Faulty Thermostat Causes $9,000 Fire in Center

Smoke Results In Main Damage

An over-heated thermostat on a deep fryer in the Student Center kitchen resulted in a fire which President E. H. Kleinpell estimated to have caused $9,000 damage.

According to Robert Brock, director of the Student Center, the fire, spread from the deep fryer to other areas of the kitchen. The main damage was caused by smoke he said, and the main building and furnishings will be repainted and cleaned before they are available to student use.

Two deep fryers valued at $500 each and a stove hood valued at $2,300 will have to be replaced, he said.

No personal injuries were reported and payment of the damage will come from the State Insurance Fund to which all State Colleges contribute.

All meals will continue to be served in May Hall until Monday, March 23, when the redecorating will be completed.

LOOKING OVER THE FIRE DAMAGE in the kitchen of the Student Center are Pres. E. H. Kleinpell, Neil Barron, college engineer and Robert Brock, director of the center.

Senate Delays Meal Meeting

The senate last week decided to delay its proposed meeting with the administration concerning the present investigation of the meal program.

Hampton Wilmot, who is in charge of the investigation, stated that the delay was caused by not having necessary information from a dietitian and concerning the plans of other schools.

Wilmot also pointed out that a previous report in The VOICE which had stated that the servings of meat on the Ace plan were of not sufficient size was not accurate. The Senate committee has not reached any concrete conclusions thus far.

The scheduling of events in the campaign for the Student Senate of 1964-65 were announced by the Student Senate officially. On Monday, March 15, campaigning will officially begin at 12:01 a.m. On March 18 at 1:25 p.m., a Student Senate forum will be held in North Hall Auditorium. Candidates for Senate membership will present their platforms at this time.

Voting for candidates will take place on the main floor of the Student Center on March 19 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Bylaws to the Senate constitution concerning appointment to the Legislative Committee of United Council and an assistant editor for the Meletean were discussed and tabled at the meeting of March 9.

The constitution of the International Relations Club was accepted at the meeting, and $50 was allotted the new organization for a convention to be held in Chicago on April 4 to 8.

United Council, which will be held at River Falls this spring, has been scheduled for Friday to Sunday, April 10 to 12.

Larry Feltes, President of the Student Senate, has announced that there will be a forum at which all candidates for the upcoming election will speak this Wednesday at 1:25. The event has been scheduled as an all school convocation. Feltes encouraged all interested students to come and ask questions of the various candidates. A question and answer period will follow the addresses of the candidates. The elections will be held on Thursday in the basement of the student center. Because of the light turnout there will be no need for a primary.

River Falls Team Will Oppose Irish Debaters Tomorrow

Lenselink

Oakland

Two debaters from University College, Dublin, Ireland, will argue the China question with a River Falls team at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday) in North Hall Auditorium.

The River Falls team will support the affirmative side and the Irish team will take the negative viewpoint on the topic "Resolved: That the United Nations should admit Communist China."

Debating for River Falls will be Joan Lenselink, senior from Clear Lake, and Al Rankle, junior from Dallas, Wis.

The Irish team is made up of Michael G. Daly and John J. Rochford, both members of the college law society. Daly also is a member of the college crew and business manager of the student newspaper. He plans a career in the diplomatic service.

Rochford, a future lawyer-politician, is active in the Fianna Fail party and member of the literary and historical society and the debating society of Ireland.

The Dublin debaters are on a nationwide campus tour sponsored by the Institute for International Education in New York. They began their tour in mid-February at the University of Pennsylvania and will come to River Falls after stops at Whitewater State College and the University of Wisconsin.

Nero Concert Loses $1300

The Peter Nero Concert, given on campus last Tuesday night, was anything but a whooping financial success according to Vince DiSalvo, Student Senator in charge of the concert.

DiSalvo said, "It was disheartening because the students didn't attend and as a result the school took a loss of $1300 on the concert."

He said that only 180 tickets were sold in the book store and that 100 faculty tickets were sold which accounted for only 280 of the approximately 880 who attended the concert.

As a result of the poor on-campus turnout, DiSalvo said the crowd was a "purely Twin City one."

The concert was not a failure all the way around according to the senator. He said "Most everyone who attended said it was well worth it."

According to DiSalvo, tickets for the concert with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra were sold for five dollars apiece. "Why then, wouldn't students come to see him when he played here and tickets were only $1.25," DiSalvo asked.

He also said that this year the Senate had sponsored more activities involving "big names" than were sponsored in the past three years combined. "Because of poor attendance," DiSalvo said, "this concert may well have been the last one this year."

