"WHERE THE FREE SPIRIT PREVAILS"

WISCONSIN STATE UNIVERSITY-RIVER FALLS

VOLUME 52 NUMBER 6

MONDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1967

'Spirit' Plaque is Dedicated

Namesake Waits 7 Years For Installation Ceremony

Wisconsin State University -- River Falls is now officially tagged "The State College where the Free Spirit Prevails."

Dr. Walker D. Wyman did the dedication honors for the free spirit plaque Saturday afternoon during the Alumni coffee hour. The plaque was hung in the hallway between Karges Center and the Student Center Ballroom.

The bronze plaque was donated by Clyde W. Zamjohn in 1961.

The Plaque had gathered dust for nearly seven years before Saturday's dedication.

Wyman in his dedication speech said, "I am proud to be associated with an institution that values such things as freedom of inquiry and wishes to place forever on the wall of this student center the plaque that will say to all who come this way that River Falls is a state college, now a state university, where 'the free spirit prevails.'"

Wyman went on to say that, "It is thrilling to know that there are people like Mr. Zamjohn who value such an ideal for a college and who also value their alma mater and who are willing to make such noble contribution to this institution."

Wyman told the history of the plaque and described the involvement that William T. Evjue, editor and publisher of the Madison Capital Times, had with the idea expressed on the plaque. He recounted the two daily columns written by Evjue in his newspaper shortly after Evjue participated in the first Grass Roots Political conference here on campus. In his column Evjue headlined it "River Falls, A State College Where the Free Spirit Prevails." Said Wyman, "This struck me as an apt description of the college, an excellent goal, an ideal worth reaching for."

Wyman referred to the speech that he made in 1960 to the Chippewa-Eau Claire region alumni group in which he suggested the plaque as a "symbol of purpose." In this speech Wyman told the alumni that the phrase coined by Evjue was worth of their alma mater. At this time Wyman also stated that he would not be opposed to a group of alumni casting the statement in bronze and bolting it to the door of North Hall.

Saturday Wyman said it wasn't important where the plaque was "bolted." "The important fact is that it is here, and that the student leadership on campus believes it is important to bolt your ideals on to the wall."

Wyman added that it was the student leadership, especially the Student Voice, who first asked about the plaque and why it couldn't be put in a proper place.

Dr. Wyman was introduced by Dr. Wayne Wolfe, administrative vice president. Wolfe said of Dr. Wyman that here is a man that epitomizes the free spirit.

There were about 50 people attending the dedication.

Dr. Walker Wyman gave the dedication address Saturday at the ceremony dedicating the "Free Spirit Plaque." Dr. Wyman originally had the idea that the phrase coined by William T. Evjue, be cast in bronze and nailed to the door of North Hall. Wyman returned to the RF campus this year after being president at Whitewater from 1962-67.

WSU-RF Club Hosts Third Annual Rodeo Oct. 14-15

This weekend the WSU-RF Rodeo Club is hosting its third annual intercollegiate rodeo. Teams of cowboys and cowgirls will begin arriving Friday for the competition on October 14 and 15 at 1:30 p.m.

Over 130 contestants from all over the Great Plains Region will compete in the rodeo. In addition to those teams traveling here to compete, there will be 12 to 15 RF students participating.

