

Ambassadors Of Song To Appear February 10

The Ambassadors of Song

The Ambassadors of Song, prominent male vocal octet, will appear in concert at River Falls on Thursday, February 10, at 8:00 p. m. The program is presented by Community Concert Series, and will be heard in State Teachers College Auditorium.

Students may get their tickets for this concert by showing activity cards to Mr. McKeen or Mr. Rozehnal, February 1, 2, or 3.

Before the war, the Ambassadors of Song were heard on the major networks, and have appeared with such radio and stage stars as Edgar Bergen, Bob Burns, Larry Adler, Dorothy Shay and others. More recently their concert appearances have been enjoyed by audiences all over the country. They are a first rate concert ensemble with some excellent theatrical experience behind them.

The program to be heard here promises considerable variety. Solos and duets alternate with ensemble numbers, while Bach and Handel compete amiably with cowboy ballads and musical comedy favorites. A program to please all shades of taste is in the offing. It is one which has placed the Ambassadors of Song high on the list of successful concert ensembles in the vocal field.

Each member of the group is a soloist in his own right, disciplined to effective ensemble work by director Ray G. Steiner, prominent producer of concert and theatrical attractions and also basso member of the company. The Ambassadors' current tour of this area has been arranged by the Concert and Lecture Service of the University of Minnesota.

RIVER FALLS, WISCONSIN

VOL. XXXVI NUMBER 9

WINTER CARNIVAL PLANS ARE NEARLY COMPLETE

Debaters High At Illinois Tourney

River Falls college speakers rated high at the 17th Annual Invitational Debate Tournament at Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Illinois, January 14 and 15.

In the experienced debate division, 88 teams participated, representing 35 colleges and universities from Minnesota, Nebraska, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, and Ohio. The only two Wisconsin colleges represented were Ripon and River Falls.

On the negative debate team Charles Schillberg and Jerry Finn won five out of six debates, defeating Bradley university, Peoria, Ill., Wheaton college, Wheaton, Ill.; James Millikin university, Decatur, Ill.; Principia college, Elsah, Ill.; Northern State Teachers college, DeKalb, Ill.; and losing only to Purdue university by an 11 to 12 decision, both being excellent ratings.

The affirmative team, Nancy Murry, Ambrose Murphy, and Melvin Steinbron, won four out of six debates and averaged excellent ratings throughout. They defeated Manchester college, Manchester, Ind.; Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington, Ill.; Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill.; Eastern Illinois State Teachers college, Charleston, Ill.; and lost only by one point each to Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.; and Lake Forest college, Lake Forest, Ill.

A debate team from St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., was the only undefeated team out of the 88. The River Falls negative debate team tied for second place on the basis of decisions and established a new record for total wins.

In original oratory, with 46 contestants, Melvin Steinbron won two superior ratings and held top score at the end of the second round; the results of the final score are not yet known. Steinbron received an individual rating of 13 or superior for debate, the highest score made by any River Falls contestant. Nancy Murry, Charles Schillberg, and Jerry Finn received excellent ratings in debate.

Ambrose Murphy, Nancy Murry, Jerry Finn, and Charles Schillberg participated in three rounds of discussion on civil liberties. Murphy, a freshman, won the distinction of being elected chairman of his group in Round III.

Miss Marion E. Hawkins, forensic coach, judged eight rounds of debate and one each of oratory and discussion.

The Normal, Illinois, tournament is the first one River Falls speakers have attended this school year. Plans are being made for a barn-storming tour of eastern Wisconsin the first part of February, putting on exhibition debates at Stevens Point, Ripon, and Oshkosh. River Falls will also attend the Eau Claire tournament February 18 and 19.

College To Continue Extension Program

College extension courses are again being offered in communities during the winter term by River Falls State Teachers College.

At Spring Valley the course will be Visual Education, instructor, Mr. Fislser, four credits, first meeting January 24 at the high school at 7:30 p. m.

The course offered at Ellsworth is Childrens' Literature instructor, Mr. Sheldon, three credits, first meeting January 31 at the high school at 7:30 p. m.

