DEBATERS START SEASON TONIGHT AT MACALASTER

River Falls debate teams will go into action for the first time this season when they meet Macalaster college in two practice debates—one this afternoon and one this evening. Both debates will be held at Macalaster, as Coach Mitchell feels that the teams will get as much benefit from hearing the other side debate as from their own contest. There will be no decision in either debate, inasmuch as the chief purpose in scheduling them was to get practice in preparation for the conference debates March 6.

The River Falls affirmative will be made up of Fred Wandrey, Margaret Bailey, and Everett Smith (closer); while the negative will include John Burke, Margaret McDermott, and

EXAM SCHEDULES CHANGED... AVOID TOURNAMENT CONFLICT

The examinations for the close of the present term will be given on Wednesday, March 11th and on Thursday afternoon and Friday forenoon, March 12th and 13th.

This arrangement will be made on account of the high school basketball tournament occurring on the dates March 11-12 inclusive. A detailed statement of the examination schedule will be announced later.

WANDREY MAKES DEBUT AT FRIDAY'S MIXER DANCE

Even though as wise a man as Mr. Mitchell does believe in omens, the sign of Thirteen on the calendar for last Friday's informal dance did not lessen the success of the affair. Feeling in high spirit after our victory, nearly every one came over to the South Hall gym. After several dances had passed, the crowd was increased by the arrival of both the River Falls and Stout basketball teams. This dance also served as a coming out party for Fred Wandrey. Music was furnished by the newly reorganized, and revised Kinnick Originators.

MELETEAN VAUDEVILLE

The success of former Meletean vaudeville performances is well-known, and "The Fables of 1925" promises to be "the finest of them all." Every act is new, alive, and up-to-the-minute. The dances are under the direction of Miss Roberly, the music under the direction of Miss Hatch and Helen Anderson. You will have an opportunity to see again many of the beautiful costumes used in the pageant last June. Don't miss it. Thursday evening, February 26. Admission 35 cents. Reserved seats now on sale at Freeman's, 15 cents.

Y. M. STAG PARTY

The "Stag" held last Saturday evening was well attended. The early part of the evening was spent in stunts and contests, after which all were entertained by some of the star musicians of the school, assisted by Mr. Allen of the Stout team. The student volley ball team, contrary to all expectations, trimmed the Faculty. "Kid" Williams and "Battling" Batho did three rounds with the mitts, but were so evenly matched that the referee was unable to make a decision. The bean soup, accompanied by crackers and the all important pickles, was exceptionally good. All things considered, it was one of the best stag parties the "Y" has staged, and the old-timers around school will tell you that's saying a lot.

CAGERS TROUNCE STOUT IN SLOW, TEDIOUS GAME

Stout Institute succumbed for the second time this year to Eggebrecht's hoop artists here Friday night, by a 23 to 19 score. Stout showed much improvement since their first encounter and played a much better brand of ball. The game was exceedingly slow and somewhat ragged, and the low score throughout the game, gave neither team a safe lead up until the final minutes.

The first half especially was anything but good basketball. Anything and everything within the scope of the rules, was called by the officials to stop any speeding up of the game.

The offense which Stout launched was as baffling to the spectators as to their opponents. Instead of tak-

ORGANIZATION GAMES CONTINUE CLOSE AND FAST

The best game of the tournament was played between the Civic Club and the Lincolnians. Two five minute extra periods were necessary to end the struggle in which the "Links" came out victorious, with the score 19-20. Beran had a chance to win or even tie the score with two free tries, after the time was up, but booted both chances. The N. C. A. decisively defeated them in their game. The Ags. did not look like serious contenders against the "Y," who also bagged another game at the expense of the Lincolnians.

THREE BASKET BALL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR NEXT WEEK

Friday our basketeers will go into what may prove to be the most important game of their season, when they meet Eau Claire Normal on the Eau Claire floor. If they prove equal to the task of trimming Eau Claire without the aid of Capt. Bergman, there is a very good chance of going through the rest of the season without any more defeats. If

For the second time this year, we find ourselves facing the critical period in our season with our Captain out of the game. What is going to be the result? The best possible answer will be found by looking back to the way the football team kept up, and even added to their fight when Captain Smith was forced to leave the game with a broken leg. We have several of the members of that football team on our basketball squad. Quandt, Heebink, the Dawson brothers, O'Malley and Gibson were all members of that team of state champs. Is it conceivable that they could do anything but show the same brand of gameness now that their basketball captain has been taken from them? Furthermore, we have the same student body that stayed by the team to the limit during the football season, in spite of all discouragements. That student body is now back of the basketeers with everything it has—and win or lose, it is going to stay back of them. These are some of the factors that lead to championships—LET'S GET THAT BASKETBALL TITLE!

