

SUCCESSFUL MIXER IS WELL ATTENDED

Handshaking, Music, Games, Speeches
And Eats Is An Excellent Variety

In spite of various out of town attractions, over two hundred students and faculty members spent an enjoyable time at the mixer last Friday evening. Even the most bashful met at least a few of their fellow students, and even though most of the names have long since been forgotten, the faces will look familiar when seen about the campus.

Each person was presented with a cap or arm band on which his or her name was emblazoned in conspicuous letters, and from then on, the succession of "get acquainted" stunts left no time in which to wish that we had gone home to see Mother and Dad.

Mr. Geere, Miss Hatch, and Miss Wharton delighted the gathering with several musical selections. Representatives from the three Christian organizations spoke, welcoming the students to their organizations, after which ice cream sandwiches were served.

Altogether, the mixer was a decided success, and everyone that attended with the idea of becoming acquainted with more of the students was satisfied that the evening had been well spent.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. BEGAN WORK EARLY

The Y. W. and Y. M. had a special meeting before school started this fall. At this meeting definite plans were made whereby the cabinet members would have some goal to reach during their administration this year.

During the summer both the Y. W. and Y. M. were represented at the state Convention and received some excellent thoughts and plans whereby it would make it possible to live "Jesus' law of love" on our own campus.

In order that these two cabinets may make a success of this year, we ask the help of every student in this institution to cooperate in

Anyone that thinks that he or she would make a good reporter, and who wishes to try out for a place on the staff, please report to the editor some time this week and get an assignment for next week's paper. Places as athletic editor or reporter are still open, and some wide awake people to fill these places would be greatly appreciated. Remuneration in the form of extra credit accompanies success at the job.

MISS FLEMING KNOWN IN LITERARY CIRCLES

"Elizabeth, Puritan Maiden"

Although her ability was little known among the members of the student body, Miss Elizabeth Fleming was not unknown in literary circles. In "Popular Education" for September, 1925 is "Elizabeth, the Puritan Maiden," by the late Elizabeth Fleming. This play was given in the Normal Auditorium two years ago by the pupils of the Junior High School, under Miss Fleming's direction. This dramatization was an example of the finished products which Miss Fleming was able to produce. She believed in keeping all standards high, and that all school entertainments should be an outgrowth of the regular school work.

All Church Mixers To Be Given Friday Eve

It is customary for the churches of River Falls to welcome the new students and to become acquainted with them by giving mixers. Contrary to precedent, all the mixers will be given on the same night, every student being invited to attend the mixer given by the church with which he wishes to be associated during the year.

The Methodist church will have its mixer at the church parlors Friday, at eight p. m.

The Congregational church will welcome the students in the church parlors at 7:30.

The Lutheran mixer will be held in the Armory, beginning at eight o'clock.

The Baptist church will have its mixer in the church parlors at eight o'clock.

Interesting programs have been arranged, with amusements and refreshments to insure a good time. The invitations are extended to everyone, new students, old students, and faculty members.

A BRIEF REVIEW OF ACTIVE ORGANIZATIONS

That the new students may have a better knowledge of the aim and purpose of the various organizations on our campus, we are giving a brief outline, which will, no doubt, be supplemented in tomorrow's assembly.

Agrifallian

During the past year this was decidedly the most live, wide awake, up and doing organization on the campus. All men in the Ag. department are eligible, and all who join find that they are well repayed for their time and effort. The meetings are entertaining as well as instructive. It cooperates with the Agricultural department of the school in putting on the annual poultry show, on the Ag.

MILDRED RANDALL JOINS A MUSICAL REVIEW

Has Sixteen Weeks' Tour

Mildred Randall of this city has recently accepted a position in stage dancing in the Keath's Vaudeville Circuit. The entertainment being given is in the form of a musical review. She left here last Thursday evening, accompanied by her mother, for Kankakee, Illinois, where the first performance was given.

The company is making a partial tour over the United States, covering a period of sixteen weeks. The review will be displayed at many of the principal cities in which the company will make three day stops. It will probably play in the south as far as Kentucky, in Los Angeles, in Canada, and various places within those bounds.

Old students all know how Mildred is talented in stage work, and, although we will miss her during her absence from school, we hope she will enjoy her new undertaking, and we look forward to her coming back to fill out the ranks after her sixteen week's absence.