At Clear Lake the course will be History of the West, instructor, Dr. Wyman, four credits, first meeting February 3 at the high school at 7:30 p. m.

The course offered at New Richmond is Educational Psychology instructor, Dr. Stone, four credits, first meeting at the high school January 24 at 7:00 p. m.

At Glenwood City the course will be Educational Psychology, instructor, Mr. Anderson, four credits, first meeting at the high school January 20 at 7:30 p. m.

All extension courses carry college credit, and are taught by regular faculty members of the River Falls State Teachers College. Proving increasingly popular, the courses, afford teachers in service and other employed persons an opportunity to further their education and to meet certain teaching requirements.

Falcons Loss Is Gophers Gain

Back in the latter part of the last decade, River Falls had an outstanding basketball team that could be compared to this year's mighty squad. This team was coached by a fellow who has made great strides in the coaching field. This coach, Osborne Cowles, is now head basketball coach at the University of Minnesota.

During his career at River Falls he succeeded in turning out many championships and developed many basketball stars. One of his greatest pupils, and one of this college's all-time basketball greats, Wally Herkal, is now Ozzie's assistant at Minnesota. Herkal was an outstanding player and his coach saw great possibilities in him. At the time, Ozzie, or no one else, ever dreamed that these two would some day be working together, turning out one of Minnesota's greatest teams.

Cowles left River Falls for a job at Dartmouth. He was not at the Ivy League school for long, but during his stay he gave the school championships to be proud of.

Michigan was the next stop on Ozzie's list and it was there that he turned out a team that captured the Big Nine crown.

The student body is being asked to take in advantages of Budds Clothing store. Budd has donated 200 T-shirts via the R club to the Falcon Fieldhouse Fund. The R club is offering them to the students at only $1 apiece—a bargain any way you look at it, and these days bargains are plenty hard to find. The shirts will be sold in the South Hall tomorrow, February 1. Boost your college, boost the fieldhouse fund, and get a T-shirt with the RF-STC Falcon emblem.

Today, River Falls can look with pride at the victories of the Minnesota Gophers, for this great team is coached by two former River Falls men who have attained success to the nth degree in the coaching field.

Frosh To Entertain Upperclassmen

Freshmen, here is your chance to become future singers, actors, tap-dancers! Upper-classmen, here is your chance to see the best talent this side of the Kinnickinnic.

February 3, at 8:00 p. m., a talent show will be held in the auditorium with the four best contestants being awarded prizes of five dollars, three dollars, two dollars, and one dollar.

The judges have not yet been chosen for the affair. Auditions were held last Thursday night.

A full evening to all upper classmen who would like to see their favorite contestant make his debut into show business is promised.

Debate Team Loses To Tomah Police

Six RFSTC experienced debaters couldn't win against one policeman in Tomah, Wis.

It seems that fog outside Madison slowed down their natural speed on the return trip from Normal, Ill. Passing through this, they slightly increased their speed to make up for lost time.

As they passed through Tomah at mid-night, all the citizens were fast asleep—that is, except Mr. Policeman. Going through a 25 mile speed limit zone at 35 miles an hour was as much a crime to him then, as if it were noon.

Protests of "we're in a hurry, too far to come back for trial, haven't any money with us" were of no avail. Someone handed him $10 and the car full of debaters, minus winning one argument and $10, moved on.

Rice Lake Students To Hear RFSTC Concert Band

The River Falls College concert band has been requested to give a concert at Rice Lake high school on March 22, according to Mr. Rozehnal.

PROF PUTS PSYCHOLOGY TO WORK

On Monday, January 24, the two classes of "Mental Growth and Development" each witnessed a fight as part of a check test.

While Prof. Anderson was lecturing on the weaknesses and inaccuracy of human perception a pre-arranged fight took place. After the fight had been stopped, the members of the class were asked to write a description of what had taken place.