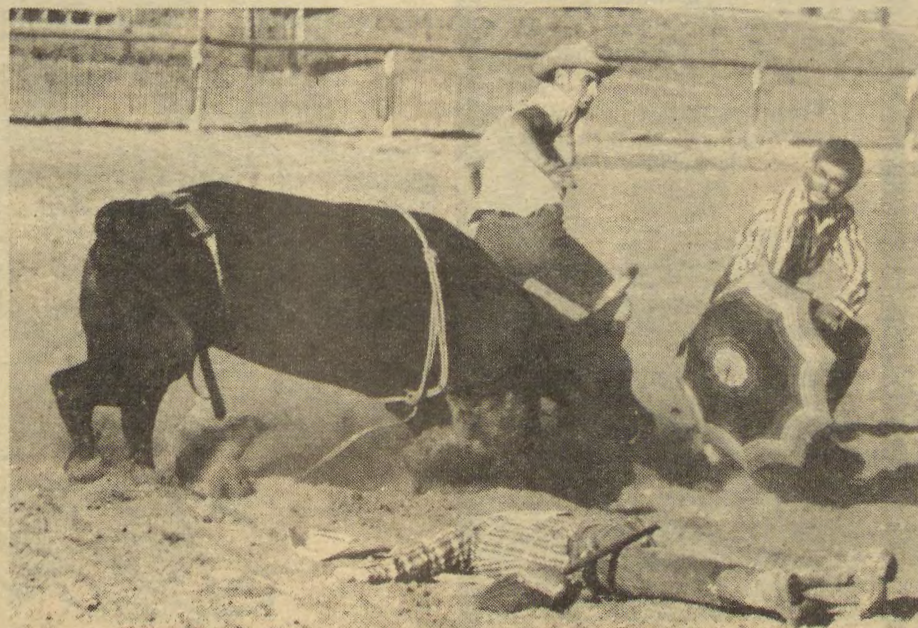

Highlighting this year's rodeo is the RCA speciality act of Duane Reichert, clown and bullfighter, and his trained wonder mule, Midge. All the standard rodeo events of bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf and ribbon roping, steer wrestling and bull riding will be included. For the cowgirls, there is barrel racing and goat tying.

Rodeos Incorporated of Rochester is bringing its tough string of professional rodeo stock for the contestants to ride, rope, and wrestle. One of the many exciting things to watch for is the bull, "Undertow". No one has ever ridden this bull a full eight seconds. Another special event at both performances is the fraternity steer riding. Three men from each frat will catch, saddle, mount, and push a wild steer into the center of the arena.

This year, as in the past, River Falls business men are teaming up with WSU faculty members for the business and faculty calf tying. Following the Sunday afternoon performance, awards will be presented to event winners, champion teams and the top all-around individuals.

Throughout this week judging will continue to determine the 1967 Rodeo Queen. Eight girls are vying for the title which is based on horsemanship, personality, and appearance. The queen will be announced at the Saturday performance.

Some of the action you will see this weekend.

Competing from WSU-RF will be Stan Myers, Milford, Ind. He is majoring in animal science and will compete in bareback and steer wrestling events.

Gary Olson, senior from Shell Lake, will be trying his luck in calf roping and bull riding. Gary went to the national finals in bull riding.

Another national finals contestant is Sally Cannon. She will compete in the goat tying event.

Linda Wolterstorff, a sophomore from Knapp, and Sandy Gilbert will enter the goat tying and barrel racing events. They are both national finals contestants.

Other RF students competing are Sharon Heidt, Dick Fjell, Jeff Schroeder, and Jerry Klauk.

Tickets for the rodeo are now available in the Student Center at the advance rate of $1.00. Tickets may also be purchased at Hanson's Cafe, River Falls Journal, and Fox's Hardware.

What's Doing

Veterans Pay Raise

Wisconsin veterans now in school will soon receive automatic increases in their GI Bill education checks, according to William E. McEwen, Pierce County veterans service officer, River Falls.

Effective Oct. 1, the new amounts will be included in checks scheduled to arrive in November.

Payments to single veterans taking full-time courses have been increased from $100 a month to $130; veterans with one dependent from $125 to $155; and veterans with two dependents from $150 to $175. An additional $10 will be provided monthly for each dependent in excess of two.

Proportionately smaller allowances will be paid for part-time training.

Seniors Attention

All seniors are asked to turn in their photos for the Meletean as soon as possible. Photos are to be glossy black and white with the senior's name, written in pencil only, on the back. Information sheets for seniors are to be filled in and turned in with the photo. The sheets are available outside the Meletean Office in Room 209 in the Student Center. Photos and information sheets must be turned in at the same time. Seniors who do not plan to have their pictures taken for the Meletean are asked to fill in and return information sheets and write "no pictures" across the bottom.

Need for Clothing

There is a desperate need for clothing for the thousands of refugees that lost all their possessions during hurricane Beulah and the resulting floods in south Texas and north Mexico. Clothes mailed to the address below will be forwarded to relief agencies.

Mercedes Drug Store
Mercedes, Texas 78570

Chem Club

Chem Club meeting Thursday, October 12 at 8:00 p.m. in 125 N. H. Dr. John W. Wilson, vice-president of economic laboratories of St. Paul will speak on designs in detergents and water pollution. Refreshments will follow.

Graduate Students

The Graduate Student Association will meet Tuesday, October 10, at 4:30 p.m. at the Coffee House. The agenda includes the report of the Social Committee on the Fall Quarter Activity.

Sophomore Class

There will be an important Sophomore class meeting at 4:00 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 12, in North Hall Auditorium. All Sophomores are expected to attend.

Winter Carnival

Winter Carnival chairmen will be selected at the October 18 meeting of the Student Senate. Students interested in applying for this position should attend this meeting.

