Pi Kappa Delta Meet Will Be Held at St. Olaf

McDermott, Osborne, Larson Will Represent RFSTC in Three Forensic Contests

Pi Kappa Delta members will compete in three forensic contests at St. Olaf college in Northfield, Minnesota Thursday and Friday, March 30-31.

Entered in an after-dinner speaking contest will be Jack Osborne. The winner will be chosen mainly on a basis how well he entertains the group.

Loell Larson and Margaret McDermott will represent the school in extempore speaking in men's and women's divisions respectively. The topics on which they are to speak will pertain to the position of democratic ideals in the modern world.

The meet at St. Olaf is one of those which are held in the 13 provinces of the national fraternity of Pi Kappa Delta. Members of this, the Province of the Upper Mississippi, are Luther, St. Olaf, St. Thomas, Concordia, and River Falls.

Camera Club To Sponsor Contest

Beginning this week is the picture contest sponsored by the Camera club. Entries may be submitted by any student except club members themselves.

Pictures entered may be of any type desired. They must be taken by the individual entering them. Pictures 2 1/4 x 3 1/4 inches or larger may be submitted.

A 10 cent fee for each picture submitted will be used entirely for the prizes. First and second prizes will be awarded.

Judges for the contest are faculty members. The pictures will be judged on the basis of general interest and the best pictures are to be displayed.

Anyone who wishes to enter this contest may give his pictures and entry fee to "Colonel" Larson, Fred Brechlin, Walter Gronning, or Werner Gleiter.

The contest will close on Friday, April 21.

On the back of each entry, the following data should be written lightly in ink: Name of individual, where taken, when taken, title or theme, type of camera, film used.

Book Folk Are Burlesqued at Party

"Something new and something different" was the mood which inspired the staff of the Student Voice to arrive at the Social room, South hall, Thursday night, March 23, at 8 o'clock, either masquerading as their favorite fiction character or burlesquing a book title.

The evening was spent playing Bunco, Louse, and listening to the radio in the Social room by some, while others kept up a lively game of ping-pong in the women's gymnasium.

Numerous examples of originality were shown in the various representations of the staff members. Niles Grunke subtly suggested a well-known classic when he wore a glass bead strung on his lapel as "Adam Bede." "Bread and Wine" was characterized by Ulrich Bentz with a jug in one hand and a loaf in the other.

It just took a piece of paper with the name Peter printed on it and a pie pan to change Howard Wert into that beloved fairy, Peter Pan.

Masquers To Present Four Final Plays

Voice Executive

Chauncey Meacham

Meacham Receives High Voice Post At Recent Meeting

Executive Editorship was assumed by Chauncey Meacham last week at the tri-annual meeting of the Student Voice Staff. Mr. Meacham has been appointed to fill the post which was held by Clarence Stolt last term and during the fall term by Loell Larson.

Mr. Meacham is a veteran worker on the Student Voice. He began his work as a freshman in the news-writing department. In his sophomore year he contributed largely editorials. During this, his junior year, he has been the leading editorial writer as well as a proof reader and assistant desk editor.

At the meeting Thursday night, Mr. Meacham was formally presented to the Voice Staff as the new Executive Editor and began his work by giving a lecture on news writing. He enumerated the various fundamental rules which the Staff writers are expected to follow and made certain reprimands as to getting copy in before deadline.

Mr. Meacham is a junior in the history department. He was a member of the debate squad this year and during his freshman and sophomore years played with the college band and orchestra.

YM To Give Easter Program

An Easter service, sponsored by the YMCA will be given on Sunday evening, April 2, in the Congregational church at Prescott.

The theme of the service is What Think Ye of Christ? Members taking part are Clifford Hermanson, Walter Steneman, Ross Jesse, Melvin Rydberg, Thomas Ronningen, and Robert Schломann.

cleverly transformed Shirley Swann into a modern version of Chaucer's Wife of Bath.

