

"Greenness Doesn't Last" President Ames Tells Frosh

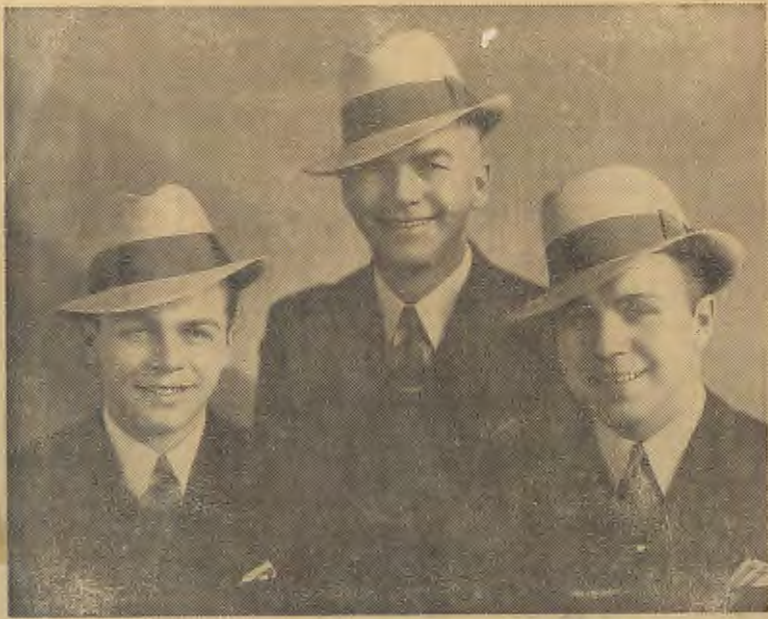

A new school year is beginning. We most heartily welcome a new freshman class to the campus. Make yourselves at home; this is your school. You may feel a little green at first, but we hope that it won't be long until you feel as much a part of River Falls as the smartest sophomore or the wisest senior. If you feel a little awed by the brilliance of the upperclassmen, remember that they too were once freshmen and some of the smartest were once the greenest.

If there's anything you want to know, speak right up! Both faculty and upperclassmen will be glad to help you. Don't be afraid to stop anyone in the hall to find out something. If you occasionally mistake a pretty young instructor for a fellow freshman or a wise-looking senior for a faculty member, don't be embarrassed; it happens every year.

Seriously, we're mighty glad you're here and we hope you're just as glad. You're going to do your best to fit into River Falls and we're going to do our best to help you. With both of us in there pitching, we can't miss!

J. H. AMES, President

WCCO Artists To Appear Here

The Bob-O-Link Trio

The first assembly program of the year, Wednesday, September 11, at 10 a. m. will feature a group of artist entertainers from the WCCO Artist's Bureau - the Bob-o-Links, a male trio.

The Bob-o-Links is a family affair, a father and two sons with a mother for a coach. Due to the fact that they are members of the same family, and because Mrs. Link is a former voice coach for a prominent opera company, the Bob-o-Links have an amazing blend of voices, which has given them work in radio in the East and now in the Northwest. They do a wide range of material, from hill-billy and western to popular, classical, and sacred music. Their accompaniment is supplied by guitars, oratorios, and glass jugs which they themselves manipulate.

Annual Y Retreat Is Held at Jacobson's

The annual fall retreat of the YM was held from Tuesday, September 2, to Saturday, September 6, at the home of J. P. Jacobson. Eleven members of the cabinet participated in this event.

Discussions of a program for this school year were carried on and an attempt was made to map out a fairly definite schedule. Arrangements were made for a freshman breakfast which is usually held under the joint sponsorship of the YM and YW to introduce the freshmen to the various churches.

President Herbert Nelson and treasurer Arnold Cordes made a report on the Geneva conference which they attended this summer.

214 Students Enroll At Summer Session

214 students enrolled for the 1941 session of RFSTC. Of these, 60 were men and 154 were women.

Guest instructors were present on the campus for the session. Teaching a course in secondary school education and in guidance, was Principal E. A. Røck of the Hudson high school. Dr. Ella C. Clark of Winona taught elementary curriculum and visual aids to education. An assembly program directed by Miss Clark demonstrated the elements of visual education.

