No. 23 RIVER FALLS STATE COLLEGE

MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1961

Theatre Presents 'Bernarda Alba' In Little Theatre March 21, 22, 23

"The House of Bernarda Alba," a modern Spanish poetic tragedy, is to be presented this week on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m. Tickets for the performances are available in the College Book Store upon the presentation of an activity card. Tickets for students' husbands and wives will cost 50 cents. Any non-student that wishes to attend the play will be able to purchase his ticket at the price of $1.

The play concerns a day in the household of the family of Bernarda Alba. Senora Alba, a widow, is a tyrannical woman that rules her home with an iron-fisted passion and controls her family in the same way. The five daughters each have a different reaction to this tyranny.

Melania Wolodko, who has been in many plays in the past, will give her final performance in this play with her portrayal of the lead role of Bernarda. Miss Wolodko will graduate this spring.

Also taking an important role in the play is Miss Diane Kern of the speech department. She will play the role of Adela. According to Dr. Blanche Davis, director of the play, faculty members do not generally participate but it should add to the play.

Other members of the cast are: Beverly Bosinski --- Maria Josefa Julie Albrecht --- Angustias Marcia Schieven --- Amelia Dawn Bultman --- Matirio Mavis Grover --- Juana, Darlene Erickson --- La Poncia Lu Ann Cipov --- Prudencia Sandra Anderson, Beggar Woman Women-in-mourning; Joyce McKinley, Virginia Anderson, Louise Taylor, Bev Monette, Sandra Appleby, Kay Larsen, Polly Knieff, Betty Stoflet and Nancy Haller.

Deans' Office Must Have Student Petitions March 29

March 29 is a deadline for campus politicians to consider, according to an announcement from the dean's office. It is the deadline for filing petitions for class officers and for Student Senate representatives.

To be eligible a student must have a grade point of 2.0 or better and have a petition signed by fifty students. A student may sign more than one petition.

If the number of students interested totals more than 12 a primary election will be April 5. Campaigning may start April 4.

The regular election is April 12 and campaigning starts April 10. Incumbents are automatically placed on the final ballot plus 12 new candidates. To assure a working nucleus three incumbents must be returned.

CLASS OFFICER NOMINATIONS

The dean's office announced this week that petitions for class officers must be filed in their office not later than the 29th of March. It is necessary to file the petitions with the deans' office at this date so that the candidates can be checked.

The petitions must then be signed by ten percent of the class and turned in to the class secretary.

Candidates may begin their election campaigns on the 17th of April. The primary election will be on the 19th of April and final elections will take place on the 26th.

Beta Beta Beta Group Installs Local Chapter

by William Finlan

The Gamma Omega Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, an undergraduate national society of biologists, was installed here on Friday, March 17 in the Hagestad Memorial Center at 5:30 p.m.

Dr. Elisabeth Lunn, the installing officer, from Lake Forest College in Illinois presented 31 charter members with certificates of membership.

Guest speaker at an evening banquet celebrating the installation, was Richard Schultz, a former student of River Falls, now attending the University of Minnesota School of Veterinary Medicine.

Five Freshmen Seeking 'Campus Cover Girl' Title

Five freshman girls will compete for the chance to represent River Falls State College in the Campus Cover Girl contest of the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune Picture Magazine.

Students will vote Wednesday in the Student Center and the winner's picture will be published in the April 24 issue of the Tribune's Picture Magazine.

Candidates for the River Falls cover girl title are: Marcia Schieven, Hammond; Jeri Richardson, River Falls; Chris Laska, Hayward; Beverly Voigt, Barron; and Darlene McNamara, Glenwood City.

The Tribune's contest is open to representatives of all four-year co-educational colleges in the upper Midwest. Readers will vote on ballots included in the magazine. Photos of the five girls receiving the highest number of votes will be submitted to a board of judges for the final selection.

A color photograph of the winner will be published on the cover of the magazine on June 4.

Miss Carol Wenner of Rice Lake was winner of the River Falls contest last year.

