Lisbeth Andersson, who will be the opening speaker for the Rural Life Conference, is shown at work on one of her designs at the Home Industry in Sweden.

Lisbeth Andersson to Open Rural Life Week Oct. 21

Miss Lisbeth Andersson, noted Swedish designer, will be on campus Tuesday, Oct. 21, when the Rural Life Conference opens with the topic "Art in Rural America." She will speak in North Hall auditorium at 2 p.m.

The five-day conference is being sponsored by the social science and agriculture departments. Features which have been set up are:

- Art in Rural America, Tuesday, Oct. 21.
- Trends in Rural America, Thursday, Oct. 23.
- Creative Writing in Rural America, Friday, Oct. 24.
- Agriculture Policies, Saturday, Oct. 25.

A professional designer and teacher of craft techniques, Miss Andersson is visiting the U. S. for a year. In Sweden she works with Hemslojd (Home Industry), an organization of the Home Craft League which helps craftsmen produce items at home for sale in commercial markets. She does the original designing needed for these items.

Also included in Tuesday's program is a display of rural art work in oil, water color, prints, or drawings. Works of special merit will receive certificates of award.

The Thursday meetings will deal with "Trends in Rural America." Speeches will be given by Dr. Clarence Storka, of the college sociology department, and John Kinneman of Illinois State Normal University. Also speaking will be Milo Swanson, a member of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperatives, and Vern Henrickson, a county agent.

As a highlight of the "Creative Writing in Rural America" session on Friday, members of the Wisconsin Idea Theatre, an extension service of the University of Wisconsin, will present the play "Anxiety in the Lower Forty." It will be done in reader theatre form in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m.

The play was written by Professor Edward Kamarck from the U. of W. and patterned after a story by Mrs. Erma Graeger of Platteville. Dealing with a mythical Wisconsin farm family, the plot centers around the emotions of a farm boy returning home after World War I.

"Creative Writing", a magazine published by the Wisconsin Regional Writers Association, will be reviewed by its editor as a part of the discussions on Friday. Other subjects handled will be "Regional Drama, The Short Story, Magazine Articles, and Newspaper Feature Articles."

"Agriculture Policies" will be the main topic on Saturday, with Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, tentatively scheduled as keynote speaker. Professors from the Universities of Minnesota and Wisconsin will also be speaking.

"What Can Professional Workers do to Help Farmers Adjust Changing Conditions?" is on the agenda as a panel discussion.

Another section of the Rural Life Conference will recognize news photographers working on state weeklies and the paper for which they work. A photography contest has been organized with prizes being awarded for pictures in two divisions, one for polaroid photographs and the other for 8x10 prints, in four different categories.

Tag Day! Prices to Be High On Illegal Parking

The city police will have authority to enforce campus parking regulations starting Monday, Oct. 13.

City ordinances offer the violator the choice of paying his fine at the City Hall or appearing in court. However, city ordinances do not carry over to State property.

Students who violate the regulations on campus must appear before a justice in court, and will be fined not more than $10 with court fees added on.

English Chairman To Head NCTE Awards Program

Dr. Francis Chisholm, head of the English department at River Falls, is working as state chairman for the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Award program.

Forty-five high school seniors from Wisconsin are candidates for the awards. Nine of these candidates will be selected as winners in the near future. Each candidate will submit an article that he has written and will take a test on literary awareness and understanding of communication techniques.

Each award will consist of a scroll plus a recommendation to colleges, universities, and scholarship donors that each winner be granted a college scholarship. Names of runners-up in each state will also be submitted to colleges. In addition, a certificate (Continued on page 2)

Drama Department Becomes Involved In Field of International Relations

Center of international relations on the River Falls campus seems to have shifted temporarily from the political science department to the drama department. The shift has resulted from the plan to present the American premiere of Otra Primavera (Another Springtime) by Mexican dramatist Rodolfo Usigli.

Complicating the international aspect is the fact that the playwright has been serving for the past three years as Mexican Minister to Lebanon and is living in Beirut, the capital of the Middle East nation.

