Spring Vacation Is Scheduled To Be Held In April

Commencement Activities Are Rearranged by Faculty Committee

An announcement from the office states that the students of River Falls will be given a spring vacation of one week at Easter time this year. The vacation starts on Tuesday, April 7, and classes will be resumed Wednesday, April 15, at 8 o'clock.

In accordance with this arrangement, commencement activities will be changed from the usual schedule. Final examinations will be written on the third, fourth and fifth of June after which commencement activities will begin.

On Friday, June 5, the class play will be given. Alumni day is scheduled for Saturday, June 6. The date set for baccalaureate services is Sunday, June 7. The schedule will be completed by the commencement exercises on Monday, June 8.

Faculty chairmen for these commencement activities are to be named early in order to have better cooperation with the students.

According to Miss Vera Moss, chairman of the committee in charge, these changes have been made to make it easier for people who have to stay over for these events, and to make it easier for old grads to get back.

The committee which has decided upon this is made up of the following: Miss Vera Moss (chairman), Dr. Justin Williams, Miss Alberta Greene, Dr. Walker D. Wyman, Professor J. P. Jacobson, Professor William Segerstrom and Professor B. J. Rozehnal.

Dr. Karges Addresses Science Club Group

Dr. Rudolph A. Karges delivered an address on "Electric Signs and Rare Gases" before the Science Club when it met last Wednesday night.

He pointed out the scarcity of these rare gas elements as compared to oxygen and hydrogen. Krypton, the least plentiful, is present in the air in the proportion of one pound to every 1,208 tons.

Neon, the gas used in nearly all electric signs, is perhaps the most widely used of these rare elements.

Helium and mercury vapor are also used in electric signs, but the mercury will condense in cold weather and thus proves rather unsatisfactory. The neon light is also much used in airplane light beacons and light houses because its red light is more penetrating in fog.

Editor Receives Letter From Secretary Doudna

The following letter was received by the editor from Mr. Edgar Doudna, Secretary of the Board of Regents of Wisconsin Teachers Colleges. January 29, 1936

My dear Miss Williamson:
First, let me congratulate you on the general typographical and editorial excellence of the Voice. I read it with great interest and get a fine appreciation of what's going on in your institution. However, what prompted me to write this note was the editorial entitled "When Will Students Grow Up?" It's a very excellent one and I am sure those of us in teachers college work appreciate your attitude.

Very sincerely,
Edgar G. Doudna

The editorial mentioned by Mr. Doudna was written by John Batty.

DANCE WILL BE GIVEN FRIDAY

The social committee will sponsor an all-school dance on Friday, February 14, in South Hall gymnasium. Dancing will begin at 8:00 and continue until 12:30.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the Falls Collegiate Band.

Local Speakers Clash With St. Thomas Debate Team

St. Thomas College invaded the River Falls campus Tuesday afternoon, February 11, for a series of two non-decision debates.

Howard Vassau and Frank Sirianni formed the local negative team in the first debate which began at 2:20 in the Men's Union. Daniel Dykstra and Roman Zorn presented our affirmative case in the second debate which was held at 3:15.

Prof. Rozehnal Granted Leave

Mr. Leopold Liegl Will Act As Substitute In College Music Department for Term

Professor B. J. Rozehnal of the music department will leave Friday, February 14, for Northwestern University, where he will complete his work for the degree of Master of Music during the spring semester.

Mr. Rozehnal will be gone the remainder of this term, and all of the spring term. Class work for this term in his classes will be completed by Friday.

Requirements for the Master of Music degree include giving a public recital, writing a thesis, and an original composition.

Band and orchestra practice will continue under student assistants and Mr. Jadinak of the local high school for the remainder of the term.

Mr. Leopold Liegl, a clarinetist who has been with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for eight years and the Chicago Symphony for two years, will substitute for Professor Rozehnal during the spring term. Mr. Liegl is now working at the University of Minnesota.

Miss Schlosser Gets English M. A. Degree

Miss Nelle Schlosser was granted her M. A. degree in English in absentia during the February convocation at the Iowa State University.

