NUMBER 15

45 Percent of Students Earn Board, Room

Forty Percent of Girls and Fifty Percent of Men are Partially Self-Supporting

Of the 520 students enrolled in school approximately 45 per cent do outside work, either for board or room.

There are 230 women students enrolled at present; 20 per cent of which are working out, 20 per cent doing light housekeeping in order that they may attend school. Nine women students are working for board and room, five for pay, one for room, twenty-eight for meals. Fifteen of this number are freshmen, 30 upperclass students.

Many Girls Do Light Housekeeping

Those women students doing light housekeeping consist of 25 freshmen, 13 sophomores, 3 seniors. Of those doing light housekeeping 20 are enrolled in the rural department; 5 in the elementary section, 8 taking the grammar course, 2 in junior high department, and 5 taking the high school course.

Enrollment of men students is 290. Of this enrollment approximately 50 per cent are working for board and room, or for pay.

Men students working at home totals 70, those working outside of the home 74. Those working outside the home are employed in restaurants, service stations, grocery stores, markets, clothing stores, hotels, drug stores, shoe stores, laboratory assistants, janitors, and on farms.

Eleven Men Do Own Cooking

It is interesting to note that 11 men students are cooking their own meals.

This data shows that students enrolled in this institution are willing to work for their education. It is obviously necessary for many to work outside in order to go to school. The fact is appreciated that our college has a majority of the students working at a great sacrifice, to secure an education.

Students Enjoy Social at Lutheran Church

About eighty-five college and high school students enjoyed the program at the Lutheran church last Thursday night. They had several very good musical numbers, a violin solo, a vocal solo, and a very good reading.

After the program they put jigsaw puzzles together by bargaining for pieces with peanuts.

Presenting Christopher, Alias Franz Joseph

Have you met Christopher Robin, also known as Franz Joseph in his more dignified moments? Rather taller than average, Christopher looks quite imposing in his rich fur overcoat of fashionable gray. His winter ensemble, complete with gloves, spats and hat, rivals any seen around the town or campus this winter, in point of fit, warmth and quality.

Nearly everyone of us has had a pet at one time or other during his earthly sojourn. The faculty itself is not immune.

The rise from a bedraggled alley-kitten with an injured shoulder, to the beloved companion of one of the very interesting women of the faculty, is a career worthy of Horatio Alger's attention.

When a sympathetic patroness of one of the garages down town drove

G. O. P. Alumni Invited to Formal Dance

All former G. O. P. members are cordially invited to attend the annual G. O. P. formal February 4, at 8:30 in the South Hall gym. Those intending to attend are asked to notify Evelyn Volla or Ruth Robinson.

Human Nature Cannot be Changed Says Malott at Y

"Human nature cannot be changed", said James I. Malott at the Y.M. meeting last Tuesday evening. He approached this subject from the angle of biological science. He reviewed several very interesting experiments which had been carried out with lower animals to show to what extent we can depend on heredity.

Heredity sets the limit of what we may be but what we are is due to our environment were his final conclusions. The only way we can change human nature is through education.

Y.M.C.A. Quartette Sings at Dedication of Elks New Home

The Y.M.C.A. quartette was honored by the request to sing at the dedication of the Elk's new home at Hudson last Saturday evening. They report a very interesting program as well as a fine supper.

Ghandi Shrewd Business Man Says Moslem

Maulana Shaukat Ali Relates Experiences With Hindu Leader in India

Ghandi is merely a shrewd business man of the trader class who is like a great many other people of that country, according to Maulana Shaukat Ali in his talk to the students, Friday, January 20 in the auditorium.

"Ghandi believes in Hindu principles and cannot become a Christian. He is a wonderful man of shrewd intellect, wonderful power of concentration, and a keen sense of humor. He, more than any other person from India, has helped India on its way to freedom from England," says Shaukat Ali.

Shaukat Ali says that he is here to bring us closer to India. "Many people", he says, "have despised India before they had heard much about it. After they became acquainted with it, they respected its people and the country."

