Students Donate $400 During First Foundation Week

Approximately four hundred dollars were raised through pledges and donations received during Foundation Week, sponsored last week on the campus by the Fieldhouse Foundation committee. A complete sellout of 600 Foundation buttons helped to boost the total sum collected.

Featured during the week were the sales of the Foundation buttons, the sports exhibitions put on Wednesday night by the physical education minors and their directors, Miss Marilyn Markel, Phil Belfiori and Joe Hoy, and the dance on Friday evening at which Larry Eliot and his orchestra played.

Organizations which pledged or contributed money to the Fieldhouse Foundation during Foundation Week included: "R" Club, $100; Concert Band, $40; FFA, $43; Masquers, $10; Class of 1954, $25; CWA, $30. The Vets club has pledged one-third of the proceeds from their spring dance.

Gerhard Quartet Here Wednesday

Appearing in the next regularly scheduled concert and lecture series at River Falls State college will be the Ramona Gerhard Quartet. The performance is scheduled for Wednesday evening, March 19, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Gerhard, one of the best known pianists and organists in the area, brings with her Burt Hanson, tenor; Bob Bass, bongo drummer, and Ed Viehman, master of ceremonies. All four are widely known to Northwest radio listeners as featured entertainers on radio station WCCO.

Miss Gerhard has taken a cue from the trend in modern music and is being featured on the Hammond organ in both classical and popular vein.

1952 MELETEAN Sales To Begin on March 18

"MELETEAN" sales will begin on Tuesday, March 18, in the South Hall corridor, Arlene Pechacek, editor of the 1952 MELETEAN, has announced. The first subscription drive in January resulted in the sale of over 200 MELETEANS, and it is hoped that that number will be nearly doubled by the March sales.

Deadline for all material to be included in the 1952 MELETEAN is April 1, and Miss Pechacek has asked any organization president who has not already done so to turn in the write-up for his organization.

Pictured above is the River Falls State College Choir, which will be on tour from March 30 to April 1. The choir will present its spring concert in the auditorium April 3.

Magazine Praises English Program

River Falls' Language Arts program was praised in the February, 1952, issue of "Scholastic Teacher," a national teachers' magazine.

Francis Shoemaker, associate professor of education at the University of Wisconsin, in an article entitled "27 Aims of English" writes as follows.

"For administrators and teachers of teachers concerned with realistic preparation for the teaching of English today, it may be valuable to inspect the pioneer program in Communication Arts at Teachers College, Columbia University, and the Program in Language Arts recently developed at River Falls."

WAA Plans "Play Day" For High School Girls

Approximately 60 high school girls are expected on campus next Saturday, April 22, for the W.A.A. sponsored Play Day. Invitations have already been accepted by four high schools: The program is from 9:30 to 4 o'clock.

Registration is from 9:30 to 10 o'clock followed by competition in VBB, volleyball and swimming for the remainder of the morning. On the afternoon program are skits, relay competition and folk and square dancing. Closing the day's activities will be a coke hour in the new dorm. Carol Jones, W.A.A. president, is Play Day chairman.

Industrial Arts Shops Install New Equipment

The Industrial Arts Department has received and installed most of its $15,000 worth of new equipment.

The general shop received $4,000 worth, including lathes, shaper, jointer, bench saw, planer and a milling machine.

Three new electric welders and an acetylene welder were added to the farm shop. An exhaust system for the welding room has been installed.

A surveying student will have access to $2,500 worth of new and reconditioned equipment. They have new transits, a precision level and a planetable.

T. E. Thorsen, shop director, hopes to have all of the new equipment installed in the very near future.

Elaine Fick, Wayne Otto At Michigan Convention

Elaine Fick and Wayne Otto represented the local Eta Lambda chapter at the eighteenth biennial convocation of Kappa Delta Pi.

The Convocation was held at the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education on the campus of Michigan State College at East Lansing on March 6-8. Delegates were in attendance from most of the 176 chapters in the nation.

Florence E. Allen, Judge, U. S. Circuit Court, Cleveland, Ohio, presented the Annual Lecture, twenty-third in the Kappa Delta Pi Lecture Series—"The Treaty as an Instrument of Legislation." The local chapter has made tentative plans for initiation of new members on March 27.

1950 Rural Graduate Wins 4-H Trip to Europe

Dorothy Woodruff of Chippewa Falls, a 1950 rural graduate, has been awarded a six months trip to Europe. She won the trip by outstanding 4-H Club work and was chosen as one of three Wisconsin 4-H Club members to make the trip.

