WISCONSIN STATE COLLEGE, RIVER FALLS

VOLUME XLIII

NO. 8

COMPLETE WITH FURNISHINGS, a duplicate of the double rooms in the men's dormitory to be constructed on campus is shown here. A total of $650,000 has been set aside, but not released, by the federal government for a loan to be used in its construction. Work on the building will start when the money is made available.

John May to Get Award From State Co-op Council

John May, head of the Division of Ag Education, has received an award for "A Lifetime of Service to the Welfare of Wisconsin Citizens and Agriculture Education."

Prof. May and several men in the ag field throughout the state were picked for the honor by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperative.

The state-wide organization makes the award annually to persons who have been outstanding in Wisconsin ag work. The group's aim is to pay tribute to men in every phase of the vocation.

FORMAL presentation of the award will be made during a banquet at the Lorraine Hotel in Madison next Thursday evening. The ceremony is part of the Cooperative's annual two-day meeting, November 1-2.

Made up of all types of ag cooperatives, the Council works for the promotion of co-op activities in Wisconsin. Milo K. Swanton, from Madison, is the group's executive secretary.

Mr. May was recently honored by a testimonial dinner at the college. Over 150 colleagues, friends, and former students attended the gathering to give testimony of the contribution he has made to students, the college, and the state.

JOINING the River Falls faculty in 1913, Mr. May was made head of his Division in 1918. He has directed the training of more than 840 men in the agricultural field.

Prof. May went to grade and high school in Minneapolis, Kan., and attended college at Kansas State and Cornell University. Prior to coming to River Falls, he taught at Nebraska Central Academy and a high school at Rochester, Minn.

Last Week of Rehearsal For 'The Male Animal'

Production of this season's first play, The Male Animal, by Alpha Psi Omega is starting the last week of rehearsals. With a cast of 13 students, the satirical comedy by James Thurber will be presented in the Little Theatre, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 8-9. Curtain time for both nights is 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Dr. Blanche Davis, of the speech department, this play will be the first campus production by Alpha Psi Omega, a national honorary dramatics fraternity.

The comedy is centered around a conflict that develops between a sensitive English professor and a former football player at his school. The struggle is mainly over a woman, with a number of sidelights on academic freedom, as the plot takes shape.

A further source of irritation to the professor is the appearance of a "stuffed shirt" Board of Trustees member.

Danforth Fellowships Open to RF Students

The Danforth Foundation, an educational trust fund in St. Louis, Mo., invites applications for the sixth class (1957) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1957, for their first year of graduate study.

The Foundation welcomes applications from the areas of natural and biological sciences, social sciences, humanities and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

Pres. E. H. Kleinpell has named Dr. L. Gordon Stone to nominate two or three candidates for the Danforth Foundation fellowships. These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" throughout the years of graduate study. The fellowships carry a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need. The maximum annual grant for single students is $1800; for married students, $2400 with an additional allotment for children. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply.

A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Rhodes, Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, and Marshall, in addition to his Danforth Fellowship. Applicants for these appointments can apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship.

MANY EXHIBITS SEEN FOR FFA RURAL FAIR

Exhibits by approximately 100 pupils of rural schools in Pierce and St. Croix counties will be shown in North Hall gymnasium Friday, Nov. 9.

They will be a part of the annual FFA Rural School Fair sponsored for the fifth through eighth grades of 15 schools in the two counties. The FFA plans an all-day program to include a campus tour, movie, agricultural demonstrations and judging by students.

Chairman for the event is Forrest J. Erickson, senior from River Falls. Ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded, Mr. Erickson said.

'Prologue,' New Publication, To Appear Early in December

Entitled "Prologue," a new publication will appear on campus toward the end of the fall quarter. The title and publication date were selected Thursday evening by a group of students interested in creative graphic arts.

Calling itself "The Group," the organization elected William Hagestad as chairman. He also will serve as editor of the publication.

In addition to producing a 16-page literary supplement to The Student Voice each term, members of the organization have planned meetings for study and discussion of various literary forms, cartoons, illustration, and design.

The last literary magazine to be produced on campus was "First Flight." It was published in 1949 and 1950 but suspended publication in the latter year.

"Prologue" will be the only literary magazine to be published currently at any of the State Colleges, although discussion of such an effort has been going on at Eau Claire and Stevens Point State Colleges.

Thursday night's meeting was the third session for the organization which now has about a dozen members.

Senate to Modify Freshman Initiation; Asks Student Suggestions Before Vote

The Student Senate has approved a plan drawn up by Verland Norton, sophomore from Menomonie, to modify the present form of freshman initiation. A final decision on changing the traditional method will be made in an all-school election. The balloting will follow a "suggestion period" when further refinements are to be made on the plan.

