Five Percent of Students Make Honor Roll

One Percent Make Straight A's; Students Eligible for Membership in Society

Twenty-eight students, or 5.4 per cent of the student body met the requirements of the Honor Roll during the first term of the year. One per cent have straight "A's".

The following students will be eligible to become members of the Honor society which will meet after the holiday vacation:

*Leroy E. Alexander, Ladysmith
Alice Bartosh, River Falls
Leroy Brown, Cumberland
*Elaine M. Brunner, Elmwood
*Theofil J. Cuhel, Ladysmith
John Dzubay, Clayton
Elaine Forsyth, River Falls
Marjorie Gallup, River Falls
Helen L. Glass, River Falls
Hazel N. Green, Minneapolis, Minn.
Ardelle M. Hamlett, River Falls
Alfred B. Herstrum, River Falls
*Helen M. Jenson, Hudson
*Helen C. Jorstad, Hammond
Eleanor Laurent, Thorpe
Alfred F. Mathiesen, Edgar
Henry Palm, Algoma
Donald A. Parish, Mondovi
Doris Pitzer, Barron
Evelyn Sias, New Richmond
Clarice O. Solum, Chetek
*Edna Mae Sutton, River Falls
Warren W. Sutton, River Falls
Raymond W. Swanson, Osceola
Raymond C. Wall, Hawkins
Rucille V. Wallin, Luck
Miriam Weed, River Falls
(* indicates straight A students).

Y. W. C. A. Invites Students To Social Room at Noon

Men and women of the college are invited by the Y. W. C. A. to come to the Social Room, South Hall, during the noon hour, twelve to twelve-thirty, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of the coming week.

Christmas carols will be sung. Virginia Anderson will furnish the piano accompaniment.

Methodist League Plans Sleigh-Ride

The Epworth League of the Methodist church has arranged a big sleigh-ride party that is to be followed by a social hour for next Monday evening at the church. The sleighs are scheduled to leave the church at 8:00 p. m. Those interested in the sleigh-ride make reservations with Harold Rasmussen immediately. A lunch will be served before the social hour at a very nominal cost. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these festivities.

G. O. P. Pledges Suffer Untold Agonies

The abysmal cruelty which has prevailed in the Oppression of 1932 will furnish the nucleus for many a hair-raising tale which the present G. O. P. pledges will tell to their grandchildren.

The occasion for this reign of terror is the G. O. P. pledge week, which began last Wednesday night. During this time the old "Gops" have preyed upon the innocent pledges with unrelenting ardor. They have held the members-to-be strictly to the initiation requirements, one of which calls for total abstinence from indulgence in dates, and another, for complete submission to the command of the "elders".

May each student of the River Falls Teachers College enter fully into the observance of this Christmas with a deeper realization of the significance of the day. Privation and hardship read a deeper meaning into our prayer "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men".

J. H. Ames

Girls to Have Christmas Party

Foreign Students From St. Catherines to Speak; Cara Wharton to Lead Singing

The annual all-girls Christmas party will be held in the girls' Social Room Sunday, December 18, at 3 p. m.

The features for the program are two foreign students from the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul. These students, Isabel Vinaz, from Peru and Gitta Tartia from Hungary, will speak on Christmas customs in their own country.

Miss Cara Wharton will lead the group in singing Christmas carols. They will also be some special musical numbers and the reading of the Christmas story.

The decorating committee is: Catherine Phillips, Doris Shella, Zona Martin, Maxine Olson, Ella Polgar, Josephine Roach, and Margaret McCabe.

The refreshment committee is: Frances Amundson, Rosella Paulson, Margaret Ford, Norma Hageman, and Maxine Larson.

Senior Men Must Get Excuses From Stratton

Dean C. G. Stratton announces that senior men will secure excuses from classes according to the old system in use before the experiment adopted in October 1932.

Dean Stratton states that the experiment was a failure in that it did not attain the ends it achieved.