Mrs. Wiggs, Mrs. Walker D. Wyman, and Her Cabbage Patch, Dr. Wyman, chaperoned and judged the costumes. The first prize for girls went to Adelaide Hill who, in furs and furbelows, portrayed The Gorgious Hussy.

Chauncey Meacham, in tattered clothes and a patch over one eye, plus a wicked looking knife, carried away the honors for the boys as The Beach-comber.

Wynken, Blynken, and Knod, complete with pajamas, stuffed toys and yawns were given the first group prize. They were characterized by Dorothy House, Madelyn Lyon, and Lorraine Isaacson.

A prize consisting of a note book, paper and pencils was presented to Ivon Greene for high score in Bunco.

After the games, Doctor Wyman's cabbage was seized upon and practically devoured. The refreshment committee, taking pity on the hungry souls, served ice cream and wafers.

Wert, Platt, Lowe and Anderson Will Direct Talented Productions

Corn, Oatmeal, Bills, Sweathearts. Those are the names of the four one-act plays which will comprise the final Masquer production of the year. The plays are under the direction of Masquer members and employ a variety of talents and interests appealing to everyone. They will be presented Thursday evening, March 30, at 8:00 o'clock in the auditorium. The admission will be 25c and 10c.

Imagine Nevin, "the Kid," White as a "moonshine" maker. The startling series of events which occur when Albert "Alley Cat" Zahradka, the revenue man, finds his mountain shack. That is the plot for Corn directed by John Lowe.

Dr. Larry Kent, Paul, "Romeo" Henemann, is very despondent because he has not had one patient since he tacked up his shingle. His pretty wife, (Ruthless, Go-Getter-Phillipps), tries to cheer him up for they both face eviction for failure to pay their rent, and even possible death from having to eat oatmeal three times a day. With this approaching catastrophe starring them in the face, a strange Geere, members of the several musical societies of the campus will present a recital in the South hall social room Wednesday evening, March 29, at 8:15 o'clock. This recital is not open to students or the general public. It is invitational, and for the most part the parents of those participating will be the guests.

Soloists featured on the program will include Gene Egan who will sing Dio Possenti from Faust by Gounod. Bette Campbell will sing The Wind's in the South by Scott, and Frona Nelson will sing The South Winds Are Blowing by Denmore.

Instrumental soloists will be Marion Kirkpatrick who will play a piano solo, and Donna Campbell who will play a cello solo, Liebestraum, by Liszt.

A women's quartet consisting of Winnifred MacLennan, Harriet Campbell, Shirley Swann, and Virginia Griffith will sing Oh Heart of Mine and The Year's at the Spring by Beach.

A men's quartet composed of Ross Jesse, Russell Aamodt, Gene Egan, and Walter Steneman will sing The Sandman by Protheroe.

Come, Rise with the Lark will be sung by the double mixed quartet.

Benedictus, by Gounod, and Hark! Hark My Soul, by Shelley, will be sung by the A Cappella choir to conclude the program.

Science Club Will Show Film of Copper Mining

A three reel film, "Story of Copper Mining," will be shown at the Science club meeting, Thursday night at 7 p. m. This film has been obtained from the Bureau of Mines, at Washington, D. C.

As the name implies, the film gives a complete story of copper from the time it is mined until it has been processed and the finished product placed on the market.

It will also show the various uses to which copper is put, including industrial and home uses. There will be one reel shown on the use of copper in alloys.

To Head YWCA

Mildred Boles

Election and Style Show Are Featured At YW Gathering

Mildred Boles was elected president of the YWCA for the coming year at a meeting in the Social room Monday evening, March 27, at 7 o'clock. The vice presidency went to Mary Andersen, the office of the secretary to Verna Annette and that of the treasurer to Lucille Fouts. These newly elected members, together with the old cabinet, will choose the rest of the new cabinet members.

A style show was presented before 55 spectators by ten models: Dorothy Severson, Verle Straub, Evelyn Somsen, Margaret Johnson, Marian Saul, Muriel Somsen, Adelaide Christenson, Lucille Ingham, Adele Olson, and Ruth Phillipps.

