VOLUME XL, NUMBER 10

Dopkins, Helmer

Win Third in Debate

After winning a round from Wisconsin winter, the college debate team made it through to participate Friday in Eau Claire's Ninth Annual Speech meet. The team of Heather Dopkins and Margaret Helmer won third place in debate in the "A" division winning four out of five with a point total of 77.

The team had planned to arrive in Eau Claire early Friday morning but blizzard conditions and drifting snow halted the first group to leave at Hammond. Returning to River Falls, they and other members of the debate squad had breakfast together and set out once again. This time they made it, but because of delay missed the extempore speaking, folk tale telling, and original oratory sections.

Also entered in the "A" division were Louise Thompson and Royal Fraedrich who, while they lost each of their debates, amassed a total of 67 points. Eau Claire was winner of the "A" Division and of the Sweepstakes.

In the "B" division, Bill Schoenwetter and Halbert Belt, in their first debate meet, won three out of five with a total of 68 points. Audrey Ausen and Annette Peterson won two and lost three with 57 points.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

As part of "Brotherhood Week," the films "Picture of Your Mind" and "Newspaper Story" are being shown to all college freshmen this morning in the auditorium. The showing will be at 11 o'clock.

"Brotherhood Week" is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. In a statement concerning "the kind of people we are," the organization says, "America is strong and great because many people of diverse religious, nationality and racial backgrounds have come to our shores to establish homes, bearing distinctive contributions to the nation. The ideals of American society, if not always its practices, support the view that both individual and group differences constitute an important characteristic of a democracy."

Exposition Press Publishes 'Clouds of Time,' by Nancy Knaak

A small volume of poetry with a scarlet jacket called "Clouds of Time" has just become the latest book-by-a-River-Falls-faculty-member. The poetry is written by Miss Nancy Katherine Knaak, resident dorm counselor, and was published by Exposition Press on Saturday.

Nancy Katherine Knaak

Registration March 2, 3, 4

Registrar E. J. Prucha has announced that pre-registration for the Spring term will be on March 2, 3, and 4. Fees are to be paid March 9 and 10. The Spring quarter will open March 11.

"Clouds of Time" is Miss Knaak's first book, "and perhaps my last," she said. The poems were written over the last four years and are her favorites from a large collection.

"I'm still writing poetry," said Miss Knaak, "but looking after 87 girls at the dorm slows me down somewhat." This is Miss Knaak's first year on the River Falls faculty. She is from Evanston, Illinois, and received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Northwestern University.

"The special quality of Nancy Katherine Knaak's work is its distinct clarity and sensitivity," says her publisher, Exposition Press. "This is modern poetry in the best sense of the word: clear, sharp, and concise, with the classical tone that is part of the contemporary climate."

Until arrangements have been made to sell "Clouds of Time" in River Falls, Miss Knaak has agreed to sell the few copies she has on hand to anyone who wants one. She will also autograph them. Copies of "Clouds of Time" sell for two dollars.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ATTEND 'MACBETH'

More than 800 high school students attended the performances of Macbeth at the college auditorium. More than 400 attended the Thursday night performance. Barron high school sent ninety-nine students. The other schools represented were Chetek, Siren, Roberts Grantsburg, Glenwood, Ellsworth, Spring Valley, Red Wing, River Falls and Turtle Lake.

Despite the snow Thursday evening, more than 300 high school students managed to arrive in time for that night's performance. Somerset led the representation with 65 students. The other schools that attended were Durand, Hammond, Menomonie, Luck, Somerset, River Falls, Prescott, Maiden Rock, Milltown, and Hudson.

Cokes were served to the students following the play in the men's lounge of North Hall.

Talent Show Winners To be Heard on Radio

Winners of the F.F.A. Talent Show will be featured on the third weekly college radio program over Station KAAA, Red Wing, Wednesday at 1.30.

Jenny Sue Garnett, first prize winner in the Talent Show with her dance interpretation of "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" will be interviewed by Gayle Moen, who is serving as announcer for the college radio series. Others on the program will be pianist Dick Ellis, vocal soloist Jeannine Davison, and the "Dixieland Band," whose members include Joan Grandinetti, Paul Willink, Don Nelson, Bill Bittner, Wayne Gaulke and Doug Young.

The River Falls a cappella choir presented the second program of the KAAA series on Wednesday, February 18.

C.W.A. to Present Program at Oshkosh

The College Womens Association will be represented at the Women's Student Government Association being held at Oshkosh State College on March 7.

