Frigid Frolics Tonight Cup and Saucer Crawl Heads Frolics Program

The Winter Carnival Frigid Frolics are scheduled for 9 p.m. tonight in the Student Center Ballroom.

According to the Carnival Committee, there will be eight events. First, there will be the Sunflower Seed Spit. In this event, the contestant will attempt to hit a target placed at a distance with a sunflower seed.

The second event will be the Clothes Pin Race. Each enterant must run the length of the Ballroom with a clothes pin held between his knees and drop it into a milk bottle without using his hands.

The third event is a foot race, but it will be run backwards. Next comes the Cup and Saucer Race. Each contestant must push an egg the length of the Ballroom while lying on his stomach with a cup and saucer balanced on his back.

The fifth event will be the Cracker

Whistle. The winner of this race will be the first one able to whistle after eating a "great amount" of crackers.

The sixth event will be a challenge. It is the Mittens and Gum Relay. Contestants will work in teams of five. All contestants will be wearing heavy mittens. The first team member will unwrap the package of gum and then unwrap a stick of gum. When he succeeds in getting the gum into his mouth, he may pass the package to the next team mate.

The next event is the Ice Cube Throw. The winners of this match will be the couple that can throw an ice cube back and forth the highest number of times without dropping it.

The final event will be a balloon relay. The Winter Carnival Committee invites everyone to attend. It should be an entertaining evening.

No Adviser for the Prologue

According to Dr. M. Wayne Wolfe, Administrative Vice President, there has been no progress made in the search for a new adviser to the PROLOGUE.

The position was left vacant after the resignation of Eugene Nolen, English instructor, following the refusal by Acting President Richard Delorit to publish the proposed introduction to the PROLOGUE on grounds of "poor taste."

Dr. Wolf said that a few departments have been contacted and are considering the matter, but nothing definite has been established.

In past years, it has been the custom of the English department to suggest candidates for this position. Dr. Walter Engler, chairman of the English department, was asked if the department would nominate anyone for the now vacant position. The PROLOGUE can not be published without an adviser. Engler replied, "I am willing to let the PROLOGUE rest for a while until it is realized that the 'dirty words' can not be published in a school sponsored publication."

Dr. Engler was also asked what he thought the PROLOGUE should be. He answered, "The PROLOGUE should be a literary magazine which would contain the best efforts of writing among the student body. It should keep within the bounds of what is usually considered 'good taste' and should reflect favorably upon the student body, faculty and University as a whole."

Bulletin

Jack Couteaux, director of the Ace Foods service at WSU-RF, has asked to be put on a permanent leave of absence as of Saturday, Feb. 10, 1968.

The reasons he gave for his request were "personal health and welfare, and tax purposes."

Couteaux has asked that his assistant, Bruce Patzer, be named director when he leaves. If the leave request is accepted, Couteaux will be returning to his original status as a food service consultant.

Senate Candidates and Their Views

Editor's note: Hoping that some basic information about the candidates will improve both the quality and quantity of voting in the Student Senate elections on Wednesday, Jan. 31, the VOICE asked each candidate a number of questions concerning his ability, motives and qualifications.

The Senate candidates to fill the two vacant positions are Linda Graves, James Ochiltree, Victor Pernell, Joe Koutney, Richard Feldman and David Torkko. Linda Graves is a junior from Neillsville, Wisconsin. She is majoring in English.

Q. Why are you running for Senate?

A. I feel that the Student Senate needs people who act according to their beliefs and don't just follow their peer group.

Q. What are your platform planks?

A. The Senate should follow through with one major program set at the beginning of the year. They should not be haphazard in their approach. I would like to help the student body to help themselves.

Q. What are your qualifications?

A. I am a member of Phi Delta Theta, the University Activities Board (UAB) secretary, secretary of the junior class for two years and a former member of Student Senate.

Jim Ochiltree is a junior from Appleton, Wisconsin. His majors are Political Science and Economics in a Secondary Education curriculum.

Q. Why are you running for Senate?

A. I am running to help the students. I feel that Senate should concern itself with the educational aspects of the University more than co-ordinating its social calendar.

Q. What can you contribute to Senate?

A. I can contribute a pragmatic view and an open mindness based on the newness of a freshman to this campus yet with the experience of a seasoned student.

Q. What are the planks of your platform?

A. I have three. They are longer library hours during exams, the issue of PROLOGUE independently of student funds with a student review board holding "suggestive authority," and phones in each dormitory room.

Q. What are your qualifications?

A. I am a transfer student from WSU-Oshkosh, secretary for the Student Affairs Committee and a member of the Legislative Action Committee, Telephone Committee, Student Recruiting Committee and President's Round Table.

David Torkko is an Ag. Econ. major from Ashland, Wisconsin. He is also a junior.

Q. Why are you running for Student Senate?

A. I want to serve the students and get the educational experience holding a position on Senate would offer. I enjoy doing significant things and I feel that Senate is capable of doing significant things.

Senator's Forum

With the upcoming election close at hand, it seems an appropriate time to discuss the internal actions of the Student Senate. There are many issues presently being debated on the floor of the Student Senate. There is one, however, that warrants attention. For the last two sessions of Senate, the possibility of the Student Senate sponsoring another Big Name event this year has been wavered; so much so that I personally am getting tired of hearing the debate.

It seems that in order to sponsor such an event the opinion of the student body is needed. Therefore, the Senate proposed two weeks ago to run a referendum along with the Senate elections to secure advisory information as to what and who the Big Name should be. This sounds simple enough, does it not? However, leave it to Senators and they will find fault with anything it seems.

Opposition came to this referendum proposal when it was decided that a public opinion poll conducted by the election committee be carried out. The argument offered here was that in the past the Student Senate was found not to be loyal to results of referendums such as the Student Senate officer pay last year and the all-school picnic the year before. This argument won out and it was decided after an hour of rigorous debate that a public opinion poll be taken to determine if another Big Name event be held and if so who and what would the Big Name be.

