Falconaire Dancing Club Attracts 60 Students

Hey, do you know how to do the Patty-Cake Polka? If you don't then it's a sure bet you didn't attend the first dance of the Falconaire Dancing Club.

The club was started by John Theibert, freshman. After two preliminary meetings a constitution was drawn up and approved by the Student Senate.

More than 60 students attended the first dance. By means of records and a PA system, Morrey Gillman, instructor from St. Paul, plans to teach many international dances.

The next meeting is Oct. 27. It's still not too late to join.

Halloween Color Features Rural Life Party

Halloween was the theme for the Rural Life club party Oct. 17. Games and refreshments added life to the party.

At the business meeting tentative plans were made for a luncheon at Homecoming for all members of the club and alumni.

The Rural Life club is a social club for all students taking rural education. They meet every third Monday of the month.

The officers of the club are: Ruth Lokhorst, president; Gloria Thompson, vice president; Elaine Jacobson, secretary, and Lavona Klecker, treasurer.

Chisholm Accepts Speaking Roles

Francis P. Chisholm, head of the English department, spoke at the Fall conference for College Teachers of Languages and Literature in the Northwest held at the University of Minnesota on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21-22.

Dr. Chisholm discussed the topic "American Literature as an Introduction to Literature" on Saturday on a panel which included David T. Nelson, Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and F. Y. St. Clair, University of North Dakota.

Dr. Chisholm will travel to Central Michigan College at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., on Dec. 8-9, to speak at the Regional Conference on Communications on the "Scientific Basis for Courses in Communications." He will also speak before the student body while there.

He is also scheduled to speak on "General Semantics" at the National Convention of the Speech Association of America in Chicago on Dec. 27.

Picture Schedule Set By Yearbook Staff

Starting Wednesday, Oct. 26, photographers will be on the campus to take individual pictures for the Meletean.

Freshmen can make appointments Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday this week in South Hall. The photographers will take pictures from 12:00-5:00 p. m. Wednesday; 8:00-12:00 a. m. and 1:00-5:00 p. m. Thursday; 8:00-12:00 a. m. and 1:00-5:00 p. m. Friday.

Upper classmen appointments can be made Thursday and Friday for next week sittings.

Offered is one pose with 14 exchange pictures for $1.00 or four poses for $2.00 with $3.50 for a dozen pictures with folders.

Although the yearbook budget has been increased, the Meletean staff members are taking advantage of the early picture taking discounts because of the increased student enrollment and greater publication costs. Group pictures will be taken sometime later this year.

The Meletean will be the same size this year but plans for it being more diversified are materializing. It may be divided into Fall, Winter, and Spring sections with additional features such as agricultural and campus departments sections. Working on the cover design are Louis Kollmeyer, instructor of art, and his art staff.

Muriel Larson Picked by YM As Queen Candidate

Muriel Larson, junior, was chosen as the YMCA queen candidate for homecoming.

Harold Lindemann, junior, was voted campaign manager.

Bill Overholt, YMCA student secretary, gave a brief resume of the Ihdubapi Conference held Oct. 8-9.

This conference was held for the purpose of defining more clearly the programs of student Christian associations.

They also attempted to find means for the associations to do more interscholastically.

Means to attain this are joint meetings between other schools and district councils.

Has Man A Chance? Hat Even Fools Gals

Take it from us and don't criticize what a woman wears—she may be an ambassador.

On Friday, Oct. 14, members of the International Relations club, Miss Adele Bloom, Mary Vaughn, Aralda Thayer, John Burgess, and Robert Pickering drove to St. Paul to attend a lecture by Arthur Schlessinger, Jr.

While standing in line trying to purchase tickets for the lecture the girls noticed a woman with her back to them who was wearing a rather peculiar hat. The girls were laughing about how it looked.

Imagine their surprise and embarrassment when the woman with "the hat" was introduced before the lecture as Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, the new ambassador to Denmark.

Disabled Vets Get Check Increase

Increased compensation benefits will go into effect Dec. 1 for disabled veterans as a result of Public Law 339 which President Truman signed this month.