She plans to spend the greater part of her European visit in Switzerland, the Netherlands or Scotland, the three countries of her choice. She will leave for Europe in July and remain there until January, 1953.

Those on the European trip hope to learn the custom and practices of the countries they visit and, in turn, to acquaint Europeans with American ideas and ways.

"The Indian Captive," one of the ten most popular children's plays ever written is being presented by the college chapter of the Association for Childhood Education. The play is being directed by Dr. Blanche Davis with Miss Carrie Dorsey as technical director.

The play is based on an authentic historical incident of the capture by the Seneca Indians of a white girl, Eleanor Lytell. A colorful story is written around the Senecas, the pioneers, and Eleanor's complete adoption as an Indian.

Members of the cast include Jean Herald, Gen Olson, Melton Martinson, Beverly Jensen, Bill Tilsner, Norman Dahl, Mary Jane Haessly, Lois Swenson and Donna Sammons, all members of A.C.E. Also in the cast are two campus school children, David Knott and John Belisle.

I Warm So Easy So Dance Me Loose

by John Reque

Were it not for the fact that most of the lights were out and the scoreboard wasn't working, the scene at last Monday night's dance in the gym at about nine o'clock looked quite like a basketball game. Out on the floor were about five or six couples dancing, and up in the balcony were the spectators—not cheering, to be sure, but still far outnumbering those on the floor. It might be a good idea to keep the balcony locked during dances, so the couples dancing will feel less like sideshow freaks.

Just why do so many of the college dances begin at eight and end at twelve? No one ever comes until nine-thirty, and most of the kids who do go would prefer staying until one. True, dances held on school nights should not last too late, but those which take place on week-ends could conceivably be altered to begin and end one hour later.

Another matter perhaps justifying complaint about college dances is their small attendance. The social committee puts a lot of time into planning the dances and it does seem possible that more students could attend them. Maybe one reason why so few girls go to the dances is that they are horrified at the thought of going unescorted. But it is leap year, so attending a dance without a date could not really be called improper.

The girls do have a point in saying that the boys are too disinterested in dancing with them anyway. That is perhaps true—too few boys attend the college dances, and too many of those who do just sit and watch. But surely the feminine mind is capable of finding some means of getting these boys out on the dance floor. And are they aware of the fact that many boys at RFSC do not dance very well, and are shy about dancing in public? Perhaps dancing lessons (free, of course) might be a good idea to encourage and develop more activity on the part of the boys at college dances. At least, something is needed to promote a little more social life on the campus, especially with spring coming on—simply because new couples seen in the library or elsewhere make wonderful cafeteria conversation!

Senate Minutes

The Student Senate meeting of March 4 was called to order by President Jack Hanson. The secretary's minutes were read and approved.

The Senate discussed the promotion of the foundation drive to be held during the week of March 10-14. Senate members will give speeches in the Tuesday morning classes.

Reports on the Class Memorial plan were given. The plans were then presented to the class meetings. It was decided to send out postcard questionnaires to see if the students are in favor of the Memorial Plan. Duane Westerberg was appointed to have the postcards printed.

The Senate also discussed having light shields made for the lights in the gym during dances. The purpose of these light shields would be to add more color, distribute light more evenly, and prevent glare underneath the basketball bounding board. Motion was passed to give this idea to the social committee to investigate.

The meeting was adjourned.

Jean Allie, Secretary

Present at the meeting were Jack Hanson, Marge Deans, Duane Westerberg, Elaine Fick, Ivan Kittel, Bryant Wyman, Ernie Mosbaek, Roger Knief, and Jean Allie.

We would like to ask all students with any "gripes," ideas, or suggestions to attend our meetings. The next Senate meeting will be Tuesday, March 18, at 6 o'clock and will be held in the Knotty Pine Room.

Academic Freedom Is Great Issue--Take Your Stand

by Les Newville

"Salt Lake City, Utah, January 10—Addressing a 'call to conscience' to 1200 student leaders at 700 of the country's institutions of higher learning, a group of University undergraduates has proposed the formation of the American Association of University Students for Academic Freedom."

The above quotation, from the New York Times, illustrates the growing concern on the part of students to protect their rights. The purpose of the proposed association is to keep in touch with student leaders in order to bring to light specific cases where academic freedom is allegedly being violated.

The power of the press will be brought to bear against guilty culprits, be they mighty university presidents or humble college professors. But what is academic freedom? Definitions are plentiful, such as the following one contained in a speech by columnist-author Upton Close: "Professors are men who can't compete in the business world and protect their weakness in academic freedom. Academic freedom to them means freedom to think crooked."