My story is not completed, for last week a certain faction of the Student Senate reversed their opinions as to the validity of a public opinion poll and wanted once again to offer argument. This time, believe it or not, they proposed once again to run a referendum. In order to do this, it was by Parliamentary procedure, necessary to move to reconsider the motion to have the public opinion poll. After this was executed with extreme precision, the Senators, including myself, took to the verbal battlefield. The debate issued resulted in nothing. That is the motion to once again conduct the referendum failed and along with it the vote on the public opinion poll failed also. This stalemate brought the orders of the day back on the floor and no more was said of a big-name.

The only possibility of having a big name event is if the big name committee, consisting of Wayne Wiess, decides who and what the big name will be. Then the final okay will come from a vote by the Senate. The students will have no direct communication to the Senate on this matter.

It has been said that Student Senate prides itself on its many accomplishments. This may be true, for the Senate has in the past created, acted on and passed many constructive programs for the improvement of this University. However, there have been issues, such as the one formerly mentioned, that are in essence menial issues, that have been treated as life and death matters by the Student Senate.

It is basically a simple task to choose a big name, whether it be by poll or referendum. After such a survey is taken, the Senate has merely follow the suggestions of the student body and contract the person or group that they have showed the most interest in. If, on the time of contract, the big name is too expensive for the rapidly dwindling Student Senate account, then it is simple enough to choose the second choice of the students and so forth on down the line until an agreeable contract can be made.

My point in discussing the big-name controversy is not to express my interest in having another big-name event, but rather that with the up-coming elections almost here, it is my interest that the electorate, being you the students, use wish judgement in filling the two empty seats so that for the remainder of this academic year the Student Senate can function at its best and not "waste" time debating issues that can be resolved with less irrational debate and more conscientious thought.

Senate Sets Elections Back to Wednesday

The Student Senate decided to change its elections to Wednesday, Jan. 31, at a special meeting held last Tuesday night.

Elections were previously planned for today, along with the king elections. However it was pointed out to Senate that notice would not have been published two weeks before the election.

ENTERTAINMENT OFF BALLOT

At Wednesday night's meeting, a motion was made by Sen. Francis Haines to put big name entertainment on the ballot. The motion was defeated, as was Sen. Chuck Feltes' motion to take a public opinion poll on the issue.

Haines felt that an advisory referendum would take less time than a poll. Feltes said the poll which he designed after the Gallup polls, would include a breakdown of all the classes and would give a better sample of opinion.

Sen. John Chudy voiced disapproval on the amount of time "wasted" on the matter in the past two meetings. A poll, he said, "would put the Senate in a position to be shot at." He added, "Each week when Senate adjourns at 11:30 p.m. we have a noose around our necks. By the time we reach the bottom of the steps we are dangling."

HALVERSON COMMENTS

Senator Clay Halverson pointed out, "We will be raked over the coals no matter what we do."

No further action was taken on the matter.

Alan Tronrud presented a $50 request from Channing Club and the Campus Committee to End the War in Vietnam. The money would cover transportation of the Minnesota Veterans for Peace, who debated members of the Vets Club last Wednesday.

Tronrud defended the request on grounds of the large turnout for the event. Senate pointed out that such requests are normally made before the event is held. The matter was referred to the Budget Committee.

SCULPTURES TO BE CANCELLED

UAB reported that snow sculptures for Winter Carnival will have to be cancelled unless there is a three to four inch snowfall. The pamphlet on Winter Carnival events was scheduled to be out on Saturday, Jan. 27.

UAB has also discussed new ways of recruiting students. One of the ideas was to send out a brochure on major, minor, and other activities which take place on the RF campus. This would be sponsored by the administration. A second plan would be to hold teas for seniors in high schools in nearby areas. Thirdly, the idea of students requesting permission from high school teachers at their home towns to speak on college living was discussed.

UAB also noted that the Homecoming Committee has already held a meeting.

DOW CHEMICAL BAN REQUESTED

The Campus Committee to End the War in Vietnam submitted a resolution to Senate to request cancellations of Dow Chemical Company Interviews. The resolution was not supported by the Senate. Sen. Wayne Weiss said he did not feel that this would be fair to students from this campus who wish to have interviews with large companies.

He pointed out, "Only a small portion of Dow's business is in making napalm. Chances are that a student getting a job with Dow would not be working in that area." Haines agreed, saying "Such a resolution would be detrimental to educational opportunities on this campus."

GLC reported no changes made in the rules it has established on pledging and rushing. Any problems on definition of the stated rules will be solved by GLC.

GREEKS QUIT FREEZING FROLICS

Greeks will not be participating in Freezing Frolics. The reason was explained by Sen. Chudy. He said, "It is difficult for Greeks to participate in all of these events. When it is expected that they be participating every night, they have no time to study. According to Weiss, "By not having Greeks in some of these events, smaller groups will have an opportunity to participate in Winter Carnival too."

Phi Nu Chi is required by GLC to hold all but two of their rushing and pledging activities on campus. Informal Initiation and Spring Frolics are the two events

Regents Adopt By-Law

Presidents Given Off Campus Jurisdiction

Despite student opposition, the Board of Regents adopted a by-law that gives university presidents jurisdiction to suspend and expell students for certain kinds of conduct off campus as well as on campus.

The revision states, "Students are subject to such reasonable disciplinary action as the president of the university may consider appropriate, including suspension and expulsion in appropriate cases, for breach of federal, state or local laws or university rules or regulations. This principle extends to conduct off campus which is likely to have an adverse effect on the university or on the educational process or which stamps the offender as an unfit associate for the other students."

