GYMNASIUM CLASSES

DOUBLE PERFORMANCE

Dances Appear as Special Features

The Gym Demonstration was given under the auspices of the Girls' Athletic association in the North Hall gym last Friday evening to raise money to buy athletic rewards for the girl athletes, to pay for the team pictures in the Meletean, and to contribute to a project for equipping the training school playground. One hundred-fifty girls from five different 'gym' classes co-operated, under the direction of Miss Wirt, to make the demonstration a success.

The demonstration was repeated by request at the Armory last night.

The marching tactics and dumb-bell drill were done with snap and precision.

The lesson in aesthetic dancing demonstrated the steps in technique which are later combined to form complete dances.

The entire audience enjoyed the stunts and games as well as the girls themselves.

Each group of dancers in the "Cycle of the Seasons" dance was encored; the costumes of these dancers were very elaborate.

The basketball game between two picked teams was so fast that Referee Eggebrecht blew the final

MacDOWELL CLUB GIVES

ENJOYABLE HALF-HOUR

The musical program by the MacDowell Club at Assembly last Thursday was greatly enjoyed by the students. The numbers were:

Piano Solo,	Miss Fossing
Selection by Chorus,
Vocal Solo,	Mrs. Ames
Vocal Solo,	Mr. Smart

The MacDowell Club, the one musical organization of the city, gives the Normal school students an assembly program each year. The students wish to thank the club for the entertainment and hope that the members will continue to give these annual programs.

CAMPUS DATES

Tuesday, May 1—

Y. W. C. A., N. C. A., and Y. M. C. A. at 6:45.

JUNIORS ATTENTION

Class is Slumping in Financial Responsibility

Juniors, this is the last call! To date, exactly one-half the class have paid their dues. This means that there is only $240 in the treasury. The budget for the Prom is $365. There are bills that must be paid at once, and it's up to you who haven't turned in your two dollars to come across. It's true, there is no way that the class can force you to pay this money. But it is your duty toward your class to pay it immediately. Don't put up the excuse that you can never find a person to take the money. Look sharp and you will see William Brandenburg, Lyman Olson, Wayne Taylor, Carleton Ames, Ronald Baker, or Carrol Brown in South Hall almost any time. Don't just promise to pay. PAY!

LUTHERAN Y. P. SOCIAL

Monthly Lutheran Y. P. social at the M. E. church basement next Monday evening. Committees at work preparing for an enjoyable social evening. All young people welcome.

George Filla remarked, after seeing a Senior girl fall down stairs: "Have an accident?" She replied, "No thanks, I just had one."

LINCOLNIANS HOLD

BANQUET-DANCE

Lady Guests Prove Worth as Speech-makers

The Lincolnian society likes to eat as well as talk; also, it likes to hear some feminine conversation once in a while. That is why its members invited their lady friends to a banquet in the M. E. church basement last Saturday evening. The first part of the evening was given over to the eats, which were furnished by the losing side in a recent Lincolnian contest. Earl Luther made a very clever toastmaster. With very appropriate introductions, he called upon Lila Fleming, Margaret McLaughlin, and Lucy Demulling to demonstrate the women's speaking ability, and Edward Casey, Winfred Bird, and John Gerretson to uphold the laurels of the Lincolnian. The banquet was followed by a dance in the South Hall gym. As a climax to a perfect evening, Ed. Casey reports that everyone was home at eleven o'clock.

ATHLETIC NOTES

St. Thomas meets River Falls Normal here Friday afternoon. Fans will find this to be one of the hardest baseball games of the season. St. Thomas won the Minnesota college conference last year and have almost the entire last year's team back. With Mr. Eggebrecht assuring us that it will be no track-meet, the fans can watch the team in a better game than that of last week.

The annual class track-meet will be held Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 6:00. Girls of the different classes will compete as well as men. Total points of both girls' and boys' teams select the winner.

The Seniors won the event last year, but the Juniors this year have a wealth of material and look strong enough to turn the tables.

Dr. W. E. Meanwell conducted a basketball institute at Oshkosh Normal school, March 29, in which he gave valuable information to high school coaches.—The Advance.

DECLAMATORY AND ORATORICAL CONTEST

Members of the six leagues in the River Falls district will compete this week for honors in declamation and oratory. The winners in this contest will meet at River Falls a week from Friday to again compete for places. Besides the winners in the local contest, each league whose high school attendance is six hundred will be entitled to a representation here by two delegates. With these there will perhaps be at least nine representatives in both declamation and oration. The orations will be given in the afternoon of Friday; the declamations in the evening. The Lincolnian is planning a banquet Friday night in honor of the orators.

Mr. Mitchell: "Give me a definition of an orator."

D. MacNamara: "Well, I know one who is always ready to lay down your life for his country."

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Nicolai Demulling, Grade 8, won first place in the Junior High School design contest conducted by Miss Wilson in the drawing classes. His design, a conventionalized motif from a snap-dragon bud, will be reproduced in the J. H. S. annual which is being published.