River Falls will be in charge of the program. They have chosen as their basic theme "Women in Modern Society." Skits will be presented by the delegation from River Falls and a panel will be presented with Dr. Lipp as moderator on the subject of current campus problems.

Any women students wishing to attend should contact Dr. Lipp immediately about transportation.

Several special numbers are also included in the concert. Howard Elliott, director of the Chippewa Falls high school band, will be a guest conductor. Mr. Elliott will direct one of his own compositions, "The Cardinal Suite".

Two student directors from the band will also help out in the concert. June Clark will direct a march, "Crusade For Freedom". Don Nelson will then lead the band in selections from "Finian's Rainbow".

Several features and solos have also been included in the concert. One of the numbers will be Ravel's famous "Bolero," arranged as a Trio for Cornets, accompanied by the band. Robert Strain, Gerald Foth, and Vic Kruezigler will be the cornetists.

Another soloist, with band accompaniment, is Miss Joan Grandinetti. Miss Grandinetti will play a piano solo "Warsaw Concerto".

There will be no admission charge but a free will collection will be made to help pay for band uniforms. Don't forget to reserve Thursday evening, February 26th, for your attendance of the Band Concert.

The complete program follows:

1. Marcho Poco, a concert March by Donald Moore
2. William Tell, overture by Rossini
3. March of the Little Leaden Soldiers by Pierne

PARKING ILLEGALLY?

CALL FOR YOUR TICKET

Have you encountered the tire slasher and the fender bender yet? No one's seen them, but they operate on cars illegally parked on the South Hall campus, and they're sanctioned by the local omnipotent imposer of traffic fines for illegal parkers.

The following cars became subject to tags and fines for illegal parking on the South Hall drive last week: a 1936 Chevrolet gray sedan, with last year's Arkansas license plates; a 1951 Ford Victoria, two-tone gray; a 1952 dark blue Chevrolet sedan; a 1941 blue Dodge coupe, with dealer's license plates; a 1951 black two-door Ford; and a 1949 green three-hole Buick sedan. There were others too numerous to mention.

A decree has been handed down by the fine imposer that further flagrant violations of the law will be dealt with severely by the State Highway Patrol.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Green, New Richmond, were crowned king and queen of the annual Valentine Formal Saturday night by Rita Ruemmele, CWA president. The Greens were chosen to reign when their numbered ticket was drawn from the Valentine box. About 85 couples attended the dance.

Critic's Corner

By Stratton Martin

Shakespeare probably stopped spinning in his grave for three whole nights last week to lurk in the wings and add his "Bravo" to spinning in his grave for three presentations of "Macbeth."

Although typically Mid-western in its restraint, the applause was sincere and the comments enthusiastic, for whether you wear your hair long or short "Macbeth" was a good show. Under the daring and imaginative direction of Dr. Blanche Davis, the play raced with gathering dramatic tension through all of its twenty-five scenes in only two hours.

For total effect the Thursday performance was the most consistent. Accustomed by the movies to technical excellence, the audience took for granted the professional discipline with which the stage crew, for the most part new to the job, changed scenes not only in a matter of seconds but in blackout and complete silence. The background music by Ramey intensified this cinematic continuity.

The lighting effects were professional. A spotlight or two might have added variety but we understand they cost money—which the college crowd seems to be saving for TV sets. The colors of the costumes, mainly brilliant and primary, against the grand starkness of the scenery underlined the mood of the action and pointed up the characters.

The two portrayals of Lady Macbeth by Dorothy Binkowski and Betty Wiskerchen were equal in intelligent interpretation and emotional depth. They were so good one is tempted to draw comparison with professionals. Only then does one realize, and this applies to Macbeth also, that the range of emotion shown was extremely limited. The "infinite varieties" possible in almost every scene were only hinted at. To those who, from the initial competence of the three main actors, expected most subtlety and depth this sameness was disappointing.