There were other things that made for a rather discouraging evening according to DiSalvo. He said the River Falls Police Department ticketed all of the cars that lined the streets from Karges Center to a point half way across the town.

Chisholm's Article Is Published Again

"Notes on Censorship," an article written by Dr. Francis P. Chisholm, chairman of the English department, has been published in the winter issue of the magazine, Reading in High School.

The article originally appeared in the fall issue of the Wisconsin English Journal, which is edited by Dr. Chisholm.

Honors Seminar Ready to Start

Built around a series of films the Freshman Honors Seminar, for the Spring Quarter will meet for its opening session at 1:25 p.m. Wednesday, March 18. The meeting is set for the Honors Room of the Chalmers Davee Library. Freshmen with a grade-point average of at least 3.0 are eligible to enroll.

The seminar will meet each Wednesday at the same time and students completing the quarter will receive one credit applicable toward an honors degree.

The first film will be an interview with Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer by Edward R. Murrow. Other films for the series will be selected by the students in the seminar.

An Honors Seminar for upper-classmen will be scheduled also from 7 to 9 p.m. if sufficient interest is shown, according to Dr. Wayne Wolfe, chairman of the Committee for the Superior Student. This will feature topics selected by faculty members from various departments.

Canoe Films Coming

Fred Blake, instructor in chemistry at Stout State College, will show films of the canoe journey he made the past summer, through the wilds of Canada.

The films will be shown Monday, March 23, at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. Admission is 50 cents per person.

The 400 mile adventure was made through northern Manitoba, on the Seal River, ending at Hudson Bay. Blake made the journey alone, and encountered almost no civilization on the whole trip. He is an accomplished canoeist and adventurer, having made other previous journeys through Canada's uncivilized wilderness.

The color films provide an interesting and educational understanding of the beauty and majesty of that area. There are numerous scenes of the fish, wildlife, foliage, and natural settings of northern Manitoba.

What We'll Do

During the past year I have been writing by-lined columns for the sports page. This, however, is the last signed editorial which will appear on these pages until next year at this time.

The editorials which appear on this page are a product of, not only myself, but a board of editorial writers. Other than myself, those who will be writing editorials are John Cegielski, Paul Arneson, Sanders Howse and Harvey Stower. The policies of this paper will be determined by these individuals.

Students can expect to see views expressed on the following subjects in the near future:

1. Ace Foods Service and the Senate investigation of the meal plan.

2. Civil rights, civil liberties and racial and religious discrimination.

3. The parking problem and other questions regarding the relationship between the college and the community.

4. State politics, with special attention being paid to those measures which affect the college.

Of course campus coverage is what we will concentrate on. This is the one area in which The VOICE is the only newspaper and therefore most of our attention will be focused here.

I would like to issue a word of caution at this time: for general news, the deadline is Thursday at 4 o'clock. This applies for news, pictures and ads.

The lineup of staff members has been almost completely revised for the coming quarter. Warren Wolfe, managing editor, is the only person retaining his post. Bob Brown is the new sports editor while Richard Ricci will assume the new post of associate editor.

Campus Apathy

The only thing that is worse on this campus than student apathy is faculty apathy.

Although this paper bears the title The STUDENT VOICE it must be remembered that it is a publication of the college and that faculty members are a part of the college, a big part.

It was gratifying to see that at least one instructor was willing to give us his opinion regarding a recent campus event. I am referring, of course, to the recent critique by Stephen Parker of "Jester in the Hall of Dying Kings" by Mrs. Elizabeth Doolittle Johnson. Although it should not be assumed that the views expressed were those of the editor or the staff, we are happy when we have the opportunity to disseminate some of the faculties accumulated knowledge to the school at large.

The Feb. 24 issue of the VOICE carried a letter to the editor by Jean Olson which we also feel deserves attention. Miss Olson suggested that the academic atmosphere around here was notable only by its absence and suggested Saturday classes as a possible solution.

This sudden realization of a problem which is prevalent here was apparently caused by the recent United Council trip to Platteville. It is refreshing to see that some of our students are getting out to see the rest of the world and dropping their provincial attitudes.

Vote Wisely

Holding a post on the Student Senate at River Falls State is a great responsibility. The Senate receives a budget each quarter from the $13 which each student pays for "activity fees."

The members of the Senate must spend a great deal of time, not only on work for the Senate itself, various sub-committees, such as the social committee and the Student Center Governing Board.