The first term 1085 absences were reported to the dean's office, 566 of which were unexcused.

Henceforth, senior men will secure their excuses for absences from Dean Stratton as required of all men of the college.

Student Voice Staff to Enjoy Rest Next Week

Members of the Student Voice staff will enjoy a vacation next week. Our schedule calls for ten issues a term and it was decided at the meeting Monday night to omit the issue next week on account of vacation.

The next issue will be out Wednesday, January 11, 1933.

Student Voice Staff To Meet Wednesdays at 4

The Voice staff will meet Wednesday afternoon, January 4, at 4 o'clock in their room on fourth floor, North Hall. It is important that everyone be present to receive assignments and become acquainted with the new method of organization. There will be no meeting Monday evening, January 9.

Band Nite Club to be Presented Saturday

Band Nite Club will be opened 8:30 Saturday evening, December 17, in North Hall gym.

The gym will be decorated in a color scheme of black, gray and white. The orchestra will play from a snow cave.

Tables will be arranged on the outside of the dancing space. The first two rows of tables will be on reserve at ten cents per person. Reservations may be made at the band office with Mr. Rozehnal.

In addition to the elaborate floor show announced last week under the direction of Kenneth Ames, Herr Erlin Bergeman will lead his Little German Band composed of Leonard Dorman, Al Schultz, DeWilton Hillary, Howard Smith, and Chuck Weydt.

Arnie Kuss and His Royal Badgers will furnish music for dancing.

Refreshments will be served during the evening by the Y. W. C. A.

General admission at the door will be 25c.

David Johnston, band manager, is general chairman of Band Nite Club. Leonard Dorman has charge of ticket sales and Helen Glass, decorations.

Members of College Hall To Hold Pennant Sale

The girls who live at College Hall are sponsoring a pennant sale on Thursday at four o'clock in the lower hall of South Hall.

The pennants are red and white, all felt. They vary in size from two feet up.

The insignia of the college, Wisconsin, and R. F. S. T. C. are among the varieties to select from.

They vary in price from 35c to 75c. Revenue derived from the sale will be given to College Hall.

Committee Plans Reorganization

Administration of Student Voice Will be Conducted On a New System

The administration of the Student Voice staff is being studied by a committee of the Press club consisting of Ella Polgar, Nelle Roese and Anthony Runte. Their recommendations are to be the basis for the reorganization of the staff.

The recommendations were read by Miss Polgar, chairman of the committee, at the Press club meeting on Monday evening. Significant changes and recommendations were made with reference to the basis of the selection of the editor, the definite classification of department editors, reporters and make-up of the business staff. Specific duties were outlined and a minimum standard of work was tentatively stated.

A Wednesday afternoon meeting was agreed upon for a trial period. Assignments and make-up of the paper were to be handled by the department editors in collaboration with the editor-in-chief.

A provision for a wider range of experience for the individuals in various departments was studied and ways and means of recruiting new members to the staff came under consideration.

Y. M. and Y. W. to Hold Joint Meeting Tuesday

A joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. will be held Tuesday evening, December 20, at 7:00 in the college auditorium.

The Masquers will present a play, "Peace I Give Unto You". The cast includes Leslie Libakken, Ardelle Hamlett, Harold Rasmussen, Wayne Wilcox, and Carl Pflanz.

Music will be furnished by a double Y. M. and Y. W. quartet.

Debate Teams Continue "Round-Robin" on Taxes

The debate teams are continuing their "round-robin" on the tax question. Twelve debates are scheduled for the next three weeks. Coach Wyman will make the selections for the members of the first squad. The team will be announced in the issue of The Student Voice following the Christmas vacation.

College Music Department to Give Program

Varied Musical Program to be Presented at Assembly This Thursday

The program for assembly this week will be in charge of M. D. Geere and Miss Cara Wharton of the college music department.

The girls' chorus of forty members under the direction of Miss Wharton will present three numbers.