Lutheran Group Offers Non-Credit Lit Course

A non-credit course dealing with a literary and historical survey of Old Testament Literature will be presented by Rev. Larry Sather of the Ezekiel Lutheran Church, River Falls.

Junior Prom To Feature Stan Kenton

Stan Kenton, world renowned jazz musician will bring his twenty-piece orchestra to River Falls May 6 for this year's Junior Prom. It was announced by the Social Committee this week.

Kenton's list of achievements is long and impressive. During 1953 and 1956 he conducted his Standing-Room-Only tour of Europe and Australia, the Kenton Orchestra gained international fame and recognition. While in Europe during the 1956 tour, Kenton wrote the ballet music for the Royal Wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier.

Upon the Orchestra's return to the United States, following the 1953 Europe Tour - Stan was the 3rd member to be elected to the Jazz Hall of Fame; an honor established for outstanding musicians who had contributed the most to Modern American Music in the 20th Century. On the 20th of December 1960 he was awarded the Playboy Magazine Jazz Poll Award for the fourth consecutive year.

In 1946 Look Magazine presented him with the Band of the Year Award. Two months later Down Beat, Variety and Mentronome announced Stan and his musicians had won over 60 per cent of the top positions in their Jazz Polls. Kenton's music had unequivocally been accepted as one of the most provocative art forms of our time.

DeMarce Wins Contest for Wilson Grant

A River Falls State College student, James L. DeMarce, senior from Spring Valley, has been awarded a fellowship to cover one year of graduate study, according to an announcement by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowships are meant to encourage students to consider college teaching as a possible career. Nominations for these highly competitive awards are made by the students' professors. Screening of candidates also is done by 15 regional committees drawn from the academic profession.

Of the 10,453 nominees this year, 1,333 students from 381 colleges and universities were granted fellowships. It was the largest number ever elected by the Foundation in its 15-year search for prospective college teachers.

Another River Falls student, Muriel Peterson, senior from Grantsburg, was one of the 1,614 nominees given honorable mention by the foundation. On the basis of past experience, the foundation expects that most of those winning honorable mention will receive alternate grants either directly from universities or from other organizations.

Dr. Hans Rosenhaupt, national director of the foundation, noted the following points about this year's competition:

1. Larger numbers are turning to college teaching as a "prestige" career despite opportunities to earn more in other fields.

2. More students of outstanding ability are being recruited from hundreds of colleges, indicating the high quality of education in many lesser known schools.

3. Candidates are choosing their graduate schools on the basis of their own needs rather than the general prestige of the institution. In consequence, their choices of graduate schools represent a larger list than ever before.

The Editor Speaks . .

(Editor's note: This is an editorial written by Mr. Harry Golden, author of "Only in America" and "For 2c Plain". It was published originally in the St. Paul Pioneer-Press.)

THE MAGAZINES ARE FILLED with editorials urging parents to take thought now for their children who ought to go to college. It is going to be harder than ever to get students into college in 10 years. "See that it doesn't happen to you!" the magazine read.

Nothing more reveals the basic frenzy of the middle class than this worry and importance attached to college. Certainly some people ought to go to college for training—doctors, teachers, social workers—but why does everyone have to go to college?

We know first of all everyone won't go to college. College would then lose its alluring glamor. Why put such a heavy emotional and economic investment in the value of a college education? Why are we at such pains to establish an elite?

If we succeed in establishing this great emphasis on a college education, in effect we will have created a second-class citizenship for the thousands of students who don't go. While it is true that the headlines and the commentaries are filled with how commentaries are filled with how much we need college students, they never mention the fact that we need the people who don't go to college, too. The service industries are expanding at a far greater growth than the professions. Who will man them?

Basically the emphasis is wrong. There are boys now who will not go to college but who will become senators, write hit plays, and win ball games. There are privates who will rise through ranks to become generals. College educations do not bring accomplishments, men do.

If a nation is going to create an elite, the elite has to be worthy of its special privilege. I doubt that this can be true of so large an elite as college graduates.

During World War II, I remember there was a discussion of why the army was putting college graduates into the infantry. The discussion was stilled when an adjutant general said that the infantry need smart men, too.

