All five Senate incumbents gained re-election last Wednesday when 36.8 per cent of the student body turned out for all-school elections of student senators and junior and senior class officers.

Sen. Wayne Weiss topped the votes for senator with 745 ballots. He was followed by the four other incumbents, George Wilbur, 728, Bob Rasmussen, 708; John Harter, 684; and Chuck Feltes, 650.

Linda Graves, running for the first time, ranked 6th in the voting with 621 and Ron Pressley, who was a Senate candidate in special winter quarter elections, filled out the 7th spot with 533 votes.

The constitutional referendum passed the revised Senate Constitution with 801 yes votes sweeping the 119 no's. A voter turnout of 1000 was required to validate the revision and 1122 voted at the polls.

Totals for the unseated Senate candidates are as follows: Ron Nilsestuen, 442; Matthew Corshu, 397; Jim Sacia, 380; Jerry Gust 354; and Irv Possin, 316.

A close race for Senior Class President gave Francis B. Haines the post with 97 votes, over Paul "Stick" Lindahl, 78 and George Alecci, 61. In uncontested elections Loueta Tostrud became vice president, 180; Chris Breitten is secretary, 208; and Jon Graham, is treasurer, 206.

In Junior Class elections John Chudy walked away with 220 votes, defeating candidates Russ Hansen, 82, and Dave Bushy, 49. The vice-president spot went to Lynn Peterson, 123, who edged out Mary Crownhart, who polled 109 votes. Dale "Tuesday" Wells polled 104 votes.

The secretary position went to Judy Hancock, 187, who was followed by candidates Pat Ianni, 102 and Jean Newmann, 54. Treasurer is Jim "Maynard" Bubrow, 129, who defeated Sally Hetzel, 115 and Barry Brecke, 95.

Numerous write in votes were polled but no more than two votes were given to any single candidate in all the election vacancies.

Each organization should have a written statement of their unique activities of the year, what they feel they contribute to the school and how they relate to the world outside the college.

Five math department instructors will be taking leaves from teaching at WSU-RF next year to continue studies in their fields.

Four of the instructors have received grants from the National Science Foundation and one has been awarded a three year grant by the National Defense Education Act.

Larry Hapke, instructor, will be attending the University of Oklahoma on an academic year extension grant subsidized by the National Science Foundation, where he will be continuing research as part of Research Participation Grant for college teachers.

Hapke also did research at the University of Oklahoma last summer. He received his bachelor's degree from Morningside College, Souix City, Iowa, and his master's degree from Bowling Green State University, Ohio in 1964. Hapke is in his second year of teaching at River Falls. Previous to this he taught in Arizona.

Edward Mealy, instructor, has been awarded a three year NDEA (National Defense Education Act) grant to work on a doctorate at George Peabody College for teachers. He will be majoring in mathematics and psychology. Mealy is in his first year of teaching at River Falls. His bachelor's degree was received from Wis. State Univ. at Stevens Point in 1961, and his master's from Central Michigan University in 1966.

Before coming to River Falls to accept a position with the math department, Mealy taught high school in Kenosha, Wis. Mealy plans to return to River Falls after completing his degree work.

Doug Mountain has been awarded a National Science Foundation Scholarship to participate in a summer institute of graduate study at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas. The institute is eight weeks in length from June 12 to Aug. 4, and involves graduate study in mathematics with courses in Linear Algebra and differential equations.

Mountain is an instructor in his third year of teaching at River Falls. His bachelor's degree was received from River Falls in 1958, and master's from the University of Oregon in 1963. Before coming to River Falls, he taught high school in Beloit, Wis.

Marlin Walter, instructor, has been selected to participate in a Summer Institute at the Univer-ity of Wisconsin sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The purpose of the institute is to study computing machines. The institute will be six weeks in length, beginning June 12, and ending July 21.

Walter is in his first year of teaching at River Falls. Previous to this he was living and teaching in Colorado. He received his master's degree from San Diego State College in 1961.

Larry Wheeler has received a National Science Foundation grant to attend Vanderbilt University this summer. The institute is six weeks in length and he will be taking courses in topology. The institute runs from June 5 to July 14. Wheeler received his bachelor's degree in 1962, and his master's degree in 1964, both from the University of North Dakota, where he majored in mathematical analysis.

Previous to attending the University of North Dakota, Wheeler served two years in the U.S. Army as an artillery officer and was stationed in Germany. Wheeler is an instructor and is in his first year of teaching at River Falls.