The new law will provide additional compensation for veterans with dependents who are rated 50 per cent or more disabled. Heretofore only veterans with dependents who rated 60 per cent were eligible for additional compensation.

For all WW II veterans with service-connected disabilities the 8.7 per cent across the board increase will apply. For example, a veteran who is 10 per cent disabled by a service-connected disability will receive an increase in his monthly compensation check from $13.80 to $15.00.

Others in the category whose disabilities range to 100 per cent will receive proportionate increases in their checks. Thus a 100 per cent disabled veteran will receive $150 instead of the $138 he now gets.

Peacetime rates for service-connected disabled veterans are fixed by law at 80 per cent of wartime rates. They will automatically increase by the new law.

Blind Hindu Philosopher Booked To Discuss Indian Democracy

Dr. Subodh Chandra Roy, blind Hindu philosopher, will discuss "India on the Threshold of Democracy" as the second feature of the lecture series here Monday, Oct. 31.

Blind since his seventh year, Dr. Roy has spent much of his life in efforts to improve educational opportunities for the many sightless in India. His own path towards a law degree in that country had been a difficult one, and he felt that something should be done to ease the way for others of the blind who sought higher learning. A fellowship from Calcutta University made possible a trip to China, Japan, the United States, Canada, and Europe for the purpose of studying methods employed by other countries in assisting the sightless.

He learned much on his trip. Dr. Roy reports, and in America he took time to take a degree at Columbia University. Returning to India in 1940, Dr. Roy established the All-India Lighthouse for the Blind in Calcutta.

A Hindu by birth, but "otherwise a cosmopolitan," Dr. Roy is a believer in the doctrine of Ghandi. The part played by the Indian's philosophy in his recent attainment of political independence and its probable part in the shaping of his future political in-

Mr. Montbriand won the election over Dean Kittel and Eric Von Schweinitz.

'First Flight' Set To Arrive Here

The first term issue of the "First Flight" went to the printer last week.

According to co-editor Kenneth Close the first issue will be 36 pages.

Featured in the first issue will be a story of army life in India by Gordon Cassil. Mrs. Ernst Jurgens and Janet Reed will lead the love story section of the magazine. Mrs. Jurgens presents a story of a Mexican wedding with a surprise ending, and Miss Reed has written a heart-throb tale about young love.

A book review section has been added to the magazine. Carol Feller has reviewed "1984" and Robert Pickering, "The Naked and the Dead."

Contest Announced
"First Flight" announces that it will again pay five dollars for the short story judged best in a contest to be conducted during the Fall and Winter terms.

Any student, not connected with the magazine, may contribute short stories, 1500 words or more in length. Independent judges will be chosen. The stories will be judged on literary value, originality, and suitability for publication. Closing date for contest entries has not yet been set, but will come early in January.

Urbanich to Advise Campus Vets Club

Edward Urbanich, a new member of the chemistry staff, has been doing graduate work at the Denver Medical Center, Denver, Colo., from where he received his bachelor of science degree.

Mr. Urbanich is the adviser for the Student Veterans Association. His qualifications for the job include three years military service.

Mr. Urbanich's home town is Great Falls, Montana.

A skit was presented by the Dirty Dozen and the Vets club (both groups are backing Mr. Montbriand) and campaign speeches were given by the managers of each of the candidates at an assembly on Oct. 13.

Montbriand both past Homecoming chairmen, Wallace Lindholm and William Layman will assist Mr. Montbriand as an advisory committee.

Some of the contests that will be featured this year are: a beard growing contest with a five dollar prize for the best all-around beard and a three dollar prize for the most original beard. House decorations will be judged by the Senate and a plaque will be awarded the winner. Downtown businessmen will decorate their windows.

For Homecoming the classes are asked to take care of the following: senior class, city decorations; junior class, campus decorations; sophomore class, gym decorations, and freshman class, liming of the "R".

Mr. Montbriand said that the pep fest would be a gala occasion. Five skits are planned with much competitive spirit expected. The F. F. A., Dirty Dozen, and C. W. A. are organizations that are planning skits. Judging will be done by the student body and the winner will be announced at half-time of Saturday's game.

