

'Heaven Can Wait' Nov. 18 Sponsored by the Freshmen

by William Beck

Boxing gloves, an angel from heaven, and a mixed up prize-fighter are combined in the next play, a comedy, fantasy, to be given in North Hall Auditorium, Thursday, November 18. The play is being produced by the freshman class and has a cast of 18 freshmen. Directing the play is Myron Gayle Moen, junior from Hammond.

Stage Manager is Orlan Larson, junior from Spring Valley, and assistant stage manager is Noel Falkofske, sophomore from Ellsworth.

The story revolves around a prize-fighter, played by Dave Olson, of Hammond, who has been "rescued" from a plane crash by an angel, Miles Johnson, of Frederic, who brings him to heaven. The prize-fighter protests. An investigation by the chief angel, Keith Thompson, from Welch, Minnesota, shows that he was not destined to die and that by mistake he was "rescued" 60 years too soon.

The angels decide to take the prize-fighter back to earth but in the meantime his manager, played by Henry Elzinga, of Sheldon, has cremated the fighter's body. The chief angel takes the fighter back to earth and they look for a suitable body to put him in. They drop in (invisibly, of course) on a family scene where a man is being murdered by his wife, Nancy Yira, from Luck, and a secretary, Marlin Huppert, of Ellsworth, his wife and his falling in love.

High comedy comes when the prize-fighter enters the body of the murdered man and shocks his wife and everyone else by coming back to life. The clashing of the "re-born" man with a girl, played by "Kitty" Johnson, of New Richmond, add to the drama. The fighter also enters several other bodies, fights for the world-heavy-weight championship and wins it.

Adding further humor and life to the play are Joan Drier, of Boyceville, Shirley Neuner, Sheldon; Mary McEiver, Somerset; Ruth Hajek, Hastings, Minn.; Jerry Pierson, Wheeler; Paul

EXCELLENT MANNERS—

"Music For Today" Is Theme . . . Band Concert To Be Nov. 9

"Music for Today" is the theme for the fall quarter concert to be presented Tuesday, November 9, at 8 p.m. in North Hall auditorium by the 60-piece college concert band.

Band director B. J. Rozeznal described the music to be presented as a familiar kind of music, heard every day on the radio, television and as a background music for movies. The concert will feature music by contemporary and modern composers.

Included in the program is a new number written especially for the year 1954 entitled "Salute To Sousa." This piece features special arrangements of excerpts of the works of John Philip Sousa in honor of the 100th anniversary of the birth of the march king.

The complete program includes: "Main Street USA," an overture for band by Jon J. Morrisey; "The Afternoon of a Faun" by Claude Debussy; "Sabre Dance" from the Gayne Ballet by Aram Khachaturian; "Conquest" which is the background music for the movie "Captain from Castile" by Alfred Newman; "A Tribute to Sousa" by Maurice C. Whitney; "On the Trail" from the Grand Canyon Suite by Ferde Grofe; "Street Scene" by Alfred Newman; "Colorama," a fantasy in color containing "Deep Purple," "Autumn Serenade," "Royal Blue," and "White Orchids" all in a special arrangement by Peter de Rose; and "School Musician" march by Beebe and Paul; and "Guadalcanal" march from "Victory at Sea" by Rodgers.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Band to Travel
On Wednesday, November 10, the band will perform three concerts: They will appear at Turtle Lake in the morning, at Glenwood City in the afternoon, and at Baldwin in the evening. The following day (November 11) the band will give an afternoon concert at Elmwood and an evening concert at Maiden Rock.

The Fall concert is an annual event at the college. The band will also present a Winter and Spring concert during the college year.

Only 294 college students and faculty members had their chest x-rays taken when the TB x-ray bus was here recently. Around 200 of those students were freshmen.

The Editor Speaks . . .

In our last editorial we suggested having speakers brought to the campus more often. Our lack of suggestions as to what speakers, and from where, was intentional. Numerous people have approached us and castigated us verbally, saying "we only have SO much money to pay speakers." Well friends, we are not talking about paying someone $500 to come here from New York to expound his knowledge. We would rather have people brought here from nearby areas, the Twin Cities, for instance, who are "experts" in their particular field of work. There are probably many such people at the University who would come here for a small fee. Maybe speakers could be recruited from some of the television stations. Possibly a successful businessman could be convinced to come here to speak on business problems of today.