They are "Amaryllis", "Christmas Bells" and "Angels We Have Heard On High", an old French carol.

Helen Kotts and Ardelle Hamlett are accompanists for the chorus.

Five negro spirituals, a popular and melodious form of singing will be presented by the mixed acapella chorus. The following spirituals will be sung: "Deep River", "Couldn't Hear Nobody Praying", "Dig My Grave", "Roll, Jordan, Roll", and "I Want to be Ready".

Ardelle Hamlett is pianist for the chorus consisting of the following:

Marjorie Gallup, Dorothy Swenson, Genevieve Thompson, Gretna Waller, Marguerite Oberding, Mildred Chelgren, Joyce Heidbrink, Virgil Goldsmith, Phyllis Glass, Chester Cooke, Paul Malveg, John Dzubay, Royal Enloe, Paul McCulley, Glenn Gallup, Paul Strand, LeRoy Alexander, Omer Simpson, Harold Rasmussen, John Thompson.

Phyllis Glass will present the negro spiritual "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" as a violin solo accompanied by Ardelle Hamlett.

Miss Hamlett will play Dvorak's "Largo" from the New World Symphony as a piano solo.

Eight Masquers Journey to Hudson to Review Play

Eight Masquers including Miss Schlosser taxied to Hudson Monday evening to review George Arliss in "A Successful Calamity." This play will be presented by the Masquers in the college auditorium the latter part of January as the Agrifalian Benefit. Many points of technique were worked out in a most interesting manner by this scion of the legitimate stage. The reviewers feel assured they have profited much from the trip.

Lutheran Y. P. S. Giving Yule Party

The Lutheran House of Worship under the auspices of the Y. P. S. has arranged for its annual Christmas Party. Miss Dasher is scheduled to present a special reading. Besides that a lot of fun and eats will meet you at the Lutheran church Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. Gerhardt Tostrud, of the college, has charge of the party and insures everyone a good time.

Christmas Suggests Many Things to Students

There are holidays and holidays but nearly everyone prefers Christmas every time. Thanksgiving with its turkey and pumpkin pie and Easter with its bunnies and colored eggs can not compete with Christmas and what it brings. Christmas! What a word for a grammar student studying connotation! It brings visions predominantly green, red, and white--the green of fir trees, the white of lots of snow, and the red of bells, and wreaths, and tree decorations.

Christmas to the student promises a great deal---the abandoning of books and lessons, going home for twelve or thirteen days, seeing friends and relatives, and getting entirely away from all that even hints of school. It promises sleigh ride parties, skating, skiing, tobogganing, friends, and Christmas programs at the schools. It promises nuts galore, candy, cake, and other good things to eat. In fact, everything that the word Christmas suggests is good.

Christmas is a time to forget one's griefs and worries and animosities, the time to be happy and to make others happy. If that ideal is carried out, depression or no depression, we'll all have a Merry Christmas anyway.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you from the staff

Who's Involved?

CAN there be more than this one legitimate (legitimate, for lack of a better term) reason or excuse for cheating in exams and other school work? An individual may cheat if he lives in a society where the rule of "survival of the fittest" is not modified in the least because self preservation demands it.

Even belief in such a reason and the following of it would bring an individual into trouble because the weaker would be dealt with very harshly as soon as it was found out by the stronger that some trick was played on him. Since our society is different from the type just mentioned, a little investigation of some of the phases and consequences of cheating may prove both interesting and challenging.

No one questions, I am sure, the fact that the individual who cheats in daily classwork, quizzes, or term tests is playing the game unfairly. He is taking unjust advantage of his neighbor. This neighbor may even be a close friend, for the normal curve as a means of grading according to the type of test ordinarily given, favors the individual who cheats and gets away with it. Sometimes he may not rate as well on a test as the cheater and in that way would be unjustly getting a lower mark (in recognition of his work) than the individual who was dishonest.