Whitaker and Wickstrom were the pugilists in the ten o'clock section and in the two o'clock section Claire Tobias picked a fight with Harry Gibbs. Benson was to part the fighters but uniformed bystander Deiss jumped up to stop the fracas and pretty Wallace Smetana, Bloomer, and Robert Wickstrom, Frederic, who were named co-chairmen of the 1949 Winter Carnival two weeks ago, are drafting plans for the week-end frolic, February 18 and 19.

Earl Enge, Eau Claire, will have charge of the outdoor sports contests, while Lyle Erickson, Hixton, will supervise the bowling tourney.

The chairmen chose Bonnie Carter, River Falls, to handle publicity.

At a meeting January 25, the committee decided to inaugurate a contest for slogans which will emphasize the game with the Superior Yellowjackets and the Winter Carnival. The contest will run for a week beginning today. It will be judged by the Student Senate with a two dollar prize offered.

At an assembly February 8, the sponsors of the kings will have a chance to sell their wares to the student body. The students will have a chance to choose three couples to be entered in the finals which will be held February 14.

Prizes for sculpturing will be given to the students who can scrape a hunk o' ice into some unique form.

The kickoff will be Thursday, February 16, with a band concert in the college auditorium.

February 18 will find a pep rally and crowning of the king who will reign over the festivities of the evening and Saturday's events. After the game with Superior, everyone will dance in the North Hall gym.

Earl Enge announced that prizes will also be given for the many outdoor events.

The program for this public concert at night has not yet been arranged but plans for the day include rehearsals in which members of the Rice Lake band will be present.

The Rice Lake high school band is scheduled to appear here for an assembly program on March 30.

nearly received the full benefit of the fabricated ire.

The results of the experiment were not as conclusive as those received by some psychologists. According to the statistics, the rate of agreement among observers should have been low, but in Monday's experiment, the classes agreed quite well.

The classes may have differed from the psychologists' form because of the inability of the experiment to keep the affair entirely secret and the immediateness of the questioning. "The disagreement of eye witnesses presents a problem to the courts," Anderson explained to the class.

A Stone's Throw

I have never intended to make this a sports column, but there is something in that line that I don't want the people of this school to miss. When the score of the Iowa State Teachers-River Falls basketball game reached the ears of the many fans back here most of them seemed to take it as a matter of course. To me this was probably the most important victory that the Falcons have chalked up since I have been following them.

Perhaps many of you don't know that this Iowa school has been setting a hot pace in their own league which includes such schools as the Universities of North and South Dakota, North and South Dakota State Colleges, Augustana and a few that I can't think of. Iowa State Teachers has an enrollment of around 3500 students. It is the only teachers college in the state. River Falls has an enrollment of 800 and it is one of ten teachers colleges, including Stout Institute.

These facts alone, would definitely place the Falcons as underdogs, but add the fact that the boys left River Falls early Saturday morning, arriving in Cedar Falls after about a five hour drive, and after a brief rest had to go out and play one of the best teams on their schedule.

Without any further words or comparing of statistics, I would like to offer my heartiest congratulations to the team, the coaches and anyone else who had anything to do with the victory at Iowa. It was a job well done.

The circulation manager of the STUDENT VOICE received a letter this past week from an alumnus of this college and I would like to reprint it to give you an idea of the publicity that our basketball team is bringing to the school. The letter is as follows (from the state of Washington):

Dear Friend,
Enclosed find a dollar to cover the cost of sending me a Student Voice for the remainder of the basketball season. Also send me back copies with stories on the past games. I am very much interested in the Falcon basketball squad and NATE DELONG. If there is any further charge please let me know and I will send the money immediately.

Very truly yours,

Will Congress Repeal The Taft-Hartley Law?

A slight wave of uneasiness appears to be rippling over labor union camps lately. The anticipation is resulting from the delays by Congress in repealing the Taft-Hartley law.

It will be remembered that the repeal of the Taft-Hartley was one of the major issues of the campaign and it was largely through President Truman's denunciation of this bill that he received undivided support of the labor groups.

While President Truman called for its repeal in his state of the union message, his recent announcement that it is Congress' business not his, when that repeal is to come about, caused a shudder among labor union leaders. But when the proposal by Sen. Morse (R., Ore.) that the Senate labor committee fix an April goal for getting a repeal bill to the floor was made public, labor leaders stood at attention.