We feel there are still people around that are experts or at least successful in some field of science, study, speech, education, agriculture, music and many others who could be of benefit to us by giving us first hand examples of their own experiences.

We also feel that we have instructors here on our own campus who would add to our education if their services could be enlisted in the same way as those from other places we have mentioned. During our four years of study here, how many of the instructors do we actually come in "educational" contact with? General education suffers from this lack of variety of exposure. Let's get these professors and instructors to start giving. What? Lectures on personal experiences? Talks on their field of study? Benefits we can derive from a slight knowledge of fields other than the ones we are "in"? You decide. What qualifications do these people have?

We would like to see these professors give talks (whether they be informal, formal, in the auditorium at an assembly or at an organizational meeting), at least twice a month or maybe every week.

This sign was put up in the recreational area of the Women's Dorm. Enforcement of it has not been carried out but even its short-lived appearance tells us that some of the girls in the dorm feel that they are being "run-over" by some of the "stags" that too frequently come in and "make themselves at home".

THE ANCIENT MARINER

—Shortfellow

I once did sup in Beldenville
 And as I sipped with glee,
 Up spake an ancient mariner,
 He quoth these words to me:
 "I found a port in Beldenville
 'Twixt many a frothing sea—
 And many a night did frothing drink
 Adorn the floor with me."
 "With friends I quaffed the foaming mugs;
 To me, the bill was proffered,
 Once paid, my friends were friends again
 And many toasts were offered."
 "Full twenty flagons later on,
 My senses start to reel.
 And 'tis then I see I must return
 To my ship's more even keel."
 This said, he smiled and waved farewell—
 (I saw that he was scarcely able.)
 And then with a sigh and a glazing of eye,
 He slid quietly under the table.
 I propped him up gently by one of the walls
 In a manner I deemed to be prudent.
 And then I came home, back to old River Falls,
 A wiser—and soberer—student.

Peace and Discord Expressed by Newville

by Les Newville

Should it have been my fate to attend an Ivy League school such as Harvard, I couldn't have loved it any more, nor defended it with any more vigor, than I do River Falls. A certain tranquility, which is lacking in most of our busy America, envelops our school and city and gives it a characteristic of beauty all its own. One of the most inspiring scenes that I know of anywhere for example, is the tumbling little south branch of the Kinnickinnic as viewed from the suspension bridge in Glen Park.

Moreover, our facilities are certainly adequate for the ambitious student to learn as much as he wants to. A dairy farm, a campus school, and an excellent library are among our gifts from the Wisconsin taxpayers.

And we do have a capable faculty (though we can't always subscribe to everything which is taught us). Add to this the low cost of attending River Falls, and who should complain?

We do complain, though. I complain. Too much so, I'm afraid. Argument and discussion aren't bad. Even "telling one an-off" sometimes is healthy, if done privately and with proper motivation. But something else is destroying character and causing division among us.

It's our irresponsible, careless, creation and spreading of slander about one another. Wouldn't we all be happier if we tried to understand one another? A pioneer psychologist (King Solomon in Proverbs) once wrote: "Hatred stirs up strife, but love covers all offenses."

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor:
 What ever happened to the Wednesday evening dorm dances? I sure miss them!

Previously they went over very well. They had an informality to them that was very good and they seemed to be enjoyed by all.

I certainly hope to see them again this year. Let's hope the social committee puts them on the calendar yet this fall or for the winter term.

A dorm lover,
Jim Adams

Dear Editor,

I am a practice teacher. At 7:45 I begin with 15 minutes of policing the halls. At 8 a.m. I begin my eleven hours of teaching for 5-hours credit. I teach math and science in the campus school for my social science major in secondary because as all progressive educators know these are closely "related" subjects. Having put in four boring hours the previous afternoon previewing films, reading texts, correcting papers and reading manuals I am well prepared. Having found by trial and error that my lesson plans were okayed only if I wrote them with liberal use of educational verbalism, I am prepared in this area also.

