Regents vote to retain U.C. funding policy

United Council, Wisconsin's state-wide student advocacy group, retained its current method of raising money at the latest UW Board of Regents meeting July 15 and 16.

After extensive debate the Regents voted for continuation of United Council's "mandatory refundable fee" mechanism.

The mandatory refundable fee, approved by the Regents two years ago, charges most UW System students 50 cents per semester as a means of financing the system-wide lobbying and organizational efforts of United Council.

"We see the Regents vote as a major victory for student rights," remarked United Council president Scott Bentley. "It demonstrates that the Regents are confident that students in Wisconsin are able to participate in and make decisions about the things that affect them."

The Regents endorsed the funding process despite a Chancellor's subcommittee report recommending the implementation of an alternative funding method.

In testimony before the Board of Regents, Bentley said that the mandatory refundable fee funding formula had allowed the student group to "expand and professionalize its operations" by providing a stable financial base.

"Any other funding alternative would diminish our role from student advocates to student fundraisers," continued Bentley. "The mandatory refundable fee has allowed United Council to articulate the needs of students on both a state and national level—often enhancing the University's efforts as well."

Although the mandatory refundable fee is an involuntary contribution by students, students may request a refund of their fifty cents if they choose not to support the actions or policies of United Council.

The eleven UW System campuses that belong to United Council also hold regular referendums to determine the degree of general student support for the organization.

Officers from several UW System student associations also testified before the Board, asking for a continuation of the funding process.

In other action at the Board meeting the Regents considered the establishment of competency levels for incoming UW System students and discussed an instructional costs plan that would shift emphasis away from enrollment figures.

The hardest places to find and how to find them

Welcome to UW-River Falls. To help ease your way into the "college scene," a warning should be issued; UW-RF is not the easiest campus to find your way around at.

For example, if you have a great fear of getting lost, do not sign up for any classes in the Fine Arts Building. People have been known to roam the halls for weeks not knowing where they are going. Everyone knows that lost feeling—everyone was a freshman once.

In an effort to untangle the mess, this article will present the ten hardest places to find on campus and how to find them.

1—Food Science Offices; in the basement of May Hall. These rooms have caused confusion for many years but they may not cause so much trouble once the Food Science Addition is finished.

The easiest way to find the Food Science offices is to enter the double doors on the back of May Hall, on the west side (next to the wrestling gym). Go down the stairs, turn left and go through the door into the lab. The offices are on the other side of the lab. Note—The easiest way to tell directions in this town is to use the buildings. North Hall is north and South Hall is south.

2—The Green Room. This is a place where tennis can be played year round if anyone knew where it was. It is also a place where the Phy-Ed department stores equipment. The entrances to this room are in the back of the locker rooms in the basement of Karges Center.

3—Sports Information. This is the place where news releases and pictures for sporting events are compiled. To find this you go to the southwest entrance of North Hall. Take a right as you go through the basement door and you should see a sign that reads "Sports Information." Go to the end of the small hallway and enter the last room.

4—A variety of offices that includes the Government Documents room. There is a little known hall in the basement of Davee Library which contains this and other rooms. To get there, enter the main doors and take a left. Take another left and go down the stairs. At the bottom of the stairs go diagonally through the lounge area.

Also in this hall are the Instructional Materials Center, Audio/Visual Services, a Museum Display, Archives and the Government Documents Room.

5—Music Lab. This is a place where many of the freshmen will go in the next few weeks. Stand in between the Centennial Science Hall (chemistry building) and the Fine Arts Building. Face the Fine Arts Building and take the sidewalk to the building. Enter and go up the stairs (all the way up) until you come to the music lab. If you try to find this place any other way you may have trouble. Note—Once you have found your "hard to find" place, take a different way out to get acquainted with the building. It's easier to get out than to get to a specific place.

6—Rodli Office. This is moderately hard to find. If you have problems with your food identification (lose it or it is stolen) or if you have a complaint (like food poisoning) the Rodli Office is the place to go.

Enter Rodli from either direction. If you come from the west take a right at the top of the first small flight of stairs. (If you come from the other direction you take a left.) Go through the doors to the hallway where the restrooms are located. By the Men's room is a long corridor. The Rodli Office is a window on your left.

7—All Hathorn Offices; the most important of which is the Housing Office. To get to these offices, enter Hathorn through the east doors (the entrance that is somewhat lower than the other entrances). Come around to the right and go down the hall on the second floor. You should see the Housing Office. The offices are not difficult to find in Hathorn, it's just finding out which offices are in Hathorn.

