HOMECOMING ELECTION TUESDAY

Falcons Blank Stout, 20 - 0

The River Falls Falcons served notice on their future opponents that they will be a team to be reckoned with as they thoroughly trounced the Stout Blue Devils, 20 - 0, in a game played at Menominee Saturday night. The Falcons counted their first T. D. in the second quarter and added two more in the third to clinch the victory.

The game marked the dedication of the new athletic field and lighting system which was donated to Stout Institute and Menominee high school by the Lions Club and businessmen of Menominee. Appropriate ceremonies took place before the game and during the halftime intermission.

The first Falcon touchdown was set up on a pass play covering 23 yards from Clair Tobias to Tunney Burkhard who made a sensational catch on the Stout 12 yard line and was immediately tackled. Arnie Feiler drove to the eight and Tobias skirted right end for the touchdown. Gene Cardinal's try for point was good.

The second touchdown came after Young fumbled on his own 33 yard line and River Falls recovered. Cardinal carried to the 28 and Tobias again showed the crowd some terrific speed as he raced to the one foot line from where Gordie Olson went into pay dirt on a quarterback sneak. Cardinal faked his kick and threw a perfect strike to Nate Delong for the extra point. Seconds later, Al Werndli flopped on another Stout fumble and the Falcons had the ball on the home team's 27 yard line. Shock made 10 for a first down and at this point the Red and White were penalized twice for off side. On the next play Olson passed to Burkhard who lateraled to Cardinal on a play that went to the three yard line. Two plays later Shock went into the end zone standing up. Cardinal's attempted conversion was wide.

The Lineups for this game will be found on page 4.

MISS MOHRDIECK TAKES GROUP TO SEE HENRY V

A bus left the campus at 7:00 Friday night, carrying 25 students to St. Paul to see the showing of Henry V.

The group arrived early and most of them took a window shopping tour of downtown St. Paul.

The show started at 8:30 and lasted until 10:45. The group had good seats toward the middle of the balcony in the auditorium.

The performance was enjoyed by all, but most of the group had difficulty in understanding some of the dialect and Shakesperian prose.

The trip back was made interesting by the various opinions and comments upon the show. One person summed up the show quite fully and accurately by saying: "Scenery was beautiful, acting was excellent and the plot fair."

SPECIAL NOTICE

"Each faculty member is required to keep a daily attendance record. If a student has been absent for two consecutive class days, notice of such absence shall be reported on the form provided at the office of the Dean of Women in South Hall or with the Office of the Registrar in North Hall.

"There is no system of allowed cuts. Arrangements for making up work missed through absence for any cause are to be made between the student and the instructor. Deans do not excuse absences. A written notice from the College Nurse that the student has been absent because of illness does not constitute an excuse. However, such notice shall be obtained from the nurse and presented to the instructor if absence was due to illness.

"Sponsors of organizations such as athletic teams, debate teams, chorus, etc., shall file one day previously with the instructors involved a list of students who will participate in approved off-campus activities.

Failing and deficient students whose absences are causing or contributing to their failure shall be reported to the respective Deans. Veterans particularly should avoid jeopardizing their subsistence through absence from class."

PUBLIC DISCUSSION COURSE OFFERED

Among the new courses on the curriculum is a class in Public Discussion offered by the Speech Department.

The aim the course is to see if people can settle their problems through public discussion. It is believed that much of the trouble in the world today is the result of misunderstanding the other fellow's point of view.

Two panels have been held by the class thus far—the topics discussed were: "Government Control of The High Cost of Living" and "Should Communism Be Abolished in the United States?"

Future Panels will try to deal with various local and national problems.

BAND HIGHLIGHT AT STOUT

The RFSTC marching band under the able direction of Mr. Jadinak added its zip to the Stout football game Saturday. "The Old Lamp Lighter" was played from a light bulb formation because Stout was dedicating its new lighting system on their football field. Our all male marching band intends to play for all future home games and has big plans for the homecoming game.

CANDLE-LIGHT SERVICE WEDNESDAY

A candle-light service will officially welcome new freshmen and upperclass YWCA members Wednesday, October 8 at 7:00 p. m. Mildred Jensen, YW program chairman, has charge of the installation service.

SHAY AND KUHN ARE REMAINING CANDIDATES

N. W. TEACHERS CONV. OCT. 9-10

The annual Northwest Teachers Convention will be held at Eau Claire, October 9 and 10. As in the past conventions the Faculty of River Falls will take a prominent part in the convention's program.