The by-law specifically prohibits the following:

1. Interference with accepted functions or activities of the university or with its educational or service programs, either by breach of the peace, physical obstruction or coercion, or by noise, tumult or other disturbance.

2. Unauthorized occupancy of university facilities or blocking access to or from such areas.

3. Interference with approved university traffic (pedestrian or motor vehicle).

4. Infringement of the rights of students, faculty, staff, and/or other authorized facility for the purpose of attending classes, participating in interviews, university conferences and/or other university activities.

5. Picketing, or demonstrating, with the use of obscene or indecent language, or with signs or banners containing such language or of such size, material or construction as to create a hazard to persons or property.

An addition to the rules adopted Dec. 1 summarizes steps to be followed by a university to assure that a student has a fair hearing on any conduct charges against him. Detailed uniform procedures for handling disciplinary cases at State Universities are being prepared for consideration by the regents.

The rules of conduct apply to all nine Wisconsin State Universities and their branch campuses.

The conduct rules began with a statement drafted last fall by WSU deans and vice presidents of Student Affairs.

The by-law contains a number of revisions and additions suggested by university administrators, by Atty. W. Roy Kopp of Platteville, chairman of the board's education committee and by Atty. E. L. Wingert, Madison, special counsel for the board and former justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court. Further revisions will be considered if proposed.

Eugene R. McPhee, Madison director of state universities, said that the new by-law adopted Jan. 18, makes it clear that additional rules and regulations for student conduct may be established at each campus, if consistent with the by-law.

Kappa Theta Is No Longer

Kappa Theta is no longer. It is now officially Sigma Zeta chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon at WSU-RF.

Bob Iverson, president of Kappa Theta, or rather Phi Sigma Epsilon made it official last Monday, according to John Chudy, vice-president of the management committee.

Kappa Theta is nil, kaput, and Sigma Zeta chapter is now under a colony status until it is accepted by Phi Sigma Epsilon. The period of colonization is just a testing period set up by the national organization.

Kappa Theta has been interested in going national for a long time and has made inquiries of five national fraternities over the past two years, Chudy said. This fall actual steps to go national were taken.

He added that national fraternities offer more flavor to the campus. They add "class." They can also aid in recruiting students.

Kappa Theta wanted to be affiliated with a national group. Chudy listed several advantages. Most national organizations have a job placement bureau. When visiting other campuses there is a place to stay. This means instant parties, instant social life, and instant friends.

Fraternity members can get scholarships and loans through the fraternity. It also becomes a matter of price, said

Chudy.

Phi Sigma Epsilon was chosen because all aspects of its constitution coincides with Senate requirements.

The motto of the fraternity is "the fraternity for the man of moderate means," which Chudy said fits Kappa Theta. He added that the increase in cost isn't much.

After Kappa Theta voted to join Phi Sigma Epsilon it had to go through procedures set up by the University. Rich Hoskins, national representative, spoke to Dr. William Munns, Student Affairs Committee, Faculty Senate and GLC explaining the terms, cost and so forth.

GLC was the first to approve, Student Affairs sent its recommendation to Faculty Senate, and Dr. Munns gave the final stamp of approval.

Students May Pick up Registration Packets

Students may pick up registration packets for spring quarter from now until Feb. 9 in the Registrars Office.

The packets include registration instructions, a fee schedule, schedule corrections, a personal data sheet, an intention survey and a spring quarter examination schedule.

Dr. B. J. Rozehnal, Registrar, asks that each student be especially careful to fill out all materials correctly and completely. Because this is the first time that a data-processing machine has been used to aid registration, full co-operation on the part of each student will be needed to make it run smoothly.

The Registrar would also like to remind students of some of the "musts" of registration this quarter. Overloads must be approved before registration. Trial study cards must be approved and signed by the advisor. Students may NOT register before their scheduled days. Students must register on one of the four scheduled days. There will be only one other chance to register. That will be on March 4, when new students will be registering.

There will be NO "walk in" registration in the Registrar's Office and there are no planned registration dates other than the five mentioned.

We Have Finally Arrived

We have finally arrived! WSU-River Falls has finally shown itself to be a university rather than a normal school. There are a number of events which have transpired within the past year which have proved beyond a doubt the absurdity of the "Moo U" label.

The first of these "turning points" has been the women's hours controversy. AWS, the personnel department, and the women of the student body showed themselves to be both mature and progressive in their handling of the situation. Rather than being swayed by the loud and liberal minority who clamored for immediate liberation from the bonds of the double standard, those in control worked out a compromise which has proven to be most expedient. (Compromises are always the best answers.) An installment plan for the liberalization of women's hours was devised. Thus the strengths of the arguments of both sides were recognized. For the liberal element, more freedom was generously granted, watered only slightly by a measure of prudent patience. For the establishment, the chaos and public uproar that would have inevitably resulted with the immediate abandonment of the double standard and the increased pregnancies which would doubtless have occurred to college women unable to cope with immediate freedom were wisely averted.

Certainly this was the most sane solution, since it satisfied the small differences which had separated the two factions, both of which obviously were in favor of the abandonment of women's hours.

A second event which also served to emphasize the sophistication of this institution of higher learning was the "Prologue incident." Seldom has an incident in which the values of editorial freedom collided with the practicalities of public relations been handled with more finesse and discretion. Certainly it was wisdom which determined that the highest campus authority, the president, make a decision on the matter. In this way, the ambiguities of the problem were all cleared away, and those having differences of opinion were spared the pain of determining just where they stood on the question.

Rather both sides quickly were drawn to their respective opinion polls. There is little doubt that it is always best to know just who stands for what in such instances where value judgements are necessary.