Munson's Store, Eda and Freda, and Penny's cooperated in furnishing the clothes that were modeled.

Local Swing Band Hopes to Tour Europe in Summer

Carl Miller and four of his musicians will travel to Madison, Wisconsin, Friday, March 31 where they will have an audition for a European tour.

The major steamship companies with the Atlantic crossing annually hire American college swing bands to play in the summer months. Mr. Miller has been preparing for this audition since early in December and is hoping for success.

As the number of musicians used on the ships is limited to five, some members of the regular band will not be included. Those who plan to make the trip are Carl Miller, Norman Quam, Chauncey Meacham, Melvin Hanson, and Henry Greere. The instrumentation will consist of cornet, drums, piano, and two saxophones.

Girls Reduce With Rope-Skip

A, B, C, D, E, etc. That's the old familiar tune of the rope jumpers. It was just too bad if you stopped on Q when you were small, for it was next to impossible to get any word beginning with that letter. Of course, now that we're of college years even the letter Q doesn't bother us.

Perhaps, you thing that being of college years even jumping rope wouldn't bother us. If that's your opinion, you are wrong—but definitely! 'Twas on March 23 that the following happened and it's true—every word of it.

The girls at College Hall, feeling a surplus of good spirits, decided to try their skill at rope-jumping. The only thing lacking was a jump rope. They found one at the Hall, but after all what was one jump rope for that mob of coeds? They spied Pep Hanson's little girl a-playing jump rope. The question was how to get the rope

Musical Nite Club Setting For Assembly

Miller Swing Band Plus An Ultra-Modern Chorus of Chic Coeds to Create Atmosphere

Featuring Carl Miller and his orchestra and the G O P Swing Chorus, the student body will be entertained Thursday in assembly by a program of popular music presented by the G O P organization.

The setting will be a fashionable night club, and to create the proper atmosphere, the girls will be dressed in formals. The chorus is composed of girls from the organization in addition to the following men: Russell Aamodt, Gene Egan, "Red" Jones, Bert Swan, John Lowe, Paul Somsen, Leo Kelly, and George Mullen. They will sing the currently popular number, Deep Purple, and Fred Waring's ever popular theme song—Sleep.

A girls' trio, composed of Ruth Phillips, Harriet Campbell, and Virginia Griffith, will sing I Cried For You and Could Be. Other features of the program will be a solo by Gene Egan, who will sing Shadrack. Tap dancing and several numbers by Carl Miller's orchestra will complete the program.

39 Houses Make Honor Roll List

The following list may be considered as the Honor Roll of men's rooming houses for the second term of the year 1938-1939. It is based on the number of failures and conditions and the number of men placed on probation. To be on the roll, a house must not have more than one failure or condition for each four men and not more than one man in ten on the probation list. All houses with two or more men are included. Owing to the fact that a number of men were absent for the final examinations because of illness and were marked "Incomplete," there may be some slight revision of this list when the final grades are available.

from her without making a rumpus. Enter Sir Galahad alias Ed. Stone and Doc. Schmidt. They agreed to get the rope for the girls provided they could play too!

That was why on this lovely spring evening when Miss Lieneman chanced to pass this house she was accosted by a band of rope-jumpers. The girls at College Hall are nothing if not polite—So—

"Here, Miss Lieneman, do try skipping rope."—Yes—do—Miss Lieneman is nothing if not a good sport—So—A, B, C, D, E, etc.—Salt—Pepper—ad infinitum, and Miss Lieneman jumped rope. Faster and faster the rope whizzed; faster and faster Miss Lieneman skipped.—

It had to end sometime, but when it did the entire gang agreed on one thing—They were as nothing compared to Miss Lieneman when skipping rope was in question.

Students Lack Culture

Torn magazines, note book paper, last week's comic strip, and a couple of maimed chairs. This is the Men's Union.