Dr. Wyman will address the Social Science Round table on the subject: "Newer Viewpoints in American History."

Miss Hawkins will act as toastmaster at the dinner which will be held on Thursday evening. Dr. Kleinpell will address the representatives from the various schools at this dinner. Miss Bozovich will play the piano at the dinner for entertainment.

Other members of the River Falls faculty will also attend the conference and take part in the activities, but as the program has not yet been issued we are unable to furnish complete details.

OLD CLOTHES DRIVE BEGINS

Sigma Chi Sigma and the W. A. A. of the River Falls State Teachers college are sponsoring an old clothes drive, Saturday, October 11th.

The members of these two organizations will make a house to house canvas for the old clothes, pack them, and send them overseas.

The need for clothing in Europe is very great and now with winter approaching clothes will be even more deeply appreciated.

Rummage through your things from the attic to the basement and see what you have to offer to this worthy cause. Remember October 11th for the "old clothes drive!"

Kissing babies, reciting poetry and blaring trumpets officially opened the campaign for Homecoming, Wednesday night in the college cafeteria. Two of the candidates, Bill Olsen and Al Tscheudy, withdrew from the running, as their already crowded scholastic and extra curricular schedules would not allow enough time for this important position.

HAROLD SHAY

The remaining candidates, Harold Shay and Howard Kuhn, promise a "hot" campaign. The candidates turned the campaign over to their managers. Ben Montbriand, campaign manager for Harold Shay, started the race for votes with a pleasing voice and frequent jokes. Wallace Melhberg, manager for Howard Kuhn, introduced his candidate and entertained the crowd with a humorous poem.

Al Prescott and Fritz Frasier were masqueraded as babies and wheeled in in a baby buggy by their "mothers", Elaine Peterson and Pat Greenfield. The candidates or their business managers were obliged to kiss the babies in true political fashion.

HOWARD KUHN

The chairmanship for Homecoming is one of the most important jobs in the school year. Homecoming will be November 1 and it will be the job of the winning candidate to arrange the numberless activities and entertainments which make it the outstanding social event of the year.

The election will be held Tuesday of this week. The Student Senate urges that all students cast their vote on this important occasion.

PROFS HAVE NIGHT OUT

The faculty will be entertained at a steak dinner in the Golden Rod Room, Tuesday evening, October 7. Square dancing and games will be the main feature of the informal entertainment.

Miss Esther Howard has been appointed chairman of the event.

In Comment . . .

by Less Gaylord

HARDLY AN EYEBROW ROSE in the assembly a week ago last Friday as President Kleinpell adroitly shifted the burden of education from the shoulders of the faculty to the shoulders of the students.

WHEN DR. KLEINPELL congratulated the students upon their decision to attend college, the Student Body embraced him; when Pres. Kleinpell painted the picture of the surly freshman sitting with folded arms in the classroom challenging, "Here I am. Educate me!" the audience chuckled delightedly at itself; and when Dr. Kleinpell said "Your education is your responsibility, not the faculty's", the master's touch, as he gently adjusted the burden was scarcely noticed. It may even be said that in the majority of cases it was not felt at all.

THIS NEWLY ACQUIRED burden of responsibility hindered no one in the race for the exits upon the immediate conclusion of his speech. Nor can it be said that an air of academic seriousness gripped the college campus for the next few days. It is to be noted, though, that in a literature class conducted by Miss Moss the following day, a student gave an answer to her query "What do you expect from literature?" the essence of which was, "I don't like literature. We have to dig too hard to get it." Miss Moss is said, figuratively speaking, to have "busted her-bustle". It takes more than a speech to make a tuition-payer a student.

THERE ARE MANY different tricks-of-the-trade practiced by the instructors to make the "slothful" become the "diligent". Some favor the liberal use of "tests"; some strive to arouse interest through class discussion; some attempt to quicken the mentally dead by embarrassing them with low marks or to encourage them with high grades. Perhaps the most unique method, however, has been developed by Mr. Robbins of the Foreign Language department, who occasionally sings to his classes. Mr. Robbins doesn't claim to be a Melchior, but certainly his original manner of deliverance captivates his audience as completely as Mr. Melchior's golden throat ever captivated his.