Besides playing unfair with his fellow classmates, that individual is laying a poor foundation for his life out of school. He will be handicapped because (unless he was just extraordinarily lazy) his background will be very poor. He will have to resort to bluffing, until energy in great quantities will be used up for that kind of activity.

Would not this be a good question for an individual inclined toward cheating to ask himself: "How would I like to work against just such a disadvantage as I am placing the other fellow at? Would I like to be treated the way I am treating my neighbor?"

Since we live in a very interdependent society, and since we are not through with life after our courses in school are finished, why wouldn't it be sensible to think of the other fellow before resorting to dishonest measures to make an apparent good showing for self? J. D.

Teachers

WE have heard many persons say, "Miss or Mr. So and So is a good or poor teacher." The remarks have caused me to wonder about the meaning of the word "Teacher". In all probability we will find as many definitions of the word as there are people to define it.

To some a teacher is one who sees to it that their children receive a high grade and thus pass on to the next year. To others a teacher is one who never reprimands or scolds their children and thus avoids the unpleasantness that such an occasion may bring. To some a teacher is one who is strict, or one who is lenient, while to others she is seemingly a public nuisance, sitting on a chair from 8:30 till 3:30, drawing a salary which she never earns. Thus one could continue indefinitely defining and outlining different ideas concerning the teacher. Experience and observation has shown that the less we know about a certain business the more able we seem to discuss that particular business.

Now what or who is a teacher?

I think a teacher is one who takes the boy or girl where she finds them in their educational, moral, mental and physical development and using these, unravels, unfolds and adds to their present fund of knowledge. A teacher is one who accepts the boys or girls, who are sent to her and then works day after day and plans night after night to add to their experiences so as to bring about mental development. Thus the teacher faces the task of developing strong minds, dull minds, willing workers, rebellious workers, as well as planning a restraint upon them that has never been exercised. A teacher is one who can and does arouse the will, causes an ambition to stir the heart, awakens the soul, creates a greater hunger for things unknown and can secure action, which will bring the craving for some definite accomplishment. P. B. H.

A Change Is Needed

IMAGINE one fellow killing enough does and fawns to supply a crew of seven with one deer each. Isn't there something wrong with the game law in regard to deer hunting, or are the hunters entirely the cause of the slaughter of deer. Of course, we realize that some hunters are so enthralled with the hunting fever that whatever moves must be shot. If this isn't true, account for the unusual amount of humans killed this year while deer hunting.

If the game law would prohibit deer hunting for about three years, then have a two weeks period in which every deer that was shot may be taken legally, wouldn't there be less deer actually slaughtered? Every hunter who returns bemoans the fact that so many does and fawns have been killed and left. If the law expects everyone who has shot a doe to report his misdeed, it can expect everyone who has murdered a human to confess also. D. E. T.

Student Opinion

What this school needs is someone to keep the clocks regulated to coincide with central standard time.

We leave home at 7:40 and get here at 8:05. This is a result of unregulated clocks. We don't relish the icy glare of the pros, especially some of them.

Why cannot we all have the right time, and run on schedule instead of having the school clocks vary from ten to twenty minutes each day.

If everyone would practice what he preaches, probably very rash statements would not be seen in our Student Voice. Last week in the Inquiring Reporter's column someone said that the social room is a place for loafers to spend their spare time and it is a breeder of low grades. Nevertheless it has been noticed that the writer of this opinion of the social room was a constant visitor of the social room last year, and this year he too is frequently seen in it. K. McD.

Students carrying their lunches should be permitted to have a room fit to eat in as well as the people eating in the cafe. Anyone familiar with the atmosphere in a locker room will admit that it is not a fit place to eat a meal. This room necessitates people going to their lockers while others are eating. This raises dust from the floors making the meal hardly more palatable.

Why not provide a portion of the cafe for the lunch carriers and give them a chance to enjoy their mid-day meal? R.E.