Within the memory of a few students this room might have served as a model for other schools. At that time the chairs, tables, and radio boasted of four good legs and high polish; however these accessories have taken a severe beating in the last couple of years. This has been especially notable in the past year. Scratched surfaces, broken rungs and torn upholstery greet visitors on entering this room today.

Chairs are four-legged animals and need all four legs on the floor to give efficient service for any length of time. While one may assume the position of a contortionist in using the divans it is not necessary to dig ones heels into the upholstery. Again most of us are over the paper doll stage making it unnecessary to tear up the magazines even if they have pictures of Hitler giving his people the straight arm.

Recently a radio was purchased for this room. It has survived for nearly a month. A delicate instrument handled by many people tends to break down faster than under normal conditions; therefore, we should use a little common sense and handle this instrument with care to prolong its span of life.

In using this room remember that before there are any additional purchases the existing furnishings will be reviewed and action will be taken in accordance with their conditions. Men, the destiny of this room is in your hands.

Campus Group Makes Plea

Conflicting claims by various organizations in this school as to the order of each in importance, warrant careful consideration by the student body. Arguments as to the amount of activity, efficiency, and lasting importance to students as a whole, have prevailed since each announced its existence. The problem presents itself in full array as the Masquer organization prepares its annual program of three one-act plays, which will be presented March 30.

Possibilities for making expenses, the admission price, and conflicting dates present problems which must be solved.

Methods of financing activities of the organization are few. They consist of membership dues, and proceeds from public performances. Annual expenditures of the organization amount to approximately $200 of which dues of 75 cents per member comprise only $28. Thus it is evident that a large attendance is necessary at public performances if Masquer books are to balance.

It appears that an organization whose members will rise early enough in the morning to attend 6 o'clock play practice is worthy of your support. In comparison with an evening at a mediocre show or in loitering on Main street it is no more expensive and is more beneficial in-so-much-as Masquer plays are usually high-calibre. In attending these presentations you are aiding an organization which gives valuable training of a type that is frequently asked for by principals when selecting teachers.

Are Students Able Critics?

Are we, as college students, capable of making a truly unbiased criticism of anything—whether it be activities, clothes, or people? Do we really know what true criticism is?

Perhaps our old friend Aristotle was presenting a true cross-section of the general slant of opinion characterized in his own day when he said, "Criticism is only a standard of judging well," but Aristotle's theories are evidently too ancient to conform with the ideas of the modern generation. Today, we are swayed entirely too much by prejudice and the opinions of others to form any intelligent conclusion as to the way a thing should be judged. This deficiency in judgment is displayed in a noticeably large number of cases at RFSTC. As students we are a bit too inclined to condemn a subject or its teacher if we are not particularly adept in the field; we scoff cynically at an assembly artist if his style does not particularly appeal to us. On the other hand, we judge the worth of our movies, not by the excellence of their quality but by the sensations which they may arouse in us.

Our college training is supposed to broaden our viewpoints, erase our prejudices—in other words, it will, with our cooperation, make us critics in the true sense of the word.

The Baton

Saturday, March 25—What a day! We were up at 8 a. m. and off to school at nine. There the orchestra was assembling before a few strange high school students who sat in the audience quite amazed at everything. The last player dashed into his seat and then the playing began—for some of us, six long hours of hard work and exhausting rehearsal.

The occasion was the first meeting of a band and orchestra clinic, an advance meeting of the directors and a few of the students of the high schools who plan to participate in the Music Festival to be held here the last week in April.

The purpose was to give a few of the students and their directors a chance to hear the college musical organizations sight-read through the numbers which the school orchestras are now rehearsing. Interpretation of the various compositions was the chief problem that was dealt with. It was not the purpose of our organizations to attempt to play any piece with any amount of accuracy, but rather to just rehearse the numbers in order that the students might pick up a few pointers on dynamics, breathing, and phrasing.