Wheeler is an instructor and is in his first year of teaching at River Falls.

Senate Considers Pay For Their Labor

Meeting in Stratton Hall, Senate appointed a committee to study a plan that would pay senators for their Senate work and, in a heated discussion, refused to allot $50 more "additional funds" for the past appearance of Father Groppi.

With LAC's initial committee report, committee Pres. John Chudy reported that his committee was considering a plan that would pay Senate officers. Avoiding discussion at this time, Sen. Bob Rasmussen moved that Senate Pres. Keith Rodli name a committee to study the issue, due to report back to the Senate on April 19.

Rodli named Senators Jack Brown and Henk Van Dyke to serve with him on the committee.

Senate by Rodli's executive vote in both motions, refused to allot any funds to cover the $50 tab saying that LAC's debts, as a Senate subcommittee, have to be substantiated by Senate and, "We have a moral obligation to cover the cost."

Dissenting views on the issue were those of Senators Jack Brown and Rasmussen, both felt that Young Democrats should be looked into as a source for the funds, citing Y-Dems inspiration of and involvement in the issue. Brown's opinion was "We gotta' be nuts" to consider paying this bill.

After Senate had voted not to allot the $50, a proposal to give LAC $25 to help them pay the bill was also defeated. Paying the bill in full would leave the LAC in the red $14.

In other Senate agenda, the Senators $50 into the hands of Inter-Dorm Council for a Kansas convention of residence hall assistants and inter-dorm councils held April 5-8, turned down a proposal by a group of history students for $32,90, and voted to "match funds" with the history department up to $150 for one more Free Spirit Forum, this time for a Florida professor who was once an assistant to Fidel Castro.

The only other agenda was the April 17 appearance of the New Christy Minstrels. Senate set the policy that no free complimentary tickets will be given. Sen. Rasmussen reported early ticket sales were going "quite well" and a plan to go door-to-door in the dorms was discussed.

THE UNIVERSITY SPEECH CLINIC HAS EXPANDED its facilities and is now located in the former Lyle Oleson house just two doors north of the Ames Laboratory School.

Four large therapy rooms are available on the second floor and a large comfortable waiting room for parents is located on the main floor.

The clinic is organized to serve area children and adults as well as college students with speech disorders. It also serves as a setting for training university students in speech correction.

Forum Topic Is U.S. - New Europe

The University history department is preparing to sponsor its 3rd annual World Affairs Forum.

The topic for this year's forum will be "The United States and the New Europe." This is the first of the forums to deal with Europe. The previous two dealt with the Far East.

Dr. Edward Peterson, professor of history and chairman of the history department, was asked what the purpose of this year's forum would be. He answered that in his recent travels abroad, he became increasingly aware of a number of problems developing between Europe and the United States.

Peterson said that there seemed to be a growing mistrust of America in Europe. It isn't so much what we may do to them directly, but rather it is a mistrust of how our present policies may tend to effect them.

Peterson placed the responsibility for this growing mistrust in a number of places. He said that DeGaulle is partially to be blamed because of his virtual "declaration of independence" from the United States. The forced withdrawal of all of the NATO forces takes away most of the material evidence that we really intend to continue our present policy of standing behind and protecting Europe.

Our Vietnam policies may have some effect upon our image in Europe simply because we are focusing so much of our time and attention upon the Far East that Europe is beginning to feel abandoned. Our policy is beginning to reflect the change in Eastern Europe. The Russians have been very quiet in Eastern Europe for quite a while. Eastern Europe seems to be on the trend toward a more liberal society.

Peterson's main concerns seemed to be the increasingly unfriendly attitude of the French and the anti-American campaign point of the Neo-Nazi party that got substantial gains in Germany's last elections. The purpose of this program, then, would be to introduce a few of these problems to the college students.

Another purpose for the forum would be to introduce to the college students a "real, live Russian." According to a program just released by the history department, there will be an all-school convocation at 1 p.m., Monday, April 24 in Karges Gym.

The convocation theme will be "The United States and the New Soviet." The guest speakers will be Victor Kompletov, the first secretary of the embassy of the U.S.S.R., and Milton Mayer, John Woolman resident of Woolman Hill, Mass. Following the convocation, there will be a reception at the Wesley Center sponsored by the History Club from 3-4:30 p.m.