8—Gameroom. This is easy to find if you go in the right door. Stand between the Student Center building and the Ag Science building. Spot the sign that reads "1964" on the Student Center building and walk through the doors that are close to that. Take a left and go down the stairs and into the gameroom.

9—Student Senate/HUB. Enter the Student Center complex through the large bank of doors facing Hardee's. Go down the long hall until you come to a stairway. At the top of the stairs will be the Student Senate Office and the HUB office.

10—Speech Department. Go to the Fine Arts Building walking along the sidewalk that is parallel with Cascade. Walk as far as the St. Thomas Moore Chapel and take a right into the Fine Arts Building. Go up the stairs and through the door. About three-quarters of the way down the hall on the left is the Speech Department.

The hardest thing to find on this campus is peace of mind but I have no directions for that. Good luck in your treks around campus.

State nuke vote sends Reagan message

Students have the opportunity to help send an important message to President Reagan and Congress. During this year's primary elections September 14, voters will be able to voice their opinions on a state-wide referendum concerning the nuclear freeze and reduction.

The referendum reads: "Shall the Secretary of State of Wisconsin inform the President and the Congress of the United States that it is the desire of the people of Wisconsin to have the government of the United States work vigorously to negotiate a mutual nuclear weapons moratorium and reduction, with appropriate verification, with the Soviet Union and other nations?"

Although most students would answer "yes" to this question, many of them will fail to support the referendum because of the extra effort involved in voting. They may rationalize their neglect to vote by thinking to themselves "one vote can't help". Think about how many others think that way—those "one votes" add up.

Others may rationalize their failure to vote by saying to themselves "this doesn't directly effect me". If government passed a freeze or reduction on nuclear arms the money could be used for Financial Aid, Social Service and other programs that have been cutback drastically during the Reagan Administration. If these cuts don't bother students then certainly the threat of a nuclear war should.

Students failing to vote may attempt one more excuse—"that Reagan and Congress won't listen anyway". They certainly have a point. Washington hasn't paid much attention to the anti-nuclear demonstrations, petitions and lobbies in the past. Somebody has to start applying more pressure to stop the nuclear arms buildup.

If the people of Wisconsin pass this referendum it will be the first state in the nation to do so. By setting this example other states will be likely to follow making it more difficult for the government to ignore the pleas.

To vote in the River Falls area on this referendum, students who have lived in River Falls for 10 days must have at least two pieces of identification with the voter's current name and address. The student may have a registered voter who lives within the same district sign an affidavit certifying the student's residence.

Students not meeting these requirements may return to their home districts to vote.

Make an effort to let Reagan and Congress know how you feel about the nuclear arms buildup.

Editor's Note: Unsigned editorials represent the newspaper's stand on the issue presented.

I still say as students we could have done something to AVOID this.

Welcome back to the grind

Another class infested year begins as the new and the old come to River Falls to get that coveted degree. Some students feel that summer was much too short and think this university should extend the summer session into October. But many students, believe it or not, are anxious to get back in the daily grind. I, for one, found the Summer of '82 a complete bore. While I am not overly enthusiastic about continued classes and tests, I think being busy beats boredom. Welcome back (and also welcome you naive freshmen) to the Falls for another year of fun and folly.

Heat was the name of the game this summer as temperatures rose many times above the 90 degree mark and humidity readings skyrocketed as well. Maybe the warmth will extend into the coming winter and give us mild weather instead of that terrible cold.

Elections are coming upon us again as candidates try to bring in the votes. Students living on campus will be able to vote in River Falls if they so choose. Residency may be proven by showing your student I.D. and also a cancelled envelope with your name and dorm address on it.

For the first year in several years the Student Voice will begin its year with a strong base of returning staff members. With the addition of a few newcomers, the Voice has a complete staff. The last several years have been disasters early in the Fall quarter.

By our readiness to allow arms to be purchased at will and fired at whim, we have created an atmosphere in which violence and hatred have become popular pastimes—Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Harvey Wallbangers are on track this season as they put their sights on a possible World Series bid. Meanwhile, the Twinkies can't take the heat and are at the bottom of the American League. The fans can't handle the heat either so they stay away from the dome (without air conditioning the dome is a sauna).

Ettore's Law—The other line moves faster—Barbara Ettore

Barra's Law—You can observe a lot just by watching.