Sweeping down upon Washington they hope to gently remind the legislature's of their campaign promises which, in many cases, they soon forget after the election.

This delay can be attributed to the fact that President Truman did not receive a mandate in the recent election. Consequently construction of the Democratic platform into practical laws will not be an easy task, primarily because of the adverse elements within the Democratic party itself, not to mention Republican opposition.

Labor is becoming aware that they are only one in a large group that helped put the Democrats in office. The farm vote went to Truman, perhaps, because of his stand for parity. Other groups gave their support to the Democrats because they (the Democrats) stood for the particular item in which that group was interested. The farm group didn't care if the Taft-Hartley law was repealed or not while the labor group cared less about Truman's stand upon parity.

As a result of this diversity of interest among the Democratic supporters, concessions and delays will be expected from all parties concerned. Because the election did not indicate a mandate, Mr. Truman and his fellow Democrats are beginning to realize that only with great difficulty will they be able to fulfill their campaign promises.

LOOKING UP THE PRECIPICE

On June 18, 1948, the General Assembly of the United Nations was presented a Bill of Human Rights by its Human Rights Committee. The final adoption of this bill will mean the rights of the individual which were first expressed by Confucius, Buddha, Abraham, Jesus, Socrates, Plato and Luther will have finally become recognized in all the countries of the world.

Civil Rights were one of the big issues of the American Revolution and they were guaranteed to one and all in the first ten Amendments of the constitution. The Rights of the individual and state has always been a topic of much discussion in America. However, the fair employment Practices Committee found so many violations of human rights during the war that the President set up a Committee to investigate the violations and make suggestions for improvement.

When the President's committee presented a report of their findings to Mr. Truman on October 29, 1947, and recommended fifty points of action for the state and federal governments, Civil Rights became a political issue. Mr. Truman made it major plank in his platform for election to the White House. It is said to have been one of the major reasons for his November triumph and is the cause of the big debate in Congress at the moment.

I have confidence that Mr. Truman's program will eventually become law. It will be held high as the ideal law before it is generally practised though. I say that because we are reared on the idea of competition. Anyone who sincerely believes in competition knows he has to take every advantage of his fellow man to get ahead. What we need is more cooperation.

The Civil Rights laws will seek to guarantee the rights of the individual and practice will come in time. The question can be asked, where the rights of one end. That can best be answered by the old adage—"You're rights end where the other fellow's nose begins." Let's put this in practice.

The question then, is, do you respect the rights of others? Do you respect their duties? Are you quiet when they want to study, or do you keep bothering them until you want to study? That means actually being silent in the library and at home. Do you contribute to the peace of mind? By this, do you gossip and spread tales about the individual of which you have no exact knowledge?

Every day every one of us violates the rights and privileges of someone around, many times. Let us respect the rights of others and practice the Golden Rule.

Communists To Take Over In China

As the Chinese Communists continue to roll over the Nationalists, it seems to be only a matter of time until they will have complete domination in China. They have continued to turn down peace proposals made by the Nationalists. Their explanation has been that they are on the brink of a complete victory and that they will not accept anything less.

With China under Communistic rule, what is likely to happen in Asia? China is a very large country supporting a tremendous population. It will be necessary to organize these people into a common unit. This will take time as the Chinese have in all their history, resisted unification.

If and when the Communists are able to do this, will they then turn their attention to the surrounding countries in an attempt to spread their sphere of influence and doctrine? Korea would be in a position to be put under pressure. Other countries to the south would be in a similar spot. As long as the United States continues, it's military occupation, Japan has little to fear. But as soon as American troops are withdrawn, the Japanese will be helpless against a united communistic China.

What resistance these countries will be able to put up against the Communists cannot yet be ascertained. But it will depend to a large extent upon the conditions within these countries and also upon the backing the United States and other anti-communist countries are willing to give them.

Conditions and Incompletes must be removed by the end of the 10th week, February 9. Conditions and Incompletes not removed will automatically become failures.