When voting for members to serve on the Senate each student should take into consideration the qualifications and the platforms of the various candidates. Serious consideration should be given to the records of the incumbents who are running for reelection.

In the past, too little consideration has been given to the records of the past senators or the platforms of the various candidates. We urge the student body to take an active interest in the politics and the programs surrounding this week's elections.

Above all, attend the forum this week, question the candidates and weigh their answers and then on Thursday GET OUT AND VOTE!!!

Letters --

Letters --

Letters

There has been some confusion regarding The VOICE policy regarding letters to the editor, so here it is:

We will print any letter from a student provided it is signed by the sender, although will withhold the name if this requested. Because the paper is responsible for what goes into its letters column, we cannot print any matter which might be considered libelous.

Letters should be in the VOICE office by 6 p.m. Wednesday evening. If possible, they should be typewritten and double-spaced. The VOICE will not assume the responsibility for correcting errors in punctuation, grammar and spelling which may be in the original letter.

Feltes Attacks Student Apathy

Dear Mr. Editor,

As evidenced by student body participation in two of the more recent cultural attractions, namely the Cleveland Players' presentation of Sean O'Casey's "Drums Under the Window" and the Peter Nero concert, it would seem that the cultural level of the student body of Wisconsin State College at River Falls is indeed open to question.

Perhaps the poor attendance at the above mentioned student oriented extra-curricular activities can be attributed to the lack of curiosity and interest in education outside the classroom.

The lack of student attendance at the falcon art films, plays, music concerts, and the grassroots political conference, to name a few, is certainly indicative of cultural lethargy. Is enrollment in Speech 35 or other classes which require attendance at cultural extra-curricular activities the only motivating force upon which students will attend an art film, concert, play, or lecture? Again, judging by past attendances it would seem so.

Are we just a bunch of farmers (with all deference to our patrons of husbandry)? No, only 20 per cent of the student body is enrolled in the School of Agriculture, yet 90 per cent of the students cannot find the time or interest in some cultural enhancement of their college education. Perhaps the School of Agriculture has erroneously served as the scapegoat for our proverbial title of Moo U. Evidently cultural lethargy (ie. Moo Uism) is inherent in a very large proportion of the student body.

In light of this, we should ask "are we getting our money's worth out of our college education?" The student activity fee for three quarters amounts to $39 per year student. During the 1963-64 school year, the Student Senate allotted $67,000 to the various committees and departments engaged in the administration of a hopefully well rounded extra-curricular program. Based on these figures a large proportion of the student body is getting a very poor return on their investment. Are we missing something?

What are the inhibiting factors for this? Is it lack of time, or money, or is it something inherent? Something we'll just have to learn to live with? The grassroots political conference was free, as are the attractions sponsored by the Concerts and Lectures Committee and most of the athletic events. The majority of campus social events have only nominal entrance fees and hopes of defraying some of the expenses.

Is the sole ingredient of a college education completion of a series of courses listed in a college catalog? If this be the case, perhaps the students' money (student activity fees) spent in the area of extra-curricular programs would be more beneficially spent in adding books to the library or increasing the fringe benefits of the faculty.

I for one, however, think not. Respectfully,
Larry Feltes, Pres.
Student Senate

Reviewer 'Naive,' Jester 'Daring'

Dear Mr. Editor:

Your "drama critic", who so vitriolically reviewed A JESTER IN THE HALL OF DYING KINGS, has every right to dislike the play and to say so in print, but surely the tone of his review was in exceptionally poor taste. His peevish personal attack on the author and his failure to comment more than passingly on the presentation itself, which was exceedingly well-acted and imaginatively staged, was very disappointingly. Surely in the supposedly somewhat intellectual climate of a college theatre, one has the right to expect honest and objective evaluation of both play and production rather than caustic pseudo-cleverness.

The brand of journalism practiced by your reviewer is justifiably attacked in SATURDAY REVIEW'S Feb. 22 issue on the American theatre. Among SR's suggestions of ways the theatre might be improved is this: "Encourage a change in the climate of drama criticism so that reviews will become intelligent and lively discussions of plays rather than ponderous judgments or smart-alec exercises in invective."

Personally, I should like to congratulate Dr. Davis on her daring in presenting an untried work such as this. It is refreshing to find this experimental spirit. . . after all, it is much easier to present something "safe" which has already found its place. When persons of established taste and competence attempt to give a hearing to an effort by one of our alumni, this endeavor deserves constructive criticism based not only on script but also on production.