AWS Convention

The state AWS convention is being held in Oshkosh, Wis. on Nov. 4. The local AWS board would like to send five girls from this school to the state convention.

Any girl who is interested in representing the River Falls AWS at the state convention should talk to one of the board members.

Campus Leaders

Campus leaders must have their mailboxes in the Student Senate cleared out by Monday, October 16, or they will forfeit the use of the box.

Housing Policy

Current University policy states that all Freshmen and Sophomores under the age of 21 must live on campus in the Residence Halls and take the meal plan unless special consideration has been granted because of extenuating circumstances.

Junior and Senior students under 21 may live off-campus in University approved housing only. (This policy does not apply to married students).

Time spent in residence on campus does not automatically insure academic classification. To be classified as a Junior, a student must have successfully completed ninety (90) quarter hours of credit.

It would benefit some students who fall within a questionable classification to check immediately with the Registrar's Office to determine their official status. Failure to do so could represent reason for cancellation of registration.

All students are expected to have their correct local address on file with the Registration.

Attention Freshmen

Attention Freshmen. The last day to drop classes is October 18th at 5 p.m.

Physics Colloquium

The Physics Colloquium will meet Wednesday, Oct. 11 at 7 p.m. in room 213 North Hall. Craig Foster and Charles Stirrat will speak on their summer experiences in research laboratories. All physics majors and minors are invited to attend.

Homecoming Bright Drighit Despite Weather

Pranksters Dim Festivities

A couple of thoughtless pranksters, the weather and a strong Oshkosh football team combined to dim the last day of the 1967 WSU-RF Homecoming Week.

On Thursday night, the freshmen guarding the bonfire beat off a mass attack by torch-carrying upperclassmen and defended it again at about 4 a.m. against a gasoline-bomb raid. The pile of wood and cardboard survived the night scarred but intact. At about noon on Friday, however, the freshmen had relaxed their guard and the bonfire was lit. By the time the fire department arrived, little more than charred wood and smoking embers remained.

On Friday night, another "firebug" struck. Sigma Tau Epsilon's lawn display that had taken first place in the judging was burned.

A steady rain and temperatures that dipped into the 30's forced the cancellation of the traditional parade and turned the football field into a muddy mess. Despite all Mother Nature could do, though, a hardy crowd of fans braved the weather to fill the bleachers at Ramer Field.

The crowd watched as a strong Oshkosh team took over first place in the WSU Conference by handing the Falcons a 17-0 defeat.

Even though everything seemed to go wrong Saturday, the Homecoming Dance in the Ballroom of the Student Center drew a crowd that put last year's to shame. Last year saw good weather and the team won, but there were less than 60 people at the dance.

HOMECOMING WEEK RESULTS

In the girl's division, Kappa Delta Psi placed first with a total of 34 points. The sorority took first place honors in the Cider-Chugging Contest, the Lawn Displays and the Floats and seconds in Krazy Kollege Kapers, the Pancake-Eating Contest and Window Displays.

Sigma Tau Epsilon squeezed by Alpha Gamma Rho by one point in the men's division. "Sig Tau" placed first in the Queen Contest and the Lawn Display, second in Krazy Kollege Kapers and third in the Window Displays, for a total of 28 points.

The Overall results were:

Men's Division: Sigma Tau Epsilon, 28 points; Alpha Gamma Rho, 27 points; Sigma Rho 24 points.

Women's Division: Kappa Delta Psi, 34 points; Phi Delta Theta, 26 points; Delta Iota Chi, 24 points.

The point breakdown was as follows:

Cider Chugging Contest--Men's: Alpha Gamma Rho - 3, May Hall-2, Sigma Rho 1. Women's: Kappa Delta Psi-3, Hathorn Hall-2, Phi Delta Theta-1.

Krazy Kollege Kapers--Men's: Phi Nu Chi-5, Sigma Tau Epsilon-4, Sigma Rho-3. Women's: Delta Iota Chi-5, Kappa Delta Theta-4, Phi Delta Theta-3.

Pancake-Eating Contest--Men's: Sigma Rho-3, Kappa Theta-2, Alpha Gamma Rho-1. Women's: Hathorn Hall-3, Kappa Delta Psi-2, Phi Delta Theta-1.

Queen Contest -- Sigma Tau Epsilon (Jean Rudisell)-10, Sigma Rho (Kay Krause)-9, Phi Nu Chi (Kathy Ball)-8.