Something new at the pep fest will be a truth or consequences program with student and faculty contestants. A kangaroo court is planning to punish freshmen who "forget" to wear their beanies during initiation.

An added attraction to the pep fest will be the River Falls Drum and Bugle Corps. This group won second prize at the state Legion meet held in Milwaukee last summer. They will wear their 40 and 8 costumes. The Bugle Corps will lead the torch light parade.

The F.F.A. will be in charge of the torchlight parade and the bonfire on the intramural field following the pep fest.

Pi Kappa Delta has planned a luncheon in the Cafeteria before the parade on Nov. 3 for alumni and members of the group.

Mr. Montbriand says there are many tentative plans under consideration that cannot be stated as yet. Any ideas relative to Homecoming will be accepted by Mr. Montbriand or any member of his advisory staff.

"Skin de Indians" was selected as the Homecoming slogan. Niles Westby and Tom Quilan turned in the winning entries.

There are five candidates for Homecoming queen. They are: Mary Carlson, sponsored by the Newman club; Mary Anna Most, backed by the FFA; Muriel Larson, YMCA candidate; Mary Jo Boardman, backed by the Vets. Masquers, and "R" club; and Sibby Williamson, sponsored by the music groups.

The campaigns for Homecoming queen will reach a climax tomorrow at an all-school assembly.

The Editor Speaks

Monday morning I heard two members of the social committee discussing the week-end. Said one, "The students didn't expect a dance last Saturday, did they?" Replied the other, "I don't think so."

But the students did expect a dance last week for I heard many students complain about the lack of a dance. This is one of the major problems on the campus. When do the students want dances?

When I heard complaints about the lack of a dance I approached two representatives of the social committee. I asked, "Why wasn't there a dance Saturday?" One reply was, "Who is going to pay $65 for an orchestra for two hours of dance music? And besides we are going to have a dance this week-end." Another comment I heard was, "In the past the students did not expect a dance after every game, why should they now?"

I then suggested a record dance. He replied, and he had other vocal support, that a record dance does not satisfy the wants of the students. Here I beg to disagree. A little bit is better than nothing.

Out of common courtesy to the Platteville football team some sort of entertainment should have been provided. As it was they were roaming the streets looking for something to do. I am sure that when our team travels they welcome any form of courtesy extended them. Unless there is some way by which dances and the student wants are correlated the students will continue to gripe.

New Ideas

We are always looking for news sources. If you know a student who has some interesting hobby or anything that is newsworthy let us know. We will appreciate it.

Congress vs. Communism?

by Jerry Finn

The conviction of eleven leaders of the Communist party of the United States as advocates of violent overthrow of the government will have profound effect upon the type of legislation enacted in the next Congress in regard to the position of this party.

Tried under the Smith act, they have been found guilty of conspiring to teach the overthrow of the U.S. government, which carries a maximum penalty of 10 years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. While they were tried before a federal court the defendants will appeal the case which will mean that the Supreme Court will hand down the final decision.

The acts on which these eleven men have been found guilty were committed by them in their roles as leaders of the American Communist party. Nevertheless this is in itself still a decision against the activities of these men and not the Communist party as a whole.

The significance of the discussion is that it will give impetus to the enactment of an anti-communistic legislation in the next Congress. Already Senator Carl Mundt, co-author of the recent Mundt-Nixon bill, has announced that he will push next session for action on a modified version written by Senator Ferguson and himself.

Now that the ice has been broken it is of the utmost importance that it be passed. It should be constantly kept in mind that the discussion given at the trial does not necessarily mean that the Communists party is outlawed as such.

Any legislation aimed at restricting the functions of members of a party that is not outlawed as a party is dangerous. It is dangerous because it has been our experience that this policy of restricting a certain group does not end up by restricting that group alone, but the restrictions are extended to many others for whom the original policy was not intended.

The interpretation of the trial should mean that a bill to outlaw the Communist party is not necessary. The decision, if upheld by the Supreme Court, is definite proof that the present laws are sufficient for American justice to reach those who conspire to illegally overthrow the government.