Shaukat Ali says that there is freedom of worship given to every community. They all, however, worship idols in their temples and believe in prophets, but they also believe that there is only one Christ and one God according to Shaukat Ali. Each morning they go to a temple and pray and sing and each evening just before sunset they again repeat these prayers together in the temple.

"There is not", says Shaukat Ali, "any cruel fighting and war-like cruelty in India, as so many people suspect. They are a peaceful, happy people. Culture there is much older than in our own country."

In India now they are having the Mohammedan Lent or month of fast. Shaukat Ali was observing it here so ate nothing from morning until night.

For six hundred years the family of Shaukat Ali had been a noble family and the leaders of India, but when England took over the ruling of that country, their family was lowered to the equal of the others.

"India", he says "is longer north and south than the United States is from New York to San Francisco. It has all kinds of climate all the year. Our mountains here are nothing. One peak in India is 31,000 feet high.

He said in closing that the war debts should be paid and not be left go; while other countries were not paying us they were continually preparing for future wars. He said that maybe the debts would be paid in five years, ten years, or even fifty years. What we should do was to try to get them to prevent future wars.

His dress was very interesting to us. He wore a light brown suit with a very long coat. The head dress of dark brown was the formal customary head dress worn in India. His robe was made from goat's skin.

Y. M. and Y. W. Cabinets Plan For Joint Meetings

A program for group meetings of the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. was planned and discussed by the members of the cabinets of the organizations at the J. P. Jacobson home last Tuesday evening.

The group meetings, as planned, will be in charge of prominent local leaders in their respective types of work. The topics of greatest interest to the student body will be discussed.

Refreshments were served after the business was transacted. Everyone reported a very good time.

Jake's Bean Soup Party Scheduled Saturday, February 18

All men of the school are asked to reserve the night of February 18 for the annual Men's Stag Party. Every man in school is urged to attend for a very good time is assured.

Debate Squad Studies in City

First Team Debates With St. Thomas After Study In Hill Reference Library

The members of the first squad in debate spent last Saturday forenoon working in Hill Reference Library in St. Paul. They were entertained at luncheon by the St. Thomas debaters at the Hotel Commodore. In the afternoon they had two unjudged debates with St. Thomas.

The taxation squad debated with the Baldwin and New Richmond high schools in the afternoon and evening last Monday. The affirmative team was composed of Dale Johnson, Carl Pflanz and Elaine Brunner. The negative team was represented by Alfred Nelson, Harley Borgen and Rosella Paulson. Neither of these debates were judged.

Purpose of Y. M. C. A. Printed and Hung in Men's Union

An excellent addition was made to the Men's Union recently when the purpose of the Y.M.C.A. printed on green parchment paper was hung above the radio in the room. The painting was done by Marvin Pratt and we wish to congratulate him on this very fine piece of work.

Second Annual Masquers Formal to be March 25

The second annual Masquer formal will be held on March 25 in the North Hall gymnasium according to the decision of the Masquers at their meeting last Thursday.

The invitation list will be composed of present and alumni members and their guests. Each member is privileged to invite a guest couple, according to plans adopted.

Committees for making the necessary arrangements will be appointed later by the president of the organization, Bill Lover.

Mr. Robin Spends Winter in River Falls

Mr. Robin has had a rather lonely winter so far. All of his friends and relatives left in the fall for southern climes where Old Man Winter does not visit, where the sun shines warmly, flowers bloom, and birds sing all day long. But poor Mr. Robin had to stay behind! The reason for his remaining in River Falls is still a secret so we can only guess the reason why. Maybe he was ill at that.

The late fall was not so bad for Mr. Robin, but when the chill winds came swirling down from the north and the snow began to fall, he knew not where to go or what to do. He searched around town for adequate shelter and finally chose South Hall as the warmest place he could find. The days passed slowly. There was so little to do; no friends to chat with, no one to visit. What could a stranger among strangers do except stay at home and hope that spring would come soon? The Christmas vacation was a lonely one in spite of the

Karges Finishes 25 Years Work As Instructor

Irma Armstrong Training School Critic also Finishes Twenty-five Years Work

Dr. R. A. Karges, professor of chemistry, will this year complete his twenty-fifth year of teaching in the River Falls State Teachers College.