I think it's time for an objective analysis of what will happen to the boy who doesn't go to college. Will hard work pay off? And stamina? And persistence? If not, we might just as well throw away "Republic" in our national slogans and substitute "Timocracy."

Senior Ability Tests To Be Given Tuesday To Predict Success

New ability tests to aid in prediction of success and guidance of college upperclassmen will be given to randomly selected seniors at River Falls this week in a standardization program preliminary to publication of the tests.

Some 1,600 seniors in 68 colleges throughout the country will participate in the program designed to determine typical scores for the upper level of the School and College Ability Tests (SCAT). The series now includes ability tests suitable for use only through the college sophomore year.

Test scores obtained from the sampling of college seniors will be used to construct comparison guides and other materials which will be published with the new level tests to permit proper interpretation of test scores. Similar samplings of college juniors will be made in the fall of 1961.

The new upper level tests are designed to provide information helpful in predicting academic performance in the college junior and senior years, in determining qualifications of junior college students applying for admission to four-year colleges, and in guiding students toward post-college goals.

The tests, which are scheduled for publication in approximately two years, follow the same content pattern as the present five levels, measuring verbal and quantitative skills.

Dr. Rozehnal, Dean of Students will administer the new tests next week. The college participated in a similar program for the college freshman and sophomore level of the test series in 1956 and 1958.

The School and College Ability Tests were developed and are published by the Cooperative Test Division of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J. The tests measure specific developed abilities which are closely related to learning success.

Student Senate Minutes

President Ron Skone called the March 13 meeting of the Student Senate to order at 6:30 p.m. in Room 200 of the Student Center. The secretary's minutes of February 27 were approved as read. Treasurer Smith reported a balance of $699.51 in the Student Senate Account; this amount does not include the allotment for Spring Quarter.

President Skone appointed a committee to revise the present Senate Constitution. Bergstrom, Miller, and Schmid will serve in this capacity.

Fred Froelick, representing the Social Committee, requested that the Senate set up the prices of tickets for the Spring Prom. It was moved by Rogers, seconded by Hendrickson, that $4.00 per couple be charged for advanced sale tickets and $5.00 be charged at the gate. The motion was carried.

Miller moved and Schmid seconded that the meeting be adjourned; at 7:45 the meeting was adjourned.

Carol Jean Hanson, secretary
Present: Bergstrom, Hanson, Hendrickson, Miller, Norrish, Rogers, Schmid, Seefeldt, Skone, Smith, Wagenback.

With an eye to the centennial of the Wisconsin State College system, the Board of Regents of State Colleges heard recommendations at a recent meeting on how to celebrate the hundredth birthday.

A report prepared by a special Centennial Committee headed by Dr. Walker Wyman of Wisconsin State College, River Falls, was presented to the Regents for their consideration. Among the general recommendations contained in the report were the following:

1. That the system observe its birthday by state-wide activities and programs in 1966-67, and that the term "centennial" be used to designate the buildings started in that year.
2. That the Board of Regents, presidents and faculties present to the public their "plan for the Future of the Wisconsin State College System".
3. That the Board, presidents and faculties plan some major experiment in education that would be of the importance of some programs already being conducted.

Letters to the Editor...

I Predict

Please, NO MONOPOLY, I believe in "Democracy" and freedom of the individual.

Why is state college cafeteria compulsory?
Dear Editor:

Not so long ago Wisconsin built student unions at several state colleges. An integral part of the union was a fully equipped cafeteria.

It now appears that eating at this cafeteria will be compulsory. It will be necessary to purchase in advance a certain number of meals. The cost is not deductible if not eaten and cannot be transferred to another person's credit.

In view of a teacher shortage and the need for other college-trained people, why is the manager of the school cafeteria given the power to say who will or who will not get an education?

Remember, I am only predicting this because I don't think that a person or a corporation has the right to say to each out of town freshman student, "You must eat at the cafeteria or not be allowed to enter college."

Let me point out that this condition exists at Superior and at Eau Claire and may soon exist at River Falls.

The old excuse will always be, "through the cafeteria the students will have a proper diet." Well now, how considerate!!