There are two events scheduled for Tuesday, April 25. At 10 a.m. there will be a forum entitled "The U.S. and the New France" in the Student Center Ballroom. The guest speakers will be Jean-Louis Mandereau, Consul General of France (Chicago), and Professor John Schwarz, political science department of the University of Minnesota.

At 2 p.m. a second forum will be held in North Hall Auditorium. Andrew Konopacki, first secretary of the Polish Embassy, and Professor Georges Mond, communications, University of Minnesota, will be the featured speakers. Following this convocation, there will be a reception in the Student Center sponsored by the Foreign Students Association from 3:30-5 p.m.

A final convocation in North Hall Auditorium at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, April 26 will wrap up the three-day World Affairs Forum. The topic of this final forum will be "The United States and the New Germany." The speakers will be Peter Mende, Vice Consul, German Consulate, Chicago, and Professor Rodney Stiefbold, political science professor, University of Wisconsin.

Election Evaluation

Last Wednesday, the River Falls student voter went to the polls to cast ballots for their representatives in student government. From the eight candidates the VOICE endorsed, six were elected to the post they were seeking. This is the second year the VOICE has endorsed nominees for office and we feel this is and always must be a necessary function for a newspaper in society - - any society be it college or otherwise.

In the Senate race, out of the thirteen running, seven were chosen and for the most part they were the most capable.

The incumbents: Bob Rasmussen, Wayne Weiss, John Harter, Chuck Feltes and George Wilbur have proven themselves capable in student government and hopefully they will continue to fairly represent the student body.

Linda Graves, one of the two independents elected, has proven herself in responsible positions for other student organizations. Her platform was by far the best thought out of the candidates and we hope that she will carry through with her worthy opinions.

The other elected candidate, Ron Pressley has caused some serious speculation by the VOICE Editorial Board. His platform was well constructed but at times sounded much like the other candidates. Our main objection to Pressley's qualifications are a few of his past actions. When he ran against George Wilbur for the special Senate race a few weeks ago, Pressley told the student body at a candidates forum that President Kleinpell was in his office picking out the color of bricks for the superstructure. The superstructure is a proposed governing body for the entire university and not a building, Mr. Pressley. When he campaigned in Stratton Hall for this Senate seat his slogan was "Stratton's Own Beard" It doesn't seem to relate to his ability in representing 3,000 students.

The VOICE as will the student body must take a wait and see attitude and hope for the best. Learn the issues, Mr. Pressley, before taking a stand and perhaps the Senate will benefit from your presence.

As next year approaches, the Senate more than ever will take an active role in moulding the future of this university. With the proposed revamping of the system of governing at River Falls, the Senators must take a mature and wise stand on the issues. The Senate must lead and not follow. Don't be afraid to stick your necks out for something you believe in for if you don't, they may be buried forever in the sands of bureaucracy.

political syndrome

BY STEVE WALTERS

Nineteen sixty-seven may be the year Wisconsin gains updated and modernized birth control laws.

Far behind the times and trends of modern America, Wisconsin's present birth control law classifies contraceptives and anything used to cause a miscarriage as "indecent articles." The law prohibits the advertising or sale of any such "indecent articles" to anyone save married persons through licensed pharmacists or doctors.

Violation of the law (1933 vintage) is a misdemeanor with a $100-$500 fine and/or up to six months imprisonment.

The bill before the state legislature in Madison contains three main provisions to revolutionize the current law. These are:

1. The dropping of the term "indecent articles" for contraceptives. The connotation of the word "indecent" is overwhelming, combining years of governmental definition with personal use.

2. Contraceptives would be permitted for unmarried persons prescribed by a physician and/or provided by a pharmacist. My own liberalism could justify a law where permission or prescription of a licensed authority isn't needed--but I must remain in the realm of the legislatively possible.

3. The third provision of the bill would give social workers, nurses or counselors the right to advise about family planning and contraceptives so long as the recipient of the information is free to reject or accept the information.

One of the 20th Century's biggest problem--if not the biggest--is population and food control. A social worker must be able to advise; a social worker is trained to do so. Illegitimate births in Wisconsin are up to 4.7 per cent of the total births and 42 percent of 1961's illegitimate births were born to mothers already receiving state aid.

Assemblyman George Molinare (D-Kenosha) has said that "Religion is going to have very little effect on this issue" but as long as the vatican continues to refuse to change its antiquated position on the issue, Catholics could not technically back or use the bill's methods. But this shouldn't stop the legislature's passage of the bill.