Samuel D. Rosen, brilliant writer and lecturer and eminent authority on international affairs, presented one assembly program. Soviet Russia and her place in the current struggle was the theme of his address.

Ruby Spencer Lyon and the Continental Quartet was another assembly program featured at the summer session. This entertainment met widespread approval by the college audience.

Other assemblies of the summer included an address by Dean E. O. Melby, Northwestern University, and a travel talk on South America by Mr. Clarence Sorenson.

Mr. Russell Johnston was the director of the summer school session.

Kaatz Is College Secretary

Miss Margaret Kaatz is the new secretary to the registrar. Coming from Menomonie, she fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Alice Dobberpuhl.

Williams Welcomes Freshmen as School Opens with Registration

Folk Dance To Highlight Freshman Party To Be Held in Gymnasium This Evening

A freshman convocation at 9:30 Monday morning, September 8, in charge of Dr. Justin Williams was the first event in the program of freshman orientation. Following the meeting, the freshmen were assigned in groups according to their interests for counselling.

Freshman registration immediately followed the group meetings. Registration cards, social record cards, and health cards were filled out. Fees were paid following registration.

Under the joint sponsorship of the YMCA, YWCA, and the Student Senate, a party will be given Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Peter Olson, folk dance specialist, will be featured in the entertainment program. Dean Wessels, Ted Gleiter, and Margaret Stronks are the upper-classmen who are responsible for the program.

The Freshman Handbook, an annual publication designed to aid freshmen and sponsored by the Student Senate, was again distributed to the freshmen. The co-editors were Bill Stratton and Leone Timmerman.

Mary K. O'Connell Is Elected Masquer Head

At the last meeting of the college Masquers Mary Catherine O'Connell, a junior in the English department, was elected president.

Mary Catherine has been a member of Masquers for two years. During this time, she has served as treasurer and as a member of many committees. In the plays that have been presented, she has given outstanding character performances in character roles.

Women's Government Enters Second Year

With the inauguration of the Women's Self Governing Movement on the RFSTC campus, River Falls joins a nation wide college movement. The idea of girls doing things for themselves by themselves began with the first Mothers' Day celebration on the campus in 1940. In the spring of '41, this very loose organization was developed into a more compact group.

The aim of representing all the girls in the college and yet maintaining a workable committee was realized through the representation system. In this plan, every large rooming house has one representative. The small houses are grouped into divisions of three or four. With the girls at home having representatives this system brings all houses together in a committee of twenty girls. The committee elects from the body a president and a secretary. Leone Hophan served as president during the past year; Muriel Pearson was secretary.

Rooming houses, the use of the Social Room, and Mothers' Day are a few of the activities mapped out for this new governing body. Plans are being made for the election of new representatives and the development of new fields of activity for the coming year.

To Work on Publications

Howard Wilcox Oliver Glanzman

Glanzman Is Chosen To Edit '42 Meletean

At the last meeting of the Student Senate, Oliver Glanzman was elected to edit the '42 Meletean, the annual publication of RFSTC. Oliver is a senior in the history department and a veteran worker on the year book staff.

Through three years at River Falls Oliver has been an active student on the campus. He is a member of the debate squad, the Meletean staff, and the Student Voice staff. In addition to these activities, he has maintained a fine scholastic average.

The finances and business management for the '41-42 Student Voice will be directed by Howard Wilcox, a senior in the science department. "Howie" has worked on the business staff for two years, during which time he has demonstrated his efficiency and interest.

In addition to his Voice work, Howard played with proficiency the bassoon in the concert band and orchestra. He was known by the band members as a "jammer" between numbers.

During vacations and after school he has worked at a grocery store down town.

Verle Straub Resigns As Sigma Chi President

Miss Verle Straub, newly elected president of the Sigma Chi Sigma, has resigned her position because she will not be in school this year. Verle has accepted a secretarial position in Minneapolis.

Alice Swanson Will Teach Training School Second Grade

Miss Alice Swanson, a graduate of the Superior State Teachers College and a student at the University of Wisconsin, will teach the second grade at the RFSTC training school. For three years she has been demonstration teacher in the extension schools of Superior State Teachers College.