What this institution needs is a good skating rink. Many of the students especially refrain from exercising these brisk winter days because the convenience of attaining the kind of exercise they want is not available. Wouldn't everyone enjoy an hours exercise on these bright crisp nights before settling down to a few hours of conscientious studying?

Did you ever hear of more cruelty to poor innocent animals? A New Richmond "crack-shot" shot a complete round from a repeater for the sport of killing one harmless cottontail. In another case a Neillsville lad said, upon receiving the good news that he got a B average in his term's work, "Here's where I go hunting?" He too had to satisfy his desire for pleasure by making nature's gift of animals suffer. Did you ever hear of such cruelty in civilized races? C. K.

Since when are the River Falls students Eskimos? By the amount of heat in the library some of us are wondering if we are expected to harden ourselves into enduring what the inhabitants of our northern possession have become accustomed to. If the library "freeze out" is a diplomatic method of getting the surplus wool off the market, we as economists in applying the law of supply and demand are expecting the price of coal to drop. In other words we want more heat in the library. D. E. T.

The editorial by D. P. in last week's Voice was an evidence that some one is thinking. If other people who think for, or against, this vital problem and set their thoughts down in writing it might encourage others to do what they know is right. The recent striking example of how the innocent must suffer with the guilty in this cheating problem should open some peoples eyes. It makes me disgusted to think that we, who are to be teachers should have to fall to such a level. J. W. T.

Now that we're all getting our pictures taken for the 1933 Meletean why not put in a few 1933 photographs of the faculty? Are our pros afraid they have lost some of their charms with the passing of the years, or are they loath to part with the one buck necessary for the new picture? At any rate we are sure that the student body would appreciate likenesses "as is" and not "as were".

New Books Worth Reading

Edited by the Shakespeare Head Press in four volumes, "The Brontes, Their Lives, Friendships and Correspondence", is a thorough treatment of practically every known detail about the sisters. Included in this biography are facts concerning the family life in the Brontë home--facts about the brother who in the later years of his short life took to drink and drugs--facts about the disreputable father and mother.

Occupied during their earlier years with the drudgery of domestic life, teaching in utterly uncongenial surroundings the strange (to them) little children, the sisters managed,

THE BRONTES; Their Lives, Friendships and Correspondence
T. J. Wise and J. A. Symington

however, to live and write in an entirely different world of their own. Would the brother, who was weaker in character than the girls of the family, have been a genius also had he been given a chance?

The girls were governesses-- then the only position open to women. This was the very last one into which they should have entered, for none of them had had any childhood. They were over-sensitive and naturally saw things through prejudiced eyes.

The Bronte enthusiasts will enjoy every word of the four volumes. They are well worth any one's reading them.

Have You Read . . . .

The fact that winter is here to stay for awhile seems to be definitely established. We are compelled to give up picnics and tennis, but there are substitutes that do very well. In the December issue of Recreation is a well written article called With Nature in Winter that is as good as some of John Burrough's works about nature.

Stuart Chase given an "impolite survey" of Government Economy in the December number of Scribner's magazine. Mr. Chase, as we know him, is a vigorous opponent of waste, and yet he views a program of rigid government economy with critical suspicion. Find out the answer to "why?" in this article. You might try a dose of Mr. Chase's book Your Money's Worth too.

The Journal of Education contains a fine article by Anson W. Belding entitled Next to the Teacher, Books. Much has been said about the proposed reductions in the cost of public school education. Belding says more. He thinks books are absolutely necessary as a supplement to good teaching, and yet they have been "crowded into a small corner of the educational system". "Books", he says, "have been a convenient plaything for the politician and the demagogue; and so we have a large percentage of our school children using soiled and worn books." What's to be done about it?

"Do you know her to speak to?"
"No, only to talk about."