Some changes have taken place around campus. New buildings will be open for classes. A new tile floor was put in at the Student Center. And, yes, video games were placed in the news room (the small room in the Student Center where students pick up newspapers). These quarter eating monsters will be staring students in the face as they study or eat lunch and many will be unable to resist the temptation. The Student Center should leave the games for the Gameroom and keep the news room for papers. I realize it is a profitable venture to have machines where students congregate but students usually don't have money for such things (but they can be pushed into spending if the machines are right next to them).

For incoming freshmen: the best way to get acquainted with the people on your floor is to bar hop with them. Whether you drink or not is your choice. So don't just hide in your room, get out and socialize early; it makes the rest of the year much easier.

I suffered through a week of pneumonia just before registration week. Staying up past 2 a.m. to put out this Voice issue didn't help the situation any. If early indicators are correct, this year is going to be a long, unhealthy one.

A Freshmen's Guide to "Going Downtown"

By Cathy Hope

"See you downtown" is a phrase frequently heard echoing down UW-River Falls hallways. Most first quarter freshmen probably aren't aware of what the River Falls meaning of "downtown" is. Most realize it refers to the area along mainstreet between Cascade and Maple Streets but aren't sure of which establishments it includes or where the most popular meeting places are.

In the past freshmen have been left to the mercy of upperclassmen's advice or have relied on their own explorations. This year they have another choice. They can rely on this "Guide to Downtown" which was compiled after two years of extensive research.

Going "downtown" is River Falls terminology for bar hopping. Most UW-RF students don't like spending the entire evening in one bar, so they travel between the eleven downtown bars. Each bar is within walking distance from campus making it convenient for students without cars. Following is a guide to give freshmen an idea of what to expect.

BRAT HOUSE

This bar is recommended for beer connoisseurs because of its wide variety of imported beers and 15 brands of beer on tap. Beer is usually served in a frosty mug but don't be surprised if you don't receive this courtesy on a busy Friday or Saturday night.

Many River Falls students have performed greatly on an endurance test in this bar. (Not the kind of test score you write home to mom and dad about). This test is called "doing the line". Survivors of this test are often seen displaying T-shirts they were awarded after completing the line of 15 beers.

The Brat House is a good place to go with a big group of friends, but get there early if you plan to find a table. If the weather is nice check out the outdoor beer garden in back.

For those of you who haven't had German, Damen means female and Herran means male. That knowledge might come in handy when you try to figure out which bathroom to use.

GREEN LANTERN

It is very easy to find an open table in this bar. In fact you will probably have your choice of several. This applies to pool tables as well as places to sit. If you don't want to see anyone you know this is a good place to go.

This bar is off the beaten track of mainstreet. Just head east on Elm and you'll spot it nestled between the pet shop and Durand federal.

BUDS LANES

This bar houses the largest bar game in town—bowling. You'll probably strike out if you're looking for fellow freshmen. If you're looking for Roloids after the stores are closed this is the place to come.

The horseshoe shaped bar provides convenient seating and fast service.

JOHNNIES

Upperclassmen and faculty members frequent this low-key bar. A big-screen TV usually playing cable programs is a big attraction at Johnnies.