She will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Mintener.

Jay Grimm Resigns as Regent

Jay H. Grimm, a member of the board of regents for twelve years, has resigned to accept a position as county judge of Pierce county. Mr. Grimm was appointed as regent in February, 1929. The college has not as yet received a notice of the appointment of a new regent.

Timmerman Secures Position

Merton Timmerman, a 1941 graduate of the agriculture department, has secured a position at the Dunn County Normal School. Mr. Timmerman was a prominent student at RFSTC, participating in the FFA, the Honor Society, Student Voice and the Meletean.

Brace, Stratton Lead Spring Term Honor Roll

Forty-two RFSTC students made the honor roll in the spring term of 1941. Nine of these students achieved a straight A average. Those who made this record are Harold Doornink, Ted Gleiter, Margaret Jerdee, Lucile Kane, Dolores Kramschuster, Belle Laurent, Anita Peterson, Paul Prucha, and Oliver Schultz. Neal Brace and Bill Stratton lead the honor roll with 53 honor points each.

Bands and Orchestra To Begin Rehearsals

Tryouts for concert band and orchestra will be held during this week. Students wishing to become members of these organizations must register with Mr. B. J. Rozehnal, director of instrumental music. The first band rehearsal will begin at four o'clock Wednesday, September 10. This will be followed by orchestra rehearsal in the evening. After having registered with Mr. Rozehnal, all students may attend this rehearsal. Selections for permanent places in the band and orchestra will be made from this group.

A marching band will be organized this week. Physical education credit can be obtained for the time spent in marching band.

The fourth instrumental organization which will swing into action this week is the freshman band.

Grid Star Applies for License

Kenneth Rasmussen, RFSTC football star, has applied for a license to marry Cecel Ekenstadt of Cumberland, Wisconsin, according to the St. Paul Pioneer Press of Friday, September 5. Rasmussen is expected to be one of the shining lights in Falcon athletics this year.

Our Note to Adolf Hitler

River Falls, Wisconsin
September 8, 1941

Attention,
Adolf Hitler,
German Dictator:

Your greed and desire for glory has brought to this world in the last few years a lot of misery and misunderstanding which cannot be remedied in a year or even in a decade. You, in your effort to surpass even Napoleon and Ceasar, have killed innocent people, ruined nations, wrecked independence, destroyed human doctrines, blasted religion, an pulverized education.

You, Herr Hitler, have encouraged entire nations to act like jealous pups who think that by killing citizens and destroying property they may achieve something precious. Now, you are peering with eager eyes toward bountiful America.

Let us tell you this, Adolf Hitler. From this small college out here in River Falls, Wisconsin, we send you this notice. America is determined; your greediness will not stop her progress nor curb her ideals.

In comparison with larger universities and colleges we have been branded a "hick school" and a "cow college." We mean very little in a financial way, but in matters of national significance we mean a great deal.

Together with hundreds of other small schools throughout the USA, we form a very important group. We represent within our walls the masses of Americans who must seek an advanced education through hard work and with little financial support. We represent those who in later years will serve as leaders in small communities and those who will help mold America's thoughts and opinions.

We wish to announce to you, Adolf Hitler, that we are opening our doors for the 67th time. If you could jump into one of your planes and come here this week, you would have the opportunity of seeing some 500 students answering the bells in North and South Hall with a new earnestness to learn. You would see the harm that your ballyhoo and conquests have done to your chances here.

You would see students going to English classes with a new realization of the importance of knowing the beauty of their own language. To history classes you would see students going with a desire to know more about their nation and their neighbors.

Thanks to you, Adolf Hitler, our students as well as those elsewhere in the nation, are beginning to realize more than ever before what America's ideals and opportunities mean to them. Not even your mechanized units, your great air force, or your Bund could defeat a united, educated America.

Opinions of Youth Given in The Nation's Collegiate Press

It has been resolved by those who publish this paper that the editorial columns of the paper shall be dedicated to the plea of the young men and women of the country. On the shoulders of modern youth falls the great part of the burden of the American rearmament program and the clash between freedom and slavery.