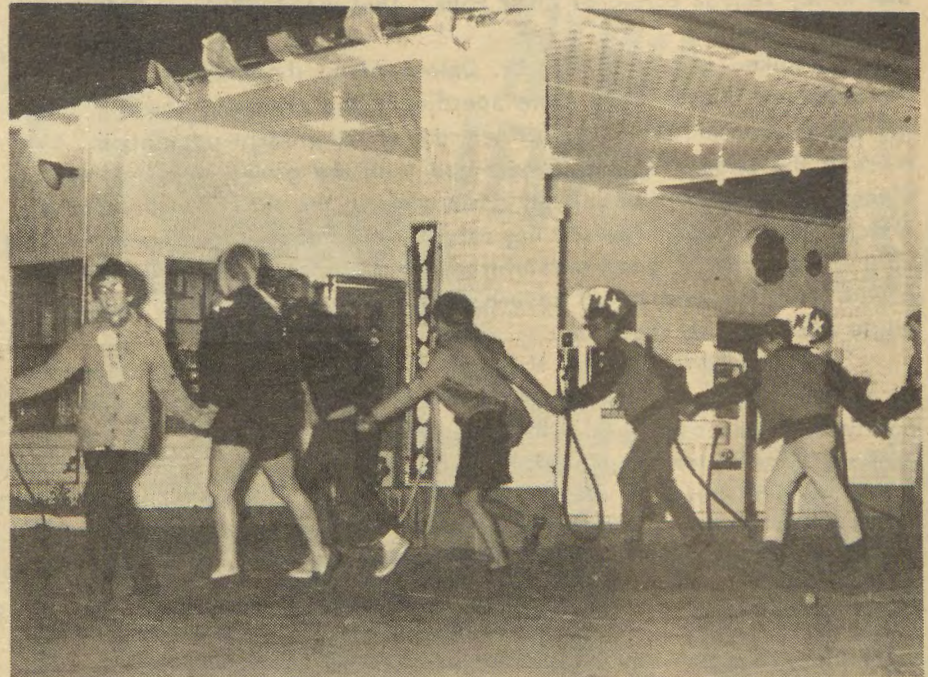

Window Display--Men's: Phi Nu Chi -8, Alpha Gamma Rho-7, Sigma Tau Epsilon-6. Women's: Phi Delta Theta-8, Kappa Delta Psi-7, Delta Iota Chi-6.

Lawn Display--Men's: Sigma Tau Epsilon-8, Alpha Gamma Rho-7, Grimm Hall-6. Women's: Kappa Delta Psi-8, Delta Iota Chi-7, Phi Delta Theta-6.

A Positive Force on Our Campus

EDITORS NOTE: Because of the nature of the Editorial and the way in which it was written the Student Voice will make an exception to it's policy and have a signed editorial this week.

Recently I found the most positive force and individual that I have met in my college career at River Falls. That man is Richard Delorit, interim president.

I talked at length with Dr. Delorit about the University, some of the problems it faces, and more specifically the effects of the rule limiting out-of-state enrollment to 25 per cent of the student population. Like most of the people who are concerned with the growth and welfare of River Falls, Dr. Delorit expressed concern about the slackened pace of our growth. However, Dr. Delorit has refused to be discouraged by the situation. Rather, like a good administrator and leader, he has taken a look at the situation and posed several positive goals by which River Falls might alleviate the situation.

He acknowledged the fact that the 25 per cent rule has been a serious hindrance to the continued growth of the student body and thus nearly all other aspects of University life. He did not see in the rule an unavoidable stumbling block. Dr. Delorit pointed first to the fact that Assemblyman Stan York and Senate Majority-Leader Robert Knowles are planning to introduce bills in the fall session of the legislature which would call for a reciprocal agreement with Minnesota, eliminating out-of-state tuition.

But Dr. Delorit made it clear that even with such a bill, our enrollment and enrollment-related problems would not be over.

He pointed out that we often "use the old crutches" - - poor location, last year's Homecoming Parade, "suitcase college," "Moo U." label, - - "as excuses for not doing more about the problem." Dr. Delorit, as had Dr. B. J. Rozanhel a few days before him stated that we need to concentrate more strongly upon our recruitment of students because, as Dr. Rozanhel said, "we are in direct competition for students with Eau Claire and to a lesser degree, Stout".

Dr. Delorit stated, "What we need to do is to have the administration, faculty, and student body working together in this cause. River Falls has never failed in reaching a goal which it, AS A UNIVERSITY (as a whole) set. We may look at ourselves in a different manner than do the other U's. In some schools, everything is terrific. We have a tendency to wash our clothes in public in the past. I don't know if this is necessarily bad."