The "GOING DOWNTOWN" GAME

By Cathy Hope

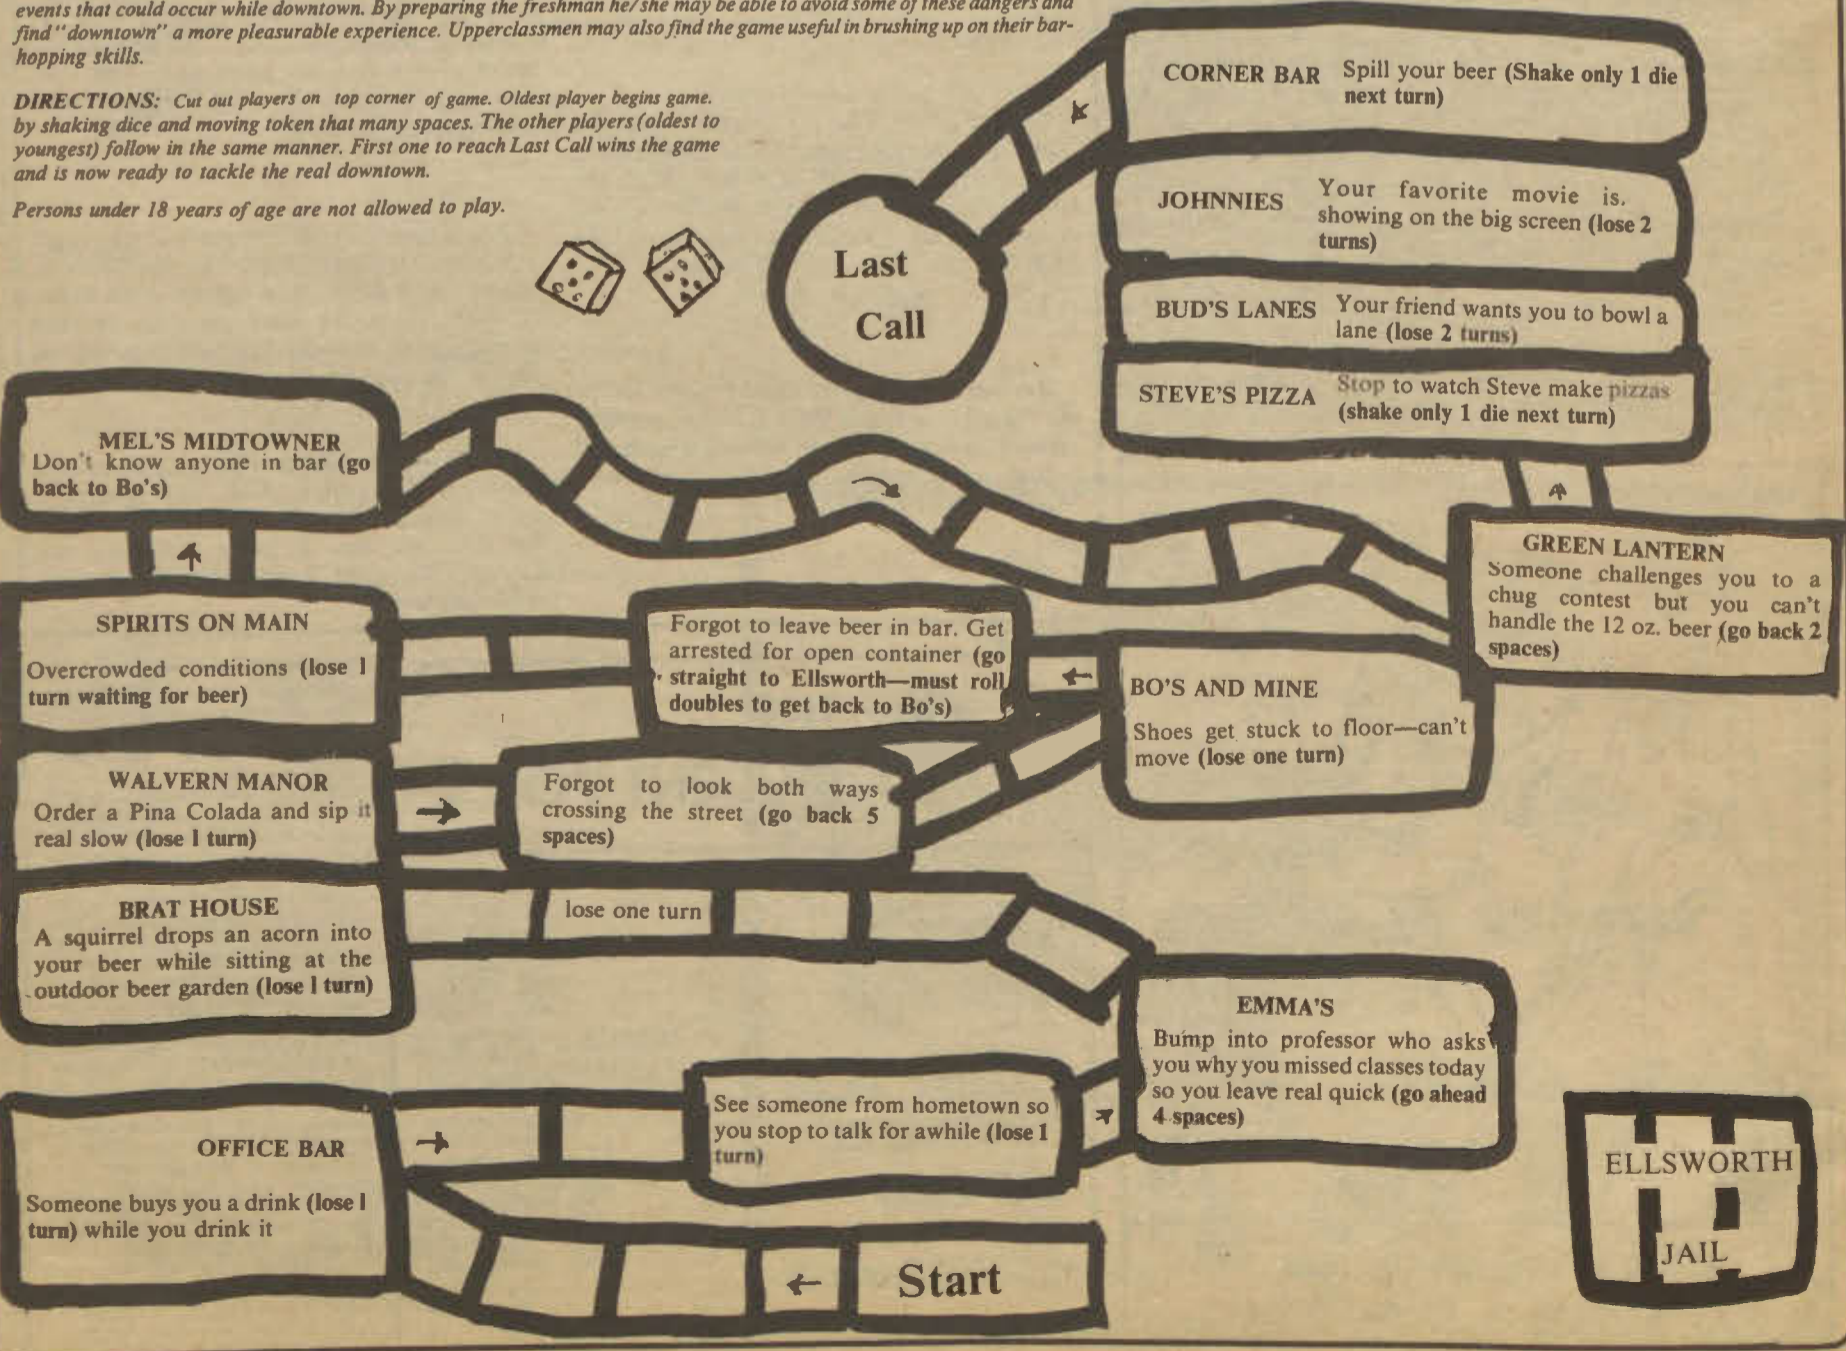

At orientation the UW-River Falls staff advises new students on matters concerning most aspects of their life at the University. However, they neglect to include instructions on how to enjoy another part of many students' lives—"GOING DOWNTOWN".

This game is designed to assist freshmen in developing their skills of "going downtown". The game consists of realistic events that could occur while downtown. By preparing the freshman he/she may be able to avoid some of these dangers and find "downtown" a more pleasurable experience. Upperclassmen may also find the game useful in brushing up on their bar-hopping skills.

DIRECTIONS: Cut out players on top corner of game. Oldest player begins game, by shaking dice and moving token that many spaces. The other players (oldest to youngest) follow in the same manner. First one to reach Last Call wins the game and is now ready to tackle the real downtown.

Persons under 18 years of age are not allowed to play.