Irma Armstrong, Training School critic, last year completed her twenty-fifth year as a member of the College faculty.

Ames Becomes President in 1918

In 1909, Nelle Schlosser and J. H. Ames became members of the faculty. In 1918, Mr. Ames became president of the College following the resignation of J. W. Crabtree, newly appointed secretary of the N. E. A. in Washington, D. C.

Maud A. Latta and J. I. Malott joined the faculty in 1911, J. M. May and E. A. Whitenack in 1913 and William Segerstrom, 1914.

The next year brought four more members to the growing faculty: C. G. Stratton, J. P. Jacobson, E. J. Prucha, and Edith Weberg.

W. H. Hunt and O. M. Hanna joined the faculty in 1916, Mabel Bridges and Lucile Haddow, 1917, Glen Junkman and R. E. Spriggs, 1918, and A. N. Johnson in 1919.

The year 1920 brought four new women members to the faculty: Nathalie Delander, Irma Hathorn, Lucile Fobes and Mary Bradley.

Johnston Becomes Director in 1922

Russell Johnston became director of the Training School in 1922.

In 1925 Margaret Chapman Eide, Mabel Jorstad, Mrs. Adeline Patton and Amy Fuller were added to the faculty to be joined in 1926 by Louise Hilder.

Justin Williams and A. C. Vogele were elected members of the faculty in 1928 followed in 1929 by Rhea Gibson and Mary Louise Branstad.

Eleven Girls Register to Organize Coed Band

Eleven girls have responded to Mr. Rozehnal's call for volunteers for a girl's band. Practice meetings are held once a week regularly in the college auditorium.

At the first practice a large audience was in attendance and reported an excellent program.

bright lights and festive air that prevailed. Mr. Robin's holiday was really no holiday at all. He roamed around searching for food and trying to keep warm.

And then---the thing he feared happened. He became sick, but in his illness he found a friend who is still trying to nurse him back to health. Mr. Robin is almost too sick to recover. We fear that he will die in this cold, lonely land away from all his loved ones. Poor Mr. Robin!

Although he may not know it, actually he has a number of well-wishers; people whom he cheered by his lovely songs for he has a pleasing tone. His voice recalls memories of blossoming trees, growing grasses, and perfumed breezes of May and June. Mr. Robin has put up a brave fight and we all wish he will be well soon. For after all, spring is on the way and in seven or eight weeks other Robin Red-Breasts will arrive and Mr. Robin may be happy again.

A Sensible Week

THE first week that this country has been called upon to observe in the New Year of 1933 was "National Thrift Week". The date for its observance was January 17 to 23.

Within recent years a lot of "weeks" have been suggested. As a rule the average citizens give them little, if any, attention. The celebration of "Candy Week" and "Straw Hat Week" and all that sort of stuff originated solely to fatten the pocketbooks of those who make the products they seek to boost. But "Thrift Week" commends itself because it is sensible, helpful and of value to everyone who joins in its observance.

I wonder how many observed it by starting a little bank account? Maybe the foundation was only a dollar, yet that would be a good beginning. If you could add a quarter a week, or a dollar a week to the original nest egg, surely it would help. It isn't how much you are able to save but the lesson that saving teaches you is of greatest importance. Rather than spend your spare change for sweets, or a game of pool, or for a show, wouldn't it be better to start a little savings account? Never before in the life of the present generation was the occasion for practicing thrift as important as it is today. Learning its meaning, acquiring the habit of saving, no matter how little, and realizing that even when you spend there is a way to practice thrift, all these are stepping stones to brighter and happier days and to an earlier return of prosperity. P.B.H.

There are three things in speech that ought to be considered before some things are spoken - - the manner, the time, and the place. Emerson.