Falcons Drop Second Game To Macalaster

One of the Fastest Games on the Local Floor; Smith and Pederson Star for Macs

The Falcons dropped a second game to Macalaster Tuesday night 53-41. The local team was completely demoralized in the first half under a deluge of baskets from all parts of the floor. A faster exhibition of basketball has never been seen on the local floor. Smith, the flashy Mac forward, and Pederson, Mac center, broke for the basket so swiftly that many times there was no one near them as they sank their shots. Kuss did practically all the scoring for the Falcons during the first half which ended with Macalaster leading 35-18. The second period started just the reverse with the Falcons sinking six baskets before Macalaster got started. The Falcons presented a much better defense and out-scored their opponents 23-18. With six minutes left to play the score stood 33-39. This was as close as the Falcons could come to even the score. The game ended with both teams playing good ball. Kuss and Morrow again led the Falcons offensively with "Bud" Mack also turning in a creditable game.

My Daily Diary . . . .

December 2--Exams all finished. My brain has never suffered so much pain before. My head is still in a whirl. Now to wait and pick out the few students with a straight "A" average. My inferiority complex is holding me back. Matinee dance very enjoyable. Orchestra still retains its pep.

December 3--It was Saturday all day. Some called it a day for recuperation; others a day of worry. This was a day of work for me. Slept while the Army defeated the Navy. Feeling a bit disgusted I hurried off to bed and sobbed myself to sleep.

December 5--Registration day. Got rid of plenty of cash. Kept running hither and thither trying to get things straightened out. Saw a few disappointed faces--then it dawned on me that some of the marks were posted. That prison party I attended was oke but for one thing--there was no solitary confinement cell for the co-ed prisoners. Couldn't get a word in edge wise.

December 6--All set for a bigger and better new term. Attended first class of term. Talked about media of exchange which proves that prosperity is in sight. It was here yesterday when all the students donated $14 to a worthy cause.

December 8--Cold weather struck today. Even some of these hard-boiled and thin-clothed students felt the old boy Jack Frost take a nip at their nose and ears. Saw some co-eds pushing their frozen breath out of the way to get by. It was an ideal day for a picnic along the Kinnickinnic! The boys lost their first game to Macalaster. The score was large and so was the gym. Had a swell dish of chicken chow mein. Lost appetite with three-fourths of dish left. Then home and in bed shortly before the breaking dawn.

Simp: I hear you own an auto.
Joe: Well, in partnership with the motor car company.

In Shots By Vern

In the game against the Oles the team showed a marked improvement in their ball handling and pass defense. "Bud" Mack, Capt. Kuss, and Morrow, were the point getters and did they get them. River Falls led at the half time 19-6.

Coach Cowles is to be congratulated on the splendid work he is doing with this year's team. If he thinks a man has any ability, or promise as a basketball player, he will bring it out. The men have a lot of faith in him and what he knows about basketball.

The Tuesday before the Mac game Cowles selected two teams, the Reds and Whites, to give the public a chance to see the prospects for a winning team this year. The Red team was composed of St. Peter and Heiting, forwards; Lampson, center; Godfrey and McChesney, guards. The White team was composed of Cpts. Kuss, Morrow, and Mattson in the forward wall, with Haberman and Woodward at the guards. Five other men were also used on each team. They were Mack, Schnieder, Braun, Nolde and Hill. The Whites won, but only after substitutions had been made which either strengthened or weakened each of the teams.

In a preliminary to the St. Olaf game, Woodward's West Side Rats played Clafin's East Side Skunks in a bitter battle--between the coaches.

Some one should tell McChesney and Heiting what that stuff is that looks like straw in chow mein. Boy, oh, boy! Did those men ever eat chow mein. Three orders a piece after the Mac game.

During the St. Olaf game, a River Falls co-ed was cheering lustily for every move the St. Olaf team made. Whenever St. Olaf made a basket she could be heard all over the gym with her shouts of joy. Whenever they failed her moans could be heard to the far corners of North Hall. I ask you isn't that the old River Falls spirit? I wonder who received the most enjoyment, she, or those setting around her.