Consequently, airmail copies of scripts have been literally flying back and forth between River Falls and Beirut in an effort to get final approval of the English translation by Wayne Wolfe of the journalism department. At the same time, negotiations have been carried on with Miss Claire Leonard, Mr. Usigli's agent in New York, and the Samuel French company of New York which also has an interest in the play.

Optimistically, the actors, directed by Dr. Blanche Davis, have been rehearsing since mid-Sep-

Senate Allots Activity Fund

Based on a budget of $36,000, the Student Senate last week approved the following allotment of the student activity funds:

Athletics	$ 8,000
Health	2,800
Senate	3,600
Music	1,500
Convocations	2,100
Forensics	1,600
Drama	450
Student Voice	4,900
Meletean	9,500
Miscellaneous	400

	34,850
Unallotted Reserve	1,150
Total	$36,000

The unallotted reserve will be held back by the Senate, to be distributed later as the need warrants. The balance coming from funds in excess of $12,000 per quarter will also be added to this fund.

tember in the expectation that the script will be approved and that legal details will be ironed out before the scheduled presentation Nov. 10, 11 & 12. This despite the fact that even airmail communications require ten days to arrive in Beirut. The stage design crew, assisted by Mrs. John Oostendorp, also has been busily engaged in finding furniture for the rather bizarre setting.

Mr. Usigli, generally regarded as one of Mexico's foremost playwrights, is the author of a number of works which have been produced successfully in Mexico.

Among his plays are Corona de Sombra (Crown of Shadows), the story of Maximilian and Carlota who were placed on the Mexican throne with the aid of Napoleon III; El Gesticulador (The Poseur), a story of post-revolutionary Mexican politics; La Familia Cerna en Casa (The Family Dines at Home), El Muchacho en la Niebla (The Boy in the Mist), Funcion de Despedida (Farewell Performance), and Medio Tono (Half Tone).

Mr. Usigli's works are national in character to the extent that the setting is Mexican and reflects Mexican culture and attitudes. In the sense that they deal with universal problems, however, and are concerned with human behavior, they hold interest for the non-Mexican audience as well. Mr. Usigli, unlike many Mexican writers, has never relied on local customs and "picturesqueness" for impact in his dramatic works. (Con't. on page 2)

The Editor Speaks . . .

River Falls is suffering "growing pains" and, as we remember, a growing adolescent needs understanding and sympathy rather than criticism. It may seem a trifle ludicrous to refer to an institution born in 1874 as an "adolescent," but certainly the "period of growth" is here.

And, in a way, it is an adolescent period with needs not being met quite as rapidly as demands arise. The new student center, the health and physical education building, the new laboratory school, the new farm buildings, the parking lot behind the men's dormitory — all of these are going to help meet the needs of the student body. In the meantime, though, the "growing pains" of the institution may be fairly severe.

About all that can be done is to recognize the ailment for what it is. Not that we should adopt a "Pollyanna" attitude and decide that if we ignore a problem it will go away. We need to keep working at stop-gap solutions until the long-range ones can be put into effect. But one consolation is that no individual nor institution has ever died of "growing pains."

Knowledge for College

Chemistry and Physics Depts.

The Pause That Refreshes is one of the most important part of our life, though it is not a liquid one, this time. The pause that I am talking about is the one in which you have a chance to think about why you are here, and where you are going. Think! In particular about today's activities. If it is a usual day for you, you haven't stopped from the time the alarm rang this morning, until now, and the chances are very good that the rest of the day is so planned that you will be busy until you go to sleep over your studies (the assumption being you are a good student) this evening. Several hundred more words will be used to try to say one thing, to convey one thought—pause, and think.

The lives of successful men—men that have contributed much to the world, are characterized by one trait, that of stopping to analyze their position, determining where they had been, where they were, and where they were going.

Without a goal you will not find the real fun that is in life, nor a rewarding life. You will find that each of your reflections will tend to change the complexion of the goal, but unless there is some goal there can be no progress.