Evidently this writer is painfully naive, for I found the play not half so full of cliches or "twaddle" as was its review.
Mrs. Chauncy King

OH Goodie Goodie!

For publication March 16, 1964
An open letter to the student body
The statement "The school where the free spirit prevails" is a very meaningful phrase and requires a responsibility of the student which many of us may not realize. One of these responsibilities will be tested this Thursday when the Student Senate elections are held.

In the past and present, the senate has been composed of Winter Carnival Kings, Basketball stars, nice guys with good looking girl friends, BMOC's, and the like. Upon the shoulders of these fine people has fallen the task of handling the responsibilities of a legislator. Webster defines a legislator as "one who has the right to exercise the power and function of making laws and other rules having the force and authority by virtue of their promulgation by an official organ of a state or other organization." In our case the Student Senate has the authority from the students of Wisconsin State College at River Falls. Just for purpose of example let us investigate the fiscal power of our Student Senate. Each student arbitrarily donates 39 dollars a year to the student activity fund. This comes to a nice tidy sum of 60,000 plus dollars a year which the Student Senate distributes as it see fit.

What I am driving at is this, when you consider voting for a candidate for the Student Senate next Thursday, do not vote for a person on his or her appeal from visual or popularity reasons, but rather, consider the persons' ability to handle the power given him as a legislator.

What are the qualities of a good legislator? First of all, find out what the candidate has for his platform. Be careful to investigate the platforms carefully to be sure that the planks are realistic and complete. The person should be able to think for himself, that is to say the person should express ideas and solutions only after all alternatives have been considered and thought through. The candidate should have the strength of his conviction but be willing to accept compromise. His record of participation in student affairs should reflect the qualities which are expected of a Student Senator and a legislator.

Wednesday, March 18th, at 1:25 PM there will be a forum held in North Hall Auditorium at which time each candidate will have a chance to speak his piece. Their speeches will be followed by a question and answer period at which time the audience may ask questions of the candidates. I urge all students to attend this meeting and be prepared to ask stimulating questions and leave with a better understanding of the candidates and their platforms.

Respectfully submitted
David Frazer

Women Must Sign for Lodging

Freshman or sophomores women students who are under 21 years of age and are planning to attend the summer session must live in Hathorn Hall, Dean Nancy Knaak announced this week. Applications for room assignments should be made with Dr. Knaak as soon as possible.

Women students who wish to live in Hathorn Hall during the academic year 1964-1965 should notify Miss Darlene Johnson, counselor of Hathorn Hall, no later than March 20. All freshmen, sophomore and junior women are required to live in Hathorn Hall, regardless of age, unless unusual circumstances permit exception. The exceptions must be secured in writing from the Office of Student Personnel. Students may live with their parents in River Falls or commute to their homes, however.

Freshmen and sophomores are required to purchase meal plan tickets with their room contracts, but juniors and seniors are not required to.

All women students interested in applying for positions as student counselors or assistants should see Miss Johnson before April 1.

Senior women who wish to live in College-approved housing during the 1964-1965 year may select rooms in any of the following homes:

Mrs. S. Grant, 414 E. Cascade Ave. Mrs. W. Griffith, 220 S. Fourth St.; Mrs. K. Bergquist, 203 W. Cascade Ave.; Mrs. D. Aspines, 500 Crescent St.; Mrs. J. Groom, 121 E. Cascade Ave.; Mrs. J. ## Are Concerts For "Finks?"

Dear Mr. Editor:

The STUDENT VOICE and other media started publicizing the Peter Nero concert on Feb. 10. Last Tuesday night about 80 River Falls College faculty and 300 River Falls College students turned out.

By golly, if it hadn't been for the hick (like heck) farmers, high school kids and others who came, Nero would have played to a great hall full of empty chairs.

What's the matter with most of you college students? Is it "finky" to attend concerts of such wide appeal as Nero? Are the local bars and churches that busy on the first Tuesday night of the new quarter? Are you students too cheap to spare a buck-and-a-quarter to see and hear, in person, nationally acclaimed performers?

If any or all these things fit you, you'd better take a long hard peek into the shallow depths of your ear-spacer and find out quick just what you came to college for. I'm not talking about "high-culture", I'm talking about exposing yourselves to the "best" in any field.

The exposure you get from the moon and the juke box make your character look like a film negative - just plain negative. Why don't you cross out that "no" in your middle name?