Helixon's Frosh played Bud Manion's five last Friday afternoon in an informal scrimmage with the college men having the edge on scoring. This boy Kules looks good at forward. There are many other promising men such as Baker, Litsinger, Holman, Linehan, who will furnish good material for future Falcon teams.

Have you noticed how many of the campus shiks are wearing these new brown hunting caps. Boys, I'm telling you they're the rage and they keep the head and ears warm. If you don't believe me ask a man who owns one.

I see where LaCrosse only lost by 40-38 to Gustavus last Thursday night on the Gusties floor. Led by Novak, the Maroons showed plenty of class

"Bud" Manion's Five Meets Farrell's Colored Quintet

Coach Manion's high school quintet will meet "Bosco" Farrell's Red Wing squad in the River Falls gymnasium Friday, December 16 at 8:15. Preliminary game at 7:00 between the River Falls junior high school and the Roberts junior high school.

"Bosco's" regular squad is made up entirely of colored boys who can actually play ball. He promises a real game. See the colored team play the River Falls high school team Friday night.

and they are another of the Falcon's tough opponents.

Because of the ten second rule this year we are going to see plenty of scoring in the games. In the games played by most colleges and high schools which have adopted the ten second rule the scores have been up in the thirties and forties. In the two games that the Falcons have played to date, they have scored 34 points in each game. This goes to show that teams will now get the ball down the floor faster and try to make baskets quicker than they have been doing.

Well folks, we lost one and won one. The Macs taking our measure 43-34 and St. Olaf losing 34-23 to us. In the game against Macalaster a total of 27 personal fouls was called on both teams. River Falls missed 18 free throws in the game and 10 in the St. Olaf game which means that the team will concentrate on the foul line a little more.

Kuss was the Falls' big gun in the Mac game. Loose ball handling, and relaxing on the defense was probably the cause for defeat on the Mac floor. But taking all into consideration, with only a week's practice and that being the first game, it wasn't such a bad game to watch from a spectator's standpoint. At times the team showed flashes of power and speed which means "bad medicine" for the future opponents.

"How did you come out with that flagpole-sitting contest?"

"It was a failure. I tried to do it in Chicago and the pole was shot out from under my before I could get a good start."

Out of Bounds

Basketball fans had a chance last Friday night to observe the effect of the new ten second rule intended to keep teams which have a lead of a few points from stalling in the back court. This rule not only prevents stalling but also tends to speed up the game in general and thereby gives spectators their money's worth. There is this about the rule however; on a small court, the concentration of ten men on one-half of the floor tends to make personal fouling more consistent. Smooth passing combinations will also become a thing of the past. In the game last Friday night this rule was violated 6 times. There was also an excess of body contact.

On January 12, the Falcons meet their first conference foe at Eau Claire. This game will probably be the easiest on the conference schedule. On January 13 they play Milwaukee at Milwaukee. On the 20th they play La Crosse here, and on the 27th Stout at Menomonie. The Stout and La Crosse games will determine just how far the boys will go in the conference race. Coach Johnson of La Crosse has built up a powerful quintet around Novak, star La Crosse center. The Maroons lost their opener to Gustavus Adolphus 38-40. Novak scored 16 of the total 38 points scored by his team. La Crosse won the conference title last year with a percentage of 800, and must be considered as a serious contender for honors again this year. River Falls and Stout were the only two teams to defeat La Crosse last year.

Coach Burbridge has a veteran team back at Stout. The Blue Devils won their first two non-conference games against St. Paul Luther and Concordia College of St. Paul easily and will be in top shape when they meet the Falcons.

Joe: That girl doesn't seem to be very intelligent.

Harry: No, she didn't pay any attention to me either.

Y.M.C.A. Gives Christmas Party for Junior High Boys

More than a hundred boys from the fifth, sixth, seventh and the eighth grades of the high school and training school will be guests of the college Y. M. C. A. at a Christmas party Thursday evening, December 15, from 7:00 to 9:00.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. are urged to be present to help entertain the boys. The evening will be spent in playing games in which everyone will participate. Refreshments will be served.