I meet a practice teacher carrying the critic teachers lunch from the cafeteria in North Hall and since this is a learning situation she will later take back the dirty dishes. Her duties also include picking up spit balls and other janitor duties.

I dodge two campus school brats who only connect with one kick at my shin. I smile and move to the front of the room "today we will have oral reports on"—the critic teacher leaps from "Its" of office and snarls "no speech is taught here—takes too much time—we need creative progressive, developing, maturational, integrated, democratic, sharing, moronic, learning experiences. After three hours of teaching and one hour of conference I learn a conference is where the critic teacher chews out the practice teacher in front of the children and then . . . I leave.

C.W.A. Now Called Ass'n of Women Students

by Lois Lucht

The A.W.S., previously called the C.W.A., is the Association of Women Students. This organization, under the permanent advisorship of Dr. Mildred B. Sayre, is very active on the River Falls campus this year.

This organization, as the name indicates, is the association of college women students. On our campus there are two groups, the Resident Women, which is comprised of the Hathorn Hall and Hathorn Cottage women, advised by Miss Dickens; and the Off-Campus Women comprised of those staying at home in River Falls, those rooming in private homes, and those who commute, advised by Dr. Sayre.

An executive board is chosen by both groups, for the general management of the affairs. The main executive group includes the officers of the Resident Women, an assistant treasurer the president of Hathorn Hall, the president of Hathorn Cottage, the president of Off-Campus Women, and one representative from the Freshman women. The Off-Campus Women have their own board, consisting of the officers, a representative from the commuters, one representative from the women rooming in private homes, and one who lives at her own home in River Falls.

The reason for having two separate groups in A.W.S. is the fact that the women who live off-campus could not take an active part in the affairs of college women if there was only one main group.

Purpose of A.W.S.
 As for the purpose of the A.W.S., it is to promote the best interests of all women by affording them the opportunity for active participation in the activities of the college. For the Off-Campus Women it also furthers their spirit of unity as a college group.

Functions of A.W.S.
 The functions of the A.W.S. are numerous. They sponsor the Big and Little Sister Teas, Faculty Teas, Style Shows, and things of that nature which bring the women together to promote social conduct and to bring out their responsibilities as American women.

For example, Wednesday, November 10, there will be a social hour in Hathorn Lounge, for the house mothers of those living off-campus, and Dr. Sayre. The purpose of this social get-together is to acquaint the house mothers with the purpose and functions of the A.W.S. and talk over the things which are expected of women who do not live on campus, in order to live up to the standards of the association.

Campus Officers
 The women who are officers of the A.W.S. in the Resident Women group are: President, Pat Tobin; Vice President, Doris Lindeman; Secretary, Sylvia Andersen; and Treasurer, Jean Adrian. The officers of Off-Campus Women are: President, Audrey Schweizer; Vice President, Wannie Johnson (also Social Chairman); Secretary, Faith Erickson; and Treasurer, June Felschauer. The Executive board members are officers of Resident Wo-

◆ You think you've got troubles. When the question of the completion date of South Hall was asked of Dr. Kleinpell he answered in a confusion of words about contractors, co-contractors, electricians, masons, painters and others. In other words the progress is in a state of lifeless confusion. It seems that the contractors and unions can't cooperate efficiently.

He then revealed the complications involved in the question. He explained that there were many conflicts involved due to the many people that are responsible for the completion of the remodeling of South Hall.

Russ Johannsen, construction worker applies paint to the South Hall lounge.

Dr. Kleinpell stated that the work was supposed to be completed by October 15, but that date was changed to November 15. Now Dr. Kleinpell assures us that classes will convene in the newly remodeled classrooms of South Hall beginning after the Christmas vacation. As of now the progress is about 60 per cent done. His hopes for the completion of the project are just as enthusiastic as ours.

men; Georgia Thompson, assistant treasurer; Marilyn Carlson, Hathorn Hall president; Donna Proue, president of Hathorn Cottage; Audrey Schweizer, president of Off-Campus Women; Lois Lucht, freshman representative; and Dr. Sayre, advisor.