PLAY FAIR!

What is the use of having an organization in this school if it is not going to be permitted to meet? The Lincolnian society is scheduled to meet every other Thursday. Thus far this year it has held one regular meeting, and a few meeting squeezed in after mass meetings. These meetings have invariably been too short to accomplish anything worthwhile; since most of the members do not feel able to take the whole evening away from their studies. Now the Lincolnian society is one of the chief agents in the developing of new forensic material for our Normal teams. Certainly, if for no other reason than this, it should be given its full quota of time. If there were no other available time for mass meetings, perhaps it might be excusable at times; but where most of the students of this school feel that Friday afternoon would be a better time, and would prefer to have mass meetings then, certainly it is almost inexcusable to persist in breaking into the time reserved for organization meetings. The Lincolnian is not alone in being injured by this habit—there are several societies meeting the same night which have been equally injured. Play fair!

SOCIAL TRAINING

It has been the general idea for some time that one of the chief advantages that a College Graduate has over the Normal Graduate is a "cultural background." One cannot doubt this fact, for it is all too true.

The college student is no more intellectual, has no more pleasing personality, has no more executive ability than the Normal Student. The thing that gives the College student the advantage is his wider social experience.

Sooner or later, every person is invited to attend a formal function of some kind, and the longer that the experience is delayed, the more painfully embarrassing the experience is apt to be. The fact is quite obvious if the students at a school such as this one attended at least one such function during their school life, they would be better able to cope with a similar situation when they are out "on their own." A group initiation is always less painful than a private one, and yet the students here object to having formal social events. The dances here may be stiff, but they are not strictly formal. We are heartily in favor of at least one formal reception put on at school each year, to which all students are invited, for we believe that it is only by getting a more varied social experience that the normal graduate can more successfully compete with the college graduate.

STUDENTS THAT PROFS DISLIKE

1. Students who eat too much and sleep in class.
2. Students who are brilliant, but never study.
3. Students that study, but are not brilliant.
4. Students who look out the window when some important point is being emphasized.
5. Students who don't know the matter but who rave and rave.
6. Students that laugh at everything said to class.
7. Students who don't laugh when required.

SPACING

When first he came to see her,
He showed a timid heart,
And when the lights were low,
They sat this far apart.
But when this love grew warmer,
And he learned the joy of a kiss,
They knocked out all the spaces,
And sat up close like this.

The American was doing a good job of bragging. "On one occasion he said, I shot 999 lions."

The Englishman, determined not to be outdone, began to tell a story of a man who swam from Liverpool to New York.

"Did you see him yourself?" inquired the American.

Why, yes, of course I was coming across the water, and our vessel passed him a mile outside of New York harbor."

"Well," was the retort, "I'm glad you saw him, stranger, because you're a witness that I did it. I was the swimmer."

Next Monday the negative will hold another debate—taking on Gustavus Adolphus in a non-decision contest in the local auditorium. While this will be merely a practice clash, any students and faculty members who are interested are invited to come and hear it.

Any students wishing back numbers of the Student Voice to make their files complete, can get them by calling at the Student Voice office some time this week. We have a limited number of copies of No. 10-19, inclusive. Back numbers will be destroyed at the end of the week.

Music Column

It is greatly regretted that more of the students did not hear the concert given on last Monday evening by the musical organizations of the school. It was a very excellent of fering, and all the numbers showed careful work and good training. The first part of the program, which consisted of four numbers by the Men's Glee Club, was exceptionally well received. Markham Morton's bird calls and Mr. Geere's solo number were the feature of this part. The Girls' Glee Club and the Girls' Quartet gave the second part of the program, with Miss Sutherland's solo as the feature number. The third group of selections was given by the orchestra, which also was good. On the whole, those who did not attend missed one of the finest entertainments of the whole year.

The directors of the musical organizations are doing their best to build up interest in music in the school. They are succeeding well with those who are already musically inclined, but those who lean toward the Bolshevistic type are too numerous as yet. You don't know what you miss if you can't appreciate such a concert as this one.

Y. W. PARTY

Strange sights, indeed, were to be seen around about the campus last Saturday afternoon. Verily, it looked as if some of our fair co-eds had just undergone some rejuvenating gland operations. People rubbed their eyes and saw the stately Gladys with knee length skirts; or maybe it was Ellen with a big bow perched on one side of her head; or again, it might have been Agnes, all arms and legs, in a very short dress; or Violet with her Teddy bear.