Apparent Lineup Has Good Line & Backfield

Saturday's scrimmage found Paulson at center, Feske and Syverud at the guard positions, Jensen and Ingli as tackles, Rademacher and Heggen ends. Several changes were made in the backfield during the scrimmage.

The squad goes to Macalaster Saturday, but as yet it is not definitely known who will accompany the Coach on this invasion of Minnesota. It is expected that the game will be a stiff one, and it is very probable that the coach will carry a large squad.

There is plenty of competition for places on the squad, and the coach is trying out men for the positions that they are best able to fill. It is expected that the first squad will be picked in the near future.

A good scrimmage was held last Saturday, with plenty of pep on both sides. There will be heavy practice this week to put the squad in condition for the game. Our able coach is fast getting the men in shape, and they will be able to go against Macalaster with full force.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING VERY INTERESTING

The first meeting that the Y. W. C. A. has held this year was a decided success in every way. The number present showed that the "Y" is an organization in which everyone is interested.

Alice Hagen, the president, spoke of the need of the four fold development of character that is

RED AND WHITE ALL SET FOR MACALASTER

Coach Mayer Of Macalaster Is Working Hard With Squad To Insure Victory

Coach Cox will have his "stone wall" ready for the game with Macalaster College on Saturday at St. Paul. He reports that the line-up will consist of 11 men who can play a genuine football game. This is the first time in many years that the "Macs" and the Red & White have met on the gridiron. As our opponents are among the best of Minnesota colleges, it will be a "tough game."

Coach Mayer's men have been working for three weeks in preparation for their first game of the season. Last Saturday while his football warriors were having a three-hour drill in spite of the heat, one of his men was badly injured when he was kicked in the head. However, he is expected out again this week. Three of Macalaster's stars are still ineligible, and there is a question as to them playing on Saturday. Mayer plans to limit practice to blocking and tackling for several days and then concentrate on a forward pass offensive for River Falls.

We trust that all who have a car, or a "rattling good Ford," or who have a friend who has a car, will be at the game with the traditional River Falls spirit. Those who cannot go will get together to give the team a live "send-off." It is not too early to show the

AFTER THE WEDDING COMES THE CHARIVARI

It's never too late to have a good time. At least that's what the faculty members thought last week when they "sprung" a surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Junkman.

The musical instruments proved very effective in their own way—of obtaining admittance to the happy new home on the West Side.

Although the party had been tactfully planned, and a visitor sent ahead of the party, Mr. and Mrs. Junkman seem to have understood what was coming and were well prepared to give all dictations more than their accustomed "well balanced rations." After several hours of real enjoyment the party departed wishing Mr. Junkman and bride the greatest happiness possible through life.

Will all who are interested in work in oratory this year please see me sometime this week.

Rexford S. Mitchell, Coach.

Our enrollment lacks a great deal of being as large as it was year, but there is just as much to do, just as much pep needed, as when there is an enrollment such as we had last year. The Meletean must be issued, teams produced—both athletic and forensic—organizations must be kept up to their usual standard. Everything must go on, whether there are four or five hundred enrolled.

In every student body there are a certain number that have the ability to do big things for the school, but are either too bashful or too lazy to let anyone know of their especial ability. Sooner or later these people are discovered, but it is then too late for them to do much that year. It takes time to carry on extra-curricular activities, and more energy is sometimes expended on them than on the regular work, but some one must carry them on. We do not recommend that studies should not be allowed to interfere with your education, but we do recommend that you get into at least one outside activity, and then PUSH. If more people got into at least one activity, and were distributed their talents over a large field, the whole school mechanism would run much smoother than it now does. Get acquainted with the various activities, pick the one or two that you would like to be affiliated with, and then join with the idea of doing your best to make that organization go.

L. B.

It is not long until our first home game, and there are a large number of new Normalites that know neither the River Falls songs or yells. Now there is small hope of these new recruits learning these unless we take the trouble to teach them, and the chances of teaching them are rather slim unless we find a cheer leader. Every wide awake high school has its cheer leader, and it is highly probable that there is at least one budding megaphone artist among the student body. If you would become a hero, and have any talent along this line, do your bit and speak up.