This program, however, is managed and directed by older people sharpened by experience. The press and radio expresses the opinions as written and given of those who look down on youth.

One of the mightiest mouthpieces of young America is the nation's collegiate press, now brought together and organized by the Associated Collegiate Press. So, throughout the year we shall express the honest opinion of youth. The collegiate press, as it has been in the past, will be called every sort of name, but we shall stubbornly insist on our right to voice constructive opinions.

Students Have Duty To Keep Up School as Usual

Before the freshmen of 1941, before every college student of today, there is a gigantic task, almost Herculean in its scope. We must return to our classrooms, do routine tasks while empires are rising or falling. "School

Students Need to Preserve Tolerance and Fair Thinking

We are coming back to school filled with optimism, happy to be here. We are eager to make a success of our year in college, certain that we are increasing our opportunities for our own mental and economic advancement, as well as preparing ourselves to make whatever we do in the future more worthwhile. Then too, we hope to learn to live more pleasantly, to make new friends, to do new things, to have fun. In other words, we are here to get an education, which someone has defined as an attempt to learn to do better the things we would do anyway.

All of this is desirable, we must have it, and I sincerely hope your year at River Falls will help you acquire this kind of an education. However, none of us, living in today's topsy-turvy world dare be content - only to learn to do better the plain ordinary things we would do anyway. We must not concern ourselves only with our campus, our college life; we must face the harsh reality of life in a nation which is really in war.

In the economic sense, we won't have to force ourselves to do without, to make adjustments to wartime economies; we will be forced by sheer necessity to do so.

Yet there is another adjustment, another effort to make in our own mental reactions, our own beliefs, our own attitudes which each of us must make for himself. It will be all too easy for us to be indifferent to individual constructive thinking and to become followers of the ultra-patriotic flag-waving mob, who are intolerant of all other opinions. Even today we are being told what to do in order that our nation may triumph over its enemies.

No one will deny that this nation has a war to win in which hard tough fighting will be necessary or that this will involve the united action of our nation. But we hope that since you are coming to college, somewhere in your education you will put a wide streak labeled "tolerance." I hope that no one at River Falls will want to deny Lindbergh a hall to speak in as the city fathers of Oklahoma City did or will label everyone with views different from his as a Nazi. I hope that our college year above all else, will teach us that every issue has two sides equally worthy of study, before an opinion or belief is formed.

as usual" will seem a little dull unless the situation is analyzed.

We are the ones, elected by circumstance, who must carry on this business of academic learning while the rest of the nation prepares through military training and civilian production to meet whatever may come. Our ranks depleted by the exigencies of the national emergency, we must develop and foster a true school spirit, foster a true national spirit that will vitalize our present school organizations, making possible a normal college year.

This is our challenge and assignment. It is as definite and ultimately as important as any in the nation today.

Willful Women Is Theme of Bromfield Trilogy

The turn of the century, picturesque in the changing America, is the time setting for Louis Bromfield's trilogy. There are three closely related novels in the trilogy, the new plot arising from a shift in character emphasis.

The first, The Green Bay Tree, has as its center of interest the beautiful, amoral Lily Shane. Daughter of a proud family, she faces intrepidly the wholesale disapproval of the Town to lead her own life.

Ellen Tolliver, a woman whose god was success, and whose life was bound inextricably with that of Lily Shane, receives the emphasis in Possession. "Smooth and as lean as a greyhound," she achieves success, but loses something infinitely more precious.

Oliva is the dominating figure in the third novel, Early Autumn. Married to one man, in love with another, she must decide whether the laws of society are worth obeying.

Mr. Bromfield's feminine characters, which are his best, have one thing in common; strength. They make their decisions and carry them out with feline-like hardness. This strength, revealed in the action, is also born out in his descriptions of them. The typical characteristic is a slightly aquiline nose, superb tailoring, and smooth, glistening hair. This is born out, too, by his newest novel, Wild Is the River.

A French setting is familiar to Bromfield. By taking his characters to France to reside, he works in his knowledge of the old French language and manners.