Mark Groom, 7th grade, was a very close second with a fine design from a primrose cup.

Those receiving honorable mention are:

- Mable Wenderlick, 8th grade
  - Norlan Beebe, 7th grade
  - Margaret Fox, 8th grade
  - Harriet Malberg, 7th grade
  - Gordon Grimm, 8th grade
  - Eleanor Borner, 8th grade
- The judges are: Miss Pardee, Mr. Stratton, Mrs. Douglas Allard, and Miss Bridges.

The designs submitted, except the winning paper, are on display in the lower corridor of South Hall.

The Whitewater basketball squad will be captained next season by Martin Gharrity.— TheRoyal Purple.

AG. NEWS

With the Field Day about three weeks away and with the preliminary work well along, it should interest the average student as to what is to be put on at this big event. The agricultural teaching profession is called upon to do many things unthought of in other lines of endeavor. Because this outside work is demanded more and more of the teacher the Field Day was instigated.

Some of the demonstrations to be given are as follows:

1. Feeding and Keeping of Dairy Records—Ralph Seyforth, Emery Owens, and Carl Larson.
2. The Marketing Problem—Robert Swenson and Evan Hill.
3. Solving Soil Problems—Herbert Kelm and Lorin Strong.
4. Treating Livestock Diseases—Foster Claffin and Donald Field
5. How to Produce Early Pullets—Boyd Christopherson, Ira Goodell and Harold Laurenz
6. Spraying and Pruning—Theodore Sorenson, Emery Owens, and Edwin Johnson.
7. Bee Demonstration—Frank Walquist, Harvey Wanish.
8. Gasoline Engine Troubles—Merrill Halron, Henry Trammal, and Edwin Eggers.
9. Rafter Cutting—Virgil Volla, Belden Thelander, Reynold Jensen and Carlyle Thelander.
10. Plow Demonstration—Wm. Anderson, Raymond Hoffmann.

In connection with each one of these demonstrations will be a booth making an attractive background for the giving of the demonstration as well as being educational.

Other demonstrations and booths, as well as exhibits, are also to be given, making the Field Day a whole day affair. Other information will be printed in the next issue of the Student Voice.

All of the 3-year agricultural men have been placed with but one exception. The salaries are excellent, varying between $1,600 and $2,200. Many of the 2-year men also have signed up.

The Agrifallian easily defeated the Lincolnian in a five-inning game of baseball Monday evening by a 5-0 score. Good pitching and errorless fielding won the day.

Let us back up the Twilight League. The games are short, the team spirit is excellent and the evenings are pleasant. Instead of going moon-gazing take at least a good look at the stars of the scrub athletes.

School Notes

Albert Butenhoff of Durand was in town Saturday.

Jack Lipke and Forest Clafin spent the week-end in Mondovi.

Norman Adams went home to Minong over the week-end.

The Osceola bunch called on home friends over the week-end.

Frant Gartland visited home folks at Diamond Bluff last week-end.

Alpha Younggren has the Ford to school now. What do you expect?

Don Fields and Dick Herbison visited at the Reed home in Ellsworth.

Miss Tilton returned Saturday from the Twin Cities after her operation.

Florence Bennett was surprised by a group of friends last Monday evening.

Marion Taylor entertained at a sixty-three dinner and cards last Saturday afternoon.

Ethel Blanchard and Edna Olson spent the week-end at their homes in Amery.

Agnes McDonald and Abigail Bennett motored to St. Paul with Prof. May Saturday.

Several of our Normal students helped swell the crowd at the dance at Ellsworth.

The carpentry class is constructing a garage in which Mr. Karges will "store" his new Ford.

Those desiring to attend the Junior Prom may obtain permits from Mr. Hayward beginning with Monday.

The Ag. men, under the supervision of Mr. Prucha, leveled off part of South Hall campus last Saturday.

Senior committees for Commencement week are busy planning the schedule of events for the occasion.

The traffic from first floor, South Hall, to the engine room seems to be on the decline. Ain't Nature grand?

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward and Mr. and Mrs. Davison went to St. Croix Falls Friday, where Mr. Hayward and Mr. Davison judged in an oratorical contest.

Orlando Nelson is filling a vacancy in the Math. department of the Shawano Public schools. He left school last Thursday. Ted Whitenack is teaching there also.

From all appearances Bill McLaughlin and Jack Gerretson had the "thrill of a life time" at the Lincolnian dance, Saturday evening. It was a case of the survival of the fittest.

Friends, this is logic: Claf threw a ball up in one of the trees on the campus. He was perplexed as to the way he would get it down; the ball came down, but the bat remained there.

The Prom committee is contemplating the creation of a day and night shift of workers. They have accomplished a great deal since last Saturday morning. Junior, see your duty and do it!

Tuffy Preston says that his shoe soles are so thin that he can step on a dime and tell whether it's "head or tails."

Some students are human dynamos—everything they wear is charged.