Under the new method, beanies will be worn only if the freshmen decide, as a class, to wear them. Kangaroo Court will be eliminated under the new rules. Before voting on the proposal, students will have an opportunity to suggest further changes through an "idea box" which will be kept in the cafeteria.

ACCORDING TO Mr. Norton and the Student Senate, the proposed freshman initiation will cover a period of about five weeks.

The first week will be approximately the same as in previous years. It will include registration, the freshman mixer, theatre party, opening convocation, and the beginning of classes.

During the second week, the Sophomore Class will sponsor an evening of entertainment for the benefit of freshmen. It will be the juniors' responsibility to provide activities for the third week. The seniors will have the job for the fourth week. In the last week of initiation, freshmen will organize entertainment for one night.

THE STUDENT BODY and faculty will be invited to all the activity nights during the program. Sponsoring organizations for the evenings will provide identification cards with a corresponding color code for freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Information on the cards, to be worn by everyone attending, will include the person's name, home town, and field of study.

Mr. Norton outlined the new plan's objectives as follows:

"1. Assist freshmen in adjusting to college life.

2. Organize the Freshman Class as a faction of the student body to be recognized by upperclassmen and the faculty.

3. Familiarize freshmen with the idea of respecting faculty members and upperclassmen.

4. Acquaint freshmen with the remainder of the student body and the faculty."

MINNESOTA ALUMNI ATTEND COFFEE HOUR

River Falls alumni at the Minnesota Educational Association Convention in St. Paul met for a coffee hour Thursday afternoon at the Ryan Hotel. Approximately 25 alumni teaching in Minnesota schools attended.

Mrs. Betty Campbell McVay and Mrs. Millicent Wallace of the Twin City Alumni Association were in charge of arrangements. Faculty members attending included Miss Ann Dubbe, Miss Marion Hawkins, Miss Nancy Johansen, Dr. James J. McLaughlin and Wayne Wolfe.

Debate Group Honors Former Coach

As part of Pi Kappa Delta's annual Homecoming luncheon this year, the national honorary debate fraternity paid tribute to Miss Marion Hawkins who retired from debate at River Falls this season. After coaching debate here for 10 years, and having debated at the college as an undergraduate, Miss Hawkins was recognized by past and present members of the fraternity for the great service she has done in the department.

The group decided, at the suggestion of Walter Simonson, who has taken over the debate program this year, to establish a cash award in honor of Miss Hawkins for the best debate team each year. Recipients of the annual award will be decided at a public debate for an all-school assembly. Participants in the final debate are to be selected from tryouts by members of the squad.

THE FRATERNITY plans to make an award of $25 each year. Bringing together old friends of Miss Hawkins, the dinner was attended by many of her former debate partners including: Mrs. Louis Ode, of Red Wing, Minn., who debated with Miss Hawkins in her freshman year; and Mrs. Russel Sharp from Hudson, a debater who worked with Miss Hawkins in their last two years at River Falls.

A number of letters and telegrams were received from members of Pi Kappa Delta who were unable to attend the affair. Included were letters from Melvin Seinbron, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Duluth, Minn.; Dr. Justin Williams, chief of the Korea Division of the International Cooperation Administration and River Falls debate coach in 1928; and Mr. John Meulemans of Seattle, Wash.

A TELEGRAM came from Lowell Larson, Redwood Falls businessman. He said: "Debated against Marion in high school, lost. On (Continued on Page Four)"

The Editor Speaks . . .

Taking a cue from the recent policy changes for freshman initiation, following a Voice editorial on the issue, a number of subjects have suggested themselves for "airing." Namely, the Neil Mulhollam memorial bulletin board, the school flag, and the apparent lack of a school seal, have been topics for questions by students, faculty, and alumni. Arising mainly before and during Homecoming activities, these comments about the three things mentioned went something like this: "Where is it?" "Why isn't it up?" "Do we have one? If not, we should."

Regarding the school flag presented last year by the Sophomore Class, it's quite likely that subscribers to the St. Paul Dispatch have seen more of the flag than have students at RFSC. The newspaper thought it to be of enough interest to public a color picture of the flag and its designer on the front page. There hasn't been a sufficient amount of enthusiasm on campus to have the flag raised even once this year. Incorporating the Falcon symbol in its design, there should have been at least one place to use it in Homecoming decorations, or possibly to have it flown from the flag pole at Ramer Field or on North Hall lawn. Following the, "Where is it?" question, one student said, "I thought it was to be used for special occasions. Isn't Homecoming just about as special as any event on campus?"