Educational Possibilities of the Future

REALIZING as well as we do the need for cutting expenses to automatically reduce taxes, it appears that the big plea in every state is to reduce school expenses. To illustrate what conditions actually exist, I am going to quote a few conditions from Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa.

There are places in Wisconsin at present where there are not enough funds to pay January salaries. No real solution has been reached for this as yet. The problem faces Wisconsin, however, that all county normal schools and all high school training departments must go. The state spent $300,000 toward the support of 30 county normal schools last year. Certainly some of them should go and still the education of our young people could continue.

Minnesota has already dropped the high school training department. Salaries in rural schools have been reduced to $40 per month in cases.

The most striking move of all has been proposed in Iowa. The minimum wage law in Iowa has provided for no teacher to be paid less than $90 and $125 per month for grade teachers and high school teachers respectively. The new Democratic governor of Iowa is strong for the repeal of this law. He further proposes that all rural schools be closed for one year and all high schools with an enrollment of less than 35 students be closed for one year. This would surely reduce taxes but I wonder if he should make our young people suffer. What will the outcome of these drastic changes be?

Watch the work of your state legislature as well as newspaper reports from neighboring states and see how they all pick on the innocent child to reduce taxes. P.B.H.

There are truths which are not for all men, nor for all times. Voltaire

Agrifallian Cafeteria

ABOUT thirty men students gather in the locker room after their eleven-thirty class to eat their mid-day lunch. At this time there are also many other students coming and going, swinging coats and scarfs, making the air in the room circulate at a rapid speed. Many dust particles are picked up and tossed around by the motion of the air. They finally land somewhere, on the table around which ten or twelve are eating, in their dinner pails, or on the food which they are eating, on their hands, as a matter of fact, everywhere. You can easily see where this is far from eating in a sanitary place.

Why not clean up the old bacteriology laboratory in the basement of North Hall so that it would be a sanitary place to eat? It didn't cost so much to paint the men's smoking room in South Hall; so why should it be unreasonable to prepare a fit place for men to eat? F.C.H.

Student Opinion

The comforted librarians and students wish to extend thanks to the administration for the ardent response it showed when it was asked to re-adjust the heating system in the library.

Since the library has become a more comfortable place to study, it seems as though more students are using it for that purpose during the earlier periods of the day. This shows the appreciation of the students in regard to the administration's effort in trying to satisfy the needs of the institution. D.E.T.

Did you notice what happened at the game Friday night when we sang our Pledge Song? Rows of River Falls citizens sat there watching, but few stood up. It is true that perhaps they are not all alumni of this school, but as they support us in so many other measures, how about a little support in spirit? Next time let's all stand up to pay respect to our pledge, and if you can't sing-whistle! N.B.

Last Friday evening after the La-Crosse game I was fortunate in being able to hitch-hike a ride (some ten miles) home with four students and one teacher from the teacher's college there. Although we lost, they complimented us highly for the unusual amount of "pep" and anxiety which the students of our college possessed. However, they also intimated that we will get beat worse when we get on a "good-sized" floor, coupled with the fact that we will have fewer rooters and cheer-boys at our return game at LaCrosse. H.S.A.

The waning college spirit again needs a stimulant. We all envy the cheer leader's job; especially when he isn't supported. Let's not make his job too much of a task. Now don't cheer to give the cheer leader a chance to brag about his cheer-leading ability; instead cheer to confound the opposing team; cheer to egg on our team; cheer to give vent to the traditional spirit of River Falls. V. E.

Why not give every fellow in school an even break? Those working in the cafeteria for their board have as fine a place to eat as anyone would desire. How different it is for the fellows that work on farms for their room and board. It is necessary for them to bring their lunch and the only place they have to eat is the locker room in North Hall. Now a locker room is a fine place to check your clothes, but it is not a place to eat your meals. W.G.

Here and There

The Round Table (Beloit College)-Professor Ballard's sociology classes are conducting South Beloit gym classes once a week in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. They are teaching basketball and volleyball.

