Debaters Meet Superior---Eau Claire Friday

CAGERS CINCH 3rd PLACE BY VICTORY AT SUPERIOR

In a hotly contested battle Coach Eggebrecht's basket ball team displayed their strength by administering a second defeat to the fast traveling Superior Normal at Superior last Friday night by the low score of 13 to 10. The victory broke the tie between Superior and River Falls for third place in the conference running. As Superior a few weeks previous handed the Eau Claire Normal a beating, it looks as if Eau Claire was our jinx this year, as they handed us our two defeats.

The Red & White opened up on Superior with the same form displayed in the Augsburg game. In the first few minutes of play, Heebing caged

LAWRENCE-RIPON DEBATERS STAGE EXHIBITION TILTS

Debating before a packed auditorium at the High School last Friday evening, teams from Lawrence and Ripon Colleges staged a highly interesting discussion of the proposition of curbing the Supreme Court—the same question which our teams will argue out with Superior and Eau Claire this Friday.

The arguments presented showed evidence at times of being presented more to catch the ear of high school students than to convince a discriminating judge. The reason is that the Wisconsin Colleges discarded the usual system of having expert judges to decide the winner, and are resting their debates on the decision of high school audiences.

Our next issue will be a "Tournament Special." Students from towns which will send teams are asked to give the Student Voice all possible advance "dope" on their teams. ONE EXCITING NIGHT

One of the best mystery movies recently produced will be shown in the auditorium tonight. Made by D. W. Griffith, this film lives up to the name in all respects. It is 11-reels long and crammed full of mystery, love, intrigue, and excitment. Altho this show is for the benefit of the High School, we not only want your 25 cents, but we also want you to see a good movie. The show starts at 7:30. Zamjohn and Moore will play.

MELETEAN GOING STRONG

The Meletean Staff tells us that the work on their book is proceeding rapidly, and is of fine quality throughout. The following extract from a letter from the engravers who are doing the Meletean work would seem to more than bear out their statement:

This is an extract from a letter from F. D. Fredell of Buckbee-Mears Co., Engravers, St. Paul.

"I want to thank the staff especially for the excellent manner in which their material was presented and laid out. The groups, snap shots, etc., were exceptionally good and the art work on the sketches was excellent—in fact the art work represented in your work was as good as any college annual work I've ever seen and better than the average."

Y. M. SECRETARY ENTERTAINED

Mr. McKee, the state Y. M. secretary, was with us last week. Our organization, as well as the whole school, profited from his visit. Mr. McKee seems to be very capable, and we expect many good things of him in the future. He gave the men an inspirational talk on "choices" at cur regular meeting last week. His comments on the attitude of the students were very favorable; especially did he commend the spirit of good fellowship that exists between the students and the faculty.

NORTHERN CHAMPIONSHIP IN DEBATING IS AT STAKE

Friday evening the debate teams of all of the Normals in Wisconsin will meet in contests to decide the championship of the three leagues into which the state is divided. The Northern League, of which River Falls is a member, is composed of Superior, Eau Claire, and River Falls. Our negative team will meet the Eau Claire Affirmative; the Eau Claire affirmative will go to Superior; and the Superior negative will come to River Falls to clash with our affirmative.

Our negative will go to Eau Claire with firm determination to even up the two defeats Eau Claire has handed us in Basket Ball this year. There is even more than this back of their determination to come back

SHOULD EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES BE REGULATED?

In this school, as in every other school, there are a few people on whom the major part of the extracurricular activities devolve. It has also been observed that it is the people that have the most to do who are the most apt to take on even more outside work, and carry it to a satisfactory completion.

One of the primary aims of this institution is to develop executive ability and leadership in the students who are to go out as teachers. However, with the present system of allowing the individual student to decide how much outside work he shall undertake, some students are getting an overdose, and some students graduate without having ever had the experience of coming before an audience, conducting a meeting, or handling the executive end of an organization. As long as the individual student is allowed to arbitrate the matter in his own individual case, this state of things will prevail. It is only by the general adoption of a point system for the regulation of the amount of extra-curricular work that the work can be more evenly distributed among the students.

There is no doubt but that the people that are handling this work at the present time are doing a very satisfactory job, but it cannot be denied that there are many people in the student body that have just as much ability along some lines, and yet never get into the work. These people who are at present carrying more work than they know how to handle would welcome the opportunity to spend a few uninterrupted minutes at their studies, and at the same time, the people who would like to have some such interest, but who are too bashful to step up and offer their services, would have the opportunity to realize their ambitions. We suggest that the different organizations of the school cooperate in the drafting of a point system for the limiting of extra-curricular activity, each activity or each office held counting so many points, and a maximum number of points being fixed, which maximum no student would be allowed to exceed. Would it not be possible in this way to more evenly distribute this work, and bring about a more satisfactory state of affairs? The Student Voice staff welcomes expressions of student opinion. Let's hear from you.