Please help to keep the "Free spirit" and the "Liberal" spirit at the Wisconsin State College at River Falls.

Carl H. Lillienwald

(Editor's note: The policy Mr. Lillienwald is speaking of in this letter is not decided by the food service, but is a decision of the Board of Regents. Also, this policy will apply next year only to incoming freshmen who live in dormitories. Regarding Mr. Lillienwald's statement that the condition exists in Superior and Eau Claire; the condition exists in all of the state colleges in Wisconsin except Stout where they do not have facilities to feed the male students.)

Selective Service Test Will Be Given April 27

The Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given to college men April 27, 1961, Colonel Bentley Courtenay, State Director of Selective Service for Wisconsin announced today. The April test will be the only test offered for the 1960-61 school year, the State Director said. Scores made on the test are used by Local Boards as one guide in considering requests for deferment from military service to continue studies.

Application cards and instructions are available from Selective Service Local Boards and the Dean's Office, Room 220, North Hall. Men planning to take the test were urged by Colonel Courtenay to make early application for necessary forms and materials.

The State Director pointed out that student deferments which test scores have helped determine since 1951 have been a major factor in insuring the Nation's supply of specialized manpower. Many students deferred since the testing program was begun are today scientists, engineers, and specialists in other technical fields and in the social sciences, teaching, and humanities.

Emphasizing that only one test will be offered, the State Director warned students wishing to take the test to obtain 1961 application cards and other material. Use of old application cards may result in students missing the test.

Applications must be postmarked not later than midnight Thursday, April 6, 1961. The test will be administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Hotel Opens New Room

Fred Gerberding of the Hotel Walvern here, announces this week that the new dining room in their establishment is nearing completion. The new dining area will be called the "Cardinal Room" and will seat up to 180 people. There will be new airwall petitions, which can be used in any part of the room to accommodate any size group for a private dining area.

Easter Hop March 25

An Easter Bunny Hop sponsored by the sophomore class and the Social Committee is planned for Saturday night, the 25th, in the Student Center. The dance is scheduled to last from 8 to 12 in the evening.

A fun filled evening is planned according to the sponsors, with an evening of dancing, an Easter egg hunt and prizes.

Dr. Victor W. Cohen

Dr. Cohen To Speak On Campus April 10-11

Dr. Victor W. Cohen, physicist at the Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, Long Island, will serve as a visiting lecturer at Wisconsin State College at River Falls on Monday and Tuesday, April 10 and 11.

He will visit under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics as part of a broad, nationwide program to stimulate interest in physics. The program is now in its fourth year and is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Cohen will give lectures, hold informal meetings with students, and assist faculty members with curriculum and research problems. Arrangements for his visit are being made with Prof. Earl G. Albert, chairman of the Wisconsin State Physics Department.

At Columbia he worked with Prof. I. I. Rabi, Nobel prize winner, in the pioneering work of the application of molecular beams to the measurement of the spin of atomic nuclei. Going to the State University of Iowa, Dr. Cohen studied the scattering of a molecular beam of potassium from solid surfaces, the scattering of neutrons from various elements, and the design and construction of liquefiers for hydrogen and helium.

In 1944 he transferred to the National Bureau of Standards and worked on developing a bomb director for precision dive bombing. After the war, he organized a vacuum tube development laboratory to work on special electron tubes of military and civilian interest.

He joined the Brookhaven National Laboratory when it was established in 1947.

College Foundation Gives Scholarships

The River Falls State College Foundation will award approximately 15 scholarships to entering freshmen in the fall of 1961, according to the March issue of Falcon Features, quarterly alumni magazine, which will be circulated this week.

At its January meeting, the board of directors of the Foundation set aside $3,600 marked for scholarships. This action was taken after it was noted that many of the contributions being received in the first annual Alumni Giving Campaign were earmarked for "financial aid to students."

Two of the scholarships of $500 each will be awarded solely on the basis of academic ability. The remaining 12 to 15 scholarships will carry stipends of $150 to $300 and will be based on financial need as well as academic ability.