In tune with the new social and moral codes governing the county, the birth control bill, even as cut and re-cut as it is, is a necessity. Realistically, the bill should go much farther because, as Sen. Alex Meunier (R-Sturgeon Bay) has said, "Things have changed . . ."

Rockwell's Facts???

BY RICHARD MARSHALL

I don't think that too many people could honestly disagree with the statement that George Lincoln Rockwell is "technically" an excellent speaker.

When I say "technically" a good speaker, I don't mean that I believe everything the man has to say or that in most cases he has anything to say at all. I mean that he has the mechanics of speaking nearly perfected.

I will grant that Rockwell is "technically" a good speaker, but I will also say that we must never allow "mechanics" to take the place of pure content in our evaluation of a speaker's ideals. Rockwell stated that he had "documentary proof" to substantiate everything that he said. I will present "documentary proof" that will prove at least two of the things he said false.

Shortly after Rockwell appeared here on campus, Peter Muto, assistant professor of chemistry, sent two letters out to check the validity of some of Rockwell's statements. The first letter went to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense in Washington D.C. In it was a request for either a confirmation or a contradiction of Rockwell's statement that the use of tear gas had been prohibited by the government.

The answer came back with an open contradiction to the statement. "It is true that tear gas can be very effective when used by trained troops in appropriate situations and under favorable conditions. Local commanders have the authority to use tear gas. The commander of the United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, has such authority."

Another part of the reply reads, "The authority to use tear gas will not be denied when it is considered to be the most effective weapon in any given situation, and the Viet Cong by now are aware that such is the case."

The second letter also found its way to Washington D. C. and the State Department. This one covered one of the many little comments that Rockwell passed off as pure fact. Rockwell said that in Israel only a member of the Jewish faith could be married.

The answer again came back bearing a sharp contradiction. "In reply to your question whether "only a Jew can get married in Israel; the answer is 'no.'" In general, questions of personal status fall under the jurisdiction of the religious authorities of the religious community to which a citizen or resident of Israel belongs.

Each religious community recognized by the state (Jewish, Muslim, Greek Orthodox, Greek Catholic, Latin Catholic, Druse, Bahai, etc.) has its own laws and courts for matters such as marriage and divorce. The acts of the religious courts are recognized by the Israel Government as being official and binding acts enforceable by the state."

The letter goes on to say that this system was not set up by the Israel government but it came into operation in the time of the Ottoman Turk rule, and continued on under the British Mandate of Palestine. The letter is signed William D. Wolle, acting county director, Israel and Arab-Israel affairs.

Two letters were sent and two contradictions were returned. Maybe it was just luck, but I don't really think so. I wonder how many of Rockwell's documents are really only half-truths or fairy tales.

BY TERESA TRAYNOR

Harold Geyer, a Platteville attorney and former regent of the state colleges made the statement that the search and seizure law was a very dangerous and technical area for counselors to deal in.

"I can see no difference between renting a room in Warren Hall for instance, or renting a room at Johnny Smith's home, or renting a room in a hotel. I rent a room at any of the three places and I presumably pay it under contract."

He added, "And I think that room is that student's castle, and I think it's wrong for a counselor or a Dean to get a key and go into that room and search it."

He also said he felt it was wrong for a counselor to remove anything from the room without a search warrant."

The nine state universities expect 20,000 summer school students in numerous courses and varied fields.

The eight week sessions will run from June 12 to Aug. 4 at Eau Claire, La Crosse, Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls, Stevens Point, Superior and Whitewater, and June 19 to Aug. 11 at Stout State University azz Menomonee.

Approximately 16,000 students are expected to enroll for eight weeks and about 5,000 more will attend short courses, institutes and workshops.

The Raquet, W. S. U. La Crosse

Evan Stark, labeled a leader of the "new left", sounded more like a "good old-fashioned fundamentalist" according to a panelist with whom he spoke on the Wisconsin State University-Whitewater campus.

He called for a return to absolute morals and said that everything today is considered in relative terms.

He especially noted "liberal" clergy, saying that their judgments are not rooted in a fixed place.

The Royal Purple, W.S.U. Whitewater

The Young Republicans of Wisconsin State University - Whitewater recently opposed a 21-year-old minimum drinking age for Wisconsin. They sent a copy of their resolution to Gov. Knowles who proposed such a measure as part of his traffic safety proposals.