N. C. A.

A fine program was given at the last N. C. A. meeting. Mr. Saxton and Jennings each gave dandy talks. A short discussion of the talks followed. President Burke read "Papini's" prayer to Christ. This prayer is written for all people, regardless of their religious beliefs.

At the meeting March 3, Prof. Junkman will speak. All that have heard him before, need not be reminded of the treat that such a talk offers. To those Catholics who have not heard him as yet, we would say, "Hear him the first chance you get."

Election of officers for the rest of the year will also be held at Tuesday's meeting. "COMMENTS ON

OUR DEBATERS"

The Affirmative

"Peg Bailey," is a wonder, She is going to meet Superior this week.

She says "We're going to win in the debate,"

Because, compared to us they're weak.

"Fred Wandrey," is big in statue, He is big in brain work too, He is big enough to beat Superior I think so, now don't you?

"Dizzy Smith," is a terror,
He debates with lots of fight,
He says, he will tell those Superior
guys,

Just exactly, what is right.

The Negative

"John C. Burke," is tall and slender But he's got the facts they say, He's going to put it over on Eau Claire

In a real convincing way.

"Peg McDermott," is an expert And she is going to Eau Claire this week,

And when she presents her negative case,

They will think their case is weak.

"King Ames," is another,
And at debating, he is O. K.
He knows the question from A to Z,
On Friday, he will say his say.

The Entire Squad

All in all, they're a jolly good bunch,
With knowledge and gab galore,
They study a lot—get razzed a lot,
But still are ready for more.
Eau Claire and Superior
Are our opponents now
Lets beat them, lets be winners
Lets continue in the row.

a neat basket from the foul line. Donovan came through with a free throw, which made the count 3 to 0, which looked like quite a margin. Neither was able to score for some time, both sides playing a strong defensive game. Cleberg and Donovan found the net and ran the score up to 7 to 3 for River Falls as the half ended. Tommy O'Neil sank the lone goal for Superior.

Superior came back strong in the second half, with a rushing offensive and ran their score up to six while the locals were content with their score of the first half. Gibson, who went in for Donovan, started the Falls scoring in the second half with a field goal after ten minutes of play. At this juncture the game grew more fast and furious. The score stood at 10-11 with River Falls still in the lead which they took at the outset and held throughout.

In the last minutes of play, with both the score and the crowd on the fence, Donovan again came through at the opportune time, and sank the field goal which put the game on ice.

As the score indicates, it was a strong defensive game, and the bulwark of the Normal defensive was centered in Mike Heebink, who played a whale of a game. Neither team was able to augment the score from the foul route; River Falls made 3 out of 12 tries, and Superior 4 out of 10. Donovan was high point man of the game with two field goals and one free throw.

AUGSBERG

Perhaps no Minnesota College conference five received such a drubbing by the Red & White as was handed Augsburg College of Minneapolis here last Tuesday night. The final score was 45 to 18, and every man on the Normal squad got into the game; the score was probably less than it would have been had the regular five played throughout the game.

Augsburg counted immediately after the tip off on a field goal, but at no other time during the game did they have a look in. Donovan started the bombardment shortly after for the Red & White, and thereafter the Normal goal was kept hot with shots from all angles of the court.

The Falls ran up a 18 to 3 score in quick time, before Augsburg broke the spell for a few minutes. Dawson went in for Dawson and Gibson for Donovan. Shortly before the half Quandt sunk his first goal, which gave every man on the team a field goal in the first half, which ended 25 to 8.

Augsburg showed up a little better at the start of the second half but Heebink and Cleberg continued piling up the points for the Normal from all sides. Numerous substitutions were made by both teams. Upon intercepting a couple of our passes near his goal, Audall got two field goals for his mates. Crose, who lead the Minnesota Conference in scoring up until a short time ago, secured two field goals during the game.

The game marked the final appearance on the local court of our sturdy Red & White basket cagers, Capt. Bergman, Quandt, Heebink, Cleberg and Donovan. Unfortunately Bergman was again forced out of the game with an infected arm and could not participate in the final home game. Heebink, Quandt and Donovan played bang up basket ball and made their final stand impressive. Heebink caged six nice goals during the game, and Donovan and Quandt came through with three and two goals respectively.