The endings of the novels are very effective. In each it is not a happy, but a convincing finale. One feels that a character has been met, a problem has been put forth, and a partial solution has been proposed. Without a note of finality, Bromfield permits the character to escape beyond the ending of the story and to go on with her life into newer and more happy experiences.

Behind the Eight Ball with the editor

This first issue of the Student Voice was put out by a few members and ex-members of the staff. Thanks to ex-editor Marshall Johnston, ex-business manager Loren Thompson, assistant editor Alton Broten, business manager Howard Wilcox, and Mae Rockman for sacrificing their remaining vacation days to this work.

There are a number of good positions open on the paper. Anyone interested in special lines of writing or in editorial work should see the editor or members of the editorial staff.

Sports Editor "Abe" Broten has been working in a grocery store all summer. The manager reports that the profit was diminished by Mr. Broten's record consumption of cherries. "Abe" should be correspondent to Washington.

Dr. Ernst Jurgens proved to be almost a man of his word when he married in July. In response to the queries of "Kram and Kane," he said, "Tell you in June."

Irene Raawe has charge of the feature page this year. Her outstanding work in that department last year makes her a sure bet for editorials won comment from people in and outside of school.

Marshall Johnston, editor of the 1941-1942 Voice, will continue his work in journalism at the University of Minnesota.

RFSTC Bids Good Luck to Those Who Leave for Duty

Amidst the clamors of a world bursting with greediness and jealousy, colleges and universities throughout the nation are sending out their calls to encourage students to enter the 1941-42 school year. They will continue to campaign on the age old platform of promoting American traditions and building new patriots and national leaders through education.

Promises of a hectic and dramatic year in national affairs will be carried over to the field of education with perplexing prominence. The group who attend RFSTC this year and those who attend any other college will present a great cross section of American youth under the pressure of national defense. The majority of students will be women whose service work for their country is as yet at a minimum. Among the men enrolling, there will be some who as yet are too young to reach army life. There will be some who failed to pass their physical exams and those who will be inducted later on in the course of the school year.

Although unspectacular in its mode of training, RFSTC professors will return to their jobs knowing now more than ever before that they are typical of the majority of educational leaders of this nation who work diligently to lead students to better manhood and womanhood. These professors, closer to the hearts of average-day men and women than instructors in more notable institutions of learning, join with hundreds of other small-school "profs" in bringing to those in the lower brackets a better understanding of our way of life.

To those men who through enlistment or as a result of the draft have left school to serve their nation, RFSTC must doff its hat and bid them "Good Luck".

Silk Shortage Clouds Fair Femmes' Brows

Flash! River Falls co-eds are now facing one of the deepest and most perplexing problems of their young careers.

Were you surprised to see so many gray hairs on the usually bright crowns of our sun-tanned college beauties this year? Did you notice those new wrinkles on the otherwise smooth foreheads of our most luscious female students? Surely you haven't failed to note the cloud over once shining eyes or the droop on once smiling lips? Have you missed the jolly air of carefree youth that usually radiates from our local glamour girls?

You may think we are referring to the loss of many of our fellow students — those drafted and drifted men who have left many vacant places at our alma mater. However, the difficulty that our women face is even more pressing.

Well, we'll let you in on the big secret. It's the stocking shortage — and not a thing to be laughed at, you of the opposite sex. To be fully clothed or not to be fully clothed, that is the question. The answer is probably in a fashion note that says sun-tanned limbs or ankle sox will do nicely. So let down your dignity, along with your hair, gals, for it looks like you're going to have to go native. Wow!!

Workshop in Rural Education Is Summer School Feature

Keeping in step with the River Falls tradition of progressive education, the RFSTC summer school session featured one of the newest of educational experiments: the Workshop. Under the direction of Mr. C. L. Eggert and Dr. Justin Williams, the workshop was pronounced a success by those who participated in it.

The aim of the workshop is to give to people who participate in it an opportunity to work on problems which are particularly challenging to them; to obtain academic credit in the fields of American history, English composition, physical science, and psychology as they relate to elementary school.

Featured in the workshop program were informal group discussions and the model school. Composing the model school was a group of volunteer rural children from five surrounding communities directed by Miss Agnes Kelleher as teacher.