This has been the position of those who have opposed the Mundt-Nixon bill and other efforts to overthrow the Communist party. Seldom has a word like Communist been more dynamic nor seldom has a word been so loosely applied.

The opponents of the Mundt-Nixon bill do not have any more affection for the Communists than any other congressmen, but they display more wisdom in their opposition to the bill because they more fully understand the far-reaching effects this type legislation would produce.

College Yearbook Staff Picks Meletean As Substitute for Wisconsin Badger

by Art Waters

Published annually every Spring by students and faculty of the River Falls Teachers College, the Meletean is the college yearbook. The annual contains a record of the school year's activities, classes, faculty, and administration.

Available records show that the Meletean has been published since 1911. Even during the war years when enrollments were low and women were a majority on the campus, the Meletean continued publication.

Meaning of Meletean

Years ago in selecting a name for the annual, Badger was the name desired, but the University's book bore that name. The question was asked, "Why not use the Latin word for Badger?" That word is meles so Meletean was chosen to name our college yearbook.

Staff and Advisers

The Meletean staff consists of an editor, appointed by the Student Senate under the provisions of the Senate Constitution, and his staff. The editor selects his own staff. Staffs have any number of members with the 1950 staff quite large.

In the past an adviser was appointed by the College President. Miss Maud Latta served in that capacity for a number of years. With Miss Latta's resignation, the President appointed a committee of faculty advisers.

The committee consists of Carleton Ames, chairman; Al Boeck, of the journalism department; Bernard McCarthy, advising on business matters, and Louis Kollmeyer of the art department. They will function entirely on an advisory basis.

The Meletean is the yearbook of student activities, published for the students, and should, therefore, be published by the students. But faculty supervision is necessary and with advice in special fields, a better quality book should be the making.

The staff receives an appropriation from the student activity fee for use in publishing the annual. This amount combined with the income from the sale of yearbooks affords a budget of more than $3,500 for this year's annual. The major portion of this goes for engraving and printing with a smaller portion for covers, photography, and miscellaneous materials.

The 1950 Meletean

With more students, higher engraving and printing costs, and the desirability for a quality book, the 1950 yearbook will be something quite different from previous books.

Special features in addition to the classes, organizations, and faculty, and full coverage of sports and other school activities, will be a section devoted to the Agricultural Department, a picture study of life in the campus apartments and trailer court with due tribute to the women behind the men, and recognizing 2- and 3-year students who will receive diplomas and certificates at commencement exercises this spring.

The staff has planned the theme of the book to be a seasonal picture of the campus. The annual is to be divided into three sections with one section devoted to each term. The main activities of the Fall term will be presented in the Fall section, etc. It is hoped that color may be added in some parts of the book.

The Meletean staff also is responsible for the publication of the Student Directory which appears for sale shortly after school commences in the Fall. The directory contains names, addresses, and telephone numbers of faculty and students, organization officers and advisers, and general information which is always helpful in answering questions that arise from time to time. The Directory involves a budget of between $350 and $400.

Horace-Scoops

Election of the Homecoming chairman has started the ball rolling toward Nov. 4-5. The candidates for queen have also been nominated, and this year Her Highness will be more active in Homecoming events than ever before. The 1949 Homecoming promises to be the biggest in RFSTC history.

Foreign news services report that the big windstorm was a forewarning from La Crosse. But reliable sources here are predicting violent winds for La Crosse Saturday, Nov. 5.

And then there was the mountaineer who put the silencer on his shotgun because his daughter wanted a quiet wedding.

You may hear many students' voices, but sometimes the voices are only a whisper. Here's one, though, that has been heard aloud and a lot: Why so few college dances? There should be at least two dances a week.

A note for you men who aren't in the habit of importing: The Homecoming dance is only twelve days away. (It's an old custom to have a date for the event.)

"Yup," said the guide to the wide-eyed travelers, "thar's been many a person go up that thar mountain who has never been seen to come down."

"Gee, what happened to them?" "Dunno . . . went down the other side, I reckon."