To be more conservative, we might say that to be academically free professors are allowed to teach facts and opinions even though they may be contrary to public opinion, and students are permitted to listen, to read, to think as they wish, and draw their own conclusions.

In "Academic Freedom, What Does It Mean?" in the Feb. 24, 1952 issue of THE CATHOLIC STUDENT (U. of Minn.), the author says, "In Aristotelian logic, truth can only be had when a judgment is made, and if things are not presented to be judged, how will we ever arrive at truth?"

But Upton Close does not think that students are mature enough to make their own judgments. An ACP release says, "Regarding the speaker's 'gag' law at Ohio State, Close said, 'I would not trust the faculty as a whole. They have mischievous instincts and like to do sensational things. There should be a board of deans or selected older men of approved American instincts to make decisions as to who should speak. The average American is too confused to judge for himself.'"

Is academic freedom at stake? Of course, but any kind of freedom anywhere is always at stake. Take your stand and think not of the consequences. The cost of liberty is high.

Time for 'Gripes'

The ADVANCE, newspaper at Oshkosh State college, has nominated March as the "month for gripers and critics," and from the conversation in the library, cafeteria, and other places, it seems that March is the gripers' and critics' month at River Falls. The ADVANCE listed the chief subjects for complaint on its campus, and careful eavesdropping around the RFSC campus has produced this list.

Everybody got lousy grades for the winter term, including the honor roll students. Too many kids will make the honor roll and they don't deserve it. Too many kids are on probation and they don't deserve it, either. Nobody can find a parking place when they want one, and the sidewalks are full of water when it's warm and ice when it's cold.

The faculty says the students aren't doing enough work, and the students say the faculty is too hard on them. Today is St. Patrick's day and the Norwegians don't approve of the Irish wearing green, and the Irish think too many people are wearing orange. The basketball team didn't do so well, and the intramural team that won the tournament shouldn't have.

Not enough boys are invited down to the dorm, and not enough girls get asked out. Movies are not very good, and there aren't enough cafeteria dances. Milk is six cents and too many dishes get broken in the cafeteria. The jokes in the STUDENT VOICE are childish and the rest of it isn't so hot either. The Fieldhouse Foundation boosters didn't raise as much as they would have liked and the kids complain they get asked to buy too much.

So what? Spring will soon be here and then we can all lie out on the lawn and watch the cop chasing cars on Cascade and flip coins to see if we'll go to that three o'clock or not. Life gets tedious, doesn't it?

SCHOLASTIC ODE...

I think that I shall never see
A grade more lovely than a "B."
A "B" whose marks will let me rate
The points I need to graduate.
I need a "B"—this is no jest,
This is my mind's sweet flowing best,
So that by summer I may wear
A cap and gown, a cultured air.
Poems are made by fools they say,
But surely none can make an "A."
—Kansas State Collegian

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

There has been criticism in the past that the students here lack the college community spirit which is so apparent in many institutions of higher learning. River Falls students do not break home ties, and most of them go home every week-end; to them, college life is not a new cultural and social experience, but merely a slightly more complicated continuation of high school.

Those who do come to River Falls with the idea of making it their home while training for their future find that the odds are against them. For example, the school operates on a four and a half day week, and few events of importance are scheduled for week-ends.

Moreover (and this is my main reason in writing this letter), there is the problem of eating on Saturday and Sunday. The cafeteria offers Saturday breakfast and then leaves the hungry kids to shift for themselves until Monday morning. While they can eat downtown, the restaurants are frequently crowded and as a result everybody is inconvenienced.

There are two alternatives to this unfortunate problem: (1) let the students go hungry on week-ends, or (2) keep the cafeteria open.

It would sincerely be appreciated if the administration would give this their most serious consideration next time they have Sunday dinner together.

A HEALTH PRAYER FOR TEACHERS
(Found on the walls of an old cathedral in the little town of Chester, Cheshire County, England)

Give me a good digestion, Lord,
And also something to digest.
Give me a healthy body, Lord,
And sense to keep it at its best.

Give me a healthy mind, good Lord,
To keep the good and pure in sight
Which seeing sin is not appalled
But finds a way to set it right.

Give me a mind that is not bored,
That does not whimper, whine or sigh.
Don't let me worry overmuch
About the fussy thing called "I."

Give me a sense of humor, Lord,
Give me the grace to see a joke,
To get some happiness from life
And pass it on to other folk.