player's pieces

- THE OFFICE A popular place for several of the River Falls businessmen. This bar is definitely the only one of it's kind. It's a good place to stop on the way back to campus because they aren't on bar time. (Ask an upperclassman if you don't know what bar time is).
- MEL'S MIDTOWNER After changing ownership several times this bar seem to have finally settled into it's niche. If you want to see how the townspeople of River Falls have a good time this is where you will most likely find them. It's also a good place to listen to country music—so don't walk in and play rock-and-roll on the jukebox.
- CORNER BAR *There is one customer you will always find hanging out at this bar. This regular customer watches over the crowd from his high position—I am refering to the moose hanging above the bar.
The Corner Bar has been known for its live entertainment in the past but this year it has been remodeled and will most likely be known for its pool tournaments instead.*
- EMMA'S Anyone from hard-core cycle enthusiasts, senior citizens, University hockey players to impressionable freshmen can be found among the clientele in this bar. Emma's is the second closest to campus, making it a convenient off-sale spot.
- WALVERN MANOR If mom sent you a few extra bucks or you want to impress a new friend, the Walvern is the one bar in town you can't overdress for. This bar features fancy drinks that you can't find at any other bar in town.
- SPIRITS ON MAIN *Often referred to as Big Walley's by students who remember the bar before it was remodeled last Spring. This is one of the largest bars in town and is in competition with Bo's and Mine for the honor of being the most popular bar. Popular means crowded and you'll find standing room only on a busy night.
If you are wearing high water pants with miss-matched socks you better sneak in the back entrance because the main entrance is a large stairway and I mean Stare-way. Your socks and pants will be eye-level with the crowd when you're three-quarters of the way down the stairs.*
- BO'S-N-MINE *Lace those shoes up extra tight before stepping into this bar or you may find yourself stocking-foot with your shoes stuck to the carpet three steps back. This bar has long enjoyed the reputation as the most popular bar among UW-RF students. Fraternity shirts, football jerseys and sorority jackets are common to this bar.
If you find it difficult to hold a conversation with customers on Friday afternoon don't be alarmed—they belong to the Friday Afternoon club. There is live entertainment on Sunday nights but the best entertainment is watching the Wednesday night crowd during beer bash. There are several video games, pool tables and other games going on in this bar.
Never enter by the back exit. It is a frequent substitute bathroom for guys who don't like to wait in long lines.*
- PR'S PLACE Although this bar is not included in the downtown bar it is a popular place for UW-RF students and deserves to be mentioned in this guide. Lying on highway 35, east of campus, the bar is within walking distance but I recommend finding a ride if the temperature is below 40 degrees. PR's has a large dance floor and features bands throughout the week. Patrons of this bar usually stay for the entire evening after paying a cover charge. PR's is the newest bar in River Falls and has a classy atmosphere.
- RATHSKELLAR *If you don't feel quite up to attempting a trip downtown there is plenty of excitement to be found right here on campus. No, I'm not talking about the library. I mean the on-campus bar called the "Rat". It's equipped with a pool table, fooseball table and big screen T.V. The "Rat" is in the basement of the Student Center.
For other on-campus fun check into HUB (Hagestad Union Board) and IRHC (Inter Residence Hall Council).*

Addition not ready for classes

The Food Science Addition will not be open for classes until Sept. 15 at the earliest, according to Dean Henderson, professor of animal science.

He added that it may even be as late as Nov. 8 before classes can be held in the addition.

"Most of the present food science courses will be held in the basement of May Hall and only one lab will present problems," Henderson said.

P.C. Vasavada, assistant professor of food science said that to compensate for the one lab the class will go on field trips.

Henderson said that all of the food science facilities have been moved from May Hall to the addition and are waiting to be installed.

"There is a lot of stuff sitting around but it won't take long to hook things up," he said.

The food science addition has been under construction for a year. When finished it will house a slaughter room, meat processing facilities, a dairy lab, a vegetable lab, classrooms and offices for the plant manager and the food science professors.

The present meat processing facilities, room 111 Ag Science will be remodeled into a physiology lab. The present physiology lab will be a microbiology lab and the dean's offices will be enlarged.

Henderson said that temporarily physiology labs will be in the remodeled microbiology lab, room 213 Ag Science

Henderson said he and the other food science professors will be moving into the new addition sometime during the quarter. Until then Vasavada and Stephen Ridley, associate professor of food science, will continue to have their offices in the basement of May Hall.

"I'm looking forward to the new year," Henderson said. "But the first month will be a little hectic for everyone."

Chapman elected president

A student from Wisconsin has been elected to the presidency of the American Student Association, a nation-wide student advocacy group based in Washington, D.C.

Michael Chapman, 22, was elected to the top student post at the organization's national convention July 23-27. The convention was attended by delegates from over 400 public, private and community colleges across the nation.

Originally from Keshena, Chapman attended UW-Green Bay and UW-Madison and served for eighteen months as executive director of Wisconsin's statewide student association, the United Council of University of Wisconsin Student Governments.

In his bid for the position Chapman cited the need for more effective lobbying efforts on Capitol Hill, and suggested that the staff of the organization be expanded after acquiring grant money.

Chapman said he would contribute the experience he has gained from his work with the Menominee tribe in Keshena as well as the state student lobby.

Registration week

New student orientation and registration to UW-River Falls will be conducted Tuesday-Thursday at 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. The first faculty meeting will be at 9 a.m. Tuesday, and classes will begin on Friday, Sept. 10.

Registration time appointment cards for undergraduates have been mailed to home addresses. Students not receiving cards should pick up cards in the registrar's office (105 North Hall) upon arrival on campus.

Registration times will be determined by the number of credits accumulated prior to June 1, 1982. At the time of registration, the appointment cards first must be taken to the Student Center ballroom. Students then will be directed to proceed to Karges Gym, where undergraduate registration and payment of fees will be conducted.

