reason for the Yanks' downfall may be the fact that several members of the New York club just don't impress the writer as being genuine Yankees. Players like Art Ditmar, Duke Maas, Tony Kubek, Bobby Richardson, and others are not the "old pro" type of player that has come to be recognized as the stereotype of a Yankee. They are good average ballplayers but they are not Yankees.

Can the honeymoon last? Only time will tell of course. This spring, the Swami picked the Bombers to win the A.L. crown. We did note however, that Cleveland had improved itself tremendously thanks to the hustling Lane. It now appears that the Indians strengthened themselves even more than most ardent Cleveland rooters had expected.

Another fact looms vivid in many fans' minds. Al Lopez at Chicago and previously with Cleveland has never finished lower than second in the American League. If the Indians are first, where does that leave New York? We may be whistling in the dark but if the Yankees' slump last much longer, they may find themselves entirely out of the picture.

The Falcons made one dying gasp in the seventh that gained one run but it wasn't quite enough. With one out, Frank Gombold slash a run-scoring double and then took third on the throw to the plate. Both Jim Turnquist and John Gregorich hit the ball right at someone, however, and Gumbold died on third with the tying run.

final frame trailing 5-3. The Falcons pushed one run home on Teska's double to make it 5-4. Then with men on second and third, Gary Rhode rifled a shot which struck the Mankato pitcher on the leg and caromed off towards third. The third baseman retrieved the ball however, and fired a perfect peg to first to nail Rhode and end the Falcon threat.

Rog Piehl paced the Falcon hitting corps with a perfect three for three performance. Teska went two for four and both hits were for extra bases.

Charlie Johnson hurled the second game for the Falcons and seemed to have things pretty well under control as he breezed into the sixth inning leading 7-3.

The roof really caved in during the sixth inning, however, River Falls committed four errors, Jonson hit a batter, and 'Kato first sacker Gene Weibush poled a long homer to put the Indians out in front 9-7.

Min Sun Cho, last quarter's orchid-bearer, heads the list along with Fred Kalantari and Duane Swanson both of whom have cupped the title in tournaments during their college career.

Cho must tangle with Merlin Olson with the winner facing Bob Beeson for the right to advance to the quarter finals against Swanson.

Kalantari, already in the quarter finals will meet the winner of the Dave Peterson-Elroy Rasmussen match.

In the upper bracket Tim Johnson and Don Swanson collide for the right to meet Harlan Jenson with that winner facing Del Mot-taz.

The last quarter finalist, Don Ricci will be tackling the winner of the Dave Madis-Jim Poukey contest.

Quarter final competition, which is played under a best four-out-of-seven game basis, will limit the field to four players. The semi-finals and finals will be determined by a best five-out-of-nine series.

Hallen, Barrows, Pace Falcons In Romp Over Bluedevil Golf Team

Ben Bergsrud's surging golf team warmed up for the conference meet by swamping Stout last week 13½ to 4½ at the Menomonie Country Club. The Falcons played in the Wisconsin State College Conference tournament this afternoon at Green Lake, Wisconsin.

Jim Hallen paved the way against the Bluedevils as he fired a sharp 77. Val Barrows shot one of his best rounds of the year in totaling 78 and Ralph Ryan came in with a 79. Jerry Stern and Jerry Derleth were close behind with 80 and 81 respectively while Jack Baldwin fell off to an 86.

Fran Polsfoot's track team set two school records in Saturday's conference meet at Milwaukee but had to settle for fifth place as the rugged University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee crew surged home in front with 78¼ points. LaCrosse ranked second followed by Oshkosh, Stevens Point, Rivers Falls, Whitewater, Platteville and Stout in that order.

Dan Teetzen didn't enter the mile run saving himself for the two-mile jaunt and the strategy paid off as he turned in a time of 10:07.2 which broke his own school record. The Falcon relay team of Fred Coleman, Tom Pride, Rog Huser, and Frank Sprenger set the other new school mark.

The Falcons did not enter anyone in the high or low hurdles, the broad jump, the shot put, the javelin toss, or the discus throw. Following are the results of the events in which River Falls men placed:

Naturally you're eager to find a promising beginning in your chosen field. Perhaps you've already been interviewed by employment recruiters sent to your school by large industries. You've no doubt applied to some of the major companies in your area. But, have you investigated the excellent career possibilities being offered by the hundreds of medium and small size concerns? To personally make the rounds of these smaller but equally progressive businesses would be a very costly endeavor in both your time and money.

Chisholm Heads H.S. English Awards

The National Council of Teachers of English has an awards program which each year selects 437 high school seniors from the nation, including ten Wisconsin seniors, to be recognized for their outstanding work in English. Dr. Chisholm, chairman of the Wisconsin division, has been notified that 101 students from 75 high schools throughout the state have been nominated for the awards.

Dr. Chisholm and 14 judges, who are high school and college teachers of English, select the ten students on the basis of writing and literature appreciation tests, impromptu and planned writings, and letters of recommendation from their English teacher and high school principal. The purpose of the program is to get teachers more concerned with improving their instruction of English, and to get more students interested in improving their own skill with English.

Each high school has the privilege of selecting one student to be nominated for each 500 students enrolled in the school. Schools in this area which have nominated outstanding students are Hudson, Somerset, Prescott, Ellsworth, and Spring Valley.