This is one of the special projects of the community service committee directed by William Jueds. Other members of his committee are: Dee Daily, Lloyd Wilson, Woodrow Burgner, Leslie Libakken, Walter Klanderman, Ed Warwick, Oral Clafin, and Carl Neitzke.

The social party of the evening is being organized by Lawrence Junchen and his committee composed of Jack Pitzer, Phillip Chase, Carl Lawrence, Earl Bartosh, Lloyd Wilson, Phillip Newman, Marshal Thompson, Robert Godfrey, William Lover, Anthony Runte, and Phillip Svec.

G. O. P.

The G. O. P. held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in the social room. An interesting program was given consisting of a reading by Alice Lund and a duet by Dorothy Swenson and Joyce Heidbrink. The new members were invited to this meeting. After the program the new members were divided into three groups, each division giving an original stunt.

After the refreshments were served, a short business meeting was held. The discussion centered about a date for the G. O. P. formal.

A special meeting will be held in the social room next Wednesday. All new members are to be in charge of the meeting and will serve refreshments. Pledge week ends next Wednesday. Those pledges who have obeyed all instructions during the week will be admitted as members of the organization. The following is a list of the new candidates:

Elinor Bly, Frances Amundson, Lois Bragstad, Elaine Brunner, Margaret Ford, Helen Knutson, Imelda Farrel, Lorraine Howe, Dorothy Mather, Laddie McDermott, Miriam Weed, Catherine Phillips, Doris Shella, Evelyn Sias, Mildred Stevenson, Helen Stewart, Leona Weber, and Adele Williamson.

Why can't the G. O. P. rooters at the basketball games advertise their flaming "Jolietts" as Ole Clafin and his cowpunchers advertise their "Romeos"?

We admit, Platt, that you were fortunate but why lead the lady across the basketball floor and make the rest of the men envious.

Doesn't the Social Committee know that the depression is over? Kenneth Hanna was unable to get up Saturday morning due to overworked muscles in his legs caused by the sticky floor in South Hall gym. Moral-wax the floor.

"Hank" Sather says that even if the sun does set two hours later in California than it does here, he can't see why they can't start the football games on time. It is understood that he started to tune in the game Saturday at 2 p. m. central standard time.

Training School Notes

Wednesday morning the entire training school from the children in the pre-first to the members of the junior high school will gather around a beautifully decorated Christmas tree to sing carols. The smaller ones will assemble on the first floor and those in the intermediate grades will join them coming down the north steps singing "Joy to the World". Those in the junior high school will come down the south steps singing the same song. They will then all sing a number of Christmas carols and repeat the Christmas story together.

There are to be small Christmas trees in each room and one larger one in the hall on each floor.

Christmas is universally regarded as the giving season and also the time for doing which is the surest receipt for happiness and contentment. The children are being thus instilled by making gifts for others and wrapping them.

W. A. A.

The W. A. A. old members had a short meeting at 4 p. m. Thursday in Miss Branstad's office. Final plans for a party for the new members were made. The problem of financing the eats was discussed and decided that each member contribute twenty cents. A lunch committee was chosen and the meeting adjourned.

The soccer tournament will be held Tuesday and Thursday, and the soccer season will close Thursday night. After the vacation basketball will be played.

Four Agricultural Seniors Are Practice Teaching

Practice teaching has begun in earnest fashion in the agricultural department the past week. Raymond Wall is teaching the animal husbandry class and Everett Jacobson the crops class at the local high school. Their teaching will be finished the week after the Christmas recess. As soon as Wall finishes teaching at the high school, he plans to go to the Dunn county agriculture school to practice teach for three weeks.

Oral Clafin and Clifton Wick are teaching at the shops. They have charge of the high school mechanics class. They will finish their work in the middle of January.