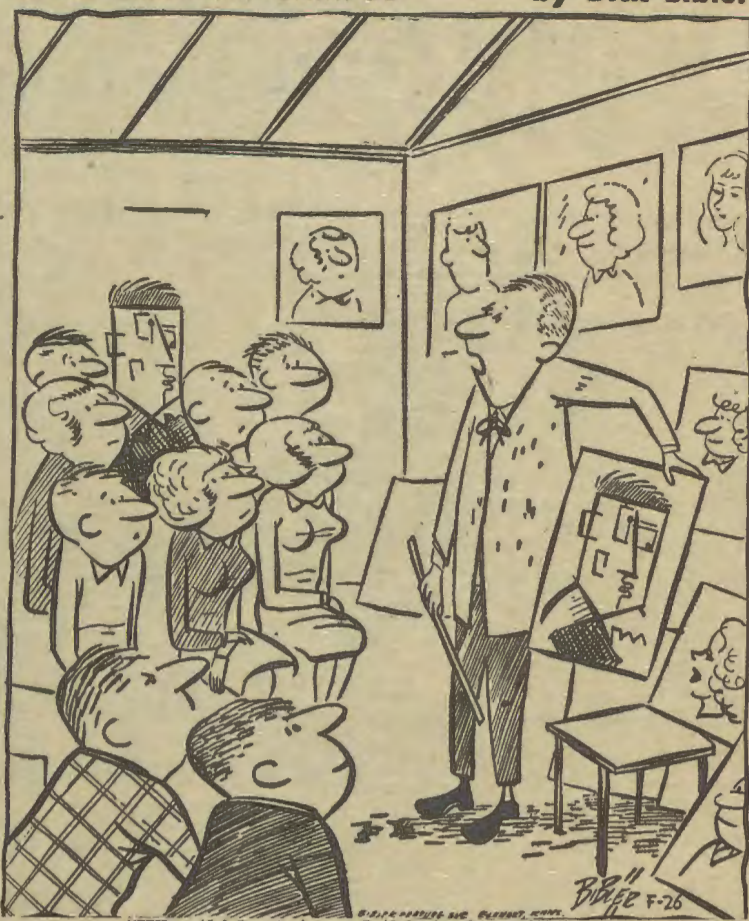

The gradual development of Macbeth from an upright if ambitious general to the anguished and embittered villain would have had more power had not Lee Parker's voice been so full of torment right from Scene I. Similarly, both Miss Wiskerchen and Miss Binkowski, failed to show those flashes of womanly tenderness which would have made more understandable the utter remorse of the sleepwalking scene.

But this is carping. The high school audiences were evidently hit in the solar plexus by the dramatic power of all the Macbeth family. (Disregarding a mild case of hysteria next to her, the girl behind us sighed as Lady Macbeth trailed up the stairs, "Boy she shoulda been an actress." We refrained from hissing back at her, "Whaddya think she is, kid!")

The supporting cast, so often flies in the ointment in amateur productions, forgot the unrewarding nature of their roles and turned out, almost to a man, excellent performances. Particularly responsible for the audience's easy understanding of events were the clear articulation and intelligent intonation of John Bos and Orlan Larson.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"Who th' heck turned this in for criticism?"

Neals and Cerello Entertain Each Other Before Concert

(By Jim Cerello)

Frigid weather, slippery highways, a slashed tire, and the gross inconveniences which occur in travel didn't delay the arrival at RFSC of Nelson and Neal, duo-pianists, by more than a few hours on February 12.

Arriving four hours behind schedule on a below-zero afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Neal were met at the main door of North Hall by this reporter, doubling as the Campus Welcoming Committee in the absence of any other greeters. Six husky college men were there to help the Neals unload their big black Baldwin pianos from their specially-built Chevrolet truck. The Neals were somewhat tired, having played two concerts the day before and repaired a tire slashed by barbed wire while on their way to River Falls. Their pianos were placed on the stage as soon as the construction crew working on "Macbeth" had cleared it.

After brief introductions to a couple faculty members the Neals were entertained to coffee and pie in the cafeteria by their host. Mrs. Neal, wearing a mouton coat and a fez-shaped embroidered hat, said she felt somewhat conspicuous in the cafeteria. Mr. Neal wearing a long leather greatcoat and a black turtleneck sweater, told her to ignore the stares. This reporter concurred with Mr. Neal and said goggling at new faces on this campus is quite customary and is considered proper etiquette.

The Neals spent the rest of the afternoon in North Hall, after first parking their truck near the dormitory, where they stayed that night. Mrs. Neal showed this interviewer the truck, the back of which is furnished as a small living room, with a gray shag rug, red and gold sectional sofa, yellow curtains, and several watercolors. While Mrs. Neal tuned the two pianos in preparation for the evening concert, Mr. Neal typed letters in the registrar's office on RFSC stationery. Mrs. Neal explained certain techniques in piano tuning to this reporter and played briefly for him. He in turn played briefly for her.

The piano tuning and letter writing over, the Neals entertained ours truly to a braised-beef supper in the cafeteria. They showed him a picture of their newly-purchased Southern style home in Tennessee. The Neals said they hadn't run into much bad weather in the Upper Midwest as yet, but were expecting to before their tour ended in mid-March. They will tour Florida this summer.

