ST. THOMAS TO PLAY HERE 15; TEAM GOES TO HAMLINE 12

Coach Cox will launch his squad against Hamline College of St. Paul Saturday night in the Piper's gym. The game will probably show pre-season form, but it should prove a lively one with McMahn of Hamline in the game. The Pipers will have to step lively to stop Capt. Cleberg, Syverud, Price, Landis, Zamjohn, Lowell Dawson, Quandt, and Gibson.

The other game will probably be with St. Thomas College here, Tuesday, the 15th. The cadets always put out strong combinations. Four letter men and three members of last year's squad compose the main strength of the Tommies. This will be the first home game for the Red & White, and everyone should turn out to see the boys perform.

Modern Romeo Courts "Maud the Third"

If you would know how to subdue a servant who insists upon running her employers family, how to deal with bootleggers, or what advantages the modern generation has over those which have come before don't miss the three one act plays which are being given at the Normal Auditorium Friday night.

The first of the three concerns itself with the trials and tribulations of the family who is ruled by a tyrannical servant. The second of the series portrays the struggle of the dry agents against the bootlegger, the troubles between a stage manager, a patrolman, and several workers. The fact that eight of the original fourteen husky men lie cold and dead when the final curtain goes down all helps add to the pathos and tragedy of this irresistible

LIBRARY HOURS ARE CHANGED FOR WINTER TERM

The students will be glad to know that the library will be open evenings. Many industrious students will find the hours very convenient, and will undoubtedly make good use of the opportunity.

The library hours will be as follows for the winter term:
Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—7:50-11:40 a. m.; 12:50-7:45 p. m.

Thursday and Friday—7:50-11:40 a. m.; 12:50-5:00 p. m.

Saturday morning—9:00-12:00.
Students are urged to take advantage of the additional hours during which the library is now open.

MR. GUY V. ALDRICH

GENERAL STATE SECRETARY TO ADDRESS STUDENT BODY

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, December 16 and 17, Mr. Guy V. Aldrich will be here to deliver a series of addresses to our student body. Mr. Aldrich comes highly recommended as a fine platform man, young, and attractive, which should make him interesting to a group of college students.

Mr. Aldrich comes to us as the general state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. He has had sixteen years of experience in "Y" work. His splendid background of experience as a young people's worker consists of several years as State Secretary of Iowa; extensive travel, and six or seven years as Executive Secretary of the Central Y. M. C. A. at Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Aldrich is recommended to us as a live,

ORATORY ELIMINATIONS TO BE MADE NEXT WEEK

The first cut in the size of the oratory group will be made next Thursday, when the six people who have written their orations, and are prepared to give them, will appear before the assembly. Three of the six will be chosen to continue their work, the final elimination to be made later. In the final elimination, one orator will be chosen to represent "The Falls" in the state contest, which will be held here.

MR. GOBLE RESUMES DUTIES AFTER PROLONGED ILLNESS

The entire student body and faculty members were delighted to see Mr. Goble able to return to his work in school Monday. Mr. Goble has been ill since August, and was not able to teach the first term. However, he is now with us again, and we sincerely hope Mr. Goble will continue to gain strength, and thus continue his work.

NEW DEBATE QUESTION DECIDED; DEBATERS START WORK

The long vacation which the debate squad has been enjoying is over, for the controversy has been settled, and a new debate question has been chosen. The question is: "Resolved, that Congress should be empowered by federal amendment to regulate the employment of all people under eighteen years of age."

The debate squad resumed operations Monday afternoon, and are now "hard at it" to get the squad in shape for the practice debates after Christmas.

The Minnesota Colleges are debating this same question; so Mr. Mitchell will undoubtedly schedule a number of practice debates with them. The fact that the high schools are also debating this question will make it possible for the second team to find good opposition in practice bouts.

The first inter-normal debate is with Eau Claire and Superior March 4. With a competent squad to pick the teams from, an excellent coach, and a good student body, why can't we have a forensic championship?