"The Literary Taste of Fanny Burney as Exemplified in Her Diary and Novels" was the subject of Miss Schlosser's thesis. In January Miss Schlosser took her nine hours of written examinations and one hour of oral questioning to complete the work for her degree.

Miss Dorothea Panzenhagen, a junior who is enrolled in the science department, was taken to the infirmary on Sunday with a very bad cold.

She is reported to be recovering and will probably be back in school in a couple of days.

CONDITIONS AND INCOMPLETES

The latest date for the removal of Conditions and Incompletes is Friday, February 21. Students having Conditions and Incompletes are urged to make definite arrangements with the faculty for the removal of same.

After February 21 all grade deficiencies not taken care of will automatically become failures. E. J. Prucha, Registrar

Life of Famous Mathematician, Geometric and Algebraic Fallacies Are Topics

Two members of the Mathematics Club, Kenneth Museus and Kathleen Fuller, will speak at the regular monthly meeting of the club Wednesday evening, February 12, at 7:30 in Mrs. Eide's room.

Algebraic and geometric fallacies will be discussed by Kenneth Museus. Miss Fuller will tell of the life of La Grange, a man famous in the field of geometry. This year is the two-hundredth anniversary of La Grange's birth.

Mrs. Eide urges all students who are majoring or minoring in mathematics to attend this meeting. Many suggestions that will be helpful in teaching mathematics in high schools are brought out.

The program will consist of a talk by Kenneth Wallen. The subject of his speech will be announced at the time of the meeting. Music for the evening will be furnished by Arthur Polfus and Raymond Schnell.

Debaters From Macalaster Are To Speak Here

Program for Assembly Will Feature Debate; Dykstra And Zorn Are Speakers

The River Falls Teachers College debate squad consisting of Roman Zorn and Daniel Dykstra will meet a debate team from Macalaster college in a non-decision debate before the assembly, Thursday February 13, at 9:50.

Zorn and Dykstra will uphold the affirmative of the question, Resolved: "That Congress should have power to over-ride by a two-thirds majority the decisions of the Supreme Court."

It is expected that a very strong team will represent the Macalaster college on the negative.

During the debate season Dykstra and Zorn have established an impressive record while competing with other colleges and universities at Normal, Illinois, and La Crosse, Wisconsin.

By winning 6 of the 7 debates at the Normal tournament, they won recognition as one of the three teams which lost only one debate. At the La Crosse tournament they won 3 out of 4 debates.

The team has also met several colleges and universities in non-decision debates including Oxford University, St. Olaf, Macalaster, Stevens Point, Ripon, Oshkosh and St. Thomas.

Annual Banquet For Golf Club Is Planned

The Golf Club of River Falls will hold its annual banquet and business meeting in the college cafeteria on Tuesday, February 18, at 6:30 p. m. During the banquet golf prizes will be awarded to the winners of the past year.

Valentine Party Will Be Given for W. A. A. Girls

A Valentine party will be held by the members of the W. A. A. Thursday night at eight o'clock, in the South Hall gymnasium. This event will be a boy and girl party. The members of the organization are to come in couples, one of each couple dressed as a boy.

Miss Fiedler, of the local high school faculty, has been asked to bring several of her G.A.A. girls to the party to put on a tumbling act as the feature of the program.

The evening will be spent in dancing, after which ice cream and wafers will be served.

The committee which is in charge of the arrangements for this party consists of the following: Elsie Schorta, Grace Erickson, Edna O'Brien, and Mary Katherine Prucha.

Miss McGlees Is Interviewed by Student Voice Reporter

In spite of the wearying effects of a perfectly delightful lunch, your reporter found Miss McGlees to be a very charming personality. She responded very cordially to my questions and thus afforded me a most interesting interview. Where were you located before coming to River Falls?

"For the first part of the year until the last of January I was head of the nursery in the American School at Paris."

How did you happen to get into foreign educational service?

"That is rather hard to explain. I was advised to affiliate myself with some Mission directing work in foreign fields. From the Presbyterian Missions, I received an appointment to teach English in a Chinese high school in that country. While there I had the daughter of Sun Yat Sen in class. Sun Yat Sen, you know, was, before his death, one of China's national leaders. Leaving China, I was assigned to a girls' college in India and thence to Beirut, Syria."