President E. H. Kleinpell termed the board's action gratifying and pointed out that over the years, there has been a steady increase in the educational costs which must be borne by the student or his parents.

"A recent study in Wisconsin," he said, "shows that a high percentage of our very best students are unable to continue their education without some outside financial aid. I believe the large number of alumni who are interested in helping students indicates that many of them still recall their own financial difficulties in attending college."

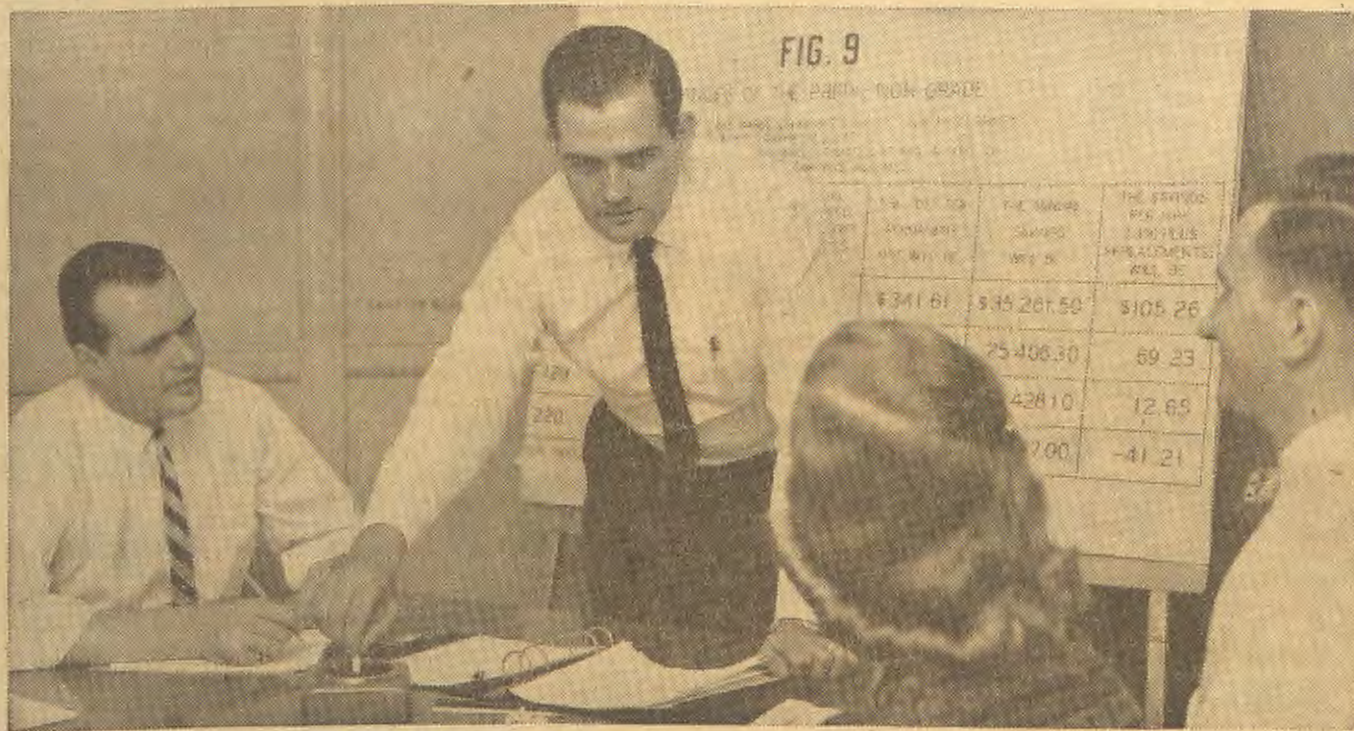

In addition to the scholarship funds, the Foundation also has received several funds established for student loans. Most of these are supplied as non-interest-bearing loans and are available to students on a short-term basis. Others have been given to match federal funds supplied under the National Defense Education Act, with the government offering $9 to each $1 provided by the College.