Prof. Henry Herrick gave a lecture on "Tragedy of Russia" in the Morse Ingersoll auditorium January 17. He claims that reports heard are vague and misleading. He will attempt to straighten out as many points as possible. His contention is that people praise the five year plan without just grounds.

The Gamecock (University of S. C.) Students who cannot afford to go to college in North Carolina may apply for and receive free tuition when attending schools within the state.

The fact that the young women of the Eau Claire State Teachers College are, so far as church affiliations are concerned, more Christian than the male students, was revealed by a survey of the religious affiliation cards of the students. Forty-five boys and but only 2 girls registered as having no membership in any church. Sixteen different church affiliations were registered, not counting the variations within the Lutheran group, of which there are fifteen.

New Books Worth Reading

Perhaps I shall be covering trodden ground when I talk about poetry of Sara Teasdale's--perhaps not. I think however that there are many of us who would appreciate reviews of the less recently published books.

During the past week I have "gone in for" Sara Teasdale's poetry. When once one begins to read her books, it is difficult to stop. I think perhaps that I was most impressed by "Dark of the Moon" which was written in France. The gliding smoothness of her words flows through one's mind as quietly and surely as does the little, clear rivulets stealing away under the ice in the spring time.

"Rivers to the Sea", one of Miss Teasdale's earlier publications--impressive in its simplicity--was completed while the author was traveling in Italy and Switzerland.

Numerous selections of Miss Teasdale's have been set to music and many of them have been translated into several foreign languages. The peculiar lyric quality of her poetry makes easily adaptable. M.W.

The Three Arts

By M. L. W.

Have you been wondering what the designs now on exhibit are all about? Perhaps as you paused to look at them you labeled them vaguely "clever" and undoubtedly "meaningless."

Such a reaction is due to the laymen's inability to understand the language of the designers who are finding a new medium of self-expression in the "language of lines".

A brief survey of the fundamentals of this language may help you to translate the lines into the emotions and thoughts which the members of the design class have expressed in them.

Vertical lines such as those of majestic pillars or tall trees show inspiration, power, or fortitude.

Horizontal lines, as level land or quiet water, signify peacefulness, stability, or confidence.

Oblique lines, particularly if jagged as flashes of lightning, reveal speed, wrath, or agony.

Curved lines, as in rolling land or swaying trees, portray gentleness, grace, or musical rhythm.

Working with these and other principles, the students are given problems which require them to express their feelings in lines within a given space. During the last half of the term they will apply their designs in the form of wall hangings, pillow tops, and similar articles which will be on display in the Art Room as they are completed.

Have You Read

For 34 years the Filipinos have kept up a continual agitation for independence and now it seems as though they will get what they want. Both the Senate and the House passed the bill for Philippine independence. Whether President Hoover will veto the bill or not remains to be seen. The history of the island and the machinery of the present bill is given in Time magazine for January 9. Quite interesting!

We still find individuals who are trying to kid themselves into believing that machinery means increasing employment. If that is the case, what is all the discussion about technocracy? There are three of a series on the findings of the group of engineers known as Technocracy in the New Outlook Magazines. The January issue of the New Outlook has the article "Technocracy's Challenge" by Wayne W. Parrish.

Should those already shouldering the burden of taxation be saddled with a heavier load or would it be better if a "few fish that slip through the tax net" were caught? Just what is the problem of taxation and its exemption? Henry Hazlett gives us many things to think about in Scribner's for January in his article "No Taxes to Pay".

In the January issue of the Atlantic is William Foster's article "Dollars, Doctors, and Disease". It gives us a clear picture of the conditions existing in the medical field. Do you know that the neglect today to have the necessary medical aid is 80 per

Falcons Meet Pointers and Blue Devils

River Falls Makes Week-end Trip to Play Against Two Much Stronger Teams

The Falcons will go on the road this week end playing Stout at Menomonie Friday night and Stevens Point at Stevens Point on Saturday night.

Possibilities for victory in these two games appear to be slim. The Falcons should have an even chance to take the Blue Devils. However, Coach Burbridge has built a fine team around the Anderson brothers, center and forward, and captain Stori, veteran guard. Stout has not won a conference game to date but is extremely hard to beat on the home floor.