FRENCH CLUB, Y-GOP ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Judith Gilbertson, sophomore from Black River Falls, has been elected the new president of the campus French club, Le Cercle Francais. Vice-president for next year will be Alan Case, freshman from Warrens. Criss Jelen, freshman from Pepin, was elected to the position of secretary-treasurer.

The Young Republicans on campus elected officers for the coming year at their meeting Monday, May 18. Elected to the head position of president was Bob Enstad, sophomore from River Falls. Mr. Enstad was recently elected State College Y-GOP Federation secretary.

Faculty Members Granted Leaves

Miss Marion Hawkins of the English department has been granted a leave of absence to continue her doctoral studies next year. She will study at the University of Wisconsin at Madison. She has done previous graduate work at the University of Colorado and the University of Minnesota and received her M.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin. Combining travel and study, Miss Hawkins recently visited eight countries in Europe and traveled in Mexico and Canada.

A National Science Foundation grant has been awarded to Richard Swenson of the physics department. He will take a leave of absence next year to work toward his doctoral degree at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City. Working in the area of chemical physics, he will study the use of physical methods such as ultracentrifuge, viscosity and optical activity for the determination of the three-dimensional structure of proteins. He begins his work at Iowa June 15.

Gerald Bisbey, instructor in the math department, is planning a leave of absence to begin during the summer of 1960. He plans tentatively to enroll at the University of Iowa for a two year course to complete his doctor's degree.

'Biology Most Important'; Jensen Tells Student Body

by William J. Finlan

"Biology is the most important of all the sciences because 'biology is us' and we are the most important thing to us," said Dr. James Jensen, provost and professor of Botany at Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, while speaking at an all-school convocation last Monday, May 18, in North Hall.

"Us," Dr. Jensen went on to say, "includes cows, rattlesnakes, trees . . . and all living things. The main objective, therefore, of the 'Citizen Student' (which includes all thinking men, not only students) should be to become aware of the relationships and broad implications of the living environment of which he is a part."

He pointed out that the 'Citizen Student' should understand the general make-up of living organisms, that he should know the difference between life and its inorganic surroundings, and that biological entities experience birth — reproduction — and death. "These are the things," he asserted, "which make the mysteries of life of utmost importance and interest. Man had to be a practical biologist to start civilization, a better one to keep it going, and now he needs to be even more completely informed of biological relationships in order to survive in future years."

Several times during the day (at the convocation and during two other question-answer meetings mostly for biology and agriculture students), Dr. Jensen got to the subject of Strontium 90. "This artificial isotope," he said "is something new to the biosphere and our life, but radiation, which we are primarily concerned with, isn't. In fact, radiation is probably responsible for most of the genetic, and therefore life, changes on Earth. Radiation causes mutations, and mutations mean change . . . so if we aren't over-exposed to Strontium 90, which, apparently, we aren't now, we have no reason for extreme concern. The problem seems to be that most people don't adequately understand radiation or Strontium 90 . . . and it is being used for a political football."

Contrary to the beliefs of many, Dr. Jensen said "very few biologists are agnostics or atheists." He said that from watching life through his microscope, by studying life and its implications, and in seeing the definite organization and system of life he is convinced that there "must be a Superior Organizer responsible for all that exists."

The F.F.A. award, presented by Dr. Delorit, was given to an outstanding member and contributor to the organization, Bill Pickering. The intercollegiate forensics organization, Pi Kappa Delta, awarded membership to outstanding students in this field. Mr. Oostendorp also presented an award to the student who made the greatest contribution to Pi Kappa Delta. Ken Berquist received this honor.

A.C.E.I., winner of the All School Sing, was presented a trophy by Carol Jennings for their rendition of "Children's Marching Song." A book of mathematics tables was presented by Dr. Gough to the outstanding freshman in the field of math, Duane Hall. Richard Enstad, a graduating mathematics major, was also given a book award.

Dr. Abbott recognized students who have been in orchestra, band, and/or choir for four years. These students are: choir, Phyllis Anderson, Marge Olson, Bernie Feld, and Norbert Teclaw; band, Jim Laue, Walter Skroch, and Verna Neumann; band and orchestra, John Kirk; band, orchestra, and choir, Richard Meulemans and Chuck Zellmer.

Three graduating students, Dora Holst, Dave Schmidt, and Wayne Sukow were recognized for their outstanding work in physics. Curt Larson was presented with a book award for being a junior with the highest grade point average in physics, and Muriel Peterson was awarded a physics handbook for being a freshman or sophomore with outstanding achievement qualities. Mr. Albert presented the physics awards.

Mr. Wolfe presented Warren Rogers a book award for holding the position of editor of the Student Voice. Harriet Kettelkamp and Sue Christenson, editors of the Meletean, were also given book awards. Leadership, grade point average, and activities were the qualifications which enabled several graduating seniors to have their names placed among those in Who's Who in American Colleges. Dr. Knaak presented this award.

The Kolberg Award, presented to an outstanding athlete, was given by Mr. Polsfoot to Tom Shield. Gordon Hoff was awarded the Belflori Award, presented by Mr. Polsfoot to an outstanding football player.