It is hoped by the Board and Dr. Sayre that all of the women will be able and willing to take an active part in all of the affairs of the association, making the A.S.W. one of the outstanding organizations on the River Falls campus!

The Critics Corner . . .

by Lois Lucht

Masquer's first play "Stage Door" with its cast of 32, started off the season of Dr. Davis' directed productions, as a success. Mae Wiskerchen played her role as the stage struck actress, very convincingly. John Bos' interpretation of the "Brando" type character he portrayed was realistic and well done.

Dorothy Binkowski played her role as the cold, hardened actress with life-like realism.

The entire cast should be included in this review for they, though their part was a "big" one or a "little" one, all added to the success of the production.

The next production, of the Masquers will be Shaw's "Bury The Dead" and will be the first play to be held in the new theater in the Library building.

Student Senate Minutes

Monday, November 1, 1954
 The Student Senate meeting was called to order by the President, Richard Wells. The secretary's minutes were read and approved.

Friday, November 12, the Hoedown Club is sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins Day dance as an all school function. The Social Committee will secure the orchestra. Jerry Murphy moved that the Senate make allowances not to exceed $25.00 for decorations. The motion passed.

A bid for concessions at all school functions for the year was submitted by the Women's Recreation Association. Discussion followed concerning the length of time such a bid can be in session. It was decided that they may sell when the Social Committee so designates. Jim Tilly moved that the length of contract be for one year and failure to comply will result in forfeiture of bid. The motion passed.

The Winter Carnival date was set at February 19.

An invitation to the National Student Association convention in Milwaukee on November 13 was read by the President. Kathie Miller was appointed to secure more information before we decide on representatives.

Procedure to distribute insurance policies to students was discussed. We decided that they may be obtained from the advisor at registration time. The meeting was adjourned.

Kathie Miller

Falcons Finish Successful Season . . . Prospects Good For Next Year

by Ronnie Jensen

While not improving on their final conference ranking over that of a year ago, our Falcons had a good year in football, and but for a fluke in one game could have been on the heels of the 1954 champs from La Crosse. Incidentally, this is the first time in three years that the power laden Indians from La Crosse State have been able to gain first place by themselves. The Pioneers from Platteville have equalled their record for two years in succession, but this time they slipped to third behind the Indians and Eau Claire. River Falls finished in fifth position.

Final Conference Standings

Team	W	L	T
La Crosse	4	0	1
Eau Claire	5	2	0
Platteville	3	1	1
Stevens Point	4	2	0
RIVER FALLS	3	2	0
Milwaukee	2	2	1
Oshkosh	2	2	2
Stout	1	3	1
Whitewater	0	5	0
Superior	0	5	0

tilts was 17.4 markers per game, while in the three games outside the league, the average was 32.3 points.

Three Tie Ball Games

Highlights of the conference scene could well be the high figure of three tie ball games, no team coming through with a perfect record, and the general balance of the league. Never to be forgotten high points for River Falls partisans will be the rain soaked victory at Eau Claire, the fierce games with La Crosse and Mankato, the twist of fate which enabled Oshkosh to top River Falls with a crazy catch of the ball in the end zone (remember that guy on his back??). Perhaps the one event which is referred to most, though, is the tie between La Crosse and Stout, which was played in a driving rainstorm, with the entire field in darkness, except for the region between the forty yard lines, for the who second half. What they won't go through to play a little football!

Burgoyne Leaves for Army

Burgoyne

The Falcon fortunes took a slight tumble at the end of the season with the induction into the army of Joe Burgoyne. The stocky quarterback has been a sparkplug of the team, and now has another bigger team to play with. Another misfortune was the loss for a while of Don Helberg, the tough little guard who refuses to give way to these big boys who have been after his spot. Several injuries were received in the Mankato game and we certainly hope these fellows are in good shape real soon.