Nineteen Football Men Awarded Letters

The Athletic Council voted the following men football letters: Capt. Nelson, Beran, Brooks, Collins, Lowell Dawson, Lawrence Dawson, Feske, Gibson, Helwig, Heggen, Ingli, Jenson, Paulson, Quandt, Rademacher, Syverud, Weber, Wennerberg, and Zamjohn. Of this fine squad of men that Coach Cox turned into championship form, ten will be lost by graduation. Gibson, Heggen, Ingli, Jenson, Rademacher, Syverud, and Zamjohn, will be lost to the line, while Capt. Nelson, Brooks, and Quandt will be missing from next year's backfield.

Ingli, Nelson, and Quandt have set a remarkable record that will stand a long time. Out of the 12 conference games they have played while in River Falls uniform, they have helped bring home the bacon 11 times.

TWO EXCELLENT PROGRAMS PRESENTED LAST WEEK

The entertainment given by the Scandinavian Bell Ringers before a full house Wednesday was of a type never before presented in this city. Perfect harmony was achieved by all working together as one man, each player being unique in his place. The music held the audience wrapped in wonder and admiration. The intermittent numbers given by home talent added to the success of the evening. This entertainment was one of the most successful and enjoyable of the year.

POULTRY AND GRAIN SHOW TO BE GIVEN DECEMBER 10 & 11

It has been the custom of the Ag. Department for the past six years to put on a Poultry and Grain Show. This year is no exception, but to glorify and strengthen the custom, we are endeavoring to make this year's show bigger and better than ever. We are certain that this is possible, because, in the first place, our resources are larger. The Poultry show is now incorporated, which means that we receive state aid in paying premiums for honors received in the show. In the past years the attitude of some people has been that because of the small premiums paid, they did not think it worth while to exhibit their poultry or grain. To compensate this, larger premiums are being offered.

A second reason why this show is going to be larger and better than ever before is that we have a more extensive and better program. The program starts Thursday at 8:00 p. m., the main feature of the evening being a talk by T. S. Lackey, a representative of the State Department of Agriculture.

Friday is the big day. The program will be a special one given especially for the Rural Schools of this community. However, if there are any students who do not have classes Friday afternoon, and who like good entertainment, spend their spare time in the auditorium, and enjoy an excellent program. If you think that you shouldn't go because this is promoted by the Agricultural Department, read the following

Prof. Cochran To Present "The Man of the Hour"

Mr. I. M. Cochran of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., will give "The Man of the Hour" at Thursday's Assembly. Those of you who were here two years ago will remember that Mr. Cochran read "The Fortune Hunter" at an assembly program. You will also remember the great interest and enjoyment shown by the audience and the ability of Mr. Cochran as an interpreter of plays.

"The Man of the Hour" was written by George Broadhurst, and probably no play of modern times has aroused as much interest as this. An announcement sent out by the Mutual Lyceum and Chautauqua System of Chicago, gives the following comments: "The Man of the Hour" is a story full of human interest, and has many thrilling, dramatic situations. It sparkles with wit and humor." It also states that Mr. Cochran occupies a place in

The basketball season is here, and our team will soon be playing their opening games. Are we going to be present with our pep? We showed that we had some real school spirit toward the end of the football season. Are we going to wait until the last part of the basketball season before we show our pep? Of course not. We're going to back that team right from the first, and show them that we want the state championship in basketball as well as in football. We cannot expect our team to win if we don't show them that we want them to; so let's be present at every game. We want a championship basketball team.

To a school that has become so all absorbed in athletics as we have, the idea of no inter-school athletics seems preposterous. When the idea is mentioned we immediately wail, "There wouldn't be anybody left in school—we wouldn't have any fun," and so on. However, the following article presents an interesting phase of the subject.

"We met the football situation at Antioch some time ago by abolishing all intercollegiate football. Today all of our students are in athletics, and the elimination of football has made possible a normal distribution of interest in athletics.

Our student body represents every section of the United States, and about ten foreign countries. Each year, the applications received, are several times as many as can be accepted. What has been the effect of the elimination of football on the number of applications?

Applications have increased about 25 percent in quantity, and the average quality shows a marked improvement. This is in the face of the fact that we have increased tuition and added a thorough-going physical examination as a requisite with each application.