What differences did you mark in the children of these different nations?

"I find that children all over the world are pretty much the same. I believe that the children in America, however, are more stable in their school attendance than in Paris. Attendance at the nursery in the school at Paris was certainly more irregular than it is here."

Now that you are in River Falls, do you miss the work with which you were formerly associated?

"I have been so busy making new contacts that I have had no time to miss those which I have already made and left."

What do you think of River Falls? "From the general lay out, I would gather that it is a very pretty little place in the spring."

Will you return to foreign service? "No, now that I am again in America, I plan to remain."

You certainly have had wide travel experiences.

"Yes, I believe that travel is just as essential to an education as are books."

The Inquiring Reporter

What Sections in the Student Voice Do You Prefer?

I prefer the Sports Section as it is there one finds the recent spirited accounts of all school athletics, played both at home and at neighboring schools.—June Toftness.

I believe the Inquiring Reporter is the most interesting. The reason I choose this is because it is really amusing the different views students have on certain subjects.—Florence M. Wiberg.

Personally, I prefer the feature articles on the front page. It generally produces a laugh from me and from everyone else, I think, as well. Campus Chatter is interesting and mirth provoking, but somehow or other it doesn't fill the bill the way the feature does.—Dana L. Rasmus.

The news section is always well-written and covers the news pretty well. The editorial section always has thought-provoking articles, and I think all students should read them. Those are the sections I most prefer, along with Campus Chatter, which always contains very enlightening paragraphs. With all due respect to the feature writers, I do not like the majority of the features which appear. Wouldn't the paper be improved by the elimination of that section and the addition of something better?—Howard Elliott.

There is no particular section I prefer. However, I enjoy reading the feature articles and the sport section the most.—Jeanette Griffith.

First Signs of Spring

Drip, drip, drip, on and on it goes in monotonous regularity, as an accompaniment to the prof's lecture. Slowly, slowly our eye lids moved toward a common central part. Soothing thoughts same sifting through our tired brain. Slowly we are being lulled into a state of semi-consciousness by the drip, drip, drip of the rain.

Now most people wonder where we found such a soul-soothing cloud wash this time of the year when every breath turns into a miniature ice-berg.

But find it we did, and for the time being it was a very heartening discovery. Is it our first sign that the eternal Spring has not entirely forgotten us? However, before long it will be the bane of our lives. When we are trying to concentrate in our various classes, suddenly we will find that cold and clammy water is systematically dropping down the back of our neck. Then will we be forced to dig our rubber boots out of the closet or rent a boat to get from room to room.

Thus, we know the long hard winter is on its last lap because the south side of South Hall has started its annual spring leak.

Three Arts

In Stage Magazine for January, 1936, John Chapman has an article which he headed Backstage with the Stage Hands. He says, "Theirs is a world apart, with traditions, customs - - and a language all its own." The article was interesting in that it revealed much of the theatrical world which very seldom, if at all, receives any publicity.

Stage hands fall into three departments - - carpenter, property, and electrical. Each has a specific office to perform, and one never does another man's work however trivial the task might be. The carpenters move and repair the scenery, the electricians have control of lights, and the property men have charge of the heroine's sofa and the maid's feather duster. All have to be familiar with the floor mark codes which in some of the larger productions are, indeed, complicated. Theirs is not a simple job, and without their exactness many fine productions would have "gone on the rocks." They have been known to advance money to managers in order that the latter could keep their shows running. Such was the case with Merrily We Roll Along, a very heavy production scenically which was not the smash hit it started out to be.

I repeat that the article is interesting. It includes much more than I have given you. It helped me to regard the stage hand in a light different from the laugh-getter... the man in shirt sleeves with his shirt tail hanging out, whom one occasionally sees when the curtains go up too soon or come down too late.

Editorial Contest Is Being Held; Students Are Eligible

An editorial contest on the subject "Will Neutrality Keep Us Out of War?" is being sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association and The Nation.