Because we are rational beings we will ever attempt to increase our understanding of the universe about us. It might be as mundane as finding out the correct way to plant a garden, or as elevated as attempting to find the relationship between the cosmos and the cosmic waves. Yet, we find our search divided cleanly in three areas, with the fundamental question of the end and the purpose of man's life illumined by philosophy and religion, the question of the form and structure of life finding its answer in the expression or art, and the nature of the physical world as perceived through man's senses and investigated by science. Unless we stop and attempt to answer the questions in these areas, or acquaint ourselves sufficiently with these areas so that we realize that there are questions involved, we are living as part of a person, for we are denying the existence of a portion of us. If we recognize the realness of these areas, then and only then will we have before us the opportunity for a really full life. Isn't this after all what you are looking for? If you don't investigate, you'll never realize that there are questions to be answered. This is your paradox! Do the following and see if there is not a real opportunity for growth.

First: plan each day so that you have a specific time for each activity, for only through organization of your time will you be able to organize anything else.

Second: pause, and plan to reach your goal, constantly evaluating your goal in terms of each day's experiences.

Third: make use of the opportunities at college, for never in your life will you have some 80 people in the guise of instructors so concerned about your welfare in life, both now in college, and later, in the vocation of your choices. Talk over your problems with your instructors—they're here to help you.

Critics Corner

Last Wednesday night, Le Cercle Français presented the fourth in its series of cinema peeps into the ways of French culture. The latest offering, Gigi, seems to complete a sort of cycle worthy of regeneration. The French Club, occasionally operating in opposition to most of the student body, or so it sometimes seems, has brought before an amused, sometimes incredulous, but always stimulated audience, a succession of French films beginning with the electric Pastoral Symphony, followed by the meritoriously sexual Pit of Loneliness, the provocative, highly abstract Orpheus, and now, the delightful and subtly tragic Gigi.

The series has the potential to accomplish many things. First, and perhaps most obviously, it can remind an era of moviegoers dazzled by cinemascope and technicolor of a time when Hollywood could entertain simply by feeding good acting to an imaginative audience. To a large extent the success of the contemporary French film industry, still depending upon the interplay between acting ability and imagination, suggests that black and white, small screen, et al still has a place.

Also, the series, composed of older films but not essentially differing from French films of today, points out certain aspects of the culture for which the films were specifically made and hence reflect. The program, as we have seen it over the past few months, seems to reveal a refreshing French willingness to accept public portrayal of that which has occupied the mind in private. Pit of Loneliness would exemplify this. Orpheus might suggest that the French are more apt than most people to allow their minds to soar into an impossible aura of unreality, a voyage that is likely to offer tangible rewards to only a few. However, most should be able to enjoy the ride.

Gigi hints that the French, long considered to possess a patent on sex, are, despite their reputed level of sophistication, fully capable of appreciating the commodity garbed in youth and innocence. The more decadent-than-thou types who languished about the salons were no match for the bird-like girl, a rare creature who can retain her purity amid a fantastic collection of ruses and make them love it.

Still the audience cannot help but feel a bit of admiration for the well-adjusted degenerate. Also, the film makes out a pretty good case for the social necessity of the upper strata "ne'er do well." After all, they are really devoting themselves to the vicarious masses. Without the publicized antics of the wealthy mis-

Student Senate Minutes

October 6, 1958

The meeting was called to order by President Clarence Dulek. The secretary's report was approved as read. Reported by the treasurer were the following balances: $304.08 in the vending machine account, $300.67 in the Student Senate account and $8.81 in the River Falls account.

The completed budget was presented to the Senate, with the breakdown of student activity funds as follows: Athletics—$8,000; Health—$2,800; Senate—$3,600; Music—$1,500; Convocations—$2,100; Forensics—$1,600; Drama—$450; Student Voice—$4,900; Meletean—$9,500; and Miscellaneous (identification pictures)—$400. An unallotted reserve of $1,150 brings the total to $36,000.

Gwen Schlough, representing the WRA, asked if this organization might receive a portion of the student activity fund to carry on its activities. The Senate instructed her to come to the Senate for individual appropriations as needed.

Use of the student center was granted for two events: the AWS state meeting on Nov. 15 and the Pierce County Educational Association on Oct. 23.

The constitution for an International Students Club was submitted for approval. The Math Club was granted permission to meet the first Thursday of each month.