Miss Vera Moss, Dr. B. J. Kettlekamp, were the River Falls faculty members who assisted Mr. Eggert and Dr. Williams in this program.

River Falls Expects To Lose Nine Gridiron Lettermen Through Draft Open Season Against Winona Teachers

Prospects of a successful gridiron season this year at RFSTC deserve the largest question mark since World War days. As Uncle Sam hungrily looks for new recruits, Coach Lowery and his aides must cross their fingers as they plan for the opening encounter September 25.

Following the football campaign last fall, nineteen lettermen were selected with fourteen expected back for more service on Ramer Field this season. However, after the draft and enlistments hit this list, only four lettermen are certain to return. This quartet is composed of Bill Trecker, Ken Rasmussen, Orville Peterson, and "Doc" Schmidt.

Other men upon whom Falcon hopes are balanced include Lee Dosch, Bob Mraz, Francis Ptacek, Dick Morrow, Bob Dostal, Don Babbitt, Roger Cernohous, Emmett Kelly, Joe Ott, Hugh Cretnay, Ken Poppy, and Rudolph Meehan. Coach Lowery is expecting a new group of freshman to help fill in the positions vacated.

Burton Boettcher, co-captain of this year's grid machine, has been placed in group 1-A in the draft, and it is expected that he will be called sometime during September. He may return to school for a short time to play in the first contests. Bill Trecker, the other co-captain, will be back in an RFSTC uniform for certain.

In addition to Boettcher, Damon Schulenberg and Hugh Reynolds are due to leave for the "Southern Training Grounds" in September. Rupert Isaacson and Fred Lanners are already reported to be in the army. Fred Kroeger, who was eligible for football this fall but not basketball, has joined the air corps. Gordon Barto, Leland Dobberstein, and Newell Olson are or will serve in the air corps.

The Falcons this year will have fifteen days previous to the opening game, whereas last year the schedule was so arranged as to allow but ten days of practice. The first few days, according to Coach Lowery, will be devoted to conditioning, stressing of fundamentals, and experimenting on new plays. Clifford Juedes will assist Lowery in his coaching duties.

The Falcons will blow the lid off the schedule with its season's opener at Winona, Minnesota, when they battle the Winona State Teachers College.

The first conference game for the 1941 season will be the initial home game when La Crosse Teachers will show their wares in local territory October 4. Stout Institute, boasting one of its strongest aggregations in years, will vie with River Falls in the annual homecoming struggle that is scheduled for Ramer Field October 25.

Commenting upon the remainder of the league, Coach Lowery admits that other teams will undoubtedly suffer from the draft almost to the same extent as RFSTC. However, he looks to Stout Institute as the "team to beat" both on the gridiron and the basketball court. Stout, in years past, has often been more or less of an underdog in conference play. Following a fast season last year, things are beginning to look rosier at the Menomonie school.

Coaching personnel throughout the circuit will remain the same. Ted Whereatt will continue to pilot the Superior team; Bill Zorn is at Eau Claire; Clyde Smith is at La Crosse, and Ray Johnson at Stout.

RAINDROPS from the Sports Cloud

Ken Rasmussen has been following the Red Grange pattern of working as an ice man during part of the summer months to keep in trim for fall gridiron battles.

Don Staley, former RFSTC grid star who dropped out of school following a brilliant sophomore year, is in the service of his country as a member of a rugged army detachment located in Panama.

Due to the fact that his two older brothers have been "touched" by the long fingers of militaristic Uncle Sam, Oris Boettcher, promising frosh grid star of last year, will not return to school.

The Athletic Council, which was organized in 1912, will continue its supervision of RFSTC athletic policies this fall. It will be composed of R. A. Karges, A. N. Johnson, Glen P. Junkman, and Ted Setterquist.

Falcon boxing hopes will throw a very dim glare this year. Gordon Barto and Leland Dobberstein, the two fistic aces, will not return to school.

Katherine Lynch To Head 1941-42 WAA

The Women's Athletic Association will this year continue its participation in college activities with Katherine Lynch as its president.