Victories over Stout and Oshkosh indicate that Stevens Point has a powerful team this year. Nothing is known about the personnel of their team. The Falcons will be handicapped in having to play them the second night of the trip.

My Daily Diary

January 14--I felt rather weak today--yesterday being Friday the 13. So far no harm came to me, even though that black cat did pass in front of me. I only cut my shoe and my toe today. However, that wasn't because of yesterday, but because I haven't mastered the art of handling an ax. Saw the B.B. team return from Milwaukee. They had awful gloomy faces, but all in all looked rather happy.

January 15--Down the river again on one of my escapades. A wonderful day for hiking. Visited the old historic landmarks I put up last spring. Spent an ideal evening studying with the other millions of students thru-out the country. Then followed suit and closed my eyes to drift away.

January 17--Spent nearly all morning in the chemistry lab. Didn't waste a minute or a drop. We were making some of that famous fire-water--alcohol. It isn't good for anything, we just sit around and watch it evaporate. Everyone's distillery was percolating nearly all day.

January 18--Got ambitious and attended my regular daily classes. Being able to understand a few things makes life much more joyful. Saw some people wasting time by drowning it in ink--learning to be ink-spillers, I guess.

January 19--We saw the classes switched a bit. To some students the switch wasn't complete, so they went off at a tangent. Imagine, sitting in some uninteresting class for two complete hours. And then they say we haven't felt or seen nothing.

January 20--Up as usual at 5:30. No class until 1:25, with the exception of assembly at 9. Say, did everyone enjoy that talk, if you can call it that. Right now I wish I knew something about life in India, instead of knowing how to pick a wife. I'm not bragging, but according to Ali, I should have been married years ago. Anyway, he kept the kids from sleeping.

Too bad we lost to LaCrosse. The season isn't over though. After the dance I decided it was time to pick up a little sleep.

Out of Bounds

Comparative scores give us the information that Stevens Point will have to be reckoned with in deciding this year's championship. After handing the Falcons a decisive beating, the Milwaukee teachers journeyed to Oshkosh only to be defeated 45-29. Stevens Point then proceeded to beat Oshkosh by approximately the same score and in addition handed Stout a 47-31 defeat at Menomonie. Beating Stout by a margin of 16 points on their home floor is no small accomplishment. Evidently Coach Kotal has uncovered some material down at the Point.

The new 10 second rule was not violated once last Friday night. At least officials did not call it. It seems to the writer that during the closing minutes of the game La Crosse violated this rule at least twice.

The officials, Higgins and Jansen, handled the game nicely otherwise.

W. A. A.

The W.A.A. met in the social room Thursday evening. The treasurer, Ella Polgar, gave a report of the financial condition of the club and the chairmen of the various money-making groups told of their plans. Following this, an interesting musical program was given in which the following took part: Alice Smead, Genevieve Thompson, Eileen Mau, and Helen Stewart.

Officers for the rest of the year were elected. President: Lillian Gaudstad; Vice President: Alice Smead; Secretary: Lois Espeseth; Treasurer: Gladys Johnson; Recording Secretary: Gertrude Kertsmire.

Plans for play-day were discussed but no definite arrangements were made.

The captains of the various basketball teams have organized their groups and have chosen the following names: Helen Kott's team: "Wisconsin", Alice Bartosh's team "Cornell", Grace Schwalen's team "Notre Dame", and Marie Klugow's team, "Southern California."

Each team plays four games. Notre Dame and Southern California have each won their first games.

Bud Manion's Team Beats Spring Valley 16 - 13

Bud Manion's basketball team defeated the Spring Valley high school quint, the conference leader, Wednesday night on the local floor by a 16-13 count.

The Falls team displayed some fine teamwork and played heady ball the whole game. There were no outstanding players and the starting lineup of Jensen, O'Brien, Gelo, Younggren, and Johnson worked best.