Marge Wallen 'Fun Day' Queen

The A. C. E. is sponsoring their annual "Fun Day" March 25, 1961. The theme selected this year is "Peter's Party". The children in grades kindergarten through five from River Falls and neighboring towns have been invited.

Reigning queen for this year's Fun Day is Margie Wallen. Her court attendants include Corrine Hribar and Kari Gatten.

Activities of various kinds have been planned and a good time is anticipated by all.

"I DON'T THINK THERE'S ANY END TO THE OPPORTUNITY IN THIS BUSINESS"

When Gene Segin got his B.S. in Business Administration at the University of Illinois, he was in touch with 8 prospective employers.

Gene joined Illinois Bell Telephone Company because: "The people I talked to here made it very clear that I would not be shuffled into some narrow specialized job. I thought this job offered the greatest opportunity for broad experience."

On his first assignment Gene was sent to Springfield where he conducted courses in human relations for management people.

His next move was to a traffic operations job in Rock Island. On this assignment he was in charge of all personnel who are directly responsible for handling telephone calls in this heavily populated area. Here Gene earned a reputation for sound judgment and skill in working with people. He was promoted to Traffic Supervisor.

Today, Gene's chief responsibilities are in management training and development, and company-union relations. The latter includes contract bargaining and helping settle labor disputes.

How does Gene feel about his job? "It's a real challenge. I'm in some of the most vital and interesting work in the country." And about the future—"Well there aren't any pushover jobs around here. It's tough. But if a man has what it takes, I don't think there's any end to the opportunity in this business."

If you're looking for a job with no ceiling on it—a job where you're limited only by how much responsibility you can take and how well you can handle it—then you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information on the Bell Companies.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

YOUNG DEMOCRATS MEET MARCH 24-26

The Young Dems are planning to attend the state convention in Madison on March 24-26 again this year.

River Falls Young Dems are expected to play a prominent roll in this year's convention. Lawrence R. Gansluckner, 1960 River Falls graduate and campaign manager for one of Wisconsin's Congressional Candidates, has announced his candidacy for State Chairman. This position is now held by William R. Drew, a graduate student at Marquette University, who is not seeking re-election.

Robert Agranoff, senior at River Falls State College has announced his candidacy for Organizational Director. Bob was permanent convention chairman at last year's convention in Racine.

Still another 1960 River Falls alumni, Carl Duch, Chemistry teacher at Oconomowoc, has announced his intention to seek the office of Executive Vice-Chairman. Duch has been state treasurer for the past 2 years.

Anyone interested in attending the convention is urged to come to the special meeting in Room 201-203 Student Center on Monday, March 21 at 8:00 p.m. or contact James DeMarce, River Falls delegation chairman.

Sportniks

by Swami Schlumpf

With the Wisconsin State Basketball Tourney behind us and the Minnesota spectacle coming up, thoughts of spring are temporarily shuttled to the sidelines but there's no denying that the fun season is definitely just around the corner.

That fact hit me hard last Sunday when I wheeled the Bug up on Main Street to get a Dairy Queen while listening to the Braves on the car radio. I could feel the exhilarating pulse of spring throbbing through my system and it immediately brought to mind the traditional poem my Dad once taught me:

Aha! 'Tis spring
De boid is on de wing
Don't that sound absoid?
Everybody knows
De wing is on de boid.

As everyone knows, spring means only one thing to every red-blooded American male—baseball. And the coming campaign promises to go down in history as one of the bleakest milestones in diamond history.

The expansion of the American League to 10 teams is the reason and the results can already be envisioned.

The increased size of the league means a 162-game schedule instead of 154. On the surface it appears to mean only a few more doubleheaders and a slightly longer season. But what about the precarious position that it puts the immortal Babe Ruh's record of 60 homeruns in? And how about pitchers' chances of reaching the magic 20-game winner's circle?

Or was the expansion intended to strengthen the junior circuit's position in the All-Star classic? (We no longer consider it a classic, since money-hungry individuals have decided to play two games every summer instead of one.) Probably so, because now the National League will have fewer players to choose from but it still boasts the best.