L. B.

Since coming to this campus every student has heard a great deal about the River Falls spirit—how the student body backs the team. It is this school spirit, this pep, that makes it possible for us to acquire so many championships, for without backing, no team can go through a season without tasting defeat.

Last year our football team won every schedule game, and they will do their best to accomplish the same feat this year, but they must have the assurance that the student body really cares whether they win or not. The first game of the season for our team is with Macalaster on the Macalaster field Saturday afternoon. The team does not expect that the student body will accompany them on this trip, but they do have the right to expect some encouragement during practice this week. The first real scrimmage came off Saturday afternoon, but from now on there will be daily encounters between the teams. Whether you know and understand football makes little difference. If you do understand the game, don't wait for the first game to show your pep, but come out and give a little encouragement from the bleachers. If you are unacquainted with the game, you may save yourself painful embarrassment by learning something about it before the first game. Perhaps, too, the sight of that red sweater of yours may help some one of the team to play just a little harder than he otherwise would. Come on out to Ramer field after school this week and see a real team in action.

A BRIEF REVIEW OF ACTIVE ORGANIZATIONS

demonstration day, and in all of the school activities, such as homecoming they are very much in evidence.

Aurelia

The Aurelia is primarily a literary organization. Although they are not as conspicuous as some of the other organizations, they fulfill their purpose by promoting an interest in that which is better in the world of literature. They are not averse to having good times, as is shown in the number of parties and sleigh rides that they have.

G. O. P.

The girl's pep organization, the G. O. P. is one of the outstanding campus organizations. At homecoming, at games, on out of town trips with the teams, they are always there helping to make the undertaking a success. They also aim to promote good fellowship among the girls.

G. A. A.

Under a new constitution, the G. A. A. is planning a big year. It sponsors all girls athletics, both the team games and other outdoor sports, such as hiking, and winter sports. Under the present government they have a social side as well, thus having an interest for those who do not care to take an active part in athletics, but who enjoy being affiliated with this type of organization.

Lincolnian

The Lincolnian, a men's debating society, develops ability along this line, and acts as a feeder for the school debate teams, when not enough debaters are recruited from the high schools to fill out the ranks. Many of the debates are of a less serious turn than than would be expected from such an austere group, but judging from the number of times that they have taken the honors in extempore speaking, they can produce the goods.

AL

Although this renowned group, the Loyal Legion of Leather Lungs has not organized as yet, it is highly probable that if enough men are interested, they will be as much in evidence as ever. Any man threatened by T. B. is advised to join—we guarantee it to be a good lung developer.

Mozart Club

In stimulating a taste for the better type of music, in making the students better acquainted with the great composers, and their compositions, the Mozart Club satisfies a great need in the school. It sponsors the annual music contests in which the surrounding high schools compete, and in other ways tries to have the condition of more music and less jazz brought about.

The Civic Club

The Civic Club, under the able leadership of Mr. W. B. Davison, is an organization devoted to intellectual discussions, important social problems and institutions. For example, last year such questions were discussed as: Marriage and divorce, the K. K. K., and others. In all discussions the students were encouraged to voice their opinions.

Rural Life

All students taking the one year and the two year rural courses have in the past been obliged to join this organization, and any others interested in this phase of teaching are invited to become members. Mr. Malott is the faculty advisor, and under his direction the club has accomplished a great deal.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING VERY INTERESTING

needed, and how the "Y" helps towards his development. She outlined the aim and ideal which the national organization has adopted, and how the attainment of this ideal would benefit both the campus, and the individuals on the campus.

Margaret Jackson spoke of how the "Y" is related to all of the other like organizations of the country, and how they keep in touch with each other through the national organization.

The "Y" cabinet was introduced to the new students, and Miss Hathorne spoke of some of her summer experiences. The meeting was dismissed, after singing "Follow the Gleam," the national Y. M. C. A. song.

The musical numbers by Elaine Christianson and Louise Elster were especially fine, and were greatly appreciated by everyone.

1925—A BIG YEAR

the accomplishment of this achievement.