An outside, lighted bulletin board has been purchased with the Neil Mulhollam memorial fund and money that was raised during last year's Foundation Week held in January. Considering that we are now in the middle of the fall term, the question, "Why isn't it up?" seems justified. The board could have been used during Homecoming festivities. At it was, many alumni, and even a few students, were confused as to times and places of events owing to the lack of a single central reference point.

Among students at least, the question is moot concerning the existence of a school seal. We have the Falcon to represent River Falls State in athletic contests and the like, but a more dignified symbol could be used for stationery and school publications. This would be a worthwhile project for any campus group. The possibility of a student design contest to be judged by the art department has been suggested. Someone on campus must have an answer to the comment "Do we have one? If not, we should."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"THAT'S MR. HAYWICK—HE'S IN CHARGE OF FRESHMAN ORIENTATION."

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor:

I can see why the library was not open a great deal during the current Homecoming. On Sunday, Oct. 21, however, the library was not open at all. This was definitely after Homecoming. There were other people in addition to myself who needed to use the library this weekend. Since the library was not open during Homecoming, there was all the more reason why it should have been open immediately after Homecoming. Many students, as I have said, needed to get work done that they didn't have a chance to do during Homecoming.

The library staff derive their salaries from the college. Now I think that this is reason enough for the library staff to be of service to its students. By not providing library facilities when they were most needed (like Sunday, October 21, for instance), the library staff is definitely not being of service to the students of this college.

In addition, this is mid-term test time. Students in courses using reserve reading books have to use these books in preparing for examinations. Because the library stays closed when students are studying for examinations, students are denied a part of their examination preparation.

I and many others, I am sure, would appreciate it if the library would reconsider its opening and closing policies.

Respectfully,
Sonja Rasmussen

Dear Editor:

Homecoming this year, was Friday and Saturday, Oct. 19-20, as you know of course. However, Homecoming didn't just start October 19 and end on the twentieth. The work of planning and preparing for those two days started when the Student Senate announced the candidates for Homecoming Chairman.

Campaigning for Chairman and Queen, as well as other work done before and after, are as much a part of the event as the parade, game, and dance. The Homecoming Committee, which was composed of faculty, alumni, and students, worked hard to arrange the festivities.

Special thanks are to be given to Carl Sharp and Dick Doetkott for their splendid work on the parade and decorations. Also I would like to take this opportunity to thank the faculty, alumni, and students who were called on to help, and who worked with such enthusiasm to make this year's Homecoming a success. I'm sure everyone enjoyed the proceedings and are looking forward to next year.

John Randall,
Homecoming Chairman

Dear Editor:

Looks to me like a lot of you fellers are pickin' on good ol' Bill—and I don't like it! Now, I maybe ain't no innaleckshual, but I sure like his colyum—doggone, I like it! Yessir, I think Bill Hagestad knows his books. Course, I ain't read any of 'em yet, but I'm fixin' to one of these days . . .

I'M HOPIN' that he gets around to one of my favorites soon; they call it a "dictionary." I been gonna read it for the last year, 'cause I've heard tell quite a bit about it. Mebbe if I wait, though, they'll make a movie outen it, and I can go see that. I sure would like to see ol' Bill light inta that crittur, though, I would!

I spose you fellers figgur you're pretty darn smart talkin' about Bill in all them ten-dollar words you know. Well, I'm warnin' ya! I've got a good big double-barrel shotgun that makes me feel mighty smart! And when I see somebody I like gettin' talked about like that—well, I'm just warnin' ya!

GAD BOOKS!

HAGESTAD

Certain works of fiction on this season's best-seller list are hardly fiction at all they are so filled with "points" and "messages" and "lessons." This situation can create a state of mind that is entirely out of coincidence with one of the great determinations or designs of literature.

This is a very sad thing because the enduring prestige that literature has gained in the life of man seems to have come as a result of the endeavor of those other than "point-making" or "message-bringing" writers. To figure in man's existence, literature must first have gained that elusive and undefinable "prestige" of which I speak.

TO BE A PART of man's actuality, which is the initial step in being of import in his actuality, literature must first be accepted by him—and be accepted largely on the basis of this "literary prestige."

This great bulk of modern literature that is forever sermonizing and "carrying messages" can be detrimental to literature's position in man's existence. I believe this to be true because literature of this type seems to me to be entirely lacking in the two qualities that recommend it to man—that give it its prestige.

Literature that is deserving of this prestige possesses both beauty and perception. There are plenty of books dealing in each alone; but those dealing in beauty alone are somewhat flaccid things and those dealing alone in perception are, in my experience, notoriously dry . . .