The VOICE often reports from a critical viewpoint. Dr. Delorit said, "The school papers of some U's present the same voice as the administration. Is this good?" He feels we must work to tell the public about River Falls.

"We haven't necessarily told the public about some of our good points. Who has the most beautiful campus in the system? Who has the best faculty-student relationships? Who has the highest percentage of instructors with PhD.'s? Does any other state university campus have as good access to a major metropolitan area?" Dr. Delorit asked.

Thus, good public relations and strong recruiting practices would seem to be two of the more productive methods of achieving our enrollment ends.

It would also seem that in the present administration we have a guiding force with a large amount of respect for the student.

"I would not exchange this student body for any in the country.", said Dr. Delorit. Perhaps the "ingredients" are here to be utilized. If we work together "AS A UNIVERSITY" to "reach our goals" it might not even be necessary to lean so heavily on our "25 per cent crutch."

WSU-River Falls and it's Scapegoat

WSU-RF lost out this year. We came in dead last in the annual numbers game played by the State Board of Regents. Out of the nine Wisconsin State Universities, River Falls placed last in percentage of enrollment increase over last year.

The initial reaction to this "catastrophe" was the usual wringing of hands and wailing of, "Oh where have we gone astray." Then, inevitably, people started beating the bushes for somebody or something to blame.

The current scapegoat, it seems, is the STUDENT VOICE.

The thinking, or lack of it, behind this allegation goes something like this. The STUDENT VOICE is a "negative" newspaper. By printing "all the bad things" about the university, the STUDENT VOICE hurts the university's "image" and keeps potential students away.

Well, unlike William Randolph Hearst who, after the advent of the Spanish-American War, was able to say "How do you like my war?", the STUDENT VOICE does not create the news it prints.

If this University has housing problems, they are not caused by the STUDENT VOICE. If this University has parking problems, they are not caused by the STUDENT VOICE. If the University's recruitment program has not been adequate, the STUDENT VOICE cannot be expected to take the blame. If this University is faced by a 25 per cent limitation on out of state enrollment, the STUDENT VOICE is certainly not responsible. The fact that the University is at a geographic disadvantage in terms of enrollment also cannot be blamed on the STUDENT VOICE.

If what this University wants is a newspaper that prints only those "good" things that been "approved" by some administration board of censors, perhaps the STUDENT VOICE should be abolished and a public relations man hired to turn out a slick, innocuous publication that resembles those "newspapers" put out by some of the other state universities.

Then, of course, people would begin to wonder, "Whatever happened to that good old STUDENT VOICE. You know, the one that had some life to it - - the one that helped get the homecoming parade on Main street that year?"

The STUDENT VOICE may be guilty of a number of sins, but causing this University's enrollment slump is not one of them. Those who say it is would better spend their time trying to eradicate the "real" reasons instead of hanging the blame on the first scapegoat that comes along.

NEXT WEEK watch for special Student Voice features on the history of the Wisconsin State University system and a special editorial feature on the condition of the Amphitheater.

The Ferret

By Michael Brecke

Someone asked me the other day why no one at WSU-RF has any school spirit? For a few moments I was upset, and then I started to look around at the student activity during the week that is supposed to be the most spirited of the year. My first reaction was that this year's Homecoming Committee did a real good job.

This year many things contributed to a magic in the air. The University got together and fought for their parade. Then because of the Homecoming Committee's scheduling and fine planning the events started to snowball until suddenly the campus was really alive.

The Dirty Dozen did their part, and did it constructively. This added to the already existing atmosphere.

Sharon Seilback, Jon Graham, Andy Anton, should be given the Homecoming Medal of Honor for a job well done. It seems that each year we have these social activities but most often they tend to fall flat. This year is an exception to a long established RF tradition. With this kind of a beginning maybe we can ride out the year together and get something accomplished.

While recommending medals of honor, I should add that the student body in general should receive a commendation for participating in the events that led to such a successful homecoming celebration.

A student body or a University can not function without leaders. We must have leaders both social and political but leaders are only as good as those students who they lead. The Homecoming Committee did a great job, they were good leaders. But this is only one phase of campus life, let's see if we can transfer the togetherness of homecoming to other areas. Working together can get students what they want, fighting amongst themselves will only yield them more frustration.