Twelve prizes are being offered in this contest which is open to all undergraduate college students. A fifty-dollar first prize and a second prize of twenty-five dollars will be given. Five third prizes, all one-year subscriptions to The Nation, are being offered. Five student memberships, each for one academic year, in the Foreign Policy Association are the fourth prizes.

The editorial which wins first prize will be printed in the May 6 issue of The Nation. March 15 is the latest date when manuscripts may be submitted.

Students interested in this contest may see Dr. Walker D. Wyman for further conditions regarding entrants.

The judges for this contest include the following: Raymond L. Buell, the president of the Foreign Policy Association; Freda Kirchwey, editor of The Nation; Paul U. Kellogg, editor of The Survey Graphic and The Survey; and William T. Stone, vice-president of the Foreign Policy Association.

A Change Is Needed

There are two factors in the present educational system the suspension of which, I believe, would make the system more attractive and the urge to secure an education more vital. I speak of compulsory courses and the rating system. I realize that there are many arguments for and against the proposals which I am about to launch, but my expression is wholly personal and the product of a student mind.

It seems to me that the two issues in question are very closely related, so much so that the perfecting of one would definitely influence the other. I am and always have been against compulsory courses. I see no reason why a student in English, for instance, should be denied college entrance because he hasn't two years of high school mathematics. I have difficulty in understanding why an English student in college should be required to have one year college science to his credit before his application for his degree will meet with consideration. If compulsory courses were dropped, I don't believe the student would drift into the fields which require less effort as has been suggested. Students would enter the departments with which they were more personally concerned, and, because of their concern, they would, by their earnest efforts, elevate the standards of the various departments. I believe that the dropping of compulsory courses would cause the students to be more open to the advice rendered by their department heads, and such advice would encourage enrollment in the courses which they conscientiously believed furthered their aims in their main course.

And then, there is little doubt but that this situation would improve the rating system. Verdicts of "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" as rendered by the instructors would be sufficient. Students would work for what they could derive from their courses. Their curricula would become more pleasing and less burdensome. There would be no cause for apple-polishing. And the attitude of the student toward his instructor would undoubtedly be altered.

I do not advocate a revolutionary change. I believe that beneficial changes can be realized only by cautious approach and in time. I never hope to see an educational Utopia, but I believe that measures can be inaugurated by which our present system can be made more inclusive in its appeal.

His hobby had turned into a camel, and he hoped, if he rode long enough in silence, that at last he might come on a city of thought along the great highway of exchange.

Henry Adams

Laissez-Faire

Within the innermost recesses of the average student's heart is the craving for liberty. Under the present system of professorial, inspectorial, and tutorial college government the students are subject to a mass of regulations which hamper the individual even in matters of trifling importance.

The only solution, of course, for this interference is laissez faire, the doctrine that there are certain great natural grounds with which no professorial body should interfere—rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The real essence of this theory of college government is that the department of learning should not interfere with the student's social routine. This means that the governing body should not attempt to regulate the hours of study; furthermore, that it should not interfere with the student's outside activities. Then, all that would be necessary, would be for the benign faculty to establish a schedule of such a nature that the greatest share of the student's work could be performed in the classroom.

With this achievement of liberty, happiness would indeed be obtained. In the eyes of the physocrats the institution would be transformed into a veritable Utopia. Yes, the fruits of liberty would indeed seem to be more precious than the golden apples of ancient fable.

Sadly we admit, that when this theory was employed in respect to trade and industry, the sole trouble was that it did not work well in practice. Perhaps, however,—perhaps, we say, in our case we would merely be confronted with the task of erasing that indelible motto "Aut doce, aut disce, aut discede" from the annals of our college history.—Northwestern College Black and Red.

I say, beware of all enterprises that require new clothes, and not rather a new wearer of clothes.

Falcons Trounce Stout Institute

May Takes Defense Honors In Fifth Conference Victory Of Season

The River Falls State Teachers College basketball team won their fifth straight conference game at Menomonie, Tuesday, February 4, by trimming Stout Institute, 51 to 38.

The Blue Devils got off to a good start in the first half and took the lead by field goals by Ruud and Doljes. The Falcons overcame the short lead before half-time and left the floor with the score tied 20 to 20.