After a short rest at the dorm and hurried preparation for the concert Mr. and Mrs. Neal began their piano concert in the auditorium at 8 p.m. The audience, mildly receptive at first, applauded more with each interpretation, and the last piece the Neals played, Saint-Saens' "Carnival of Animals" was so enthusiastically received that the Neals had four encores. The best-liked encore was their own arrangement of "Yankee Doodle," a la Gershwin and Beethoven. Mr. and Mrs. Neal had coffee after the concert at O'Brien's, enjoyed a good night's sleep at Hathorn Hall, and left RFSC the next morning for concerts at Brainerd and International Falls, Minn.

The Editor Speaks

The Beer Drinkers

It is midnight in River Falls. The doors of the six or eight taverns in town open and close for the last time until morning, as college students (and other people) step or stagger out into the cold night air. Some begin stumbling their way home, others walk quite as usual. Some get into cars and drive jerkily off. Some go across the street for coffee and a cheeseburger, and then, feeling slightly more wide-awake, head for home to sleep until that eight o'clock class the next morning. Some are quite drunk; some are not drunk at all.

These are the River Falls students who drink. Most of us are involved. It is impossible to characterize one. The drinking student may be of either sex, may be in any of the four classes. He could be in any curriculum; he is rich or poor. He might be an honor roll student. Our drinking student might belong to the Student Senate, YWCA, FFA, Sigma, or be a class officer. In short, he may be a Big Man on Campus, or a very little one. And perhaps all he has in common with his buddy on the next bar stool is that they both like beer.

These students who drink have at times come under some sharp criticism from students and other people who don't drink, or who at least don't do it in public. The beer-drinkers are wasting their youth, it is said; they are spending their money foolishly; they should be in their rooms studying, or at least finding some form of social recreation that doesn't involve drinking beer.

This last is quite impossible. There is barely enough social activity to keep RFSC students occupied on an occasional "big" weekend, let alone amuse them every night. This might be expected in a town as small as River Falls and on a campus this size.

So most of us drink beer. We sit in dark bars and eat peanuts and drink beer. Some of us do it every night, others less frequently. And what's wrong with it? We have a good time. We spend money, but then most activities cost money. We get drunk sometimes, some of us more than others, and maybe we do things we're ashamed of when we recall them the next day. Perhaps in a few years a few of us will be alcoholics. But can that be predicted accurately now by determining the amount of beer a student consumes each week? Or could it be prevented by a non-alcoholic social life at college?

Surely beer-drinking is popular at every college. River Falls is no exception. It is hard to say what makes people drink; there are social and psychological reasons, and some simply like the stuff.

At any rate, hooray for the beer drinkers! They have discovered the art of having a good time and they go right ahead and have one. And that is a good deal more than some of the people who criticize them do. Perhaps having a good time is not the most important thing in life, or even in college, but it surely helps a person feel better.

And if the beer drinkers can enjoy themselves on wintry evenings with a potato chip in one hand and a bottle of Blatz in the other, more power to them. They are happy, and what more can one ask?

Senate Report

Tuesday

February 17, 1953

The meeting was called to order by Pres. Ken Nehmer. The secretary's minutes were read and approved.

Paul Beckel, chairman of the Student Foundation Committee, reported to the Student Senate. The committee has set up a tentative schedule for the week of April 20-25. Discussion followed concerning the goal of this year's student drive. The suggestion had come forth that the goal of this drive be a new scoreboard for the football field. Some suggestion was made also that the Student Senate incorporate "Rec Day" into this week.

The Student Senate appointed the following members to the recruiting committee: Royal Friedrich, chairman; Earl Johnson, Gayle Moen, Jean Allie, and Richard Wells. Margery Deans is to contact this committee about their respective positions. The motion was made and seconded that Bryant Wyman have a follow-up article on the issue of raising the activity fee ready for the next issue of the Voice.

The Student Senate has been asked to help with High School Day program which will be held on April 15. Jean Allie, Marge Deans and Jim VandeBerg will take care of registration. Others on the Senate will help with the tour of the campus.

The meeting was adjourned.

Rog Kuss, Falcon center, hits for two points as River Falls won over Winona Wednesday night 81-75. Bob Williams, Falcon forward, led River Falls scoring with 23 points, while Kuss got 22.