What is there about a beautiful and perceptive work of literature that makes it variously so "rewarding" or "satisfying?" What happens to a reader who is pursuing a piece of literature like this—literature that possesses this prestige?

ANSWERS to these questions can lead in two directions: the one being an exposition of the creative process and its relationship to and reflection in, the reader. The other tack is a more utilitarian one which I believe has more meaning to the everyday reader.

Literature that is perceptive—has insight—would seem to be that literature which is called "illuminating." This literature is what might be called "rewarding" or "satisfying" because it casts light on incidents within our lives, relates those incidents to our "progress" or "development" (lacking better words), and relates them to history.

The end of this thing that perception accomplishes—this illuminating and relating process—is to engender understanding in man's mind. It would seem that with this understanding the discrepancy between man's aspirations and abilities could be erased—that the visions of the Age of Enlightenment might be realized.

BEAUTY IN literature may be regarded in several ways. Traditionally it would seem that beauty is the frosting on the "cake" of literature: one of the things that makes the reader turn the pages—one of the things that makes a "good book." But I don't believe that beauty is that divorced from the heart of a book.

I don't believe that it operates entirely apart from that other quality, perception. Rather I would think that beauty is that agent in literature that gives perception its recommendation—that agent that gives perception its credentials.

Team A-1 Captures Fourth I-M Touch Football Crown

by Griff Howell

Last week the intramural touch football season came to an end with team A-1 defeating team B-10 by the score of 10-6 in the championship game. This gave team A-1 their fourth consecutive intramural touch football championship.

Tough defense by both teams highlighted the play. Team B-10 scored the first time they got the ball but couldn't cross the goal again. Team A-1 scored on a run around left end during the first half.

The second half saw the line of B-10 lapse twice to give two safeties and the championship to team A-1. The final standings for the two leagues follow:

STRONG MANKATO 11 TO FACE FALCONS IN SEASON'S FINALE

by Rog Gundlach

The Mankato Indians will invade Ramer Field for the final game of the 1956 River Falls football season Saturday, Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. The high-ranking Indians, under coach Bob Otto and led by quarterback Jerry Bodelson, will be aiming to spoil River Falls Coach Phil Belfiori's bid to tie last year's mark of seven wins, one loss.

This is the best record the Falcons have made under Belfiori since he took over the coaching duties in 1951. Last season RF beat Mankato 7-0 in the season's final tilt.

THE INDIANS have shown up strongly in the Minnesota State Teachers College Conference standings with victories over Huron, Beloit, and Bemidji, a loss to St. Cloud, the conference leader, and a forfeit to Winona. With Mankato leading at games end, the forfeit was declared because two Minnesota transfer students, fullback Kermit Klefsaas and halfback Dick Kubes, were found to be ineligible for conference play. Basketball Candidates To Report Next Monday

All candidates for the 1956-57 edition of the River Falls Falcon basketball squad will report for the first team meeting Monday, Nov. 5, in the North Hall gymnasium. New head Coach Fran Polsfoot asks that all men interested in the sport attend the meeting.

The first game is scheduled for November 28 with Augsburg, but it is anticipated that a practice scrimmage with some school can be arranged before that date.

Falcons Defeat Winona To Win Season's Sixth

RF Squad Controls Ball During Most of Game

by K-Don Tibbetts

Controlling the ball most of the game, River Falls beat Winona last Saturday night, 26-12, for their sixth win of the football season. The Falcons carried the ball for 276 yards in 55 rushes and completed five of 16 passes for 85 yards. The RF squad had a total net yardage of 361.

Winona gained only 94 yards in 38 rushes. They completed four out of 18 passes for 104 yards. Johnny Steffen intercepted two of Winona's passes, while John Rutter and Darrel Johnson each made one interception. Steffen made 53 yards and a touchdown on one of his interceptions.

THE ENTIRE River Falls line played one of the season's best defensive ball games. Ron Wunrow and Bob Koplun got 10 tackles each. River Falls ends, Bill Kraft and Tom Shield, were forcing the passer to throw hurriedly and hitting him just as he got the ball away.

Rog Hanson, Dick Shimel, and Merlin Sletten played fine defensive ball for the Falcons. Reserve tackle Howie Madsen made four tackles in the Winona backfield in less than half a quarter. The blocking honors go to Rutter, with Wunrow running a close second.

Bucky DiSalvo was the game's leading ground-gainer, making 111 yards in 16 carries. His best run was a 35-yard drive made in the first quarter. Johnson made 73 yards in eight rushes. He completed his only pass for 13 yards, which give him a total of 86 yards for the game.