Intra-Murals

Helixon's team leads the league at present with a clean slate after four games. Claflin, Godfrey, Braun, Heiting, and Nolde have won two out of three of their games. Linehan, Sumner, Schnieder, and LaDusire have won one out of three and Kotleski and Standiford have yet to break into the win column.

The Falcons lost a hard-fought game to the La Crosse Maroons. The playing of the Falcons the first half was very loose compared to the second half when they came back and outscored their rivals.

Inability to sink their free throws is the main thing which beat the Falcons. In comparison of field goals we find that La Crosse had 13 to our 12.

The La Crosse line composed of Novak, Smart, and Schwoegler, did most of their scoring with Schwoegler high point man. Kuss was high point man for the Falcons.

Too bad the Falls had to lose Morrow at the time they did. McChesney played well at center position when he was in there. A newcomer, Schiezer, made his debut Friday with a basket. We're going to see more of this boy before the year is over.

St. Peter and Hill will add to the team when they become eligible this next week.

If you want to get a treat get out and watch these league teams battle. All the teams seem to be fairly even as to comparative strength. So far most games have been won by only two or three buckets.

I see where the Platteville Miners defeated Milwaukee 40-17 and Stevens Point took Stout 42-20. Which means that La Crosse will have to play real ball when they meet Platteville and River Falls has a battle on when they take on Stout and Stevens Point.

The Falcons next games come on Friday and Saturday of this week at Menomonie and Stevens Point. Let's hope they come through.

Johnson Men Defeat Falcon Quint 37-32

Visitors Present Excellent Passing Attack and Tight Defense to Win

The Falcons dropped their third conference game of the season to the La Crosse teachers last Friday night 37-32.

Novak, La Crosse pivot man, started the scoring with a pot shot. Morrow retaliated with an arching long shot to even the score. La Crosse then forged rapidly into a substantial lead mainly through the efforts of Schwoegler and Novak. The gun marking the end of the first half found La Crosse on the long end of a 16-22 count.

The second half found little difference in the playing of the two teams. Both teams went scoreless for the first few minutes, until Schwoegler dropped in one of his deadly long shots. With about five minutes left to play, Morrow and Hardenburg were ejected from the game on fouls. During the last few minutes of play the Falcons started to close the gap but the final gun found them still five points behind.

La Crosse presented a tight defense and a wonderful passing attack. Kuss and Morrow were guarded closely throughout the game. Poor ball handling on the part of the Falcons was the main cause of defeat. Schwoegler, La Crosse forward, outshone his teammates and was the big offensive threat. Novak and Smart also played good ball for La Crosse. Haberman and Kuss played well for River Falls.

Ruth McIntyre Speaks on Stage Lighting to Masquers

"Due to the rapid strides that are being made in scientific methods of applying electricity, lighting has become one of the most important principles in the production of plays in the present theater," was the statement made by Ruth McIntyre at the Masquer meeting last Thursday evening in her discussion of stage lighting.

Emphasizing the importance and effectiveness of lighting, she termed it one of the most potent factors of illusion in the theatre; but warned against its abuse by amateurs who are likely to carry it to extremes.

In order to show that splendid effects may be obtained without extensive technical knowledge, however, she illustrated her point with a group of lantern slides of plays produced by student groups.

After citing some experiments that have been made by such men as David Belasco with overhead lights, footlights, and special spots, Miss McIntyre concluded her discussion by stating that the general rule regarding lighting is that it should correspond with the mood of a scene whenever possible.

In addition to the talk and the lantern slides, pictures of plays given by the faculty in former years were shown, and furnished considerable amusement for the Masquers as they attempted to recognize the characters.

Bernice Smith gave a dinner party for the Y.W.C.A. cabinet Wednesday evening of last week.

The cabinet presented Miss Hathorn with a lovely dish in token of their appreciation of her aid to the organization.

From the Mouse Hole

Does anyone know the identity of the curly-haired blonde who called "Tony" Runte on the phone last week? (Clue: She has been told she looks like Greta Garbo--but that before she cut her hair.) Also, why is he always busy?