Next week the Voice Soap Box will be back in its usual place. It was left out this week because the staff had to put out two papers, consequently today's issue is only eight pages.

Hal's Lowdown

by Robert Halverson
Sports Editor

Would you believe nine fumbles? The fumble-fingered-Falcons dropped the pigskin nine times Saturday and lost it to the Titans five times. This was just about the story of the game as I saw it. The Oshkosh Titans playing under exact conditions only fumbled the ball twice and they ran 20 more rushing plays than the Falcons.

Bright spots during the loss to Oshkosh include: Brian Kreibich's punting, the left footed punter booted four punts for a 44 yard average. Steve Vail and Mike Danielson's running. Vail had 14 for 48 yards and a 2.9 average and fullback 11 in 36 tries for an average of 3.3 per carry. The line blocking led by Outcalt, Schultz, and Sievert, and of course who could forget big Mark Lynch's runback. The Milwaukee tackle returned a short Oshkosh kickoff seven yards before a resounding collision with an equally big Titan. The Falcon defensive unit worked well to contain the Titane, although Miles Strasser gained 114 yards. The burly fullback was the workhouse of their attack as he carried the ball 29 times.

The turn out for the Homecoming week kick-off was disappointing to say the least. Karges should have been packed for the opening night of supposedly one of the year's best weeks. However, for the inclement weather there were many hearty fans who withstood the rain to watch the game.

All American Jim Baier, the Falcon great of 1966, is presently in the Army and expected home on leave within a week.

The Falcons next foe will be the Blugolds of Eau Claire. Saturday afternoon at Stevens Point the Blugolds were shutout by a score of 13-0. A week previous they were ripped by the Yellow-jackets of Superior 35-21. Coach Jim Rice has had problems replacing key personnel on defense. The Titans of Oshkosh stunned the Blugolds 33-7. It's a battle of second division clubs that should be a whale of a game for the Falcons as they rebound from the Homecoming loss. I look for the running of Danielson and Vail, the passing of Elrod and Troien to brilliant Harold Blank, and the Falcon defense to be enough to handle the Blugolds on their own field. Falcons 26 Blugolds 7.

Despite Bob Gibson's dazzling fastballs, I still think the Red Sox can come back and win the series (but, I've been wrong before).

I felt all week that the Homecoming spirit (whatever elusive feeling that may be) never, really set in. In years past the spirit heightened and really cut loose at the game. Apparently the early date and the weather Saturday affected the event. I still saw many suitcases out on Cascade Ave. Friday. The team performed admirably against a bigger Oshkosh team and those who missed the game missed a good effort. The cheerleaders, DD, and fraternities are to be commended for their truly sincere efforts to get support for the boys on the field.

Harriers Run By Bethel

Craig Middleton plans to wear his overshoes in the cross-country meet this Wednesday against tough Winona. That is if it doesn't rain. Last Saturday the Falcon runners coached by Byron James ran some of their best times of the season in the mud and rain to defeat Bethel 25-35.

Earlier in the week on Tuesday under blue skies and with warm weather, the Jamesmen suffered their worst defeat of the season to Mankato 15-50.

"The big difference is that it's easier to run in this cool weather," said Gary Berglin who led the Falcons against Bethel and cut off 1:05 from his Tuesday time. Berglin also said that he didn't feel well against Mankato and this can make a big difference in a runner's time.

On Tuesday Dave Jones of Mankato ran the four-mile course behind the Agriscience Building in 21:39, and six of his teammates finished right behind him. Middleton finished first for River Falls at 24:10.

Falcons Fall To Titans 17-0

Jerry Neve
Voice Sports Writer

Inability to hold onto the football proved costly to the Falcons last Saturday as the Oshkosh Titans and the weather dampened River Falls' homecoming 17-0.

The Falcons gave up the ball five times fumbling all together nine times. Four of those miscues came in the third quarter when the Falcons had the ball for only six plays with only two of those ground gainers.

The win coupled with Whitewater's win over the Superior Yellowjackets gave the Titans sole possession of first place in the conference with a 4-0 record. The Falcons are now -12 in conference action and 1-3 overall.

Oshkosh received the opening kickoff and picked up a first down before being forced to punt on their own 42 yard line. All Conference halfback Myles Strasser carried the ball the majority of the plays as he did throughout the game. The 6'2"-225 lb. Oshkosh senior hit the Falcon line 29 times picking up 109 yards rushing padding his league leading total. The Falcons found it slippery going the first time they got their hands on the ball and were forced to punt from the 16.