The third incident which conclusively proves we are progressing up the ladder of institutional success is the recent action in the Student Senate. Beyond all doubt, the Faculty Senate was acting for the ultimate good of the University when it pointed out that the house rules of the Student Senate were not in harmony with the standards established by the Faculty Senate. Certainly it is to the credit of the Faculty Senate that they alerted the President to the dangers which were threatening the student body. It also must be noted that the Student Senate quickly took the only expedient action available when they realized the seriousness of their sin. (After all to err is human . . .)

Yes, now that we have become an institution of distinction and discretion, no thinking man could possibly be so absurd as to label WSU-RF, "Moo U"!

The Ferret

By Michael Brecke

Well the Board of Regents have done it again. Give a fool power and it usually goes to his head, give a group of fools power and you have chaos. Exhibit A., the present state university system under the direction of our astute Regents.

These fools have given the University presidents the right to "such reasonable disciplinary action as . . . the university may consider appropriate, including suspension and expulsion in appropriate cases, for breach of federal, state or local laws or university rules or regulations. This principle extends to conduct off campus which is likely to have an adverse effect on the university or on the educational process of which stamps the offender as an unfit associate for the other students."

This is double jeopardy plain and simple. This is unconstitutional. This is foolish legislation by foolish men to try to cope with a foolish system of foolish mores and customs. The customs and mores that dictate that WSU-RF is a baby-sitting service for the "public."

Why do these men who call themselves Regents continually oppose the will of the students? Why do these men continually make children out of adults?

These two questions will exist long after the present student population at RF is gone. This question will exist as long as there are fools for Regents.

It is rumored that the Regents did their current court jester act because of a planned visit to one of the university campuses by Dow Chemical. The mythical Dow Chemical, the children burners etc. You have certainly heard all of the cliches. The Regents according to this rumor enacted this legislation because they did not want any disturbance on this campus. Do you know which campus they're worried about. You guessed it, RF.

I don't care how anyone feels about Dow Chemical, but I do care about any student who will allow the Board of Regents to enact rules and regulations which deny basic rights and liberties. The right to be punished by two different authorities is in no constitutional document.

I have but one hope that the presidents of each individual state university will not exercise the power granted them by the Regents. If each university, student faculty and administration, fights a reign of tyranny, then perhaps we can overcome this foe.

Only if this foe is defeated can we ever hope to have a true university.

Question of the Week:

IS IT REALLY WINTER?

Class Protests

To the Editor:

On Monday, Jan. 22, members of Literature 252, section VII left the classroom in protest of the play assigned for study on that day. Conscious of the fact that the lecture would concern Aristophanes' Lysistrata (a play that could be regarded as questionable in nature) we left the room to direct our grievances where they could best be heard.

Upon arriving at the office of Dr. Munns, we were advised that due to the academic aspect involved it would be wiser to contact Dean McLaughlin. Dean McLaughlin met with us briefly and said he would discuss the problem with our President.

This mild "demonstration" was recognizably different in nature from others that college and universities usually experience. What other class has ever openly opposed a reading assignment and lecture that involved obscene material? But the reading of Lysistrata was not the basic source of our objection. In attempting to act as moral and responsible students, our efforts were aimed at improving and obtaining higher standards of consistency and justice.

Through the years, the administration and the English department have worked together to reach agreements concerning material believed to be valuable in studying tragedy (Lit. 251) and comedy (Lit. 252). A list of suggested novels, short stories, and plays was formulated from which the individual instructor may select the works he wishes to employ. For some unexplainable reason (and especially in view of the growing concern over the presence of "obscenity" on our campus) certain suggestive and vulgar works are actually recommended for classroom study. With eyes obsessed with guarding against "obscenity" (as was claimed to have been found in the "Prologue, for example) Lysistrata and many other literary works have been overlooked.

Action has been taken by the administration in hopes of curbing any furtherance of "obscenity" irrespective of its context, clinical or otherwise. And this action has been taken for numerous and varied reasons--reasons we as a class will not attempt to dispute. Everyone will agree that the administration has undertaken a very complex task, due to the relativity of the term "obscenity" and its seemingly undefinable nature. With no great difficulty, one can judge the writings on lavatory walls as grotesque and objectionable. But in attempting to interpret and evaluate more credible literary works for the sake of others, and an institution, the burden obviously increases.

It may be too soon to be able to form any definite and accurate opinions about this entire matter, but it seems more and more evident that the issue of obscenity on our campus has been blown completely out of proportion--partially due to the clamping down of the administration. If students are desiring freedom in the literary area (an area they would not be concerned with if they lacked genuine interest and motivation for respect of other amateur writers) it is unfair for anyone to regard this as a plea for freedom to offend readers or mis-use the privilege of having material published.

As long as the situation remains as it is, the administration has a new duty to perform. If we are to experience that which seems more appropriate to the Victorian era, at least it should be carried through under a more consistent and thorough level. As a group, we feel that the administration's policy toward the use of "obscenities" should be more definite. If it is decided that obscenity has absolutely no place on our campus, it stands to reason that it should not be taught in the classroom.

With the ever-increasing awareness of obscenity, (compounded by the "Prologue" dispute) members of our Literature class--fairly representative of the River Falls student body--became progressively more able to recognize objectionable material aside from its literary value. The classic example of this is the previously mentioned Lysistrata. In studying comedy, Lysistrata is of tremendous value, but it cannot be denied that its content is very risqué. Don Quixote by Cervantes is again a very valuable piece of comic literature, but is found to be very obscene by many. Whereas Quixote has little obscenity pertaining to relations between sexes, there are scenes of vulgarity and indecency that offend the most unoffendable mind. It is very difficult to understand how, if the policy is to reduce obscenity in every form on this campus, the works of Chaucer (The Canterbury Tales), Shakespeare (King Henry IV), Cervantes (Don Quixote), Voltaire (Candide), Beckett (Waiting for Godot), Aristophanes (Lysistrata) and "Playboy" (sold at our University bookstore) can be ignored.