Book Review "The Pearl"

"The Pearl" is based on an old Mexican legend. In 1940, while Steinbeck was on the expedition to the Gulf of California described in his "Sea of Cortez" he heard of the tale and shortly afterward wrote it in its present form. He later adopted it as a motion picture script for a film with an all-Mexican cast which is to be released by RKO.

The story itself is simple, telling about simple people. It is full of warmth and sincerity. Steinbeck's love and understanding of humanity is revealed as his characters seem to jump from the pages and live with one.

Kino was an oyster diver. One day while diving he found the fabulous pearl he thought would bring him and his wife Juana everything they desired. Quite the contrary happened. The pearl brought them nothing but suffering. Danger was their constant companion.

Kino was attacked, their house was burned, and they had to flee town. Their flight still did not leave them without danger for they were stalked like animals. During this ordeal their baby was killed.

Among the many points made by Steinbeck in this story was the fact that ignorant people have no chance for wealth and happiness in a world of greed and selfishness. The doctor refused to treat Kino and Juana's baby of a scorpion bite until he heard of Kino's "good fortune" in finding the pearl. Their friends all said they would have given the money to charity if they had found the pearl, but, of course, they had not found it.

The pearl is eventually cast out into the sea again by Kino. He and his wife learned too late that one doesn't get something for nothing. When the reader finishes the story he feels not despair, but hope for mankind.

Chit Chat

Id's sprigg, hey! De boids is buddin' an' de flowers is on de wing—er, no—oh well—

To begin on a happy note: The dishwashers in the caf have been heard to remark how clean the plates have been coming in lately. But we all know that "Itch" Lindholm has been running around at mealtime gathering leftovers for his black canine friend.

Mrs. DiUlio (frau of Jim DiUlio), who used to work at the River Falls Hospital, is now employed here as Veteran's secretary. As the saying goes, the hospital's loss is the Veteran's gain.

"Mickey" McIntyre rolled over his '48 Plymouth convert on a curve the other week. Wonder which curve he was trying to get around??

A thought no one ever thinks of: If it wasn't for the optimist the pessimist would never know how happy he isn't, Hm?

Kendall Hass, John Wiff, and Bob Gaard have gone long-hair on us. They sneaked up to the cities and saw Arthur Rubenstein pound the ivories—I mean, give a piano concert. Said Mr. Wiff: "I didn't know 'Chopsticks' could sound so complicated." Pat ("I've been English-departmenting") Cox, another concert attendee, said in regard to Mr. Rubenstein's performance: "He never played better. The clarinet has always been my favorite instrument."

And speaking of a deep appreciation for music, it certainly is surprising how Harry Shay can harmonize so well with Slim Jim. He knows all the words, too!

Drastic steps were taken to release Jean McLaughlin from the St. Peter insane asylum last week when the Mental Hygiene class went on a tour through the institution. It seems Jean was mistaken for a patient.

Notice a couple of new females wandering around the campus last week? One was Annalee Benson, a junior at the U. of Wisconsin, who spent her first two years at RFSTC. The other was Marie Carufel, sister of Eileen Carufel, a freshman here.

Gordy Hahn prefers standing to sitting every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday. Why? Because he goes roller skating every Sunday, Tuesday, and Friday, that's why.

To conclude properly, "Two-bits" Schullo would like to propose a toast: "Here's to woman. Would that I could fall into her arms without falling into her hands!"

Notice

Students may get free tickets to the Ambassadors of Song concert on showing of activity card. Please see Mr. McKeen or Mr. Rozehnal February 1, 2, or 3.

An application for graduation card must be filled out in the Registrar's office if you are graduating at the end of the Winter, spring, or summer session. Please do this now so that you will be included on the graduation role.

Graduation fee is three dollars.

Students should check their boxes for deficiency reports.

Veterans who expect to get college credit for experience and training in military service should write for a statement of such service and experience. Information may be secured from the Registrar's office. Please attend to this matter at once.

Falcons Upset Iowa Teachers

River Falls upset a powerful Iowa State Teachers quint, 55-53, on January 22. The game was played at Cedar Falls.