This organization, commonly called the WAA, is in charge of directing women's athletic activities around the RFSTC campus. The association plans a program for each year which covers all sports.

The membership of the WAA includes those desiring to participate in any of the organization's activities. Activity periods are set for every Tuesday and Thursday at four p. m.

Among the activities sponsored by the WAA are social meetings, parties, skating, picnics, play days, and camping trips.

One of the most colorful events held in connection with the organization is the play day held annually with Eau Claire. Basketball, table tennis, swimming, and field hockey are some of the competitive games played.

will take his final fling at the teaching game as he assumes his position as history instructor at Amery.

Special Senate Election To Be Held As Senators Join Army

The Student Senate, the student governing body of the River Falls State Teachers College, is entering its fifth year of existence on the campus. Since its organization in May, 1937, by the charter members, it has assumed new and carried on new duties.

The Senate, an outgrowth of the Student Council, was organized primarily to give the student body a voice in the affairs which concern it and to give to the students participating in it experience in student government. As an organization, it is not perfect, but is an attempt toward a goal which has been set by almost every college in the nation. The local Senate has had enough success to draw inquiries from other colleges as to the method of organization.

Wide and varied are the activities of the Student Senate. It nominates and provides for the election of a homecoming chairman, and homecoming queen, and new senators. All homecoming activities are in its charge.

Because of the extensive nature of the work, numerous sub-committees are appointed, the party committee being one of the most important. A member of the Senate serves as Senate representative on this committee which is selected by the Senate in the spring. Each class has two representatives, making a committee of eight.

Each fall an organization committee arranges a schedule for the meeting of campus organizations. An auditing committee consisting of senators and other students checks, annually, the books of all organizations, making recommendations and a statement. Jointly with faculty members, a Senate committee selects assembly programs for the year. Selecting co-editors for the Freshman Handbook is another duty. Under the sponsorship of the Senate, Dad's Day has become an annual fall occurrence on the campus.

Election of seven members occurs in the spring of every school year. The addition of four class presidents brings the total membership up to eleven. With the exception of the freshman president, who is elected in the fall, the new Senate begins its functions in the spring with the election of its officers and the editors of the Student Voice and the Meletean.

Loren Thompson, veteran senator, is this year's president. Due to his enlistment in the air corps, someone will be selected to take his place. Another experienced senator, Edward Jacobson, is vice president. Burton Boettcher will serve as secretary and Dean Wessells will be treasurer.

Harold Odden, Lester Dyer, June Johnson, Donald Willink, and Lucille Kane are the other members of the Senate.

Due to the double election of Lester Dyer as junior president and senator and to the possible induction of senators into the army, a special election will be held this fall. The Senate will select a nominating committee which will nominate candidates. The candidates will be voted on in the assembly. By presenting a petition of fifty signers, anyone may put a candidate up for election.

"Pep" One Man Certain To Return to RF Campus

The draft has carried to RFSTC enrollment a blow much the same as that which the guillotine struck to convicted Frenchmen years ago. It is no strange scene to find instructors, students, and prospective house mothers wondering these days as to who is returning to school.

But, although a mystery may surround others, there will be one about whom there is no doubt. When students pour (or trickle) into South Hall, they will still find popular "Pep" Hanson on the job, ready to tell them the facts concerning the school and its past and present personalities.

To freshmen, "Pep" may at first be nobody but the janitor in South Hall. However, after associating with him for a term, he will grow into a living part of RFSTC.

"Pep" has a memory which has long made him a valuable part of the institution. He bears a knowledge of graduates, their accomplishments, and their present occupations. He "knows" the college.

Especially, "Pep" is interested in the history and success of Falcon athletics. Since 1927 he has kept a scrapbook of athletic activities at RFSTC; this book has served as reference material for many an interested student.

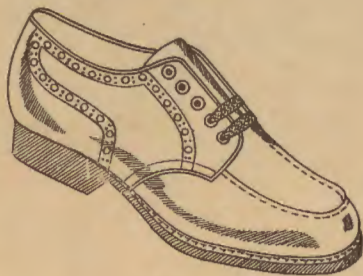

To sum up his entire character one may say that "Pep" is "one swell guy."