President Dulek reported that the administration has discontinued the wearing of beanies and the holding of Kangaroo Kourt as part of freshman initiation.

Organization presidents are asked to note that the next Student Advisory Council meeting, at which the coordination of Homecoming plans will be a main topic, will be held at 10 a.m. on Thursday, Oct. 16, in 227 South.

After considerable discussion, a motion to reduce the price of cigarettes in the vending machine from 30 cents to 25 cents was defeated.

A committee designated to explore possibilities of keeping the upstairs rooms in the library open for study groups reported that the rooms are being used as classrooms and thus cannot be opened for study projects. Students are permitted to use any free classroom in South Hall, however.

The meeting adjourned.

Secretary, Jim Laue

Gridmen To Face Rough Eau Claire In Crucial Game

by Ed Schlumpf

As we write this story, the results of the Eau Claire-Superior game are not yet known. Should the neighboring Blugolds trim the Yellowjackets from the north, this Saturday's clash between Eau Claire and River Falls would take on added importance. Coach John Rice's Blugolds and Coach Fran Polsfoot's Falcons would be sporting identical 3-0 won and lost records, so the league lead would be hanging in the balance in Saturday's struggle.

The game will be part of Homecoming festivities for the Blugolds and they will be seeking revenge for a 25-0 loss suffered during River Falls' Homecoming last year. They were the only conference team unable to muster a score against the Falcons last season.

For the third straight season, fans will see a wide open offense offered by the Blugolds featuring hard inside running by Pete Adler and long passes to speedy Ted Devine. It was the pass-catching of Devine that enabled Eau Claire to dump River Falls 35-21 two years ago and knock the Falcons out of title contention.

At the season's outset the Blugolds could field a team boasting lettermen at every position. However, prior to the Stout game, starters Hank Donatell and Gerry Berseth were suspended from the squad and it is unknown whether or not they will see action against the Falcons.

Eau Claire started slowly this year, losing to powerful St. Norbert's team in a runaway and bowing 7-6 to Oshkosh. Both were non-conference tilts however, and the Blugolds have come through with convincing league wins over Stout and La Crosse since.

So with the league lead awaiting the winner, the Falcons will be off to "Snare Eau Claire" this Saturday. Falcon fans note the starting time, 7:30 p.m.

the end of his last two years at River Falls.

With another Eau Claire-River Falls battle coming up, this husky Junior cannot help but think back to the 1956 season when the Falcons and Blugolds were again in the thick of the State College race. On this occasion a fine DiSalvo-Steffen led outfit moved into Eau Claire only to suffer a stunning 35-21 setback. With the same situation likely this year, this writer wondered if history would repeat itself. According to Jim this answer is no. "A continuation of team spirit and the fine student following we've had at the last two games," he replied, "should be enough to dampen this year's Blugold Homecoming."

As a prep-school athlete Jim lettered in football, basketball, and baseball. A member of the "R" club, he has already earned two letters as a Falcon gridder.

Falcons Win Third Straight 32-13

by Jim Laue

A problem that has worried Falcon coach Fran Polsfoot all season — that of mental attitude — almost took its toll at Menomonie Saturday as River Falls struggled through a dismal first half before coming alive in the second 30 minutes to score a 32-13 conference victory over Stout. The Falcons share the league lead with Eau Claire with a 3-0 mark.

Definitely outclassed and outweighed in terms of manpower, the host team Blue Devils made up with terrific spirit to play the first half on almost even terms. The Falcons roared back in the third quarter with improved drive and racked up two touchdowns to boost their slim 7-0 lead to 20-0. Reserves added two more tallies in the final period and gave up a pair of touchdowns to the Blue Devils.

STOUT MOVED to the RF 15 in the first period, but most of the quarter was played at mid-field. Early in the second period Bob Dawson pitched a 10-yard aerial to Bob Brunette, who later-erated to Frank Sprenger for a 42-yard play and the first TD. Jim Hallen kicked the point.

It took only three minutes for the rejuvenated Falcons to score after halftime, with Mick Lauber utilizing perfect blocks by Jim Carew and Tom Shield to race 34 yards to score. Late in the quarter, Hallen directed a sustained 75-yard drive and finally went over from the one. Lauber's kick made it 20-0.

