SUPERIOR BLOCKED BY UNEVEN SCORE

Coach Uses Conference

Method Between Halves

Superior's first conference game in their new gymnasium resulted in defeat. Despite the advantage of the home floor they were unable to hold the River Falls team in check and during the last half ran well behind in the scoring.

The first half was rather slow neither team scoring many baskets. River Falls started with a free throw which was followed by one for Superior. Superior resorted to defensive manœuvres during this period, the playing being marred by considerable holding. This kept down the number of field baskets to three. Chinnock and Ziebell annexing one apiece, while Gronseth added one for Superior. Score at the end of first half was 8 to 5 in favor of the Red and White.

The team profited greatly by the conference with Coach Eggebrecht during the period between halves. After assuring the team that there was no stielly clay to hold them in the statuesque positions and further promising to interview the social committee on returning to River Falls for sake of getting up a dance to keep their muscles from stiffening, he led them back to the floor. Gurnoe hardily waited for the whistle to blow before beginning the onslaught. In a short time six baskets more showed on the score board. Donovan, Bergman, and Hyatt went to replace Gurnoe, Chinnock, and Fields. Superior made little headway and were kept well in the rear. Capt. Anderson went out on personals, Moore taking his place. Moore succeeded in making one long shot during the final five minutes; Ziebell and Bergman each added another making the score 28-15 at the close.

Mr. Eggebrecht was quite enthusiastic over Superior's new gym. He welcomed the chance to play his men on that floor. It gave them the opportunity to work out some of the defects in play and reversed the form shown in the Carleton game.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Class	Exam
7:50	Thursday, 8-10
8:40	Thursday, 10-12
9:30	Thursday, 1:30-3:30
10:20	Friday, 8-10
11:10	Friday, 10-12
1:20	Friday, 1:30-3:30
2:10	Saturday, 8-10
3:00	Saturday, 10-12

To Play Eau Claire

The team will have a hard game to play against Eau Claire Friday evening, Feb. 2. The small floor will hinder fast play and make it an exceedingly difficult game to win. Superior was defeated by Eau Claire by a score of 22-15, and River Falls has also a victory over Superior to its credit. This will mean an even match, and the advantage of the home floor will add to the strength of Eau Claire.

Lineup and Summary:

River Falls		Superior
Ziebell	rf (Capt)	Anderson
Gurnoe	lf	Gronseth
Chinnock	c.	Whereatt
Fields	rg	O'Niel
Clafin (Capt)	lg	Smith

Substitutions:

CLASS CONTESTS

The Junior-Senior games of last Wednesday proved to be intensely interesting and all a fan could ask for. The first game was closely contested, and at no time could either team rest secure in their lead. From the start to the finish the score see-sawed back and forth, first one in the lead and then the other. The Seniors missed many baskets and many times lost chances by promiscuous shooting. The final score was 21-20 with the Juniors in the lead.

The game between the second teams was also closely contested, but proved to be much slower. The first half ended in a tie 6-6. Both teams were reenforced by substitutions during the last half. The Seniors lost their drive in the final moments and failed to hold up their end. The final score was 12-15 in favor of the Juniors.

MR. WHITENACK GIVES

READING AT ASSEMBLY

"All Five," a translation from the French, was given by Mr. Whitenack of the Foreign Language department at Assembly Thursday. It was the story of a doctor and his wife who adopted five orphaned brothers and sisters into their childless home. The story was intensely interesting and riveted everyone's attention to the final word.

If ignorance is bliss, why are so many unhappy?

GET BEHIND THE N. E. A.

The National Education Association is by no means a new organization. The first meeting, at Cleveland in 1870, under a new constitution, absorbed the National Teachers' Association of 1857, as that institution had assumed the purposes of the American Association for the Advancement of Education, which held its first meeting in 1849. For many long years these educational structures fought hard in the face of much discouragement and lack of interest. Being nation-wide movements, their aims were broad and general. The individual teacher was more or less interested in local affairs, and found it strangely new and difficult to grasp the deeper meaning of these national ventures. Communication and transportation were poorer than now, making connections with a centralized organization far from easy.

At the initial meeting of the N. E. A. the attendance was but 170. No notable interest was shown until the Madison meeting of 1884, when the enrollment reached 2,729. From that time it has grown swiftly, and become a leading authority on educational matters.

Now looking into the future of this association, we cannot help but see to what it must ultimately lead. In the light of recognition by Congress shown by the act incorporating the N. E. A. in 1906, the transfer of headquarters in 1917 to the nation's governmental seat, and the establishment of a steady and permanent secretaryship, the goal is naturally a federal department of education with a representative in the president's cabinet.

Our growth has been swift in educational matters, but both England and Germany have outstripped us in national movements started at the same time, about 1870. England's associations have a larger percentage of teachers on their rolls than we. They are wisely giving more attention to economic and material needs than America. Germany boasts over 90% of her elementary teachers as members of her strong, centralized organization. We are lagging in one of the biggest essentials of a true democracy. It is that the great body of our population should be raised by fitting educations to a common plane of rational choosers.