The Young People's Organization of the Congo church have been very fortunate in having a special entertainer for Sunday, March 8. This entertainer will furnish music by playing on everything, including the violin, piano, and glasses. So if you want a real enjoyable evening be sure to come out.

Would it be possible for New Richmond to play a better basket ball game if they had a team composed of all Irishmen, instead of two-fifths Swedes? A good leader in the revival of athletics is needed before the tournament, otherwise the interest and anxiety in previous years will be lacking.

A general committee composed of the cabinets of the Y. M. and Y W., representatives of the N. C. A. work will give a series of lectures before the student body sometime in April, similar to those given by J. Stitt Wilson last year. Reynold Jenson was elected general chairman of the committee, and preparations are already under way to make Sherwood Eddy's coming one of the big events of the year.

At the G. A. No definite action was taken, but after a lengthy discussion, it was decided that at the next meeting the question would be further considered, with a probable amendment to the constitution. Plans for track work were discussed, and after the business meeting, all enjoyed a fine supper together.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

There was a fine representation of the Ag. students at the Farmers' Institute both days. It goes without question that a good deal of worth while information was obtained from the talks of such men as Prof. Morrison and Dr. Healy.

Otto Kruizier, located at Cameron, Wis., has been re-engaged as Agricultural instructor for another year with a fine raise in salary.

Buford Smith, located at Green Lake, Wis., has recently been reelected to his present position as Agricultural instructor in the Green Lake High School.

Prof. Prucha's Soils class had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Musback of the Marshfield Experiment Station. Mr. Musback discussed the problem of phosphorus and made several tests of soils obtained in Pierce county, thereby, showing the need of adding some elements to the soil.

with a win, for it is fast coming to be one of the traditions of the debate squad for us to trim Eau Claire. In the four years that Coach Mitchell has been in charge of our forensic fortunes, Eau Claire has been able to get but one judge out of twelveand that one the first year, when River Falls was forced to put in its alternate just three hours before the debate. This is not to be taken as meaning that Eau Claire is going to be any too easy, though, for they started work several months earlier this year; and will doubtless put a strong team against us.

Our affirmative faces quite another situation in its debate with Superior on the home platform. In the last four years, River Falls has won but one debate from the upstaters. Last year we lost unanimously to them. Every year, however, the debate has been a battle from start to finish; and it promises to be an even hotter one this year, since the locals are determined to go to the limit to break Superior's winning streak. The Superior team which comes against us recently gave the Carrol College affirmative a decisive trimming, so they can be trusted to put up the usual brand of debating against us.

Debates between our two first teams would seem to indicate conclusively that the affirmative goes into these debates with a rather heavy handicap. In a series of three debates, the negative have won once by a two to one count, and twice unanimously. Except for the first time the debates have been bitterly contested, but every time the negative has proved to have a shade of an advantage. However, since each of our teams is thoroughly acquainted with the case of the other, and know just what to say to every argument; this can not be taken as an indication of what will happen in the Friday debates, when a large share of the debate will hinge on the ability of one team to analyze the case of the other while "under fire."

However, no matter how the debate goes, the debaters promise that it will be scrappy enough to make you feel mighty glad you heard it. Come out and help the team clean up on Superior!

THINK ABOUT HOUSE KEEPING

Anyone who had any eyes in his head could see last Monday that the magazine that Catherine Chapman and her "friend" from Lawrence College were reading for several hours in the library was proving exceedingly interesting. Smothered exclamations of excitement and delight came so frequently from the two heads bent over the entrancing sheet that it took all of 'Miss Kimball's restraint to keep her from going over and breaking up the touching scene. It remained, however, for an inquisitive student to discover the cause of the close attention with which they were reading-the magazine was "The House Beautiful." 'Catherine wont tell us if they succeeded in picking out the one that suited them

PROMINENT STUDENTS ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Miss Ellen Lewis and Mr. Fred Wandrey gave their many friends an agreeable surprise when their betrothal was inadvertently announced at the party given to the debaters last Wednesday night by Mr. Mitchell. They are vehement in their protests that they didn't intend that it should be known, and that they don't want it known; but the STUD-ENT VOICE feels that it would be a capital crime to keep such an interesting secret.

Mrs. Mitchell informs us that it took her several hours to sweep up all the beans that were scattered as an impromtu substitute for rice. She says, however, that it was worth the trouble; since Fred would have been rather disappointed if this part of the celebration had been dispensed with.