Of the administration, we would like to ask, once and for all, what is your policy on obscenity?

Literature Class 252 VII

Introduction

To the Editor:

After hearing so much about Rusch's God-awful introduction to the "Prologue," I was dying to read it. And hurrah! The VOICE (sadly the most liberal thing around M&U) pulled through and printed it. The asteriks were so obscene I thought for sure I'd die of embarrassment.

Okay, what's obscenity, then? (By the way, if you'd read your book on general semantics, you'll find that meaning is in your mind--not in the word.) So an asterik can be just as dirty as the word. If you'd only read what he says, without letting the asterik words jump at you (boo). Don't you think the truth is truth no matter what language it's written in? Rusch, in his own language, is still writing what he believes to be the truth. He is entitled to his opinion - and we, in a free country, and (oh, the frosting on the cake) at a University whose slogan is "where the free spirit prevails," HAVE THE RIGHT TO READ HIS OPINIONS.

Babies, naive and immature perhaps, but we'll never grow up if we limit ourselves in the search for truth.

Sue Wurl

the encores. Need I say more.

Please don't misunderstand. The music department isn't asking (nor does it expect) that you come out of its concerts on "cloud 25" and newly inspired. You are required to go to just three of these concerts simply because it is a new phase of your education. What better way is there to learn than by experiencing?

If you don't like what you're experiencing, remember there are those around you that do. At least be courteous enough to let them enjoy it.

Don't be narrow minded! Instead, realize this is a part of life, too. If you don't like it, at least "chalk one up" for new knowledge of the world around you. Remember--"A little bit of knowledge never hurt anyone;" not even you!

Music?

Tuesday evening January 23, we had in our midst the famous Kontarsky brothers--duo-pianists from Germany. They have performed all over the world and yet some "cultural connoisseurs" from Music 100 decided that they were far better judges than the rest of the world.

As a result our fine critics took to whispering and rattling papers. There was one gentleman there who was obviously well versed in anything and had keen discrimination, especially in matters of taste. This was evident when he stated in a clear and audible tone, "Well, there's only one left to go. Get out here and get it over with so I can go home." There were also those who had the delicate perception of the right thing to do without offending the performers. They were the ones who got up and left during

by Robert Halverson

BASKETBALL BRIEFS: Mike Hughes of Stevens Point, a junior who has averaged 33.5 points in the last two games prior to this week's action, is the Wisconsin State University Player of the Week. Hughes, who stands 6-8 and weighs 215 pounds set a school record with 39 points against the Falcons. He also had 20 rebounds . . . Oshkosh, after victories this weekend over Superior and River Falls, are still unbeaten with a perfect record of 8-0. Prior to this weekend they were averaging 103 points per game . . . Leading scorer for the Falcons is Steve Gustafson who is averaging 20.4 points per game, these stats prior to weekend games.

ICE CHIPS: Falcon hockey fans will have plenty of opportunity to watch the local sextet this week. The Oles of St.

Olaf play here Wednesday at 3 p.m. and the Tommies of St. Thomas will play here on Thursday at 3 p.m. . . . Falcon goalie Pete Boelter is still out with a knee injury which ironically was incurred while the goalie was scraping the rink prior to flooding it. His replacement in the nets, Dick Darmody, has done an outstanding job during his absence . . . The case for mandatory use of helmets grows stronger as yet another injury has been reported to the head, this time Pat Stapleton of the Chicago Blackhawks was hospitalized after falling on the back of his head . . . What the hell I wear one when I play broomball.

WINTER CARNIVAL RIOT: Speaking of broomball, the annual tournament for all interested teams will begin play Wednesday of this week. Phi Nu Chi is in charge of the tournament. Several tough units are expected to enter this terrible, brutal, and frustrating game which resembles a small war fought with brooms over a volleyball. Defending champion Kappa Theta can be expected to pose a threat along with the 1967 runner up, the CH's. The championship game is scheduled for 12 p.m. Saturday or immediately following the Winter Olympics. See all you snow-bunnies and snow-guys (snow guys?) out there.

Olympics Feature Chopping, Skating

With this year's Winter Carnival come the Winter Olympics. The four events, starting at 10 a.m., Saturday, Feb. 3, are log chopping, speed skating for singles and relay speed skating and a snow ski obstacle race without poles.

The hatchet for the log chopping must have a 15 inch handle and a six and one half inch blade.

The Winter Olympics will be held at the hockey rink.

Swimmers Defeat St. Olaf

River Falls swam to a 68-34 victory over the St. Olaf Oles from Northfield, Minnesota last Saturday. The Falcons broke two records on their way to posting their second victory of the season. Brian Petersburg, Doug Caldwell, Mike Waddell, and Jim Daniels broke the record for the 400 yard freestyle relay event. Their time was 3:46.8 as they took off over five seconds from the previous record which had been set in 1964. Dave Chinnock broke his record time he set against Stout a month ago with a time of 2:22.1 in the 200 yard backstroke.

Chinnock, Dave Penticoff, Dan Collins, and Petersburg opened the meet with a victory in the 400 yard medley relay. Jim Daniels and Lee Wright picked up first and second place finishes in the 1000 yard freestyle. Daniels later finished second in the 500 yard freestyle. Both times were his best of the year as Jim put in his usual good performance against St. Olaf.

Dan Collins placed first in the 200 yard individual medley and in the 200 yard butterfly events. Dave Penticoff was first in the 200 yard breaststroke. Dave Wells had an off-day in his diving but squeaked out a victory in the diving event.

Doug Caldwell swam his best time and was victorious over teammate Mike Waddell in the 100 yard freestyle. Doug also placed second in the 50 yard freestyle and Mike finished second in the 200 yard freestyle event.