NOW, WE DON'T PROPOSE that all the college professors should sing or chant their lectures. Heaven forbid! All are not gifted as Mr. Robbins. But we do propose that originality and power to interest on the instructor's part are as necessary to education as the shouldering of responsibility is on the student's. And, we further believe, that the student will not develop the proper attitude for shouldering his responsibility unless the instructors first shoulder theirs.

PRESIDENT KLEINPELL was partially right in shifting the burden of education to the students. We feel, however, that he was far too generous. And so we, in a much less masterly fashion, would like to return a large portion of that educational responsibility to the faculty.

A PLEDGE

To thee, River Falls, we pledge all our love,

And to thy banner floating above.
May we in passing add just a gem
To shine forever in thy diadem.

WANTED - NO DEATHS

Last Friday hundreds of college students and training school pupils crossed Cascade Avenue between North and South halls. What is newsworthy about this? Nothing whatever—except that Sudden Death walks with every student who uses the crosswalk!

Because state highways 35 and 29 use Cascade, the street is a main traffic artery. A considerable number of automobiles, trucks and buses pass the college in an hour's time. Furthermore, too many of them disregard the "Slow" warnings which are our only protection against injury or death. The street is straight and wide—built like a high-speed express highway and USED LIKE ONE.

Several possible remedies for this potentially dangerous situation come to mind. Stop lights might be installed over the crossing. This remedy can be disposed of as impractical, since there is not much pedestrian traffic except between classes. It would be foolish to stop the flow of traffic every few seconds during periods when there is almost nobody crossing the street. The legality of a stop light in the center of a block might be questioned, too. A subway would solve the problem, but its expense would undoubtedly be prohibitive. The terrain does not lend itself well to this plan, because the walk slopes down to street level on both sides. A subway might tend to flood in wet weather.

The soundest, least expensive solution would be the construction of an overpass. It could be built of wood, high enough to clear the highest trucks, wide enough to carry peak pedestrian loads without constituting a bottleneck. Such a structure would be inexpensive, especially when the factor of vastly increased safety is taken into consideration. Several of these lifesavers are used by University of Minnesota students to cross Washington Avenue in Minneapolis.

We believe that the correction of this situation is imperative and that the above proposal is sound. We hope that the responsible authorities will take note of the matter and act on it.

Kay's Krib

Just in case you've been looking at a job of "face lifting" being done to an old stable back of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kay's home, you can now learn the facts and marvel at the ingenuity of these two Americans.

Since the housing shortage didn't skip River Falls, the college has been asking more and more people to rent rooms to the influx of students. Gene and his wife worked out a plan to house 10 students by removing the "inards" of an old barn.

After removing the mangers, stalls, and other miscellaneous paraphernalia found in stables, Mr. Kay, managed by Mrs. Kay who he admits is the boss of the deal, laid flooring and boarded and sided the doors and windows. The task was to be finished by the beginning of the first term, but the old story of shortages enters in here. Now, the job is expected to be completed within a few weeks.

Kay's Krib, as the fellows have named it, is large enough to accommodate five double-deck bunks. The room also houses the bath room with all necessary equipment.

Mr. Kay has had quite a bit of difficulty in digging ditches in the correct place. Although he is a butcher, he can't figure out where to put the right cut in old Terra Firma. It seems there has been a "mix-up" in certain circles as to the proper place for him to connect to the city's utilities. Ingenuity again enters in. The problem was solved by digging two ditches. Now, someone has to make up his mind.

With all the temporary inconveniences of Kay's Krib, the five students who now occupy it, like it. They are respectively: Gale Carter, Harold Cain, Kieth Nelson, Art Ceshker, and Dave Kerwood.

Yes, I think we all can agree that when the situation warrants it, the Americans and their inspirations top all the other cultures of the world. Anyway, this is certainly true of Mr. and Mrs. Kay.

Incidentally there are five bunks available for men who wish to become members of Kay's Krib.

54 Bustles On Fight!

This whole silly business is getting out of hand. Just the other day someone asked me what I thought of the "New Look" and I ups and tells him that I don't read it since I have to spend most of my time reading TIME for Prof. Wyman. At this point I find out that the "New Look" is not a magazine at all but a long hemline. About this I am not caring either. I've always worn my pants down to my ankles and I think I always will. Women can do what they want to about theirs.