There was also another meeting held prior to the opening of the school. This was entirely of a different kind—a meeting of the faculty members. Just exactly what plans they made for the year we are unable to say, but this meeting is an indication that the faculty have made some definite plans for the coming year, and they, too, are depending on you for help. "Develop your push, and your pull will take care of itself."

ANOTHER GRAD HEARD FROM

Bill Jacobson, well known to all of last year's students, has written asking that the Student Voice be sent to him. As to the job, he says, "I am well pleased with my position, the school, and the town in general. I have two classes in Algebra, one in Plane Geometry, Chemistry, and Elementary Science. I also have a Junior High Principalship on my hands, and a band of about twenty-five pieces." Go to it, Bill, we're glad that you have something to keep you busy.

Rollie Williams spent the week-end in New Richmond.

Carleton Ames, '25, was home from Amery for the week-end.

Frances Squires spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Hastings.

Kate Chapman, '25, was home from Cumberland, where she is teaching.

Lester Timm is substituting at the Baldwin High School this week.

The Meletean staff is on its way toward organization. Work started Saturday.

Lois Hunt and Vivian Vassau spent Sunday at the latter's home in St. Paul.

Kate Monteith, '24, visited here Saturday. Kate is teaching at Siren this year.

Many Normal students enjoyed the Fair dances at Ellsworth Thursday and Friday.

Ruth Cuddebach had two dates on one night last week. Ruth says she broke her record.

Cecile Kelly spent the week-end at home. She didn't give us the particulars as to what she did.

Helen Sutherland, '25, who is teaching at Chaska, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home here.

Dorothy Miller, Gertrude Garrouth, and Leona Miller spent the week-end at their homes in Ellsworth.

Lidella Hull and Bessie Needham, who are teaching in Maiden Rock, visited here during the week-end.

Pres. and Mrs. Ames drove to Chokosh Saturday morning where President Ames is attending a board meeting.

Laton Jackson, a new member of the school, was called to his home in Amery Thursday night due to the sudden death of his brother.

In spite of the fact that there was a dance in Ellsworth Friday night there was a good crowd at the mixer, and everyone had a good time.

Last Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fuller, Miss Kimball and her mother and also Lorene Brackin, went out to the pines for a picnic supper.

Ted Kexel arrived back in River Falls Sunday. He brought Francis Nolan, a boy from Ted's home town, along with him to attend school here.

There are still a few missing in action, Beach Pearson, Gib Meyer, and Olson, for some reason unknown to us have not made their appearance around here.

It is very strange that the cabinet members of the Y. M. and Y. W. have become so intimate. Yes, it is also very queer that it is necessary for certain Y. M. members to find it necessary to make personal calls on the "Y. W." Pres. in the evening—"Seeing is believing."

After attending the Sunday School Convention at Spring Valley, Marion Simonson returned to her home in Elmwood for the remainder of the week-end.

Miss Dorothea Birdsell of Northfield, Minn., has been appointed to the position held by the late Miss Elizabeth Fleming. Miss Birdsell holds the A. M. degree from the University of Wisconsin and has taught for a number of years in important positions in Minnesota high schools. She assumed her duties in the Junior High School on Monday.

AG. NEWS

We are pleased to know that the enrollment of freshman in the Ag. Dept. this year, exceeds the enrollment of last year. Also, from all reports and appearances, they are a bunch of fine fellows.

The Ag. department proudly admits, that of the total number of graduated seniors, approximately 86% of them have received good positions.

Arnold Falkaske of Ellsworth, Wis., who graduated from the 2-year course here in 1923, has returned to finish the Ag. Prin. course, after being a principal at Bay City for two years.

Did you hear about the Ag. students who swallowed some nitrate fertilizer?

"Yeh, he's complaining of growing pains.

Prof. Anderson has become a faculty member in the Washington State University for the ensuing year, having secured a year's leave of absence from this school. His brother, Martin, is attending school here at the present time.

Harold Edwardson registered last week and then withdrew from our ranks to have the matrimonial knot tied. He is with us again, and by the looks of things has a few less hair on his head than he had last week.

John Burke left Friday for Souix City, Iowa, to give an agriculture demonstration at the Inter-State Fair. He won this trip for his demonstration at the state fair in Milwaukee.

Harry Wills, Ben Turpin and Billy Sunday made the finest dish on earth—a chocolate nut sundae.