Other developments in changing our national pastime are in evidence every day. The Pacific Coast League (bless its flourishing little soul) has adopted a "Wild Card" rule whereby a manager may substitute a batter for the pitcher without having to remove the pitcher from the game.

What next!? We can just about imagine. How about a robot on first base with a magnet in his glove? Any ball thrown within five feet of his mitt will be automatically pulled in.

We thought it was bad when they began escorting relievers to the mound in Ramblers but when pitchers become so soft they can't bat for themselves, the game is headed towards an all-time low. Gone is the all-around ballplayer of yesteryear.

Another development concerns our beloved Suds City Sluggers, the Milwaukee Braves. Last week came the announcement from the Milwaukee county board that an ordinance had been passed forbidding the carrying of six-packs into County Stadium for the Braves games.

The ban was adopted as a safety measure, claimed the board, thinking of course, that a well-aimed bottle or can could easily immobilize a Willie Mays or Roberto Clemente.

But think back quickly. How many ballplayers can you remember being carried off the field because of injuries sustained from flying debris? Few, if any, we'll guess.

No, the answer is something else. Read between the lines. Nowhere do you see the announcement that beer will not be sold within the stadium walls in the traditional paper cups. Concession stands have been feeling all too tightly the pinch put on by customers carrying their own refreshments.

We can recall very vividly the Sunday doubleheader with the Cardinals two years ago that lasted until nearly 10:00 p.m. thanks to intermittent showers. Two peddlers were hustled off to the cooler when they were caught selling canned beer from a garbage can full of crushed ice near the left-field bleachers. Groundskeepers picked up over 80,000 empty beer cans and bottles following the marathon twin-bill, or two for every man, woman and child in the stands!

If you think the beaches, golf courses and hot-rod tracks were crowded last summer, watch them grow in popularity this year thanks to the meddling minds of those concerned with making baseball a business rather than a sport.

COACH DROPS SON—LaCrosse Aquinas basketball coach John Michuta dropped his son, Joe, from the team and promoted another son, sophomore Mike Michuta to the starting center's position. Coach Michuta dropped Joe, a 6-4 senior and starting center for disciplinary reasons. COMMENTS—If only more coaches in country knew the value of proper discipline!

$500 FOR CAGE—Twin Cities wrestling promoter Eddie Williams spent $500 for a wire cage that he had erected around the ring at the Auditorium to protect his mat actors. COMMENT—As if some of those hams don't look and act like animals anyway, now we need the cage.

DATES TO REMEMBER—Mark it down on your calendar... The New York Yankees will face the Minnesota Twins here on May 2, 3, and 4. Tickets should probably be ordered now. Speaking of the Twins, Earl Hanson at O'Briens Cafe 'is giving out free Twin's Schedules.

TWINS SIGN GIEL—The Minnesota Twins signed Paul Giel, a Winona product, as a pitching prospect for the coming season. COMMENT—Manager Cookie Lavagetto has decided to use the Split-T attack this summer.

WET YOUR LINE—The Georgia state legislature has introduced a bill that would make fishing on Sunday legal within the state. COMMENT—They're behind the times in everything else, aren't they?

Saddlelites Reign as I-M Champs

by Keith Olson

The I-M basketball court was the scene of a fast, rugged and hard fought game last Monday night, when the Saddlelites launched a close victory over the Fumble Bums for the Intramural championship. The Saddlelites were victorious by one point when the final horn blew and the score board read: Saddlelites 39 and Fumblebums 38.

Jack Scholz and Rich Miller paced the victors, with each netting 12 points and Newt Buchner also adding 9 to make up 33 of the total points.

Glen Stuve was the high scorer for the night and the losers connecting with 21 points; Larry Olson also added 14 for the Fumble Bums.

Members of this year's championship team include: Rich Miller, Newt Buchner, Jack Scholz, Chuck Carrier, Jim Ticknor, Bob Nilson, Howie Hofschild, and Gene Kirk.

The winning team received a trophy from Ben Bergsrud, I-M program director, and an engraving with their team name and year of championship will be inscribed on the traveling trophy. Each member of the championship team also received plaques of their own with the inscription "1960 I-M Basketball Champions."

Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