Falcons in Second Place; Meet Stout, Eau Claire in Final Conference Games

River Falls Rips Winona, 81-75

The last four minutes were just too much for the Winona Peds. With the score tied at 73 all, at the four minute mark, River Falls pulled away to a 81-75 victory last Wednesday.

During this time it was reserve forward Clarence "Cabby" Wild who spearheaded the Falcon attack. With the Falls ahead 78-75 Wild had two free throws, he made the first and missed the second which Kuss tipped in to ice the game and make the final score 81-75. "Cabby" came off the bench and picked up most of his 10 points in the final period.

The first half was a mad scoring affair marred by many rule infractions. As the third period came to an end Bobby Williams picked up his fourth foul. This forced him to sit out until "Zeke" Wells committed his fifth foul with four minutes left in the game. In the course of the game four regulars were burdened with four fouls or more.

Then came the fourth quarter and the Falcon rally. With Jim Saxton cleaning the defensive boards and Wild and Kuss scoring the Falls pulled away to victory.

Williams led the Falcons with 23 points, followed closely by Kuss with 22. This was the lowest output of the year for Rog and the first time he hasn't been high scorer.

Knowles and Lingenfelter scored 26 and 22 points respectively. They scored a combined total of 8 points in the last half.

Dems Go to Convention

Members of the Young Democrats Organization at River Falls attended the Young Dems' Executive Board Meeting at Wisconsin Dells on February 8. Attending the conference were June Clark, Gene Isaacson, Halbert Belt, Heather Belt, Heather Dopkins, Darlene Ruhnke, and Robert Kline, adviser.

RF Rolls Over Platteville, Stomps Out Stevens Point 110-105 as Kuss Hits 54

The floor was littered with broken records after the River Falls-Stevens Point battle Saturday night when the Falcon cagers downed the fighting Pointers by a fantastic 110 to 105 score.

The scoring spree resulted in Roger Kuss, Falcon center, setting a new conference record for points made by a single player during a game. Kuss poured in 54 points to break the previous record he set two seasons ago at Eau Claire. There he made 52 points.

The game also set a new record for the North Hall gym with the scoring of 215 points in a single contest. The previous record was 210 points four years ago when the Falcons defeated Stout 107-103. Other records apparently broken were total points made in a single conference game and the highest number of points ever made in the conference by a losing team. Saturday's win put River Falls in second place, behind Platteville, in the Wisconsin State College Conference race.

Friday the 13th proved to be unlucky for league leading Platteville here last week as the Falcons sunk them 87-68. Roger Kuss tossed in 30 points even though he played only a little more than half the game. The Falcon reserves and freshmen got their best work-out of the year after the starting five built a respectable lead over their opponents.

The first quarter started off with a bang for the Falcons. "Zeke" Wells scored the first two buckets. Burgoyne hit on a set shot and Kuss scored three straight baskets. The Platteville five were unable to score a single point for five minutes. At one time River Falls led, 17 to 1.

Kuss led with 30 points followed by Williams with 21. Tylka and Rheineck were high for Platteville with 16 and 15 points respectively.

Tomorrow night, Tuesday, February 24, the Falcons travel to St. Paul to play Bethel college. So far this year Bethel has an over-all 9-9 seasons record. Previously this year the Falls racked up a 95-76 victory, at home.

The Falcons will undoubtedly go into this game as favorites. They have a 9-5 record compared to Bethel's 9-9. The latter have beaten Winona and lost to Superior, while River Falls split with Superior and defeated Winona twice.

Saturday night Stout Institute invades "Falcon Haven". At the present Stout is in eighth place in the State College Conference with two league victories, while the Falls is in second with a 6-3 record.

Earlier the Falcons defeated the Bluedevils, at Menomonie, by 86-71 as reserves played a good deal of the game. If previous games are any indication, the Falls will be heavy favorites in this home contest.

The final contest of this season will be at Eau Claire on March 3. At the present E. C. has four defeats and could conceivably catch up with the Falcons if they win March 3.

The Falcons defeated the "Zorn men" earlier in one of the closest games of the season on the River Falls court. That night DuFrane, Bluegold forward, meshed the nets for 38 points. If previous River Falls games at Eau Claire mean anything, this game will be terrifically tight.

If the Falcons defeat both Stout and Eau Claire they will be assured of at least second place, and will have a distinct possibility of either tying for or capturing first place laurels. If this is the case they will have the opportunity to play off for the right to enter the NAIB tournament in Kansas City. Even if the Falcons garner only second place, they will still play off since Platteville is not a member of the NAIB.