Herkal, Nystrom, and Blank scored early in the second half to give the Falcons a lead which the Blue Devils never headed.

Herkal continued to hit his 17 point average by getting just that number. Nystrom counted 13 points while Blank got 11 points to aid the River Falls scoring.

Jim May held the fast-traveling Worman to 4 points during the game to take defensive honors.

Around the Conference

River Falls turned back an inspired Stout team at Menomonie Tuesday, February 4, 51 to 38, while LaCrosse and Superior advanced in the percentage column.

LaCrosse avenged an earlier defeat by the Zornmen by beating Eau Claire on the Maroon home court. LaCrosse, minus the services of Watts, the negro flash who was declared ineligible at the end of last semester, put on the pressure in the final minutes and downed the Zornadoes, 36 to 32.

Stout, after battling the Falcons at Menomonie on Tuesday, was turned back by the Yellowjackets at Superior, 47 to 24, Friday. The Blue Devils were clearly outplayed by the Superior team throughout the game.

Hamline Cagers Beat Falls 42 - 37

Non-Conference Rivals Deal Falcons First Setback in Seven Games

The River Falls six game winning streak came to an abrupt end last Monday when Joe Hutton's Hamline cagers dealt them a 42 to 37 setback. Hamline at the present time is runner-up in the Minnesota conference.

Throughout the game the visitors showed a more polished offense, especially in controlling the ball, and they likewise gave a neat exhibition of ball handling. Aided by this, and their ability to convert free throws, the Pipers, who were handicapped by a seven point margin at halftime, came back after intermission to outplay and outdrive the Falcons and end up five points in front.

The Pipers managed to tally 16 out of 21 free throws. The Falcons did one better in counting 17, but had a total of 25 shots.

Herkal again took top scoring honors for the night and scored the first nine Falls points single handed.

The score was knotted successively at 9, 12 and 16 from whence the Falcons pulled out in front. With the injection of Ditz and Olson in the line-up the visitors pulled up from behind to tie the count at 29 all, midway in the final half. In short order they jumped into the lead and ran their count to 37 before the Falcons again broke into the scoring column.

The Cowlesmen were having difficulty in locating the hoop, and up until the last two minutes they had scored only one field goal, which was made by Blank at the start of the second half. In the final two minutes with the count 41-32 against them, the Falcons came to life when Nystrom sank a beauty of a net twister from mid-floor and "Colonel" Larson sank a sleeper and a free throw to pull within four points of the visitors. With only seconds to go the Falls had numerous close-in shots, mixed up with three gift shots, but once again trouble in locating the hoop proved to be the hoodoo.

Herkal was high point man with three buckets and eight free tosses. For the visitors Grey, a flashy forward, was runner-up with four field goals and a like number of gift shots.

Falconite Sketches

Leon Larson

Born in Norway 20 years ago. Doesn't chew snuse and can't ski jump very well. His like for lute-fisk and pultose is the only redeeming Norsk feature. Graduated from Chippewa Falls High School in 1933 after playing football and basketball. Teamed with the great Princeton's Delaney in football. Behn of Eau Claire and "Colonel" went to Onarga Military Academy where "Colonel" collected an astounding bunch of sweat shirts and jackets. Also got a string of gold footballs and basketballs. Placed second in the national track meet for military schools in the broad jump. Quit the school because it was too far from home. At River Falls he has won a letter in football and basketball in his first year. His spectacular catches in football are his pet stunts. Spends most of his spare time coaxing his "big blue job" to run, and then after it does go, he spends more time in pushing it out of snow banks. Team with his brother, Vern, in a two man tumbling team that can really do an assortment of flips. Also teams with Martin arguing Chippewa merits and Chippewa's Pride against Cudney.

Kibitzer's Korner By LOUIE

FRIDAY night the Falcons will have a plenty tough game on their hands at Superior. It's been quite a few years since either team has scored a win in both Falcon-Yellowjacket tussles and Whereatt aims to have it that way this year. A defeat by Superior would open up the race for La Crosse to score a slap at the title here on the following Friday.