As for sex appeal in the ranks of our forensic highlights--how about the blonde heartbreakers on the debate squad? From what we see and hear, there's no one in school who wouldn't give her eye-teeth to have a date with him. Am I right? Ask him. If you don't know who I mean, find the author of a recent and amusing parody on "Hiawatha" composed under the stress of a certain prof's taking to the warpath.

Prize logic of the week: At the social meeting of the Press Staff, a young man closed the door, carefully, and about five minutes later opened a window.

The campus "panther woman" and her escort seemed to enjoy the dance Friday night. Did appearances mean all they seemed to?

Poor Robert would have groaned in anguish at the parliamentary rules ignored by the Press Club Monday. Much irrelevant discussion was discussed, and many wise-cracks cracked.

Much tearing of hair and chewing of finger nails has been going on since Christmas vacation among the G.O.P. girls. Occasion: the annual formal just in case you hadn't heard of it. In spite of the liberation of the women, and what-not, it's still quite a strain to break over and ask one of these big, superior, he-cave-men if he'd like to go to the party with you.

And now that the Masquers date has been set for March 25, several more girls are going to be in the same boat. So supposing you fellows just remember how it feels to have the recipient of your invitation radiate a glacial atmosphere, and unbend a little when some blushing, timid coed approaches you and asks "would you like to go to the formal with me?"

Will we be able to keep Libakken in town weekends? The whole campus joins in consoling him.

The La Crosse team seemed quite smitten on the jolies jeunes femmes on the side-lines at the game Friday night. Some of them fell hard enough at any rate.

Rural Life Notes

This being the end of the six weeks all those who have been practicing are coming in again. The following students are going out for the next six weeks: In Martell school will be Ruth Griffey, Florence Fischer, Erith Kinsman, and Elsie Gfall; in Red Brick school there will be Doris Spreeman, Margaret Svec, Joy Timmerman and Helen Kircher; in Fairview school, Alice Thompson, Helen Stogdill, Bernice Laughnan, and Lucille Langer; in Valley View school, Frances Barber, Margaret Brackey, Marcus Hermanson, Maynard Olson, and Leonard Seekins.

Mr. Raymond Sorenson visited the Valley View school Wednesday morning. He gave some very good reports about the practice teacher's work.

Frances Caudy has been unable to take her practice work at Red Brick the past week because of illness.

Miss Nellie Ryan excused her practice teachers Friday morning so they could attend the lecture given in the auditorium.

Miss Ida Qualle, the supervising teacher from Pierce county, visited the Rural department Tuesday.

Rural Life Club will meet Thursday. The chief item of business will be to elect new officers for the rest of the year.

Training School Notes

The fifth grade presented a play on the life and inventions of Robert Fulton. Reports were given on his life and his work.

The had collected pictures of many different kinds of ships and boats used many years ago and those used now. Some of them were used as early as 14,000 B. C. Comparisons were made between these and Robert Fulton's "Cleremont" and the "Leviathan" which will carry 5499 people. It is equipped with every modern convenience such as barber shop, library, and living room. It has three-thousand feet of rug on the floors. If one walks around the deck five times, he has walked one mile.

The play given showed the attitude of the people toward what they termed as "Fulton's Folly". The children did very well, for they did most of the planning themselves with the aid of the teachers.

The background of an ocean scene drawn on wrapping paper was very attractively made by two of the fifth grade boys. Maps showing ancient transportation routes were also displayed.

Rev. R. C. Caraway Gives Address at Dry League

Rev. R. C. Caraway, Ellsworth will give the main address at the Pierce County Dry League rally to be held at the Methodist church in River Falls, January 29, at 2:30 p. m.

The regular business of the league will also be transacted at this meeting. Other speakers will appear on the program to which the public is cordially invited.

Friends of Blanche Fletcher Give Her Farewell Party

A group of her friends gave a farewell party to Miss Blanche Fletcher in the form of a treasure hunt last Thursday evening. The treasure was found at the home of Bernice Smith.

A lunch of hot dogs and coffee was served around the fireplace. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing.