They said that such a bill would show a lack of confidence in the responsible youth of today.

The Royal Purple, W.S.U. Whitewater

Members of the Whitewater art department removed their work from the faculty exhibition and burned some of it in protest of alleged administration pressure on one of the members to remove a painting from the show. The controversial painting is about five feet square with 56 black and white panels, some depicting sexual activity.

Office of Education Says Staffs Will Increase

Colleges and universities will have increased their full-time professional staff by more than 50 percent during a six-year period ending in the fall of 1969, according to a new U.S. Office of Education publication. The greatest rate of staff growth is looked for in two-year colleges.

In announcing the study, Peter P. Murirhead, Associate Commissioner for Higher Education, pointed out that the current decade is expected to witness a doubling of enrollments in higher education.

"The present and future need for faculty in institutions of higher education in the United States is a matter of direct concern to college and university administrators, present and future college students, their parents, and society as a whole," he said.

Pagemen Split Games; Drop Two With Point

by Jerry Neve

The Falcons split a pair of doubleheaders this past week, winning two non-conference games and dropping two conference tilts.

On Tuesday afternoon the Pagemen handed Bethel College two defeats by identical scores of 3-2, both in extra innings, Scott Gaalaas, River Falls junior, picked up his second win of the season in the opener.

Gaalaas had a shutout going into the seventh when Bethel tied it. The Falcons were unable to score in their half and then Bethel went ahead with two in the top of the eighth.

Mark Guderyon, Burlington freshman, pinch-hit for Gaalaas and got on by being hit by a pitch on a two strike count. Ben Vavra, Chippewa Falls freshman, went into run for Guderyon. He advanced to second on a sacrifice and took third on a single to short center by Mike Milutinovich, Bruce junior.

Ron McIntyre, River Falls senior, then drove a fly to left with Vavra tagging up and scoring. Milutinovich also tagged up and went to second. Bob Jacobson, Rice Lake sophomore, then cracked a single to left to score Milutinovich and win the game.

In the second game Perry Arndt, Medford freshman, was the pitching and batting star as he picked up his first victory of the season and drove in the winning run in the bottom of the eighth.

Bethel jumped off to an early two run lead in the first on a two-run shot by second baseman Muck. The Falcons caught up and Arndt's two out single drive over the right fielder's head spelled the difference.

Against Stevens Point on Saturday, the tables were turned as the Pointers came out on top, 4-3 and 7-1 in the night cap.

Point jumped off to a two run lead, picking up an unearned run in the first and another on a home run clout in the second. The Falcons narrowed the margin to 2-1 but the Pointers added another before the Falcons came back with another to put the score at 3-2.

The Pagemen knotted the game up in the home half of the seventh to send the contest into extra innings. McIntyre doubled down the left field line. Then with runners on first and third, Jacobson was walked intentionally to load the bases. Terry Frerker then drove the centerfielder deep for his drive which was finally hauled in and that was the end of the Falcon threat.

Errors in the ninth led to the winning run for the Pointers with the winning run denting the plate with two outs.

Point struck early in the second game, picking up three runs on two singles and a home run in the first inning. Another home run and three runs in the seventh accounted for the other scoring. Perry Arndt went all the way and absorbed his second loss of the season.

The Falcons will be in action against Eau Claire there this Saturday. The Bugolds lost a doubleheader to the Titans of Oshkosh in their conference opener.

Joe: Did you hear that they just installed the lights on Ramer Field in the second lane of the proposed track?

Smoe: Gee, with a little effort, the planning here could become mediocre.

Golf Team Opens Season With Four Lettermen

With four returning lettermen and a total squad of 21, the 1967 version of the Falcon golf team is taking shape for its debut against Bethel on April 26 at Co-mo.

Topping the list of returning lettermen are Tom Schaffer, two year letterman from North St. Paul; John Ganske, junior letterman from Spooner; Bill Abel, a junior letterman who averaged 80 in all meets last year, from Hudson and rounding out the list of returnees is Steve Olson from Hudson. Olson is student teaching and will join the team as much as his teaching duties will allow.

Other team members include Jim Heebink, New Richmond; Bob Howery, St. Paul; Mike McIntyre, Baraboo and Jack Norqual, St. Paul all juniors.