Stout's Lyle Buss recovered a fumble on the RF 29 early in the fourth quarter, and on the next play fullback Bob Mitchell raced all the way to the one. He then scored on a dive, and Bruce Eland's kick made it 20-7.

A Tom Everson to Jack Delahunt pass good for 30 yards set up the Falcons for Everson's nicely executed 18-yard touchdown scamper with nine minutes to go. Brunette, Martie Stelter and Phil Lindemann smothered a would-be Stout punter a few minutes later, the Falcons had the ball on the Blue Devil four. Pete Hubin scored from the one.

Ned McDonald turned in the final score of the evening, when he dove over from the one to bring Stout's total to 13 for the game.

The Falcons led in yardage, 292 to 234, but were out-first-downed, 12-10. Dick Shimel had eight tackles, Rog Piehl seven and Ed Olund six to lead the Polsfoot-batters defensively.

Doozeys Pace I-M Football

The Doozeys continue to pace the intramural football "R" league with a 2-0 record defeating the Rum Dums last week 6-0. The "F" league finds the Moonshiners leading with a 1-0 record.

The intramural football teams are set up into two separate leagues with each team playing the teams within their league twice. A championship game between the two league winners has been scheduled for Friday, Oct. 31, as part of the Homecoming activities. Game time is 2 p.m. A trophy has been purchased to be kept at the college and the winning team's name will be inscribed on it. Members of the championship team will get individual medals.

St. Thomas Whips Frosh Team 24-14

St. Thomas College of St. Paul, Minn., handed the River Falls freshman football squad a smarting 24-14 defeat last Wednesday afternoon.

The young Toms scored quickly after their opening kickoff, capitalizing on an intercepted pass. The Twin Cities school scored again in the second period to take a commanding 16-0 half-time lead.

The Falcons came storming back in the third period to cut the margin to 16-14, scoring twice on Ernie Blaisdell's passing arm. The freshman quarterback hit Dale Holman in the end zone for the first River Falls tally.

Another Blaisdell pass, this one to Howie Hopchild, was good for the two extra points. The second TD came on another aerial, a Blaisdell to DyWayne combination. St. Thomas come back to score again in the third period for their winning margin.

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows...

ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER...

A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!

Before you light your next cigarette, ask yourself this: Have you really thought which filter cigarette is best for you?

If you have . . . chances are you're a VICEROY smoker. The fact is, men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reasons? Best in the world. They know for a fact that only VICEROY—no other cigarette—has a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

CRITICS CORNER—

 tress, the lot of the flower vendor would be dull indeed. It can do no audience harm to glimpse sympathetically into a world where the proper selection of a gentleman's cigar or the identification of a precious stone are of the utmost social urgency.
 As is the case with any foreign entertainment presented in monolinguistic America, the beauty of Gigi was marred somewhat by the viewers dependency on stultifying sub-titles. Nonetheless, the story violated national boundaries by conveying the pain that is adolescence in any society. The idea of the poignancy of lost youth and the hint of the possible, if not probable, beauties of adulthood was carried rather well by a group of engaging characters i. e., Honore, the aging dandy with a lingering hearty appreciation of a pinchable young thing; Gigi's Aunt, the aged beauty with a fine memory of past loves; Mamita, the proper (but not quite) guardian of Gigi's virtue; Gaston, the dashing playboy with problems; and Gigi, his solution. Ultimately, Gigi marries Gaston, but the final impression is that obligations imposed upon the upper classes will never permanently cage the little bird. To the French Club, "Merci."

New Trailer Court Opens To Ease Housing Shortage

A trailer court for married students has been constructed by the college at the west end of the college farm, just off Sycamore Street.

The court, which is now in operation, was built because of the campus housing shortage for married students. Space has been provided for 12 trailers, each trailer having an area of approximately 20 x 50 feet. Provisions have been made for occupants to hook up to city water and sewer facilities and electrical connections.

Construction of the trailer court was financed through a loan from the Wisconsin State College Foundation.