All the little girls had a very good time. They played games, made valentines, and had a wonderful lunch, with ice cream cones, and everything.

The Y. W. C. A. should be commended for reviving their former tradition of giving an annual Kid Party for the girls of the school. The committees in charge served well in their capacities, and are largely responsible for the success of the party.

MORE LOCALS

An appropriate Lincoln birthday program was given in assembly last Thursday. The Aurelia are to be commended for their preparation of it.

Can anyone explain where this statement originated, "what avenue ran past your house?" Well, run back and catch it." Ask Paulson, he can tell something about it.

Miss Kimball went to the Librarians convention at Madison last week. It is too bad that it didn't last longer so that the library teachers will get better wages in the distant future.

Donald Boardman accepted the principalship of the high school at Wilson. He started teaching Tuesday. It is really almost unbearable to the tender hearted students around school to think of what it must mean to poor Genevieve. However she is slowly pulling through this crisis.

Times surely have changed and so have kids. At least that's what the Y. They all come back smiling Monday morning so the "heavy food" must have agreed with them. Lets have another party for the doctor's benefit.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

John C. Burke was absent a few days last week. He was called to his home at Casco, Wis., on account of the death of his aunt.

The Agrifallian society has arranged a good program for Thursday evening, February 19, at 7 o'clock. The program will consist of: Music—Moore, Kexel, and Kappler Talks—by Prof. E. J. Prucha and Prof. H. G. Anderson, "The Farmers' Week Program."

Possibly some parliamentary practice.

Belleville High School gets first in the corn judging contest; Matt Kelley is instructor.

Omro High School is a winner; Ralph Locke is the instructor.

Waterloo High School takes a prize; W. O. Eckley is the instructor.

Joe Schaezner's team of Portage is a winner.

William Wichelmann wins a second prize on barley and a first prize on oats.

Prof. H. G. Anderson has been offered the position as Country Club Leader of Dane county. The position carries more money than Prof. Anderson is now getting, but he prefers to continue work along the Agricultural Economics lines.

Clayton Holmes has appointed the following program committee for the Agrifallian:

First committee: Henry Pederson, Frank Janish, Eldon Webster.

Second committee: Geo. Wilson, Karl Müller, Fred Colk.

A representative of the Vacuum Oil Company will be here Friday afternoon, February 20. The lecture will take place on the second floor of the manual training building; lecture begins at 1 o'clock. All students who are free, and who are interested in learning something about oils are invited to attend.

ing time out to plan their method of attack through, each Stout player who was elected to advance the ball mused for what seemed like minutes before getting rid of the ball. The Normal attack was slow at times, and all in all, the first half was quite uninteresting.

There was little scoring in the first half. Cleberg started it on a difficult shot from the corner, which Setter soon followed with a long one. Heebink had many hard luck shots at the ring. Allen caged a neat goal on a tip off near the basket. The Stout center seemed quite adapt at knocking them in from a toss up, and came very close several times after. Setter again came through for a long one. Quandt added two points in two chances from the foul line, and Cleberg brought the score to 9-10 as the half ended.

The Falls came back with a stronger pace the second half. Mike put the Falls in the lead with a sensational goal. Heebink broke up numerous Stout plays through center. With the score 13-16, Radke had a chance to even the score by three shots from the foul line (one given by the crowd) but made only one. Setter soon made the count 16-16, and the game became more furious. Gibby broke the tie on a foul shot, and the Falls broke away for a safe lead which they kept throughout the remainder of the game. Cleberg, with 6 field goals and 3 foul shots, was high point man of the game.

River Falls Normal received a stunning blow when her sterling basketball captain, just previous to this game, was declared ineligible by the Normal Athletic board. The loss of Captain Bergman was keenly felt in the attack. The Cleberg to Bergman combination near the goal which invariably resulted in a goal in previous games was missing. Bergman is recognized as the best all around basketball man in the Normal conference. Conference opponents have learned to fear Bergy, and our loss will be a decided gain for them. Capt. Bergy was completing his third year for the Red & White in a glorious manner. On offense and defense Bergy has been the main stay, and his absence at this stage of the race will mean an irreparable loss to Coach Eggebrecht.

Gibson was at the other forward position, and played a strong defensive game. With more practice with the regulars, Gibby should prove a consistent man on the squad.

Bergy will still retain the Captaincy, but will be on the side lines for the remaining conference games.