The elimination of football has certainly not been a serious handicap. Desirable students who left college because of the banning of football were of a fraction of one percent.

"We have found that our action we met with general approval everywhere."

President Arthur E. Morgan,
Antioch College.

"EXAMS"

"I am not satisfied with the marks I received in my tests last week, moreover, I have been wondering who is at fault. I am certain that it must be the instructor I had, for it could not have been my fault. I believe the test was not a fair one. The first question was one he knew that I did not know. I wish that I had known the answer to it, and thus been able to fool him. My class standing must have been good, as I was able to bluff in that class. At any rate, the fact that I did not do much work in that class gives me some satisfaction."

"Yes, I used to be a fool and think stuff like that. I believed that it was not fair that I was never able to stand the "acid test," either in school, or life. The "get by" theory did not seem to work; for example, bum checks did me more harm than good. When I quit knocking my teacher, and kicked myself, I found that the results were actually better. Of course, this procedure is not pleasant, except "in the long run."

"I have decided to prove to myself, and others, that I "have the stuff in me," and it can be brought out. In place of telling everyone about this, I'm going to try doing it. I guess I was not playing the game square with myself before; what do you think?"

spirited man who knows people. Being a young man himself, and a graduate of Bates College, Maine, he has not forgotten the problems of the small college students.

Last night all the religious organizations met together to hear Rev. Harrington speak on Labor and the Church. Let us, next week all join hands in showing Mr. Aldrich that River Falls is alive and working as a unit.

We feel that River Falls is fortunate in having these men here of this calibre, but we feel still more that she has a finer spirit of unity and cooperation than any other college we know of. Let's show Mr. Aldrich we are dynamic.

movie shown Monday evening at the auditorium was not as well attended as it should have been. Jack Pickford with Norma Shearer were featured in "Waking up the Town." The comedy drama caused the audience to laugh as well as shudder. We often have wondered just how the world would come to an end, if ever that hour should come. Those who saw "Waking up the Town" know; those who didn't missed something; so it would be wise for us all to attend the next movie.

ORGANIZATION NOTES

RURALITES

Dorothy Erickson, of Athens, Wis., has enrolled in the Rural Course.

Mrs. Ruby Iverson, who completed the Rural Course last term, is teaching in the Spring Lake school, located near Spring Valley, Wis.

The following students are beginning their practice: Ethel Peterson, Nellie McKernon, Alta Burdick, and Leota Prichard, at the Glover Station School; Helen Johnson, Blanche Monichen, Harry Ellefson, and Erven Larson, at the Kinnickinnic School, and Blanche Hurlburt, Joe Seely, and Michael Wahl, at the Liberty Hill School.

We hope to run the Normal car to the Kinnickinnic School until Christmas.

PRACTICE TEACHERS ENTERTAIN

Among the pleasant occurrences of the past term of practice was a party given at Segerstrom's by the elementary practice teachers for their critics.

The program opened with a welcome to the critics by Miss Bridges.

Song—Lucille Johnson

Debate—Topic: "Resolved, that the price of eggs in U. S. affects the price of limberger cheese in China."

Affirmative—Miss Smith, Miss Greene.

Negative—Miss Hathorne, Miss Hatch.

Sketches of Miss Hatch and Miss Bridges by Miss Clawson.

Mock Wedding

Minister—Doris Tyvol

Mother—Lucille Johnson

Ring Bearer—Thelma Best

Flower Girl—Winifred Stephens

Bride (Representing Miss

Horton)—Ella Mae Jones Bridegroom (Representing Mr.

Cox)—Mabel Beastro

After the program each person made a booklet showing her baby days, girlhood days, her ideal man, her first proposal, how she looked as a bride, and her first home.

A delicious luncheon was served. Everyone reported a good time.

DINNERS AND TEAS

Mrs. Stratton and Miss Bridges entertained at dinner Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Junkman, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Segerstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Hanna, Misses Bradly, Delander, and Weberg were the guests.

Last Wednesday Misses Delander and Birdsell entertained at four o'clock tea: the Junior High School practice teachers, Misses Kimball, Fuller, Fobes, Horton, Mrs. Patton, and President and Mrs. Ames.