This year after Bethel, the golfers will face LaCrosse on May 2 (there); Carleton on May 4 (there); La Crosse and Carleton on May 12 (here); Bethel again on May 13 (here); Superior on May 15 at Cumberland and the golfmen will finish the season with the conference meet on May 19 and 20 at Green Lake, Wis.

Top WSU Receives All-Sports Trophy

MADISON -- The Wisconsin State University Conference is inaugurating an All Sports trophy this year to be awarded to the member institution with the best overall record in the ten sports sponsored by the conference.

The nine member schools compete in all sports except for Eau Claire in swimming and Stout and Superior in cross country. This gap will be closed next year as Stout will add cross country and Eau Claire will gain a new swimming pool as a new physical education building is scheduled for construction.

The purpose of the All Sports award is to encourage each school to emphasize a balanced athletic program. Points are figured on a basis of nine for a first place finish, eight for second, seven for third, etc.

After the completion of six of the ten sports, LaCrosse leads with 40 points followed closely by Oshkosh with 37. River Falls is ranked sixth with 28 1/2 points. LaCrosse has just one first place finish, in gymnastics, but the Indians have ranked in the first division of all sports completed. Oshkosh had championships in cross country and basketball to boost themselves into second place. Platteville, Stevens Point and Whitewater are bunched tightly in third, fourth and fifth place.

With four spring sports left here are the standings: LaCrosse, 40; Oshkosh, 37; Platteville, 33; Stevens Point, 32; Whitewater, 32; River Falls, 28 1/2; Stout, 24; Superior, 20 and Eau Claire, 19 1/2.

Young Entrepreneur Goes East; Middleton to Enter Boston Race

Mike Norman
Voice Sports Editor

A quiet, unassuming, bespectacled young man sits contemplating his future in one of the worlds most grueling sports events. He doesn't drive a high speed car or boat nor does he risk his life in the event, but for Craig Middleton, a freshman from Burlington, Wis., the proverbial loneliness of the long distance runner is a real thing.

Middleton left yesterday to compete in the worlds most famous long distance race, the Boston Marathon. It's a grueling 26-mile endurance race that weak men shudder at, and sinewy, long winded runners take as one of the world's great challenges.

Over a thousand miles have fled under Middleton's feet in his daily conditioning exercises this year. To prepare himself for the Boston race later this week, Middleton and his coach, Rial Smith determined a 26 mile course that started on the other side of Spring Valley and ended at Karges Center. He ran his course of hills and rocky roads and finished in a time of three hours and fifty six minutes. A good Boston time is about three hours and forty minutes.

Both a cross country man and a distance runner in high school track, Middleton's cross country team in his senior year captured the state crown.

Middleton, an art major who wants to teach high school has never let a loss or a setback provoke him. A striving for the best can be found in Middleton when he said that a quote by the famous coach Johnny Erickson has stuck with him ever since his sophomore year in high school. He said, "you're either a champ or a chump, and that's just what I believe," Middleton explained.

Besides being an outstanding runner, Middleton runs dances and books bands all over southern Wisconsin during the summer. He started this unusual hobby in his home town of Burlington when the teenagers decided to form a teen corporation and hold dances etc. Over 200 dances have been managed by Middleton and his cousin and the bands he has hired include "The Association," New Colony Six", "The Outsiders," and the "Ides of March." He plans to keep up this activity and eventually branch out into actually managing a group. "Right now I'm placing my money in a group called The Thundermen. They have a great sound and I really think they'll be big soon," Middleton stated.

When asked what advice he would give to young runners or even young booking agents, Middleton said the "idea of never quitting despite the distance for the minute you stop, you become a quitter," is a major ingredient to his success.

Tennismen Whip Stout in Match

"An excellent job" is how Coach Mike Davis described the victory last Tuesday over Stout by the RF tennis men.

The final score was six to three with Craig Adelman blanking Tom Tierney from Stout in the singles matches, 6-0, 6-0.

Bob Herum defeated his Stout opponent 6-2, 6-4 in the singles while Wells Wagner split his two singles and Jeff Jacobs won his matches 6-4 and 6-3.

In the doubles, Craig Adelman and Mike Goodier, River Falls, defeated Tom Tierney and Bill Benzel of Stout, 6-3 and 6-0. Wells Wagner and Jeff Jacobs teamed up in the doubles to win their matches by 6-4 and 6-1 scores.