In the afternoon, the time set for the band rehearsal, the audience increased and the band was decidedly augmented by the students who had brought their instruments with them. Although no registration was attempted, it was estimated that more than 300 high school students spent at least part of the day at our school. The success of the venture will undoubtedly lead to a continuance of the clinic idea in future years.

Credit for its success goes to Mr. Rozehnal who waved his baton for six hours with such vitality that the college musicians became quite exhausted from the long hours of playing. The clinic was promoted by Superintendent L. H. Dawson of the River Falls high school who is chairman of the committee for the Music Festival.

We were fortunate enough to be included with a group of students who went last week to see the Lunt and Fontanne production of Amphitryon 38 at the St. Paul Auditorium. The play was "tailor-made" for the Lunts and not entirely different from their former Theater Guild presentations. Beautifully artistic and graceful throughout, we were thoroughly satisfied with the entire thing. Best comment from one of the faculty members was, "A very saucy little play, but well done by these great actors."

If your columnist only specialized in gossip, he could write many, many columns on this past week-end. It must be the spring fever, that's the only way we can figure it out!

A. N. Johnson Gives Views At Father and Son Banquet

The annual Father and Son banquet held in the Methodist church parlors last Wednesday evening was attended by about 150 men and boys of River Falls.

Toastmaster Walter H. Hunt directed the after-dinner program, the principal speaker of which was Prof. Arthur N. Johnson. In his talk Mr. Johnson emphasized the values of cooperation and fellowship in the home.

Falcon Boxers Beat Red Wing

Squad Wins Four and Loses Two of Six Scheduled Matches

Falcon boxers traveled to Red Wing Saturday afternoon, where they competed with men from the Red Wing training school. They returned victorious, having won four and lost two of the six scheduled matches.

In the first fight of the afternoon between Triutt and Peterson, Peterson after a slow start came back to completely rout his opponent, ringing up the first victory for the locals.

Smiley and Aldrich were second on the program. Aldrich put up a fair fight, but Smiley was a little too aggressive and won the fight by a decision. Skryprz and Swanson were next on the card. Both boys put up a good fast scrap all the way through but the judges awarded Swanson the decision by one point.

Following this, Swanson and Thoeny really pepped things up, with the latter completely overwhelming the plucky Scandinavian. The second loss of the day was registered when Lowe floored Jackman and the referee stopped the fight. Kohler chalked up the fourth victory when he outpointed Callahan. Both made some nice contacts, but Kohler was the more aggressive of the two.

Following the regular matches were two exhibition bouts, one between Dobberstein and Issacson, as neither had an opponent. Meyer of Maiden Rock fought the other bout with one of the Red Wing men. No decisions were rendered on either fight.

Dr. Fortun, a member of the Wisconsin Boxing Commission, was one of the judges.

LeDuc-Peterson Team Wins MIM Badminton Honors

Intramural badminton was also finished last week. Several close matches were played during the season, and although few students took part, interest was very keen. The final standing was as follows:

	W	L	Pct.
LaDuc-Peterson	12	1	.932
Peloquin-Thompson	11	2	.845
Borne-Healy	10	3	.769
Enerson-Dodge	8	4	.667
Rudesill-Wesenberg	8	5	.615
McCollow-Knoblauch	6	4	.600
Berklund-Morgenson	5	7	.417
Marks-Grassell	5	7	.417
Steiner-Hogemann	5	7	.417
Rud-Stamstad	5	8	.384
Flathe-Weideman	4	8	.333
Creswell-Phillips	1	12	.077
Bergstrom-Steneman	0	13	.000

Ping-pong and volleyball are now in progress and considerable enthusiasm is being shown in both sports. In the former only a few matches have thus far been played, but in volleyball the season is about half over. The standings of the various teams thus far are:

	W	L	Pct.
Old Soaks at Home	3	1	.750
Pi R Squares	2	1	.666
One Twenty Fives	2	1	.666
Kill or Kures	2	2	.500
Deutsch Ferdeliers	1	1	.500
Senators	1	1	.500
Hercules	1	2	.333
Pollen Spreaders	1	2	.333

As soon as the weather permits, diamond ball and horseshoe will begin. Later a decathlon will be held for all men interested in track and field events. These sports will close the intramural season.