Once again we are ready to incorporate into our government a much needed institution built and given to the people by a group of far-sighted, hard-thinking men. Let every truly interested citizen talk for that Department of Education.

AG NEWS

Prof. A. N. Johnson has gone to Bloomer to take charge of the District Stock Judging Contest held there today. Judging teams from Bloomer, Barron, and Bruce will compete. It is interesting to note that the coaches of all the teams competing are all old graduates of this school. They are M. R. Goodel, '15, of Bloomer, Philip Peloquin '19, of Barron; and Gilbert Anderson '22, of Bruce.

The Normal farm has made a number of sales of pure bred animals during the past week. Each year the animals at the Normal Farm have shown improvement until now the high degree of breeding has created quite a demand for breeding stock.

One animal was sold to the County farm for $175. Another which was but a week old sold for $50 to Mr. Martell.

The extemporaneous contest held by the Agrifallian Society resulted in the selection of a squad of three. They are R. F. Liebenberg, Harry Roese, and Edwin Johnson. These men will uphold the Agrifallian Society and will make a strong attempt to keep the silver loving cup in possession of the Agrifallian another year.

The election of officers for the second semester resulted in the following:

- Pres.—Harry Gilboe
- V. Pres.—Edwin Johnson
- Secy.—Boyd Christopherson
- Treas.—Virgil Volla
- Sgt. at Arms—"Fat" Hanson.

The Sophomore dancing party given in the South Hall gymnasium last Friday was attended by fifty students. Freshmen, and some sophomores from the local high school were invited guests. Refreshments were served by two eighth grade girls.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Ellsworth Junior High Defeated

Last Saturday evening the Junior High School five had as their opponents the basketball team from the Ellsworth Junior High School. The game was played in the Normal gymnasium and resulted in a victory for the Normal J. H. S. The final score was 20 to 5. The result of the contest was never in doubt but the Normal boys did not seem to be in their best form, the result being that the game was rather slow and showed a decided tendency to drag during the latter part. Both sides seemed to have lost their ability to find the basket in the second half. The game started off with Norbert Manion, James and Richard Follansbee, Franklin Standish, and Raymond Bliss in the line-up for the Normal. Later on in the contest LeRoy Luberger, Harold Segerstrom, and Warren Knowles were substituted. The River Falls Junior High School will be our opponents this week end. Coach Schomer expects to have the team in fine shape for this game.

The second year High School students of the Normal entertained the members of the ninth grade and the faculty of the Junior High School on Friday evening. The party was given in the girl's gymnasium and took the form of a dance. The hours were from eight to ten-thirty. It was well attended and very much enjoyed by all. Miss Weberg, the class advisor for the tenth grade and a committee of that class had charge of the arrangements. The ninth grade and faculty of the J. H. S. wish to thank the class for the pleasant evening.

Juniors, please pay your dues at once to Donald Boardman, Winfred Bird, Carleton Ames, Sigrid Rasmussen, or Genevieve Stewart. Those who do not pay their dues will not have their pictures in the yearbook.

The G. O. P. girls held a special meeting last Thursday in honor of the members who are leaving this semester. After a brief business meeting the girls went into the gym for a program and a dance. The climax was refreshments at the Kandy Kitchen.

If You Like It

Kathleen Quinn received a neatly done up package, containing two mouse traps, from "Hee-za-tank" one day last week.

Ernie Ziebell had a rather unique experience on the basketball trip to Superior last week. He had given the waitress his order, but when it was served something was missing; so he politely asked, "Waiter, wher's my honey?" To which he received the reply, "I don't think she works here any more."

McAndrews: "How much is there in phrenology?"

Prof Malott: "Fifty cents to have your head examined."

Mr. Hayward: "What happens when a man's temperature goes down as low as it can go?"

Bright student: "He gets cold feet."

While studying her handful of cards in a game of 500 one evening, Fran. made the following remark, "If I only knew what was in the blind, I'd spread."

Rollie Donovan and Al Hyatt are rivals. Coming back from Superior Friday night, Hyatt managed to get a 'sleeper,' but it isn't safe to say there was only one rival. Now days 'tis the survival of the fittest that counts.

Mr. Whitenack is now the official usher on the second floor of South Hall.

Mr. Stratton: "The Cossack carries a gun in each hand and a knife in the other."

If woman could only put as much faith in man as she does in a safety pin, boy, wouldn't it be a great old world after all?

We often hear of endurance tests, but the test that Mattie took last Monday night was one of the "season's best." Tubby Hanson didn't stand the test very well; it cost him two dollars.

Cinderella wasn't so bad off; she slept by a fire every night.

In Sanitation and Hygiene class:

Lou: "Does a man when walking with a girl guide her by the elbow?"

Sue: "No, he puts his hand on her back and pushes."

Lida W: "I have such a catch between my shoulders today."

Gladys M: "Well, why don't you unhook it?"

OUR PIANIST

The "Double H Company" of the Meletean Vaudeville are in well founded favor of commendation for Pauline Norseng's excellent qualities as a pianist throughout the presentation. They wish to convey, and they are not alone in this, that we would be at a decided loss without Miss Norseng. We shall realize the loss when she leaves us.