Customer: "I don't want to buy any of your crackers; they tell me that the mice are always running over them."

Grocer: "That ain't so; why, the cat sleeps in the barrel every night."

TWO HUNDRED STUDENTS MISS A GOOD PROGRAM

Last Thursday evening the Civic Club and Mozart Club held a joint meeting—dealing with Modernism in Music. Due to many distractions Thursday evening about two hundred students who are interested in this line were absent.

The meeting was one of the best held this year. Miss Wharton gave the history of music. She had several demonstration numbers which were played by Ruth Bailey and Gladys Bleisner. Miss Hatch presented the ultra-modern type of music, and Sid Scoville gave his views of jazz. The meeting ended with a good lively discussion about modern music.

As a remedy for this lack of attendance the Civic Club is circulating a petition which recommends changing the hour of meeting to 8:00 p. m. instead of 7:00.

MR. KARGES ENTERTAINS THE QUANTITATIVE CHEMISTRY CLASS

The night before examination in Quantitative Chemistry Mr. Karges entertained that class by allowing them to show him how much they could cram in an hour. Everyone was faced with a plate heaped with excellent home made dishes, prepared in a delightful manner. After finishing the first, everyone, in true chemist style, tried a second helping to see if the first was correct. However, most of those present seem to agree that their eyesight failed them, for they could hardly find room for the dessert.

After such a feat the class entered into a general social discussion after dinner talks. The results of the questionnaire were read so that Mr. Karges could correctly make out the marks. By the way, Don McKinnon was indeed the ladies man. At ten o'clock the class thanked the host and departed.

MODERN POMPO COURTS "MAUD THE THIRD"

comedy. The third and last play of the evening is given in three scenes. The first scene, which is in the year 1870, vividly portrays the wooing of the lovely Maud the first. The second raising of the curtain finds Maud the second as the center of attraction, being courted by a gallant knight of 1897. The final scene shows the modern Maud the third, in the year of 1925. The comic situations are numerous, and the evening will be an enjoyable one.

It is the custom here at River Falls to show our appreciation of the work that the football men do by awarding sweaters. The athletics budget does not provide for buying these sweaters, so the athletic council takes this means of procuring the funds. The admission is 35c. with an additional charge of 15c for reserved seats.

Isn't it queer that Flappers are often Flunkers.

This and that

Everyone was discussing grades Monday.

"Bob" Gardiner spent the week-end at Menomonie.

Mr. Goble is back after a long absence due to illness.

The Women's League held their meeting Monday night.

Stella Pederson attended a bridge party Thursday night.

President and Mrs. Ames entertained at dinner one day last week.

Eva Davidson and Gertrude Merrill spent the week-end in the cities.

Elma Aamodt and Cora Kielsmier spent the week-end in Spring Valley.

Adelade Keating spent last week-end at her home in New Richmond.

Margaret Prosser visited with Ellen Burke at Ellen's home in Minneapolis.

Marie Singleton spent the week-end near Hudson, where she taught last year.

Evelyn Walker and Dorothy Janes spent the week-end visiting friends in Minneapolis.

Marcel Lyman spent the week-end in Minneapolis. Marce "darn" near froze coming home Sunday.

A large number of students enjoyed themselves skiing and tobogganing over the week-end.

Sid Scoville got his "old boat" thawed out long enough to motor to Ellsworth Sunday afternoon.

All those who attended the party given by Ruby Audette last Saturday night, report a very good time.

Mr. Malott and Lucille spent Saturday in the city. They believe in doing their Christmas shopping early.

Archie Paulson and Vernon Lomer went hunting Sunday afternoon. They probably got a "shot" at something, but they failed to bring home the bacon.

The first term grades arrived here Monday after being on the way for twelve weeks. Some arrived in good condition, while some were injured in transit.

Mr. Mitchell spoke at the P. T. A. at Cable last week. Three of our alumni are teaching there. Coit Boardman, Principal; Manilla Goff and Myrtle Jacobson.

All members of the Third Year Senior Class have paid their class dues of one dollar for the Fall term. It is to be hoped that they as well as other classes, will keep up the good work the coming terms.