And don't tell me you "had to study!"

from the "Nero" minded,
Donald J. Negard

The M.D. Robertson Most Valuable Player Award was presented to Dick Longsdorf at Wahpeton, N. D. in the final sectional bowling meet for the River Falls kegler's this season. The award is given to the outstanding member of each team and Dick was selected as "the most valuable Falcon" by his fellow kegler's; Vic Londo, Duane Anderson, Vern Andren and Roger Neitzel. The award was given in memory of the former bowling coach at Wahpeton State School of Science, M. D. Robertson, who passed away this summer from a heart attack.

Mankato State College won first-place honors in the Tri-

State Conference for the second successive year in the three-state, nine-team, four-man, traveling league.

River Falls faced Dorth Dakota State University in their first match of the March 7th meet. The red and white were on the verge of winning the first game until NDSU's anchor man, Cliff Hennebry, finished with a game ending turkey, to steal the victory from the eighth-place Falcons. River Falls was never in the match after that as they lost the remaining two games decisively, to give the Falcons an 0-3 start in the all-day match. River Falls rolled games of 682, 603 and 623, compared to NDSU's winning games of 696, 720 and 751. Dick Longsdorf recorded the high three-game total for the Falcons with a 517 series.

The University of North Dakota opposed River Falls in the two p.m. afternoon match, only to hand River Falls another 0-3 defeat and an 0-6 over-all record for the day. Dick Longsdorf toppled the maples for a 204 game in pacing the Falcons to a 619 team total compared to UND's winning 735. North Dakota finished with games of 677 and 731, while the losing "birds" rolled games of 599 and 649.

In the last match of the year, Wahpeton State School of Science, the home team, faced the Falcons. After team games of 655 and 639 for the Falcons, the winning SSS entry recorded scores of 751 and 734 giving River Falls an 0-8 record. River Falls took advantage of Wahpeton's low team total of 667 in the last game, to finish with a two pin victory, 669, and a 1-8 finish in the Dakota village. Vic Londo and Duane Anderson, both rolling in their last match for the "big red" finished with games of 181-154 and 195 for a 538 series and games of 182-178 and 175 for a 525 series, respectively, to pace the lowly Falcon kegler's.

The bowling coaches held a meeting at the sectional meet and the nine schools expressed an interest in forming two additional bowling leagues. One league would consist of a men's freshman bowling team from each school, competing on a postal basis and a women's team also competing on a postal basis. These teams would be formed to eliminate some of the traveling expenses in the Tri-State Bowling Conference, but would stimulate interest and improve the quality of bowlers at each school.

Five members of the River Falls wrestling team will journey to Black Hills State College in Spearfish, S.D. on Wednesday to participate in the national small college wrestling tournament, which begins on Thursday. The action was originally scheduled for last weekend, but due to some difficulty had to be changed.

Representing RF will be Ken Trudell 191, sophomore from Hudson, Freshmen Dave Wirtala 177, from Withee, Joe Jilek 167, from Rice Lake, Larry Madsen 130, from Ellsworth, and Tom Bauman 123, from Watertown. Coach Al Evans will accompany the grapplers.

Four of the five Falcons participating in the tourney placed in the WSC conference meet held last month in Superior. The fifth man, Bauman, did not place but was selected because of his impressive personal record of 7 wins, 2 losses and 22 points.

Wrestlers from every state in the continental U.S. will participate in the tournament which is sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). The battle for national honors begins on Thursday and continues through Saturday.

According to Evans, the probable tourney favorites are Lockhaven State and Bloomsburg State, two Pennsylvania colleges. Bloomsburg captured the title last year when it hosted the meet, and takes an unblemished record into this year's action.

Last year the entire Falcon squad was entered in the tournament because of winning the WSCS conference championship.

Wrestling Notes

River Falls completed the season with a 3-2 conference mark and 4-6 overall. The grapplers placed sixth in the conference meet.

Tom Bauman leads team scoring for the season with 22 points. Ken Trudell notched 20, and Larry Madsen chalked up 18.

At a team meeting last week Trudell was voted next season's team captain. Bauman was selected as the most valuable team member, and Dave Wirtala was labeled the most improved wrestler over the season.

Coach Evans witnessed the State High School Wrestling meet last week-end in Madison. The active mentor conversed with many of the state's finest prep stars in an attempt to interest them in River Falls State.

For the third straight year, Coleman High School captured the state crown, Reedsburg was runner-up.

I-M Bowling In Fourth Week

After three weeks of tournament action in the intramural leagues, three teams have been eliminated in each league while three teams still vie for the championship.