The Falcons won the game at the free throw line sinking 17 of 22 attempts. River Falls was outscored from the field, 20-19.

It was the Falcons' tenth straight win and its fourteenth in sixteen games. For the Iowans, it was the third loss in thirteen games. Other defeats came at the hands of the universities of Kansas State and Nebraska.

Nate DeLong, playing his best all-around game of the year, countered 22 points. The Panthers presented a well-balanced scoring attack with three players hitting for at least 11 points.

Victory was not insured until Benson potted a bucket in the last 90 seconds of play, putting the Red and White four points ahead. The Panthers then scored, closing the gap to two points, but the Falcons successfully stalled out the game.

B TEAM TIPS PRESCOTT

The "B" team scored an easy 71-50 victory over the Prescott Flyers last Friday night. Harley Harkness led the squad in scoring with 16 points from his guard position.

Southern Teams To Invade Falcon Lair

River Falls will attempt to take three more big steps toward the Teachers college conference championship as they tackle three foes in a span of two weeks.

Two foes from the southern half of the state, Whitewater and Milwaukee, will hit the Falcons here on February 11 and 12. At the present time, Milwaukee has a 3-3 conference record and Whitewater a 2-4 record. Whitewater's latest victim was Milwaukee by a 65-63 count.

On February 5 River Falls will travel to Eau Claire to take on the Blugolds. Eau Claire's hopes took a severe jolt last week when Warren Hoff, their star center, withdrew from school.

The Falcons defeated Eau Claire, 68-57, in an earlier game. Last year the Red and White were nipped by one point on the Blugold floor.

The probable starters for Eau Claire will be Rockwell and Emanuel at forwards, Musolf at center, and Young and Washburn or Billmeyer at guards.

River Falls Takes Over Conference Lead

Three teams, River Falls, Superior and Platteville, headed the State Teachers college conference as play swung into the second half last week.

The Falcons had a game lead over Superior and Platteville. Four teams are tied for third place. The standings will take a severe juggling when all five southern schools come north to play a two game series on February 11 and 12.

The standings:

Team	W	L
River Falls	5	1
Superior	4	2
Platteville	4	2
La Crosse	3	3
Eau Claire	3	3
Milwaukee	3	3
Stevens Point	3	3

Oshkosh, Platteville Bow To RFSTC; Lindholm Scores 25

River Falls took over first place in the college conference race as it won games from Oshkosh and Platteville by scores of 62-59 and 62-58 while Superior was losing two games.

The ability for someone to be hot on each night made victory possible. Against Oshkosh it was Benny Benson and Charley Most with 18 and 14 points respectively. On Saturday night "Itch" Lindholm hit for 25 to lead the Falcons.

The Red and White led Oshkosh at the half 27-24, fell behind 38-32 in the third quarter, tied the score 50-50, and then forged into the lead to stay.

River Falls was pressed all the way before it emerged victorious over the hard driving Pioneers. Platteville trailed at the half, 34-33.

"R" Club To Sponsor Broadcast Of Falcon-Blugold Game

Arrangements are being made by the college R club to bring a play by play description of the River Falls-Eau Claire game direct to the college auditorium and there will undoubtedly be a small fee charged for listening.

The reason for this broadcast is the limited seating capacity of the Eau Claire gym, therefore limiting the number of Falcon fans that will be able to attend.

C. E. Chubb, Editor of the River Falls Journal, will do the broadcasting. Mr. Chubb did a creditable job last year in his play by play description of the Beloit game.