Intramural tennis may be organized if the time permits. Regular tennis play and team practice will take considerable time; therefore, this part of the program may have to be deferred.

R. F. To Defend Badminton Title

Second Annual Intercollegiate Tourney Will Be Held Here

The badminton season will close with a flourish on Saturday, April 1, when the second annual intercollegiate tournament will be held in North hall gym. With entries already received from St. Olaf, Winona, Stevens Point and Augsburg, and some expected from Stout, the University of Minn., and other of the state teachers colleges, the tournament promises to be an interesting and lively affair. Last year, River Falls made a clean sweep of all titles, but this year the other colleges will furnish more competition, having had a year of preparation.

Defending champions will be Elmer Hehnke in men's singles, and M. K. Prucha and Leona Rhodey in women's doubles. The combination of Manske and Hehnke will not defend their mixed doubles crown, nor will Miss Manske defend her singles title. A new combination is sought in men's doubles, since Hehnke's last year's partner has withdrawn from school.

Opening matches will begin at nine o'clock Saturday morning and continue throughout the day. Finals will be played Saturday night at which time medals will be presented to the winners. Admission will be ten cents per person per session.

This week also sees the close of the local tournaments, both the all-school and the open tourneys. All-school tournament finals will be held in the North hall gym Wednesday night at 7:30, and open tournament finals will be played Thursday night at 7:30.

Finalists are: Men's Singles, Hehnke vs. Platte or Peloquin; Women's singles, Cairns vs. Jorgensen; Men's doubles, Hehnke-Platte vs. Thompson-Peloquin; Women's doubles, Rhodey-Prucha vs. Jensen-Jorgensen; Mixed doubles, Prucha-Larson vs. Jorgensen-Peterson.

In the open finalists are: Men's singles, Hehnke or Peloquin vs. Owens or Platte; Women's doubles, Branstad-Owens vs. Jorgensen - Jensen; Men's doubles, Hehnke-Owens vs. Larson-Platte; Mixed doubles, Branstad-Hehnke vs. Owens-Owens.

Ping-pong Tournament Will Begin Initial Round This Week

Ping-pong tournament play started this week with 48 entries for the initial rounds. There are three classes, each having 16 entries: the aces are number one players with a great deal of experience; beginners are those who are just learning the game; between these two classes come the veterans. Intramural points will be given the winners of each class. The schedule of matches for the first round is posted in the recreation room; players are requested to play their games promptly so that the tournament will not drag. In regard to the use of the tables and rackets, contestants scheduled to play will have precedence over players not entered in the tourney, but all are asked to furnish their own balls.

In the first round, which should be completed before Easter, the winners must take two out of three games. In the finals and semi-finals, three out of five games must be won.

Following the singles tourney, a similar contest in doubles will be held.

Appointed Baseball Coach

Mert Wulf

Mert Wulf, former Falcon star, will act as baseball coach during the coming season. His past record is a real qualification for the position.

Baseball Schedule Is Nearly Complete

Baseball at River Falls, under the tutelage of coach Mert Wulf, and the team as a participant in the newly formed Teachers College Conference, will get under way in the gym this week.

This is the first year that a student player will have participated as coach. Wulf, a former Falcon first baseman and last year first baseman for Crookston in the Northern League is well qualified for the position.

The Falcons will play a probable 10 or 11 game schedule. The schedule to date includes two games with St. Thomas, La Crosse, Eau Claire, Stout, and Concordia. Tentative games may be played with Winona Teachers, St. Cloud, and the Stillwater Prison.

Lettermen who are back for service are: Blank, pitcher; Wulf, first-base; Hoey, second; Hoagenson, third; and Osborne, outfield.

trict at the state tournament at Madison in class B, and Altoona in class C. Altoona went on to become state champs.