The Falcons will go back into conference action and swim against Superior on Monday, Feb. 5. They have all intentions of making it two victories in a row.

Falcons Trim Huskies, Play Two Games Here

Sparked by Jerry Trooien's two first period goals, the Falcon hockey team avenged an earlier loss to St. Cloud as they whipped the Huskies 5-3. The game was played at Ramer Rink on Tuesday.

The Falcons now must face the Oles of St. Olaf on Wednesday, and the St. Thomas sextet on Thursday. Both of these are "must" wins as the team seeks to keep it's record as unblemished as possible in hopes of participating in a post-season tournament.

The Falcons have beaten St. Olaf 9-1 and the game with St. Thomas, scheduled for last week, was postponed due to poor ice in St. Paul. Both local contests start at 3 p.m.

Broomball

All those who wish to enter a Broomball team in the Winter Carnival Broomball tournament, sign up on the student center bulletin board. Entries will close at 4:00 Tuesday, Jan. 30. Team representatives will meet in the Student Center at 4:00 Tuesday, Jan. 30.

Falcons Drop Two in League

Unbeaten Oshkosh lengthened its WSU winstreak to seven games as the Titans defeated River Falls 97-77 here Saturday night.

Five Oshkosh cagers scored in double figures with the Titans pulling away in the last seven minutes.

The Falcons started off strong and with good ball handling, led through most of the first half. They capitalized on many Titan errors and it looked as though River Falls would pull an upset.

George Voss, a junior guard from Middleton, gave RF their first lead of the night at 8-7 with a layup. Seconds later, Tom Witasek hit a jumper to give Oshkosh a lead they would see only twice again in the next 11 minutes.

The Falcons were guilty of many fouls in the first half and this enabled the front runners to establish a lead. Witasek alone had nine gift tosses in the first half along with three field goals.

With 6:10 remaining in the first half, the Titans outscored River Falls, 16-2 to take a commanding 42-31 edge. From that point on, River Falls played catch-up ball.

Bill Glomski, with assists from Burich and Wolf, sank a layup as the horn sounded to narrow the gap, 51-42 at halftime.

Oshkosh, bidding for its 11 win in 12 starts this season, lengthened its lead to 60-46 with three minutes gone in the second half.

Voss then sparked a rally to move within four points at 60-56 with 14:27 left. During the rally Voss squirmed for a layup, and scored two free throws. Glomski found the range with a jumper; Gustafson hit from underneath; and Glomski and Van Dyke added free tosses.

Oshkosh's height advantage and good ball handling by Witasek kept the Titans out of reach the second half.

Witasek led all scorers with 24 markers. Other Titans in double figures were John Lallensack with 17; Bruce Miller 14, Ron Hayek 13, and Rick Rehm with 10.

Voss, who played a great floor game, tossed in 21 points, followed by Gustafson with 16, and Van Dyke with 12.

It was great to see Benson's Boys fired up as they were in the first half and early second half. Gustafson and Van Dyke were great on the boards. They retrieved many rebounds from Titans much taller than themselves. Although the Falcons were defeated by 20 points, they showed signs of breaking the game wide open.

LaCrosse Indians

The LaCrosse Indians almost got scalped Friday night, but it took a technical foul and a Falcon cold streak for them to win 92-79 going away.

With 5:58 remaining in the game, a technical was whistled against River Falls. This seemed to give LaCrosse the lift they needed as Mike Heideman sank two foul shots and then the technical for three fast points. LaCrosse took the ball from the side and Pete Larson sank a jumper and Heideman swished two more free throws to give the Indians a 82-71 lead.

The Falcons then hit a very cold streak as nothing would go in for two and one-half minutes, icing the victory for the visitors. During the whole game River Falls shots would go in-and-out which hurt the field goal percentage.

The contest was very close throughout the entire first half with La Crosse edging ahead 44-39 at the half. The score was tied nine times and changed hands seven times during the first 20 minutes.

River Falls nudged ahead 17-16, with a jumper by Steve Gustafson and an easy layup by Van Dyke. During the rally, the Falcons rebounded fiercely with Van Dyke, Gustafson, and Burich going high on the boards.

River Falls played good ball through the first half feeding passes for easy layups. Palmer, Burich, and Glomski assisted teammates with easy baskets.

Senior, Paul Kulig surprised La Crosse with nine straight points in the second half and gave the Falcons a 56-52 lead with 14:00 remaining.

The score was very close the next eight minutes, but the technical foul seemed to spark the Indians to victory.

La Crosse relied on good outside shooting from Mike Grainger and a great inside performance from Dave Neuberger to offset the Falcons.

River Falls had many bright moments during the game. They ranged from Van Dyke's rebounding, to Voss's layup, to Burich's passing. This young Falcon squad will surprise many people before the season ends.

Neuberger took game honors with 23 points, but four other Indians scored in double figures. Kulig paced River Falls with 20 points, followed closely by Van Dyke's 17.

Fat Eddies Win Again

Defending intramural champs, the Fat Eddies (6-0), still hold a grip on the lead in the Northern League by ripping previously unbeaten Swifties (5-1).

Eddie Pohl's boys hold a half game lead on the Innocents who are 5-0. A highlight of the Fat Eddie-Swifties game went to Jeff Kelmick who sank a hook from midcourt as the halftime horn sounded.

The Newman Club are still unbeaten in seven games, but are pressured by the Inabilities (6-0) in the East.

The New Colony Five looks like a real contender for tournament honors as they are all alone in the South at 7-0.

Sig Rho #2 remained in first place as they outmatched former frontrunners, the Trobe Glotters (7-1).

Brent Howe, Captain of The Group, led all scorers this week with a 19 point performance against Sig Tau #2.