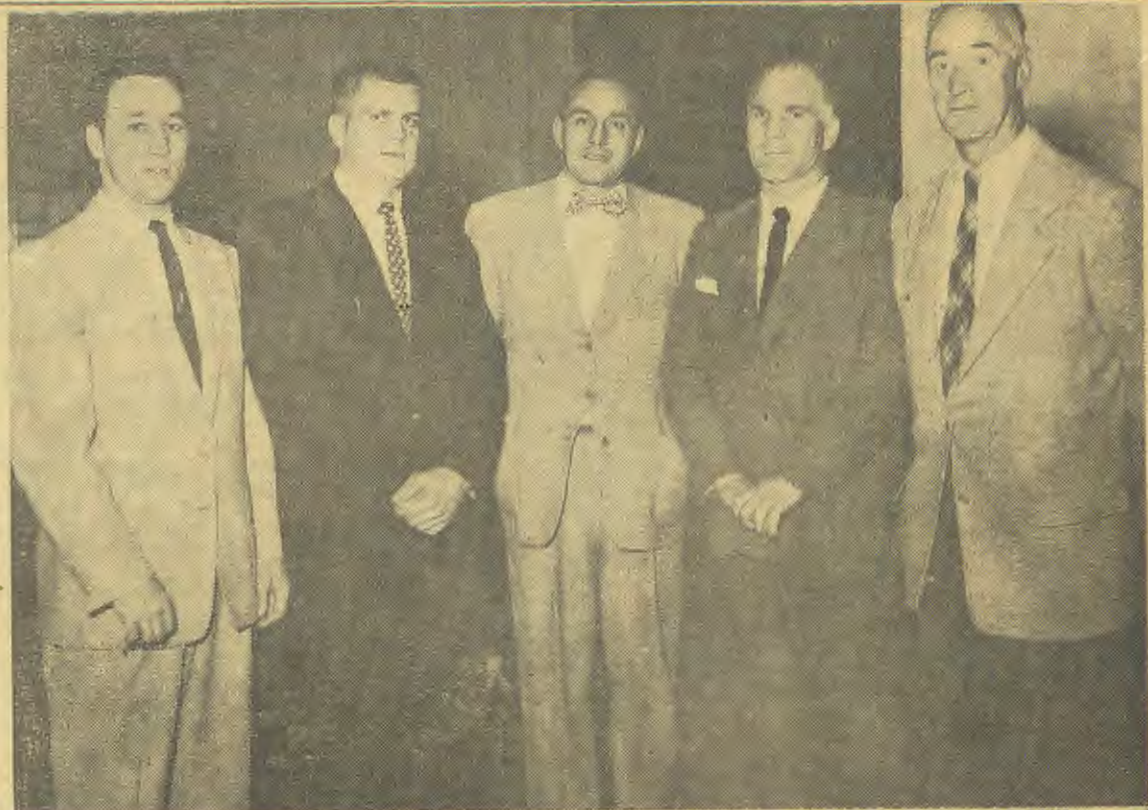

Helberg

Space does not permit mention all the personal aspects of the past season, but we'd like to express our appreciation to the whole squad as a unit, on behalf of the entire school, for a good job well done. The fine crop of freshmen have lifted spirits about next year, but then that's another story!

Following is the season record for the 1954 Falcon Football team:

Augsburg	0	River Falls	25
Northland	0	River Falls	51
La Crosse	26	River Falls	7
Eau Claire	7	River Falls	14
Oshkosh	14	River Falls	7
Stout	7	River Falls	26
(Homecoming)
Superior	0	River Falls	33
Mankato	14	River Falls	21

League Topsy-Turvy
The league was rather tight this year as not even La Crosse missed having their record blemished, that being a tie with a surprising team from Stout which started strong and then fell into the loss column too often. Good proof of the topsy-turvy condition in the conference is that Stout led La Crosse, La Crosse beat River Falls 26-7, and then the Falcons turned around and beat Stout 26-7.

Falcons Have 3-2 Conference Record

Looking now to the local scene, we find that the Falcons had a 3-2 record in the conference, and a 6-2 record for the season. Belfiori's charges chalked up 184 points this season to 68 for the opposition. Breaking this down we find that 87 of the 184 came in the conference and 54 of the 68 was allowed to league opponents. Of the three non-conference foes, only Mankato crossed the Falcon goal line and they did it twice in the season finale at Mankato in a game which was fiercely waged and could have gone either way.