Wulf and Eslinger Share Bowling Title

Final statistics on intramural bowling have been compiled and this event is now officially closed for the year.

The teams captained by Wulf and Eslinger tied for the championship, and Sondergaard's outfit came in a close second. Nugent's bowlers had bad luck in a few of their games, consequently they ended up in the cellar. High team games were bowled by the following teams: Eslinger's 808, 811; Wulf's 806, and Sondergaard's 805.

In the course of the fifteen games rolled, several men rolled 200 or over. Brandtner led all men with a high game of 223, closely followed by Sondergaard with 222. Other high games were: Hoey 216, Route 215, Wulf 204, Stiener 201.

Schmidt was high as far as the season's average was concerned. He ran up an average of 175 for the year. Wulf set the pace for his team with a 169 average as did Sondergaard with a 167. Other high averages were Route 153, Brandtner 148, Dykstra 146, Soderstrom 144.

Sports Roundups

Osborne Cowles, former Falcon coach, and present basketball coach at Dartmouth University, talked over the radio last Saturday night between halves of the Minnesota high school championship game. He was the guest of Rollie Johnson on station WCCO. In the interview Cowles told about winning the Ivy League championship for the second consecutive year. He also said that the type of basketball played in the east was practically the same as that played in the middle west. Cowles then commented on the teams taking part in the tournament.

By the way, Mountain Lake, a school with only 76 boys, beat Minneapolis Marshall, a school with over 1500 students, to win the state championship which consisted of 476 teams.

A baseball conference among the Teachers colleges is being planned for the first time this spring. The Falcons now have two games scheduled with La Crosse, Eau Claire, and Stout. The golf and tennis teams will meet La Crosse, St. Thomas, Stout and Eau Claire. The tennis team will also meet Concordia. The state championship tennis and golf matches will be held in Eau Claire this year.

The Falcons placed a man on both the first and second All-Conference basketball team this year. The first team consisted of Blank, Worman of Stout, and Nemeck of Superior at forwards; Lehman of Eau Claire at center; and Engdahl of Superior and Larson of Eau Claire at the guards. On the second team were Pederson of Eau Claire and Downing of Superior at forward; Colonel Larson at center; and Kolstad of Eau Claire and Ebbert of La Crosse at guards.

Ten men have been awarded major letters for their play during the past basketball season. They are: Blank, Randles, King, Krueger, Torgerson, Larson, Nelson, Schwartz, Bohmbach, and Martin.

Five of six teams in the regional tournament held in Eau Claire recently were coached by former Falcons. They were John O'Brien of Rib Lake, Isaacson of Altoona, Ove Ber- van of Spring Valley, La Dusire of Stanley, and Louis Kulas of Prescott. Spring Valley represented this dis-

State Officer Discusses Crime Before YMCA

Donald Elert Explains the Importance of Environment On Life of Growing Child

District probation officer, Mr. Donald R. Elert, who is in charge of five counties including Pierce and St. Croix addressed the YMCA Monday evening, March 27.

Chief cause of crime and delinquency, according to Mr. Elert, is poor home environment probably caused by parents of low intelligence, poverty, broken homes, or a combination of these factors.

Many of the cases he comes in contact with were cited by the speaker as results of liquor or the "gang" influence.

He explained the difference between parole and probation by saying that in parole a person is released to someone's direction after having served sentence for a time. Probation on the other hand is release immediately after conviction.

In speaking of juvenile criminals, the speaker stated, "If you can remove the juvenile criminal from debasing environment and bad influences, you can, in most cases, correct him and save both him and the state a great deal of trouble."

Comparative costs of keeping an offender in an institution or on probation definitely favored probation. Cost of keeping an individual on probation for one week is $1.15 while the cost of keeping him in prison is $5.00 per week. At present there are in Wisconsin 2900 persons under supervision, 1800 on probation and 1100 on parole.