This all started with a French designer named Christian Dior (rhymes with potato salad) who ought to know better than say what he thinks about things he knows nothing about. After seeing some of his inspired creations being worn on the campus I'm sure the man is "berserk". During the war I had a girl who modeled these long, flimsy, black lace doodads called "negligibles", (I suppose because of the amount of space they covered). You might say that she was an undercover model—if you'll pardon the unmentionable expression. The white men in the paddy wagon got her too.

Men—and the world—have no cause for alarm in these new styles the women are starting to buy. It is obviously a bureaucratic trick—trying to force off onto the women these surplus pup tents, parachutes, navy mattress covers and barracks bags. Just the other day I say to myself (so I'm quoting myself) "Don't be surprised if women turn out wearing discarded B-29's or a turret off a Sherman tank—if Sherman tanks have turrets." Anyway, as long as I can remember, all feminine attire has been something of a practical joke. Just take a gander at the average woman's hat—a handful of feathers, a quart of red paint, one lace bedspread and a few discarded corset stays. Take a look at these "pedal pushers". Or have you ever seen some hefty doll in a pair of slacks. Gad, man. Shades of Joe Miller. Guess it's not the women who are crazy for dressing as they do, it's the men. Yep, a man's crazy if he thinks a woman will ever dress any differently than she does. It's in a woman's nature. Consider Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. All they ever did when they needed new clothes was to turn over a new leaf.

This bird Dior says that long skirts are more conducive to matrimony and other forms of social suicide since it creates an air of mystery, desire and curiosity. Now I ask you! Were you ever curious to see grandma's ankles and legs? Myself, I always felt an attraction for drum major-ettes. Burlesque shows draw good crowds too.

Then, again, did you happen to see this girl around school who walks in her dress like a cow turned out to pasture with the hobbles still on? Takes her twice as long to walk to school. Looks like the old burlap sack race we had in grade school.

Guess it all boils down to this: They will either dress like grandma or like Sally Rand (a ticklish job, I reckon) so's we might as well get used to it. What will it do to the man's pocket book? What have women always done to men's pocket books?

Financially Embarrassed?

Part-time jobs for River Falls students are plentiful now—so much so, Dean of Men Rozenhal, says that practically any man who wants work can get it.

Most of the work is manual labor. The jobs range from putting on storm windows to digging ditches and shocking corn and do not provide regular employment but day to day work.

No figures are available now on the number placed through the Dean's office, but he estimates that about 30 men had been employed up to last week.

Permanent employment is almost nil at present, but there are two spots open on farms. Emmett Jensen and Hartman Lubisch are each looking for a man to do chores for his room and board. Transportation to and from River Falls is being offered. In addition, these jobs offer work for extra money on Saturdays.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press has an opening for a man to solicit subscriptions in River Falls. The job would be steady and the earnings would, of course, depend on the number of new subscribers signed. Of interest to campus veterans' wives is the fact that two positions in downtown firms are listed for them. One of these is a full time job.

Figures from the office of Dean of Women Hathorn show that 28 and one-half per cent of the college's women, or a total of 54, are working at part-time jobs. City restaurants and the Goldenrod Room employ 28, three are living and working in private homes, 13 work by the hour in homes. Eight women are student assistants at college, and the River Falls Journal and the city library each provide employment for one.

On the whole, employment opportunities for women are much more scarce than those for men. In each case the student is asked to apply through the offices of the deans.

Droop Snoops

A note to the freshmen! That character walking around the campus with the Sherlock Holmes cap and pipe is not Droop out sleuthing, it's Butch McCordle.

We warned you kids! Droop has viewed the undersides of many park benches since the last issue of the "Voice", and has many interesting items to report. Not all interesting things nappen on park benches as Droop has found out. Exposed porches are also a means of obtaining dirt for this column.

Many porches seem to be congested on these recent moonlight nights. Speaking of porches, Griffith's front porch is one that seems overly congested. May we suggest that Fisher, Vine, and Haas make out a schedule?

Droop certainly leads a gay social life. It's imperative that he attends all affairs so that the faithful readers of this column are kept happy. There was an abundance of material for Droop at the first dance held in the cafeteria. Who was the "red-head" that kept the joint jumping? You know Buster. Is "Temptation" leading the M. C. astray? Too many irons are already in the fire. Droop understands one of said irons got too hot recently and drew a $30 fine. Can you enlighten us on this Shay?