The Newman Club, hoping to dethrone the Fat Eddies have balance scoring. Captain Jack Orgeman scored 16 against the T.C.'s Thursday night and Dick Nerbun and Dave Monson scored 18 apiece in a 53-36 win over the Gobblers.

The Inabilities led by Mike Kaminski's 17 markers, won an overtime tilt against the T.C.'s.

Ginsback of Sig Rho #1 and Ogilvie of the Fat Eddies poured in 13 points apiece for their respective teams.

Opperman Objects to Johnson's Abdominal Scars

The people of America are opposed to Johnson and all his lies, deception, visible abdominal scars and all the rest, said Vance Opperman, Minneapolis 6th Ward DFL chairman last Wednesday.

Opperman said Eugene McCarthy is offering a challenge to this. If he isn't successful, the challenge will have to come from the right, from Wallace and the rest. With the right, the violence would increase and this is on the road to Nazism.

The McCarthy backer said there is a good chance to help him get the candidacy in the next 90 days. All he has to do is win in eight states. Opperman added three of these won't be decided until the primaries.

Opperman, who was sponsored by the WSU-RF Students for McCarthy listed three reasons that inspired McCarthy to run.

1) McCarthy does not feel Vietnam is an important American interest. He disagrees with the present Vietnam policy along with Senator William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and some of its members.

2) McCarthy disagrees with the "level of priorities." He sees the domestic structure weakening with cuts in the budgets of the poverty education, and health plans.

3) McCarthy's real incentive to run came because of what he feels war and violence have done to the people of the United States. He sees a generation of alienated young people who are cynical and quick to violence. There seems to be a shift in the body of the population toward violence.

According to Opperman, McCarthy sees a shift from the idealism of the early '60's such as the Peace Corps, Alliance for Progress and the integration movements in the South to increasing cynicism.

He wants a change in the treatment of such problems as the riots in Watts and Detroit and disturbances involving long-haired youths. The present solutions seem to be more barbed wire and more guns.

Opperman believes the cause McCarthy advocates is to return America to a sane political from here at home and abroad.

McCarthy's decision to run, Opperman said came after the "Yellow Peril" speech delivered by McNamara which explained that the United States was fighting in Vietnam in its "national interest."

McCarthy speaks of the "escalation of rhetoric", the creation of a dangerous situation that calls for a bigger commitment, Opperman said.

McCarthy believes the Gulf of Tonkin situation was a fabrication to allow the United States to escalate the war.

Opperman is a member of Concerned Democrats, a group in 26 states that advocates McCarthy as its peace candidate. Concerned Democrats are ready to drop him if he loses in the primaries.

Opperman believes McCarthy is a brave man to run. He said: "McCarthy is not rich and his candidacy will cost about $2 1/2 million. He will have to use all his money because he doesn't have the financial backing of some candidates.

"His candidacy is tearing up the Democratic party in Minnesota. Many of his former supporters are leaving him because he is opposing the present administration.

"This is probably the end of his political career unless he does very well in the primaries. If he should win the nomination, he could have a political future. If the present administration were defeated, vice-president Hubert Humphrey might be after a job and could get McCarthy's in 1970.

"McCarthy is not a politician. He is urbane, intelligent and witty. His past has included work as a college professor and as the author of three books on government.

"Because he is not a politician, McCarthy is undergoing personal strain and pressure. He is doing this because he still has principles."

AWS Considers Changing Constitution

The possibility of revising the Associated Women Students (AWS) constitution so that it will be recognized by the Student Senate was brought up by board members at the AWS Executive Board meeting last Tuesday.

Sharon Seilbach made the motion and it was passed on the second vote 11-4 with 2 abstentions. The first vote defeated the motion by a one vote margin with seven abstentions.

The motion was handed over to the Legislative Committee with instructions to make constitutional changes.

Later it was moved that three members of the Legislative Committee including the AWS president Sue Thielke speak to acting Pres. Richard Delorit to find out what the AWS position would be if constitutional changes were made.

The main point of discussion was the source of AWS power. Dr. Nancy Knaak, associate dean of students, said that AWS was a separate governmental organization preceding and independent of the Student Senate. Chuck Feltes, a student senator, stated that the controversy stems from the question of the source of AWS jurisdiction. An executive session was called for board members to further debate the question. The discussion will continue at the next meeting when committee reports are to be made.

Pat Huppert, chairman of the special events committee, moved that the AWS sponsored Marriage Conference be abolished this year. Miss Huppert felt that the women on campus were not interested in this type of program and that AWS money could be spent on other activities. The Special Events Committee will conduct a poll to get ideas from AWS members for future programs.

The Marriage Conference has been a biannual AWS activity since 1958. The two-day conference drew as many as 175 participants from both the University and the city of River Falls. Speakers have included doctors, lawyers, members of the clergy, marriage counselors, and faculty members.

The AWS committee to investigate the policy of AWS membership of married women students presented no report at the Tuesday night meeting.

Rushing and Pledging Must be Held on Campus

The Greek Letter Council (G.L.C.) decided at their meeting last Monday that all Phi Nu Chi rushing and pledging parties except two must be held on campus.

Because of conflict between social probation and rushing and pledging rules which the colonized Phi Nu Chi is subject to, the group will be allowed two parties off-campus. It was suggested that the two parties be informal initiation and spring frolics. The final decision, on which parties will be held off-campus, is up to Phi Nu Chi.

At the same meeting Sigma Tau Epsilon presented a motion that Greeks not participate in Freezing Frolics during Winter Carnival Week. The motion was prompted by the excessive number of activities which members of Greek organizations participate in during the week, leaving them little time for study. The motion was tabled until next week so the individual Greek organizations can discuss the suggestion before it is voted upon.

The constitution of Delta Theta Sigma, which is currently being reviewed by the constitution committee, will be decided upon tonight's meeting.