Dr. Henry Merritt Wriston, newly innaugurated president of Lawrence College, is probably one of the youngest college presidents in the United States. He succeeds Dr. Samuel Plantz, who died November 14, 1925, after serving as president for thirty years.

Dr. Wriston was installed as the ninth president of Lawrence College by Louis Müller Alexander, president of the board of trustees on November 24.

Robert Heggen left school at the end of the past term.

Smiles and frowns tell the tale. Were his grades A's or F's?

Erma Wenzel entertained several girls at her home Monday evening.

Weaver left town. He is planning to attend the U. of Wisconsin.

There will be no Agrifallian meeting this week, but plan for a big one next Thursday night.

POULTRY AND GRAIN SHOW TO BE GIVEN DECEMBER 10 AND 11

"This is no bull; you can't make me the goat! Get out of my way, you big cow! Hay! did you know that when the Junior Live Stock Special pulled in at eight o'clock, Wednesday, November 23, that there was a bigger turnout of high school students than on any other occasion?"

This shows what is meant by good spirit. It showed interest. It showed that those students could get out if they desired. It may have been the novelty of the thing, but anyway, they were there. It showed that they had the pep to put it across. Now let's show our spirit and pep and make this our largest turnout for anything of this kind.

Perhaps the event that will furnish the greatest abundance of laughter for this part of the program will be a debate, entitled "Dot Famous Chicken Debate," by four clever, black faced comedians. One of the comedians is Vic Peterson, and you will know what a remarkable conversion from a Swede to a negro we have made when you hear Vic play his part. The other three comedians are his contemporaries, in past celebrations. Students that have heard this debate, elsewhere, claim they never laughed so hard in their lives.

Then Mr. McNeil, State Boys' and Girls' Club leader, will give a talk. The talk will have as its purpose entertainment for the pupils of the rural school. The whole program primarily has this purpose, but Mr. McNeil plans chiefly to entertain our Rural friends, and in so doing entertain everybody. Everybody that has heard him know that within five minutes after he has started to talk to you that he can make you stand and sit, whistle or sing, clap your hands, or stamp your feet at will. It is our conviction that he is the wittiest and peppiest talker that can be obtained for such an affair. Of course, he is not going to have everybody do all these things, but it gives one a lot of pleasure to watch Mr. McNeil entertain a group of young people.

No program would be complete without music. So Rady's Stringed quartette will furnish a varied program of music that will make you feel like doing everything from a light fantastic, to a jig or the Charleston. That's doing a lot, but we have a lot of confidence in Rady and his gang.

Another number will be a talk by Mr. Seyforth, County Agent for Pierce county. After every appearance, Mr. Seyforth is always asked back, because he always delivers a message that we are always glad to welcome.

Concluding the whole program, three of the best students that we have in the Ag. Department, will give educational demonstrations.

Thus far our friends from the country have been only listeners, but they are going to show us that they also are qualified to perform before an audience. To fulfill their qualifications, the Clifton Hollow Club, will put on a demonstration. The nature of their demonstration is not known, but we know that we will not be disappointed with their work, because they are always eager to do their best when they get a chance to perform here at the Normal.

From all reports these Rural pupils are tuned to the highest pitch, awaiting the arrival of this show. Talks have been delivered before them, which, of course, accounts for their eagerness. They look forward to this day as one of the biggest days of their school year, so lets not disappoint them. They are coming with the idea of being entertained, and also to return the compliments. So, again "Let's not disappoint them."

The Poultry and Grain Show consists of other things besides entertainment of all sorts. It consists of a very large number of exhibits. The exhibits consist of fowls of all kinds and breeds, and of grains of all kinds and varieties. So if you can't attend the program, at least glance over the fine and numerous exhibits.

The following are some press

comments:

"Prof. I. M. Cochran proved himself an artist—a spell binder—and was given an ovation at each appearance. He was generous in his encores, and it was with reluctance that he was released without further demands from the audience. The professor made a friend of everyone in the vast assemblage, and this initial visit assures him of a return date to the city."—The Evening Herald, Huntington, Indiana.

"A great impersonator. He keeps his audience in the very best of humor from start to finish."—Boston, Mass., Transcript.