AT Stout last Tuesday the Falcons were behind for the first time this year in conference play. The Blue Devils worked a good offense with the big center, Mileovancevitch (you pronounce it) and Worman going good on defense. Ruud got five baskets in the first half, but Herkal put the dampers on him, and he didn't get a decent peck in the last period.

LOSING to Hamline Monday was pretty tough. The Falcons could not tip the cover off the bucket in the second half at all. Joe Hutton started a string of sophomores in the ball game but soon needed Ditz, the all-state center in the game. The Pipers used a system of block plays that work pretty good on a team that seldom plays against that type of offense.

COACH Cowles' boys still lead the league on offense and defense after five games. The Falcons still average 52 points on offense while the defensive rating is 31. Superior and LaCrosse each rate a fraction of a point better on offense than defense. The big floor at Superior will cut the Falcon offense, but the boys also hope to lower the defensive rating.

OLSON, Piper forward, was held to five points by Jim May. The dancing Piper is leading the Minnesota conference in scoring with 66 points in six games. Gilbertson, St. Olaf flash, is third with 54. The Oles are tops in the Gopher league with straight wins, including one over Hamline which broke the Pipers 35-game winning streak on their home floor.

NYSTROM, Herkal, and Torgerson put on a swell exhibition of shooting at Stout at the beginning of the second half. Herkal shot four times, Nystrom twice, and Torgerson once before they missed from the floor. The Blue Devil fans just shook their heads. These seven buckets gave the Falcons the lead they held until the gun.

SOME of the intra-mural teams play good basketball for the little practice they get. Luchsinger, with Tom Rendler booting in long ones, has the jump on the teams at present, but will probably be dumped before long. There are so many teams that are just as good as the next that it's hard to pick a winner. Lampson's outfit still looks pretty good though.

River Falls Will Meet Superior

Fast-Stepping Falcons Seek A Second Victory From Whereatt's Team

River Falls will travel to Superior Friday seeking their sixth straight conference victory. The Yellowjackets have been bolstered by the return of "Ace" Matthews, after Roy Juel was declared ineligible, and will stake all in trying to dump the Falcons from the win column.

The Yellowjackets have played far from the usual style of Superior basketball and will attempt to turn the tables Friday night. Playing before a home crowd, the Whereatt team will undoubtedly prove to be the hardest step for the fast-stepping Falcons up to the present time.

River Falls will appear on the home court in the last two games of the season against LaCrosse on February 21, and Eau Claire on February 26.

Sixth Straight Win Chalked Up By Local Cagers In Close Game

The River Falls Teachers continued to hold their winning streak by setting back a determined group of Mac cagers 38-32 on the local floor last Thursday evening. This marked the sixth straight triumph for the Falcons and avenged the early season defeat suffered at the hands of the Macalaster team, 20 to 17.

Although playing a brand of ball below their accustomed stride, the Falcons stepped into the lead from the start and were never headed. The visitors, however, managed to tie the count three times in the final half. With six minutes to go the score was knotted at 29 all, but baskets by Larson, Herkal, and Nystrom with the latter tossing in a gift shot gave the Falcons a margin which they never relinquished.

Peters, the Mac center who led the visitors comeback, was high man with 14 points. Herkal was runner-up with a total of 12.

Debaters Tie for Second Place in Tournament

Winning 10 out of 14 debates, the Falcon delegation were tied for second place in the Red River Valley debate tournament which was held at Moorhead, Minnesota on February 7 and 8.

Seven rounds of debates were participated in by the two local teams, Werner Gleiter and Rolf Ordal, and Helen Hickey and Marion Hawkins. Both sides of the question were presented by each team in the course of the tournament.

A record of six victories and one defeat was built up by the Gleiter-Ordal combination; the Hawkins-Hickey team won four and lost three. The complete team record resulted in a tie with that achieved by Carleton College.

Masquers Discuss Plans For Formal and Three Plays

Three one-act plays which are to be given February 20 and the Masquers' annual formal were the chief points of discussion at the meeting of the college Masquers which was held last Thursday.

The date set for the formal is March 28. It was also decided that each member of the organization is entitled to two invitations.