The Titans couldn't start a drive and River Falls took over on RF 23. Junior fullback Mike Danielson moved it to the 28 where quarterback Jerry Trooien fumbled and Oshkosh recovered on the 29.

Strasser struck quick picking a first down on the 14. Junior back Carey Venne moved the ball to the 10 and then Strasser cracked the line to the RF 5. The line stiffened somewhat before Strasser picked up a first down by the nose of the football. On second down fumbilitis and a host of Falcons hit Strasser with Waterloo junior Kim Kiesow recovering on the Falcon five yard line.

Senior halfback Steve Vail moved the Falcons out of the hole with a sweep around left end for a first end. Vail, who picked up 41 yards on 14 carries, then got back five which an illegal procedure penalty had cost the Falcons. Trooien rambled for a first down to the RF 29. He then pitched to Danielson who carried the ball all the way to the Oshkosh 45. The big fullback then fumbled and Oshkosh took over. The Falcons got the pigskin right back when junior linebacker Tom Carroll intercepted after a great rush by the front four. On 4th down from the 028 freshman John O'Neill had a first down but another illegal procedure moved the ball back to the 33. The Falcons were forced to punt and the ball rolled to the goal line where it was downed with nine minutes to go in the half.

The Falcons got good field position after Oshkosh punted but Trooien missed Danielson on a fourth down play and the Titans took over on the 28. After Strasser picked up a first down the Titans were forced to kick but a roughing the kicker penalty gave Oshkosh a first down. The big back moved it to the 24 for another first down. The Falcon defense which was on the field for most of the game held Strasser and the Titans had to settle for a 26 yard field goal by Larry Cramberg with 53 seconds left in the half.

The Falcons started their fumbling act in the third quarter and the Titans struck for two touchdowns. QB Jim Goeckerman took it in himself from the one and after another fumble Strasser rambled in from three yards out with five minutes left in the third quarter.

In the passing statistics Trooien bested Goeckerman. Trooien hit on 3 of 6 for 52 yards while Goeckerman connected on 6 of 11 for only 20 yards with one intercepted.

Oshkosh now travels to Platteville who came from behind to beat Stout last Saturday. The Falcons will face the Blue-golds at Eau Claire in a Saturday night game starting at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Larry will have a meeting for all men interested in the university gymnastics team. The initial meeting is slated for 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Little gym of Karges Center.

Four Flag Squads Unblemished

Four teams have remained among the unbeaten ranks in the flag football league.

The All Stars and AGR head the northern League, while Sig Rho and Phi Nu Chi top the Southern League.

The All Stars and Kappa Theta were victors of two games this week. The All Stars accepted a forfeit from Grimm East and then blasted the Red Dogs 31-0. Kappa Theta nipped the Yee Haws 14-6 and then routed ANJ's 33-0.

In the All Stat-Red Dog game, the All Stars smelled victory from the opening kick-off as Bob Watkins ran the kick-off back for a touchdown. Then quarterback Voss stole the show by flipping TD passes to Geraghty, Burich, and Watkins twice. Bergman caught an extra point pass from Voss also. Kaminski and Arndt intercepted Red Dog passes and the Red Dogs were stopped on the one yard line after a pass play.

The big game to watch this week are the Kappa Theta-AGR game and the Phi Nu Chi-Sig Rho contest.

Captains: Be sure you turn in the results of your games to 115k to avoid confusion in the standings.

Band Scheduled for Oct. 18

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band is scheduled to appear here in concert on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 8 p.m. in the North Hall Auditorium. The concert will be sponsored by the Concerts and Lectures Committee.

The Jazz Band, the last original jazz band direct from New Orleans, will feature Billie and Dede Pierce. Dede, a blind trumpeter, and his wife, Billie, a pianist and blues singer, have been playing together for 30 years.

Members of the band, all of whom are over 60, have been playing for 30 years in New Orleans' French Quarter. They have also played on many campuses and in concerts across the country.

Members of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band are among the few living jazz men who originated the New Orleans style. New Orleans' jazz differs from Dixieland in that the former is a big group improvisation without losing the melody.

Tickets are available for fifty cents in the Student Center.

Senate Names Editors

Interviews for Prologue editors were held at the Student Senate meeting this week. Accepted for the four positions were Nancy Lohman, Alan Johnson, Judy Collins and Tom Smith.

La Verne Herberg, president of this year's sophomore class, was elected secretary for the Senate.

The constitutions for Grimm Hall and the Forensics Union of Wisconsin State University-River Falls were passed.