While on the topic of statistics, the red and white averaged 23 points per game this year while allowing 8.5 points per contest. The average in the conference

Last Quarter Rally Upsets Mankato

For the second week in a row, River Falls spoiled a homecoming duel as they beat Mankato 21 to 14 at Mankato, Minnesota.

Trailing 7-0 at halftime the Falcons rallied to tie the game at 7 to 7 in the third quarter and then went ahead to win in the 4th. Bob Wood sauntered 70 yds. for a touchdown early in the 4th quarter then set up the winning touchdown with a 40 yard punt return late in the quarter.

Wood the quarter.

On Monday, October 25, there was a meeting of all girls interested in playing basketball. There was a turnout of 36 girls.

There is a program of officiating open to girls that want to earn their letters and still not play basketball. If interested please see Sally Dickenson, Sylvia Barsokine or Mickey Tetzloff.

Basketball leaders were chosen by president Sally Dickenson for the winter term. They are Mickey Tetzloff and Sylvia Barsokine.

The United States Constitution, contrary to common knowledge, does not demand that a member of the House of Representatives live in the district from which he is elected. However, under our customs—developed over the years, and embodied in many state laws—such residence is generally required.

College Film Society Plans New Program

by Don R. Laue

How many of us have belonged to a motion picture organization? Very few of us would answer in the affirmative. Nevertheless, every one of us will have the chance to belong to such an organization in the near future. How is this possible?

French Production Coming

On the River Falls campus right now, plans are being made for just such a group, and will include every member of our student body. Faculty and students alike will be automatically enrolled in this program, and will have the opportunity to purchase tickets in blocks and at a reduced rate. Incidentally, the fifth foreign film will be shown on campus, Thursday, December 2. It is entitled, "God Needs Men," and is a French production. We urge all who can possibly attend to do so.

Local Theatre Assisting

As planned now, the College Film Society, as it is tentatively called, is working toward securing one movie a month, to be shown at the local theatre, and to be planned entirely by the Society. These films will be chosen with care, with only the best to be shown to the public. This is an expansion of the present program on campus to fulfill the many requests for English-spoken films.

Working in conjunction with this program are Professor McCarthy and several students, and the manager of the local theatre. Their sole purpose is to bring to this campus and to the town of River Falls, the very best in both foreign and domestic film entertainment.

YVONNE DeCARLO

Yvonne DeCarlo in Next Movie Here

Starting this new adventure for River Falls movie-goers will be, "The Captain's Paradise", to be shown Tuesday and Wednesday, November 16 and 17. This British film, originally written by Alec Coppel, stars Alec Guinness, known as one of the world's great comedians and actors. Adding the feminine touch, and co-starring with Guinness, is Yvonne DeCarlo. One writer described it this way—"A spicy and original idea combined with the comic genius of Guinness makes this a highly amusing satire". Another said it was "bright, frisky, pungent fare". Plan now to join these two as they go laughing their way in and out of one mad-cap situation after another.

Tooley and Gotz Lead

It is hoped that our College Film Society can be organized, and plans completed in the near future so students may start reaping benefits from this program. Special mention is given to Jack Tooley and Bill Gotz, along with professor McCarthy for their many efforts to make this a reality on our campus. Let's all join in backing their enthusiasm for better entertainment in River Falls.

PATIENT WITH PATIENCE

"My advice to you," said the doctor, "is to give up drinking and smoking, go to bed early, get up early, and stay away from women. Those are the best rules for better living."

"But, doctor," protested the patient, "I don't deserve the best. What's the next best?"

RF and Macalester Toastmasters Had Combined Program

Toastmasters Don Carew and Gary Jensen were among the speakers when River Falls and Macalester Junior Toastmasters Clubs met here Tuesday, November 2 in the cafeteria. Forty toastmasters were present.

Along with Carew and Jensen on the program were Chuck Johnson and Kent Hintshaw of the St. Paul club. Jensen spoke on experiences in FFA while Carew gave a very moving talk on teaching and the philosophies of teaching.