Undergraduate students re-entering the University may obtain re-entry forms in the registrar's office. Students planning to attend the University for the first time must be accepted for admission through the Admissions office (112 South Hall).

Full-time graduate students will register in the Graduate School Office (104 North Hall), Wednesday and Thursday at 9-11:45 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. Part-time graduate students may register Sept. 11 at 8:30-9:30 a.m. or Sept. 13-16 at 8-11:45 a.m. and 1-5:30 p.m.

Alumni gathering planned

The newly organized St. Croix Valley Chapter is currently conducting a membership drive. A fall alumni gathering is also being planned and details of the event will be announced soon.

According to Marion Hawkins of River Falls, membership chairperson, alumni from the following towns are being contacted: Afton, Minn.; Baldwin; Bayport, Minn.; Ellsworth; Elmwood; Hammond; Hudson; New Richmond; Lakeland, Minn.; River Falls; Roberts; Spring Valley; Somerset; Stillwater, Minn.; and Woodville.

Membership in the alumni chapter is open to former UW-River Falls students, active and retired faculty members, friends of the University and spouses. The purpose of the chapter is to promote greater activity among alumni at campus functions, to encourage sociability among former students and friends of the University and to further the interests of higher education.

Chapter officers are: Hampton Wilmot of River Falls, president; Merle Michaelson of River Falls, vice president; Dagmar Frye of River Falls, secretary; and Gene Kirk of River Falls, Treasurer.

Nuclear freeze referendum

Wisconsin voters will be the first in the nation on Sept. 14 to vote on a statewide nuclear weapons freeze referendum. Students and organizations on many Wisconsin campuses are playing active roles in the campaign for a "yes" vote.

The United Council of University of Wisconsin Student Governments has made passage of the freeze referendum a "top priority" and urged member student governments around the state to support a "yes" vote.

Students have a direct interest in ending the arms race, United Council Legislative Affairs Director Curt Pawlisch said. "Students are being confronted almost daily with cutbacks in higher education while the Defense Department continues to produce redundant and dangerous weapons systems," Pawlisch said.

The Reagan administration's proposed 1983 budget would have reduced Pell grant money, which helps students pay tuition, from $2.3 billion to $1.4 billion.

"In the same budget proposal, the President sought to deny 615,000 graduate students eligibility for the guaranteed student loan program. Several other aid programs would have been eliminated entirely. Yet simply deciding not to build the B-1 bomber would save $4.8 billion—enough to restore all of the proposed cuts in education, training, employment, and social services," Pawlisch said.

"It's clear that if students are to maintain the quality of higher education in this country, they must fight against the arms buildup which robs money from other needs," Pawlisch said. "Passage of the freeze referendum is a good place to start."

The question on the state's Sept. 14 primary ballot asks whether Wisconsin voters want the U.S. to work vigorously to negotiate a mutual moratorium and reduction of nuclear weapons with the Soviet Union and other nuclear nations. It also calls for "appropriate verification," to insure that both sides live up to the agreement.

Students who have lived in their voting district for 10 days can register at the polls and vote on Sept. 14.

Election day registration requires a voter to present at least two pieces of identification with the voter's name and current address, or to have a registered voter who lives in the same district sign an affidavit certifying the new voter's residence.

Identification can include anything with the address, including a driver's license, lease, gas or telephone bill, or student ID and fee card.

Information on where to vote and what is required to register is available from local or village clerks. Pre-primary registration ends on Sept. 1, and registration will be closed until the Sept. 14 primary.

Auditions scheduled

Concert Choir and Chamber Singers auditions will take place this week as Director Elliot Wold will be looking for old and new talent who meet specific requirements (mainly being able to sing).

Auditions will be in B-47 in the Fine Arts Building. Times and dates are as follows:

Wednesday—9 a.m.—12 and 1 p.m.—5 p.m.

Thursday—same times as Wednesday.

Friday—9 a.m.—10 a.m., 11 a.m.—12 and 1 p.m.—5 p.m.

Names will be posed in room 134 Fine Arts for final call back auditions. Call back auditions will be Monday. Basses will meet at 4 p.m., tenors at 5 p.m., altos at 6:45 p.m. and sopranos at 8 p.m.

The auditions are open to all students.

Student Health Service

The Student Health Service is a service contracted from the River Falls Medical Clinic to provide emergency and regular clinic care for students at UW-River Falls during the academic year.