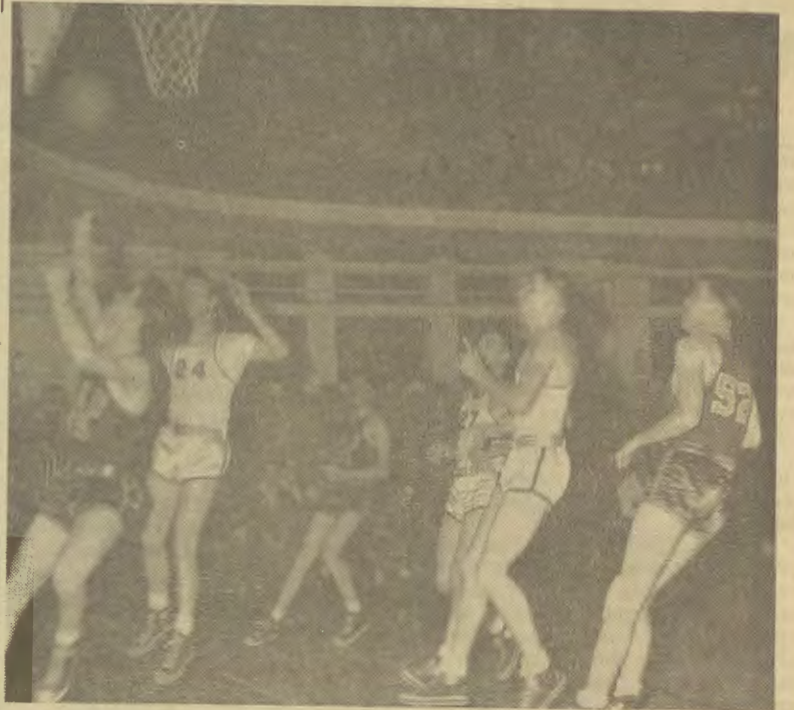

Duluth Suffers Second Defeat At Hands Of DeLong & Co.

Once upon a time there was a group of Bulldogs who challenged a group of Falcons to do battle on the basketball court. The agreement between these two highly skilled antagonists was to play a game at each team's lair.

After each game the Falcon victory cry was heard throughout the land. Early in the season the Bulldogs bowed to the invading Falcons, 48-46. On January 18 the Bulldogs (fully recovered from the previous skirmish) left home and traveled to the stamping ground of the Falcons, where they hoped to avenge their earlier defeat. But alas! Again the headlines informed the world that the Falcons had taken the measure of the ferocious Bulldogs by the score of 90-80.

As true warriors from the north country, the Duluth men showed a well-balanced, high scoring aggregation that took advantage of every opportunity which came their way. It was marked by sensational shooting with the Falcons making a slightly better percentage of their shots than the Bulldogs.

River Falls 90, Duluth 80

FFA Members Hear Haeg, Kleinpell At Annual Banquet

"We've got to think more and more of the social side of Agriculture," said Larry Haeg to over 100 members assembled at the FFA's annual banquet last Tuesday evening. Haeg, agricultural news commentator from station WCCO, was one of the speakers at the banquet.

He cited a survey taken in southern Minnesota which showed that according to the rate youth was leaving the farm, there would not be enough of them left by 1960 to operate the farms in that area. He said that in this "Erosion of farm youth", potential qualities of leadership were lost.

Dr. Kleinpell spoke on the problems educators have to meet. "As we become more educated and more specialized" he said, "We are losing our sense of moral values." He then went on to say that there had been more and greater wars fought in the last century than in the previous 800 years.

New officers were elected at the last meeting of the FFA chapter to serve for the remainder of this school year.

Sheldon Speaks To College YMCA

"The important question for all young people is not 'What do you think?', but merely, 'Do you Think?'" stated Mr. E. Temple Sheldon, of the Campus Training school, in his speech to the YMCA last Wednesday evening, January 26.

"In order to really get along in life", he said, "One must have a mind of his own, develop a philosophy, and, in short, take a definite stand on all issues". Some of the issues Mr. Sheldon mentioned dealt with political, social, and sexual problems.

In the short business meeting that preceded the speech, Wes Wendlandt, YMCA President, was chosen as the YMCA's choice for RFSTC Winter Carnival King. He will compete for this position with candidates chosen by other organizations of RFSTC.

The next YMCA-YWCA Sunday morning Breakfast will be held Sunday, February 6, at 7:30 a. m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sheldon, 421 E. Elm street (across from the green house). Lou Jane Lofgren will lead the discussion dealing with the question, "What makes a 'good' teacher or a 'poor' teacher?"