Droop is fascinated by the fact that two more Hudson gals are to be checked off the list of eligible females. Namely Delores Payson and Kitty Nelson. Yup! They got their men. Oh yes girls! This also means that Alton Dahl and Bill O-ligney are out of circulation.

We are happy to see the freshmen getting acquainted. Friendly relations are being established between the freshmen and upper classmen. Examples; Schillberg and Boardman, Montbriand and Carlson, and Landin and McLaughlin.

While you kids were getting soaked in the bleachers Saturday night "Droop" kept dry under the bleachers and probably saw a lot more. Tell me, were those blankets used primarily for keeping the rain out? Many took to cars but that's reasonable, they're more waterproof than blankets. It has been brought to our attention that Lois Brandt is again in the running. However we noticed that Dave Benson has been giving this situation a great deal of attention. Is something really cooking kids?

Droop will be snooping at Stout Saturday night so be on guard although we do hope to see a large turnout from here.

MASQUERS PRESENT PLAY

Resplendent in a new bow tie, L. L. DuBois on Thursday night, October 2, opened the first regular business meeting of the Masquers, college dramatic organization.

Discussed were the new, one-act play "The Pot Boilers" which will be presented before the assembly about the 21st of this month, and the Cabaret, which will be put on about the middle of November. It was voted that the mode of the Cabaret would be that of a frontier town honkeytonk—with all the trimmings. Jane Ann Prescott was put in charge of the entire production.

The entertainment part of the program was provided by Lola Estenson at the violin and Lila Byng (nee Estenson) at the piano.

HYPNOTIST ENTERTAINS STUDENTS AT ASSEMBLY

In the assembly last Wednesday morning Dr. Frans Polgar of New York demonstrated the science of hypnotism with students for his subjects.

Dr. Polgar first demonstrated the power of the memory as he successfully executed a difficult memory test of numbers.

He selected from the student body a number of people to take their place upon the stage and submit to various hypnotic tests.

The most successful subjects were Fritz Frazier and Bill Landin. He had them drunk by drinking ordinary water. They were at one time unable to remove their feet from the floor. Both of these boys were told while in a hypnotic sleep that they would not enjoy cigarettes in the future. At the time of this publication the boys have smoked no more than a dozen cigarettes between them.

Dr. Polgar's visit will be a topic of discussion for a long time to come. The assembly committee has once again brought interest and high entertainment to River Falls.

PHI KAPPA DELTA HAS FIRST MEETING

Phi Kappa Delta, the national speech fraternity, had its first meeting last week and made plans for the year. The Debate topic was presented to the members by Miss Hawkins, the faculty adviser. The topic is "Resolved: A World Government Should Be Established."

Each year the Debate schedule qualifies a few students to enter Phi Kappa Delta. All students who are interested in trying out for the Debate team may see Miss Hawkins for details.

The fraternity is planning a breakfast for past members during the homecoming celebration. Plans are also being made to visit nearby high schools and give example debates for their squads.

Phi Kappa Delta also plans to have outside speakers come to River Falls and address the students on topics of interest.

MR KING SELECTS CHORUS MEMBERS

Mr. King has selected the A Cappella Choir consisting of 25 men and 39 women. After careful scrutinization, Mr. King has chosen the following singers:

Most of the singers come from the towns surrounding RFSTC. River Falls has contributed 12 members. Hudson, our nearest competitor, has placed seven. This group also draws from towns some distance away. From the greatest distance, we have Dorothy Rumpf, alto, from Plymouth. Verne Kolba, baritone, is from Reedsburg. Two tenors, Briggs and Rogness, hail from near La Crosse. Roy Brede, another tenor, comes from Medford. Soprano Jane Lofgren, comes from Mora, Minn.

The future of the choir is still uncertain but Mr. King assures us that he is going to make this year bigger and better than last. Mr. King has a good background to work with this year, as 36 former members are back.

The choir has a new practice schedule of four hours per week. Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4:00 to 5:30 and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11:00 has been designated as the time to be devoted to the embetterment of the voice and group singing.

A complete list of the choir members follows:

Big Little Sister Tea Held By YWCA

Freshman girls who are "little sisters" of their "big sister" upperclassmen were honored at the traditional fall tea given by the YWCA last Wednesday in the Social Room. Marjorie Moors was chairman with YW cabinet members, officers, and advisers as hostesses.