STEFFEN CARRIED 24 times for 69 yards and completed three out of five passes for 52 yards. His total yardage for the contest was 121. Bringing his total points scored to 97 for the season, Steffen scored two touchdowns, passed for another, and kicked two extra points in Saturday night's competition.

The first two Falcon drives of the game stalled, but Steffen intercepted a pass in the middle of the first quarter and returned it to the Winona 34-yard line. After Johnson picked up four yards River Falls was penalized five, for backfield in motion. On the next play, Steffen's pass intended for Johnson fell incomplete. Again taking to the air, the Falcons netted a TD on the next try when Shield got behind the Winona defense to catch Steffen's 35-yard pass.

RIVER FALLS LED 6-0, as the conversion attempt was unsuccessful when Steffen was forced to run it out. The next RF touchdown came on a 53-yard run by Steffen after intercepting a Winona pass. He converted and the Falcons led 13-0. Winona fumbled on the kick-off return and Shield recovered on the 30. Just four plays later, Johnson scored on a reverse from the 15-yard line. Steffen's try for the point was wide and RF led at halftime, 19-0.

Capping a 49-yard drive in the fourth quarter, Steffen pushed across from the four to add another six points to the Falcons score. They led 26-0, when Steffen's conversion was good. WINONA BOUNCED back two plays later, with a 65-yard pass play that was good for a TD. Kraft blocked the conversion attempt and the score stood River tempt and the score stood River

River Falls fumbled a punt late in the game on its own 14-yard line. Seven plays later, Winona scored from the one-foot line. Jack Neurer blocked the try for extra point, making the final score, 26-12. The game gave the Falcons a record for the season of six wins and one loss.

A balance of $125.14 was reported by the treasurer.

CLASS MEETINGS

At the suggestion of B. J. Rozenal, dean of students, it was decided that class meetings should be held on the first or third Wednesday of each month. Sophomores and seniors are scheduled for the first Wednesday, and the juniors and freshmen have been given the third Wednesday.

In the event of a conflicting all-school convocation, scheduled meetings will be shifted to the following Wednesday. The meeting date that has been set for the Student Advisory Council will remain the same.

SAC MEETING

The next SAC meeting will be Wednesday, October 31. Announcements of the meeting are being mailed to all organizations not represented at the first meeting.

HOMECOMING CHAIRMAN

This plan would enable the candidates to better organize Homecoming activities. Volunteers for the position will be accepted by the Senate during the spring term.

A folder will be made up to assist next year's Chairman in organizing the event.

COMMITTEE CONGRATULATED
The Student Senate extended formal congratulations to Mr. Randall and his committee for having done an excellent job during Homecoming.

MANKATO VS. FALCONS—

However, they are expected to be in action against the Falcons next Saturday.

Falcon Coach Belfiori regards this year's Mankato eleven with great respect, saying, "this is the strongest team they've had in the last six or seven years."

RIVER FALLS has had a big dent put their hopes for further success, with serious injuries to five players and the loss of another. Nursing their sore spots are halfback Ken Ellingson with a bruised side, quarterback John Hillstead with a serious boil on his leg, halfback Frank Sprenger has a sprained ankle, center Lynn Lawrenz with a bruised kidney and guard Al Weinke, who has a broken nose. Regular tackle Tod Guberman has dropped from school.

Adding up all these black and blue marks, it looks like a battle between a shallow River Falls squad and a strong Mankato eleven.

same team with her in college, much better arrangement."

Discussing current political campaigns at the luncheon were Nancy Murry, from Ellsworth, and Les Gaylord, of River Falls, opposing candidates for District Attorney.

Miss Hawkins addressed the group on debate tradition at River Falls. She emphasized the educational stress placed on debate here, and the insistence on good sportsmanship. She continued "Though we may not have won all our debates, our opponents always knew that they had had a fight."

Mr. Simonson spoke to the luncheon group on this year's debate activity. He discussed the squad's size and predicted that it would be the largest in the nation before the season is over. He expressed hope that the budget would permit taking all of the team's members on a tournament trip.

Music Notes

by Glenn Sandve

Two of the High School bands participating in this year's homecoming parade were under the direction of River Falls graduates in music education.

The Turtle Lake High School Band is directed by Jim Jacobson who graduated from RFSC in 1952. This is his second year of teaching after spending two years in the service.

Don Cooper, who re-organized the Falconaires in 1954, was a graduate of River Falls in 1955. This will be his second year as music teacher at Elmwood High School.

Another former River Falls music student, Dave Zerahn, from Baldwin, is now stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. After completing his basic training, he will be transferred to the U.S. Naval School of Music at Washington, D. C.

Upon finishing his studies there, Mr. Zerahn will be assigned to a Navy band.