Next Monday at 7:15 p. m. the YMCA and YWCA will meet in a joint Easter worship service at the Congregational church.

Hohman Writes Crop Outline

"Selecting and Exhibiting Farm Crops" is the subject of a 10 page outline recently compiled by Donovan Hohman, a junior in the agriculture department.

The outline contains information concerning the selection, preparation, and storage of small grain, corn, potato, legume, and vegetable exhibits. Mr. Hohman says, "I think an outline of this kind will be very valuable to a high school agriculture teacher, especially in connection with school fairs."

Mr. Hohman has based his material on his own personal experience as an exhibitor, as well as on score cards, and bulletins.

occurrence rights the difficulties. The supporting cast includes Ruth Peterson, Leonard Morley, Bill Lane, Norman Soderstrom and Marlys Lowe. Oatmeal is under the direction of Harriette Anderson.

When the sweethearts, Harriette, "Claudette Colbert," Anderson and Howard, "Clark Gable," Wert, return from their honeymoon in Paris. Their old grandparents, Joyce, "Jane Darwell," Beardsley and Niles, "Frank Morgan," Grunke expect them to "bill and coo" for weeks. They are rather surprised by the real happenings, but the maid Betty Jane Hogue, is not. The "old folks," however, surprise everyone, even themselves, by their own behavior. These amusing scenes from the married life of two generations show that perhaps the younger generation is not so very different after all. Sweethearts is directed by Howard Wert.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis "Billy Boy" Lane and "Betty Boop" Boardman are an ordinary young married couple worrying over the usual deluge of bills. The hilarious situations which result when Freddie "Swagger" Sweger is mistaken for a bill collector will make you laugh until your sides ache. Bills is under the direction of Robert Platt.

Radio Is Subject At Science Meet

Radio was the subject of Werner Gleiter's lecture at the Science Club meeting last Thursday evening. The program was in charge of the physics class.

Mr. Gleiter gave a brief sketch of the history of radio from the time of the discovery of radio waves by Hertz in 1871 to the present time. He told of the discoveries of the late Marconi, who is credited with being the father of radio, as well as the works of DeForest. The speaker also stated a few of the many things the radio was used for today. He said that it was better developed in Europe than it is in America. By means of some sketches, he explained the simple transmitter, the receiving set, and a vacuum radio tube. After his lecture, the speaker passed around some of the essential parts of the radio. He also displayed a transmitter and a sending set, which he had built himself. To show that they worked, he sent signals through his transmitter that were picked up by a regular radio set. The smallest radio tube in the world known as the acorn tube was also exhibited.

The agriculture department of the Science club will be in charge of the program at the meeting scheduled for next Thursday evening.

These two men also attended a meeting of Wisconsin teacher trainers and state supervisors of vocational agriculture held at Madison last Saturday.

Juedes Stars at Splash Affair

Splash was just another word for the party held Tuesday evening in the college pool. The place was turned into a veritable aquarium of activity when approximately 35 swimmers went into action.

Clifford Juedes, swimming instructor, was as usual performing at his best.

After numerous splashing games and occasionally a little tag, these happy "splashers" ended an evening of fun and gaiety.

Dr. Walker D. Wyman judged a debate contest between Rochester and Stillwater, Minnesota at Stillwater last night. The question debated was "Resolved that the United States should form a treaty of alliance with Great Britain".

Music Clinic Has Large Attendance

Between three and four hundred students representing 15 neighboring high schools participated in the first annual band clinic sponsored last Saturday, March 24, by the music department of the college under the direction of Professor B. J. Rozehnal.

Twenty-five of the contest selections to be used at the music festival next month were requested by the high school directors and played during the day. The morning session was devoted to orchestra work while the afternoon was given over to the band.

Approximately 100 of the high school musicians were invited to sit in with the college band and orchestra for various selections during the course of the day. Some of the high school directors also assisted Professor Rozehnal in directing the band.

The music department considers the venture a decided success and plans to make the band clinic an annual event.