Health Hints

Does every student know these facts about the Health Service in the college?

Every day from 11 a. m. to 12 m. Miss Irene McCourt is in the doctor's office on the first floor in South Hall. Miss McCourt is also at the training school building in North Hall from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., where she may be reached by a personal call or by phoning 305.

On Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 11 a. m. to 12 m. Dr. Chalmer Davee is in his office on the first floor of South Hall. At other times appointments with the doctor may be made through Miss McCourt.

The infirmary is located at 108 E. Cascade Avenue. The telephone number is 293. There is no charge for care in the infirmary for the first two days. After two days the patients are asked to pay seventy-five cents per day.

After illness every student should report for an examination before returning to classes.

If exposed to contagious diseases in any way, the student should be examined either by Dr. Davee or Miss McCourt.

If a student has a cold, sore throat, or a headache, he should report to Dr. Davee or Miss McCourt immediately.

He's Your Friend And Mine

Let us at this time pay homage to one of the old timers. He has devoted the better part of his life to working for this institution, and like many who perform their work faithfully, without talking about it, he is often forgotten.

If we were to do a personality sketch of him, we would say he is an amiable, easy-going, plodding sort of individual, and that one of his outstanding characteristics is his remarkable memory.

He is neither conservative nor radical on vital issues of the day, such as ear-muffs, because we noted when we last saw him that he was not wearing any. He declined to state his views on the New Deal or on River Falls' chances of winning the conference championship when interviewed, but merely shuffled his feet and wiggled an ear in his usual gesture of nervous unconcern.

We might say he is inclined to be a bit old-fashioned because he has little time for these stream-lined cars. He spends much of his time in walking about town.

Almost every student in school knows him, and there are many who affectionally call him by his first name. He does not resent such familiarity but welcomes each opportunity to become friends with students.

He has helped a goodly number of students who have had to work for their college education and has several times rescued frantic feature writers from their dilemma.

You don't know him? He is Bill, not the forgotten man, but the forgotten horse, who pulls the college farm milk wagon around.

Galen Kitner returned to school Tuesday after spending last week in practise teaching in the agriculture department at Barron.

View of Bible Is Discussed By Dr. John O. Thrush

"A Reasonable View of the Bible", was discussed by Dr. John O. Thrush and a group of eight persons who met at his home Monday evening.

"The Bible", said Dr. Thrush, "may be viewed as literature, history, or as a text book in political economy. But the real heart of the Bible is the development of the idea that there is but one God."

In discussing the use of the Bible, Dr. Thrush emphasized the perspective gained by possessing in the whole Bible a picture of God in action.

Campus Chatter

Anyone who enjoys a good laugh should have been around to watch Chesty Johnson write his sonnet. He just couldn't seem to get in the mood.

Maybe you think that some of the boys are wearing those ear muffs because of the cold weather? No, not at all. We have it very confidentially from one of them that it is to keep them from being tempted by all the girls calling to them.

Just think. If we hadn't won the revolutionary war, there wouldn't be any United States history to study. What a break that would be for some of us.

We noticed where some great psychologist said that all college teachers should be young and pretty. He said that this would stimulate the students to greater effort in their studies. We admit it might stimulate 'em, but not to study.

Some of the boys are starting to think that Simpson and Frye have a monopoly on these basketball boards. It seems that the team may win or lose, but Frye always wins.

And can you believe it. The night of the Hamline game there were four students studying in the library. Don't you think they ought to be blacklisted?

Masquers Give Two Plays At Assembly Last Week

"A Minuet" and "Poor Old Jim", two one-act plays, were presented by the college Masquers before the regular assembly Thursday, February 6.

These two plays, one a tragedy and the other a comedy, were contrasting in spirit. To "A Minuet" the audience gave silent attention. To "Poor Old Jim" they responded with peals of laughter.

In the tragedy, John Batty and Helen Kotts played the parts of the Marquis and the Marchioness. The Gaoler was played by John Bradley.

The cast for the comedy included Robert Stewart as Jim, Elizabeth Mason as Marie, and Frances Haugh as Paul, the doctor.