In the All-Star League Monday night league the Upsets upset the Terrible Trio and the Sleepers beat the Angels.

The Upsets rolled games of 459-461 and 477 in eliminating the Terrible Trio. The Trio bowed out of the action with games of 468-451 and 419. Lee Mallin paced the Upsets with a 504 total.

The Angels, the season's first-place entry, suffered their first defeat when the Sleepers rolled a 1541 series against the "holy boys" 1428 total. Duane Anderson finished with a 541 series for the night and Dick Longsdorf toppled the Maples with a 201 game and a 553 series for undefeated Sleepers.

In Wednesday night's Regular league the high-flying Basement Bums swept the Alley Cats and the seasons top team, the Strikers eliminated the 425's.

The Strikers clobbered the 425's 1835 to 1403 behind Denny DeSmith's games of 183 and 195 and Pete LeMay's games of 163 and 206.

The undefeated Basement Bums cleaned house on the Alley Cats 1832 to 1698. Dave Wettleson rolled the night's high game of 212, to finish with a 385 series to pace the BB's.

Three Shows Up For Synchopators

"Water Colors" will be the theme portrayed in the 1964 Syncho Pater Water Ballet to be presented March 18, 19 and 20 in the Karges pool.

The Syncho Paters, the women's synchronized swim club, have designed their program to express moods relating to colors. It will begin with a "clash" of colors and end with the subtle mood of "pastels." Admission is 25 cents.

On Saturday, March 7, the Women's Recreation Association sponsored its second high school play day of the year. Volleyball honors went to Osseo while Hastings won the swimming competition. Other schools represented were: Hudson, Glenwood City, Prescott and Spooner.

WRA activities for this spring include batminton, bowling, softball and track and field competition.

Keith Hanke goes up for a Crab two pointer in intramural basketball action last Thursday night against the Steve Allen All Stars. Coming up behind Hanke to defend is Dan Brandenstein. The referee is Tom "Grubby" Sempf and the player partially hidden is Glen McNaughton. The Crabs defeated the All Stars 90-71 for the R-League championship. The Crabs will meet the winners of the F-League for the intramural championship this week.

Final Falcon Cage Statistics Reveal Disappointing Season

The River Falls basketball team compiled a rather disappointing record this winter. After winning their first six out of ten games they dropped off to only two wins in their last 11 contests for a season total of eight wins and 13 losses.

In conference action the team won four games out of 12 which was good for seventh place in the ten team WSC conference.

River Falls scored a total of 1,516 points for a 21 game average of 72.2 points a game. In conference action the average was two points lower over a 12 game span. The opposition, both conference and non-conference, compiled 76 point average with 1,642 points.

The R. F. courtmen matched their opponents in shooting percentage as both shot at a .37 per-cent clip. A significant fact is that River Falls took almost 300 less shots from the floor than did the enemy gunners.

The Falcons also came out on an equal basis with their foes in the rebound department as the Falcons grabbed 880 while the opposition came up with 879, for averages of 41 per game.

A point to be noticed is that

Reporters Find Cage Tourney Challenging - Frustrating - Exciting

By KURT KLEINHANS

Take a cool night in March, close to 4,000 excited (some inebriated) people, two highly skilled high school basketball teams, from six to 12 cheerleaders, a gym filled with screaming fans and the intriguing thought of a State Tournament trip to Madison. Mix these ingredients and you have tournament time in Wisconsin.

Saturday night three courageous, inventive reporters representing this paper attempted to be the 4,001, 4002, 4003 persons in the Eau Claire State College gym.

With their press passes clutched firmly in their hands they approached the entrance of the citadel.

One reporter made it, through an intensive interrogation thrown up by a weary assortment of teachers, janitors, policemen, other would be game watchers and trouble curbers. He made it probably because of a heavy limp, a very swollen ankle and the fact that he got there first.

The other two reporters joined from 50-100 people waiting in the lobby, looking through windows, across a hallway over the heads of people standing in the gym doorway where an occasional glimpse of the players could be had.

The other solution was to climb onto a 12 foot ledge and look in the second story windows. Once situated in a comfortable position (comfortable under the circumstances) a sweet child on the inside almost ruined it all for this reporter by yelling "Mommy there's a man in the window."

The game and the State Tourney berth was won by Eau Claire over a hard running Sparta team (69-64). Eau Claire will compete in the State meet at Madison Thursday through Saturday of this week.

Oh yes, a note to the janitors at the Eau Claire Gym: Your windows are dirty.