The Health Service is housed on the lower level of the River Falls Medical Clinic Building, 409 Spruce Street, approximately one block from Karges Gym. The clinic itself is staffed by seven family practitioners and one general surgeon.

Laboratory X-rays, laboratory work, physical therapy and prescription drugs are cost items when students use the service. If hospital facilities are used, the student is also responsible for any charges incurred.

A health insurance program is available through the Student Senate office located in the Student Center. Students are encouraged to take advantage of this protection if they are not already covered by a policy held by their parents.

Physicians are available at the clinic from 8:00 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and for emergency care at the clinic until 5:00 p.m. Students requiring medical care after 5:00 p.m. should go to the River Falls Area Hospital. There is a charge for this emergency care by the hospital and by the physician.

The University nurse is available from 8:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. in the office of the Student Health Service.

Gallery 101 exhibits

The first two shows of the fall season in Gallery 101 will be an exhibit by two recent graduates of UW-River Falls and a collection of paintings and drawings from the Baltic region.

The first show, Sept. 10-15, will feature the work of Darwin Nordin and Karron Nottingham, who graduated this spring.

The second exhibit, Sept. 17-Oct. 3, will be examples of some of the most avant-garde work of the Baltic region. The exhibit consists of work done mainly by Estonian artists and some pieces by Lithuanian and Latvian artists.

The opening reception will be held Sept. 21, 7-9 p.m. in Gallery 101.

This exhibit is from the collection of Norton T. Dodge of the Cremona Foundation. Dodge is the director of the Gallery of New Russian Art in New York, where the exhibit will be shown in November.

Dr. Stephen Feinstein of the UW-River Falls department of history will present a public lecture on the work during the opening reception.

Play Performance

The Frederick Knott thriller "Dial 'M' for Murder," which was staged at UW-River Falls this summer by the St. Croix Valley Summer Theatre company, will be performed again Sept. 10-11.

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. each evening in the Kleinpell Fine Arts Theatre.

Returning to the stage to perform this favorite will be Twin Cities actor Paul Michaels, UW-River Falls student David Defenbaugh, Concordia College student Russ Meyer and River Falls actress, choreographer and dance instructor Kathleen Goodwin.

Reservations may be made on or after Sept. 7 by calling the Theatre Box Office in the lobby of the Kleinpell Fine Arts Building, 425-3114.

HUB

Want to have something rewarding to do this year? Join HUB! HUB is the Hagestad Union Board, the all-university body operating at UW-River Falls.

A small part of the money that you pay in tuition and fees to attend UW-RF goes for student activities. HUB is in control of this money, using it to provide a wide range of activities for the student body.

Films, dances, Guthrie Theater trips, Apple River tubing, Homecoming week events, concerts are just a few of the things HUB has to offer. And you can be a part of it.

HUB is a 19-member board, 12 of which are students. They make policy decisions regarding the operation of the Student Center and arrange for the entertainment and various programs for the University.

There are seven committees that operate under the direction of HUB. The seven committees are Soundstage, Special events, Video, Contemporary Arts, Recreation, Public Relations and Potpourri.

Any student can join these committees and help is never refused. So stop up and visit them soon and let them show you what it's all about. You are always welcome. The HUB office is located above the Ballroom in the Student Center.

Student Senate

Thinking that all there is to college is studying can leave one in the dark. Student Senate is one aspect to college that can be beneficial.

The Student Senate is the main representative body for the students. Its duties cover many aspects of student life and education at UW-River Falls.

The Senate consists of 18 members elected by the student body in the spring and three freshmen elected in the fall. Senate meetings, including committee meetings, are open to the public. The meetings are Tuesday evenings starting at 6:30, in the President's Room, Student Center.

One of the Senate's main functions is the allocation of over $250,000 a year of student activity fees. This money is used for such programs as music, fine arts, athletics, the student newspaper, the student radio station and minority programming.

Senate also offers many services to the student body. Briefly, some of the services are these:

—A health insurance program which includes such benefits as major hospital expenses, hospital-confined medical care, consultation benefit and out-patient accident benefits.

—A legal referral service where a student can get a free consultation with a lawyer prior to a lawyer's acceptance of a case.

—A typing service where a student can have access to another student who will do typing jobs (at a charge).

—A "White Elephant Sale" where students can sell their unwanted items (a community garage sale).

Student Senate is involved in many areas students could become involved in. The Senate in itself, and the student body as a whole, can benefit by working together. The Senate is open to your thoughts and concerns; give it a try.