The Council of Presidents which was held last Thursday and Friday was discussed. The Code of Conduct for WSU-RF was presented at the Council. Chuck Feltes, Bob Rasmussen, John Harter and Gordon Fleury attended.

Fifty cents was decided on as the admission to the Preservation Hall Jazz Band Concert for Oct. 17, 1967.

Senators Fran Haines, Ron Pressley and Wayne Weiss were appointed to draw up the Calendar for the school year '68-'69. The calendar will be submitted to the Faculty Senate who will draw up their calendar for the year. A compromise will be worked out and submitted to the Senate for approval. It will then go back to the Faculty Senate for approval.

Chuck Feltes moved that "the Vice President of the Student Senate be requested to look into the status of Inter-Dorm Council and its relationship to recognition of residence hall organizations.

'Jamie Blatant Self-destruction Element'

by George Spellvin

The character of Jamie, the older of the two Tyrone sons in 'Long Day's Journey Into Night,' is perhaps the most blatant representation of the self-destruction element in the play. Like Mary and James, Sr., he has given in to his own weaknesses and lacks the desire and willpower to overcome his problems.

Forced into an acting career by his father, Jamie has become a Broadway drunkard and loafer. He is accused, by Tyrone, of having caused much of Edmund's destruction because he had been a poor example and had "put Edmund straight on the 'way things are.'"

Steve Lockwood, a senior from St. Paul, Minnesota, will play the role of Jamie in the River Falls presentation of the play. Steve describes the role as:

"A weak, self-destroyed character, whose greatest problem is his alcoholism. He is totally destroyed in the fourth act when he sees Mary has reverted to her dope addiction and is not likely to be cured."

Steve points to one of Jamie's lines in Act Four which he feels is the most representative of the character's feelings:

"I suppose I can't forgive her---yet. I'd begun to hope, if she'd beaten the game, I could, too."

Jamie, a cynic at heart, has hoped, throughout the play, that Mary would give up her addiction. When he saw that she was going to start taking morphine again, he left the house to drink and visit a Broadway prostitute. He returns late at night, drunken and depressed. He has given up his hope and resigned himself to defeat.

But one must not get the impression that Jamie is simply an idle drunkard. He has a great deal of sensitivity and intelligence. But the environment of the Tyrone family has made him cynical to everyone, including himself.

He is his father's antagonist, and frequently the two of them engage in long and bitter arguments. Each blames the other for the weaknesses that beset Mary and Edmund. Both take out on each other the defeat of their stifled hopes until at last both are made to recognize that the Tyrone family is, indeed, "haunted."

James Tyrone, Sr., is a victim of self-destruction also, but his manifestations of this defeat lie more in attitude than in a physical problem. The son of a poor Irish peasant, he has worked his way up to being one of the nation's leading actors. In his youth, he was acclaimed to have perhaps the greatest artistic promise of all actors of his day.

But Tyrone is defeated in his inborn attitude toward money. He is miserly to the extreme of getting angry when someone leaves one light burning. He has always chosen the cheapest doctors and institutions for Edmund and Mary. As Mary describes, "the only things he is worried about are money, property, and the fears that he'll end his days in poverty, because that's the only thing

To the Editor,

We, the 1967 Homecoming Committee, would like at this time to express our sincere appreciation to those who have contributed valuable time and resources to make this the best Homecoming ever. We would also like to thank the members of the Dirty Dozen for their cooperation and efforts to promote a fine school spirit. A special thanks is extended to Dr. Richard Delorit for his counseling and interest in our Homecoming festivities.

Fountain is Impossible to Keep Running

The Wisconsin State University River Falls has been given a fountain that is nearly impossible to keep running.

The fountain between South Hall and the Student Center has no water replenishment system other than a hose or a bucket brigade. It must be refilled by hand and it must be refilled often.

According to Niel Barron, Superintendent of buildings and grounds, if the water level in the fountain drops just one and one half inches, the pump will no longer be sufficiently supplied and will burn out. The pump does not have a float device to shut it off automatically.

The fountain, dedicated to Dr. Melvin

Wall, who died in a plane crash in Vietnam last year, loses water rapidly in two ways. First, the spray coming from the top is fine enough so that even a slight breeze would lower the water level to the critical point, quickly. Second, evaporation from the cement pools takes its toll, also.

Besides these basic water problems, the fountain has had numerous mechanical breakdowns. In Barron's words, the fountain "never has run properly. We could probably take it apart and make it work, but if we did we would run the risk of voiding the guarantee.