WITH LONG LONELY STRIDES, Craig Middleton, freshman from Burlington and River Falls entry in the Boston Marathon, steps out on the 26 mile course he and Coach Rial Smith prepared to condition the runner for the grueling race this week.

Publications Conference Here April 21

Student newspaper and yearbook staff members from the nine Wisconsin State Universities will gather at River Falls Friday, April 21, for the 10th annual conference of the Wisconsin State Universities Publications Association.

Mark Wyman, labor relations reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune, will be the luncheon speaker.

Conducting a morning meeting for newspaper staff members will be Walter Brovald, publisher of the Cadott Sentinel and presently a journalism faculty member at the University of Minnesota. Robert Graf and Robert Cavanagh of American Yearbook Co. and John Roberts of Taylor Publishing Co. will be in charge of the yearbook session. Wayne Harmann of Harmann Studios in Algoma will speak to student photographers.

Afternoon sessions will be conducted by staff members of the Student Voice and Meletean.

Awards in newspaper, yearbook and photography competition will be announced at a general session ending the day's activities.

Wyman, a former River Falls student, graduated in 1960 with a journalism degree from the University of Wisconsin, where he was editor of the Daily Cardinal. He worked on newspapers in Billings and Livingston, Mont., before joining the Minneapolis Tribune staff in 1962 as a copy editor.

He spent 1964 in Chile and then returned to the graduate school at Wisconsin for a master's degree in political science. Wyman went back to the Tribune in August, 1966, and was assigned to the labor beat in October.

Brovald, publisher of the Cadott Sentinel since 1954, also is a Wisconsin graduate. After graduation in 1959 he became editor of the Stanley Republican and then spent a year as news editor of radio station WEAU, Eau Claire, before returning to the newspaper business, first at Stanley and then at Cadott.

The Sentinel has been awarded major honors in state and national competition 54 times under Brovald's ownership. He is a past president of the Wisconsin Press Association and was appointed by the governor to the Wisconsin/Nicaragua Partners of the Alliance team that visited Nicaragua in 1965.

Brovald enrolled in graduate school at the University of Minnesota last fall. He is an instructor on the journalism faculty and business adviser to the university news publications.

Harmann, a 1961 River Falls graduate, was a staff photographer for the Student Voice and Meletean. He and his brother have formed a corporation with three studios on the Door Peninsula--at Algoma, Sturgeon Bay and Luxemburg.

Besides studio photography, Harmann does a great amount of free-lance news work and also shoots television film for NBC. For the last two years, he has won the Professional Photography Court of Honor award of the Wisconsin Professional Photographers Association.

Of the more than 600 entries in this year's competition, Harmann had two of the top 10 prints.

Roberts and Graf are salesmen for their companies, and Cavanagh is an editorial consultant from American Yearbook Co.'s Topeka office.

All sessions of the conference will be held in Hagestad Student Center, with the luncheon and general session scheduled for the Ballroom.

Registrations begins at 9 a.m. The final session will end at about 3:30 p.m.

Barbara Allen - Witch Boy Spark Spring Production

A witch boy from the mountain came,
A plinnin' to be human,
Fer he had seen the fairest gal
A gal named Barbara Allen.

John the Witch boy loved Barbara Allen. But witches can't marry human beings. So he went to the Conjur Man and asked him to turn him into a human.

The entire community of witches wanted to know why John wanted to be human. Finally he admits it's because he wants the "blue eyed Barbara Allen with the copper hair."

The witches don't want to turn him into a human. They don't think it's right. They agree on one condition - that Barbara Allen remain true to John for one year after their marriage.

If Barbara is true to John for the year, he will be changed into a human being. If she is unfaithful, his eagle (the bird that he rides every night when he goes witching) will come down from the mountain and take him back.

John arrives in town on the night of a square dance. He asks Barbara to dance and she accepts. The boy that she was supposed to dance the first dance with, gets angry and challenges John to a fight. John, with his unearthly powers, strikes the suitor down.

From that time on the local people regard John as a danger, an oddity, and something to be feared and hated. They do everything in their power to keep Barbara from marrying him, and after she marries him, from living with him.

The play is one of conflicting interests, of comic sincerity and of naive sophistication. It is peopled by mountain folk who have a strong fear of witches and the unknown, and by the witches themselves one of whom wants to be a witch no more so that he may marry the beautiful Barbara Allen.

Oh, you can be a man, a man
If Barbara will not grieve you,
If she be faithful fer a year,
Yer eagle, he will leave you.