The entertainment consisted of two vocal selections by Betsy Welch and a violin-piano arrangement by Lola Estenson and Lila Estenson Byng. Decorations included a color theme of pink and white carried out by pink candles and a table centerpiece of pale pink roses and white asters. Coffee, cookies, and pink and white peppermints were served.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT FIRST FFA MEETING

The Collegiate Chapter of the FFA called its first meeting on Tuesday night, September 23 at 7:00 p. m. The meeting was opened by the new president, Allen Linster, who was assisted in the ritual by vice president, Wallace Mehlberg; secretary Walter Weirouch; treasurer George Webb, and reporter Gordon Gardner. A record attendance of 106 was reported by the sentinel, Paul Rogness. The business of the meeting was to plan the program of work and entertainment for the semester.

After the business meeting was adjourned, members listened to a talk by Harry Frojker: "Why are we here?" explaining the educational value of the FFA. A piano solo was played by Charles Schillberg.

Mr. Thoreson, new instructor in the mechanics department, addressed the group and introduced Carl Neitcki of the Extension Division, University of Wisconsin, in the field of farm electrification.

FALCONS DEFEAT POINTERS, 12-0

River Falls received the sweet taste of victory for the first time this season, September 27, when they defeated Stevens Point Teachers 12-0 in a game played on the local gridiron. For the second straight week the Falcons tricky T formation was hampered by unfavorable weather conditions as they played most of the game in a driving rain storm.

The team seemed improved a little over the previous week when they bowed to St. Cloud, especially in the line. The work of Al Werndli, Lyle Levenick and Bill Vanderhoof stood out and also the relief work of the two injured guards, Butch McCardle and Ernst Glauner, who played only part of the fourth quarter and were instrumental in stopping the only Stevens Point scoring threat.

River Falls scored first in the 2nd quarter when Gordie Schock climaxed a 69 yard drive by going into pay dirt from 9 yards out. Schock had previously registered the longest run of the game by lugging the ball 36 yards to the Point 13.

The second touchdown came midway in the fourth period when hard-driving Arnie Zeiler intercepted Curry's pass and ran 30 yards to score.

Gene Cardinal missed both place kicks, one being blocked and the other going wide.

Stevens Point had a 13-9 edge in first downs and a very slight edge in yards gained from scrimmage.

SPORT HIGHLIGHTS AND PREDICTION

(By Bob Gavic)

The Falcons came back from a 6-0 defeat at the hands of St. Cloud to gain a 12-0 tussel with Stevens Point. The one thing we're all agreed upon about the game is that it was wet!

I didn't see the St. Cloud game but from what I've heard it must have been a bone crushing affair. Glauner and Branzeau brought home some dandy souvenirs anyway.

The Stevens Point game was pretty close all the way along. Those two little backs they had were plenty good. I think they would have been a lot better on dry ground. It looked like curtains for the little right half one time when Vanderhoof hit him so hard it even made "my" back ache. McCardle didn't put in much time (injury you know) but how it counted. He got three tackles that threw Stevens Point from the Falcon four back to the thirty.

Tobias was annoying to the Pointers. Fieler intercepted a pass and took her all the way for one tally. Mulhollum made a couple nice runs toward the end of the game. You'll see a lot of "Sistol" now that he's back at the fullback spot. If the Falcons show as much slam-bang as they proved they can last Saturday night we're gonna see some mighty interesting football the rest of the year. Conference championship wouldn't surprise me a bit.

This is getting a little off the football subject but I feel it has to be mentioned. For the second straight year Ray Henry is working out getting ready for a tentative track season. When football practice starts there's Henry running around the track. When football practice ends there's Henry still running. If only our football team was in the condition he is in.

Here I go out on a limb to pick next week-end winners for you. Be sure and bet heavy on them, they're a sure thing!

River Falls 20, La Crosse 19, "Whee".

Superior 20, Stevens Point 6, "Too much power for the Pointers".

Eau Claire 7, Stout 6, "That extra point could either way".

Gustavus Adolphus 13, Hamline 6, "Just a guess".

Illinois 7, Army 0, "The experts won't agree with me on this one but I'm no expert".

Iowa 14, Indiana 0, "Iowa's going to roll from now on in".

Minnesota 28, Northwestern 6, "Northwestern weakest team in Big Ten; Minnesota still the luckiest".

Ohio State 14, So. California 7, "Big nine still too strong for the Coast".