Alpha Gamma Rho submitted its revised constitution to the G.L.C. constitution committee. The group is presently a chapter of the national Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Student Senate

which Phi Nu Chi has chosen to hold off campus.

Pres. Bob Rasmussen and Sen. Feltes presented information on grade point policy. The Senate had taken a poll of the other eight universities on their policy of self-government. Faculty Senate approved the Senate's right to govern their own affairs, but were concerned that Senate might choose to lower grade point of fraternities and other honorary organizations on campus. Rasmussen assured the faculty Student Senate had no plans for such action.

EDUCATIONAL IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE

Several names were presented to Rasmussen at the meeting for the educational improvement committee. The committee as it now stands includes Linda Graves, chairman; Laverne Herberg, Dr. Webster, Dick Felman, Alan Tronrud, Eldon Bater and Scott Cook.

The Senate approved Sigma Tau Epsilon's constitution last night with minor changes to be made before it goes into effect.

Halverson reported that a man from Madison will be coming to speak to the telephone committee. He told the Senate that phones could be installed in rooms at a cost of $2.20 per student per month for a two party line. A four-party line could possibly be installed at a lower cost.

DISCOUNT SERVICE

Sen. Chudy reported that work on a discount service is being carefully drawn out before any action is taken with businessmen. Pres. Rasmussen asked that contracts be drawn out, ready for signing by mid-spring quarter. Sen. Chudy said "All areas of fault are being gone over point by point. Many schools are very interested in this and have asked for information on the success of our plan. I am pleased that River Falls is being such a liberal school in this area."

Sen. Weiss submitted his resignation as chairman of the Big Name Entertainment Committee. He gave "disgust" as his reason for resigning. Senate tabled action on the matter.

Senate Candidates

Q. What can you contribute to Student Senate?

A. I feel that Senate can be improved by its members doing more research before acting--more research.

Q. What are your platform planks?

A. I would like to see a service set up so that students could buy and sell their required paperbacks--a clearing house for used paperbacks. I would also like to work on revamping to library check out system and the organization of the library stacks.

Q. What are your qualifications?

A. I am a member of Alpha Gamma Rho and a dorm council. I am a student assistant and an honor student.

Joseph Eugene Koutney is a Geography major from Boyd, Wisconsin. He is a sophomore.

Q. Why are you running for Senate?

A. I am running for one of the positions which are open by the Student Senate because I have a strong personal interest in the mechanics of student government and feel competent in representing the students.

Q. What can you contribute to Senate?

A. It is not my intention in running for the Senate to change it, but to contribute my time and effort in a way which will be advantageous to the students.

Q. What are your platform planks?

A. I would attempt to work on the following: establish a book store discount system, gain the right of student's to peacefully demonstrate, obtain the right of the Student Senate to govern its own internal affairs, rather than allowing itself to be used as a pawn by the administration, establish a university transportation fleet for school games and activities.

Affairs Committee Discusses Search and Seizure

"We simply can't drop the matter" was the general consensus of Student Affairs committee members as voiced by Chairman Herbert Cederberg in regard to developments of the dormitory "search and seizure" controversy.

The committee felt the suggestions they offered to Dean Nancy Knaak at their meeting with her on Jan. 15 had not been given the consideration she had seemed willing to give.

Reaction to a letter sent to all girls living in the dormitories "didn't reflect the Student Affairs committee ideas" and the group is discussing the possibility of altering search and seizure policies. Members of the committee felt the content of the letter sent to the girls was "rather sarcastic."

An additional meeting with Dean William

Munns and Dean Knaak is scheduled to further discuss "search and seizure" in both the men's and women's dorms.

A request by Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity to review their application to go national was quickly agreed upon. Their request was to go national under the parent organization of the same name and the committee felt assured the application would be approved.

Suppression of publication of the Prologue was of "grave importance" to the committee and they expressed disturbance at the decision of acting Pres. Richard J. Delorit. Discussion of the controversy will begin at the next meeting.

Further work on the extension of library hours and the possibility of an all night study room during finals was brought up. Committee members will meet with the chairman of the library committee and with Richard Cooklock, director of the library, to discuss the matter in more detail.

"Chances seem dim" for individual telephones in all dormitory rooms because of exorbitant costs, according to investigation. The committee is also checking into the problem of emergency calls into the University after the switchboard goes off at 11:30 p.m.

The arrangements for receiving such calls have not been followed closely and a breakdown in the system is evident. No one knows who or how to contact after hours.

Married College Students Eligible For Food Stamps

Married college students with low incomes may be eligible for the federal food stamp program, through the Pierce County welfare office in Ellsworth.

Miss Cowin, social worker No. 1 at the Social Service Department, explained that the service is based on monthly income of the applicants, as well as the number in the family. The maximum allotment allowed per month for a husband and wife is $140 (though extensions may be made on this figure) and $239.99 is the maximum for a couple with a child. For each extension of $30 and fractions over $30, $4 is added to the purchase price of food.

Eligibility is based on rate of income; loans are not a criteria because they have to be paid back. The G.I. Bill provides eligibility for the stamps.

According to Miss Cowin, the purpose of the program is "to give low income families more food-purchasing power, for improving nutrition and channeling agricultural surpluses of this country to low income families. This program, in existence for two years, is sponsored through state and federal funds.

Recipients of the stamps must meet a monthly cost purchasing requirement. A bonus number of stamps is added to this monthly cost requirement, yielding the total number of food stamps the couple receives. For example, a couple with monthly earnings of $50 would have to buy $18 of stamps each month. They would be given a bonus of an additional $18 of stamps, bringing their total food purchasing power to $36.

Food stamps are sold in River Falls and other areas of the county. However, to make initial application for stamps, a person must go to the welfare office in Ellsworth. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.