Most sophomores will probably never want to see a baseball bat again after the sophomore party Friday, Oct. 14. Over half of them could hardly stagger home afterwards, and it wasn't because the punch was spiked. The Bat Race, where everyone "fell down", was the riot of the evening. For those of you who didn't witness the game, it is done this way: First, you grab one end of a baseball bat with your hand; then, you rest your head on the hand and run in a tight circle eight times around the bat. If you can stand up after that, you're a better man than a sophomore.

Orchid of the week: To Jean Collins and the Sky Riders. They provide talented entertainment not often seen in a small college.

Open Letter to Editor...

Instead of the usual griping that appears in this column, it would be nice for a change to have a word of praise for something or someone.

Therefore, I say hats off to John Thiebert, freshman, from Stillwater, Minn.

It was through John's efforts that the Falconaire Dancing club came into existence, and held its first successful dance Oct. 13. I'm sure many of the students who attended this first dance and had such a good time didn't know where the idea originated.

It took a great deal of enthusiasm and just plain "guts" on the part of a freshman to introduce an idea such as this to the student body without knowing whether they would accept or reject it. If the idea had turned out a failure, chances are everyone on the campus would have known to whom to gripe. But now that it's a success, no one will probably bother to thank him or to give him a pat on the back (ungrateful bunch of louts that we are). What do you say, let's give the frosh a little credit.

Nice work, John. I wish we had more people with your initiative on our campus.

VA Ruling Lifts Restrictions On GI Educational Policy

The restrictive provisions of Instruction 1-A which followed recent legislation concerning veterans training and education have been rescinded, J. P. Cullen, Wisconsin regional manager of the Veterans Administration, announced today.

By this interpretation, changes of course will be permitted upon approval by the V. A., provided the new course falls within the same general field as the course previously pursued by the veteran. An example of this is where a veteran completing a course of automobile mechanics would be permitted to take an allied course of body and fender work.

The pursuit of a new course will be permitted if it is an advanced course within the same educational or occupational pattern as the veteran's previous course. An example of this, Cullen indicated, would be a veteran who may secure his BS degree, then his MS and then his Ph.D degree if his entitlement will permit. These provisions will enable a veteran to pursue a course of education or training that is in the same general field either in its length or breadth.

Changes of course into a different general field will be permitted for satisfactory reasons. However, when it is determined a veteran's request for change of course is to be in a different general field, the veteran will be required to utilize the services of the Advisement and Guidance Section of the Veterans Administration to determine aptitude and need for such course to complete his educational or job objective.

This does not alter the responsibility of the VA, which must approve all change of course, extension of training or changes in place of training, Cullen emphasized. He further pointed out that subsistence allowance, tuition or supplies cannot be paid for until the VA has received and approved the request for change in course or change in place of training.

It will be necessary for the veteran to furnish the VA with the name of the new course and place of training, together with his reasons for making the change. Also, Cullen said, a statement by the previous trainer must indicate the veteran's previous training was satisfactory. There is little change regard-

Wyman Balances Books For American Way

"Balance sheet of the American people", was the topic of a talk by Dr. Walker D. Wyman, instructor in history, at the YMCA meeting, Oct. 18.

On the credit side of the balance sheet Dr. Wyman listed the position of our women, our system of public education, and the attitude of dissent allowed in our public.

On the debit side he listed our failure to permit the minority groups in this country to share in our democracy and the disproportionate amount of time we spend on material things.

Dr. Wyman said that our balance sheet has been rather good on the whole.

There was a reception of members and membership cards were handed out.

Committees were selected for the queen campaign, for building the queen's float, and for the YMCA Homecoming skit.

LeMere Draws Fieldhouse

Displayed in the cafeteria last week and in the downtown section now, is a large sign made by Kenneth LeMere, junior, in connection with the Falcon Fieldhouse Fund drive.

The poster is a colored chalk replica of what the Fieldhouse will look like when it is completed, and a thermometer depicting the amount of contributions received to date and the total goal to be attained.

ing single subject courses considered avocational or recreational, which will still require complete justification or necessary affidavits. Cullen also pointed out that under provisions of Public Law 266, veterans are not permitted to enroll in schools which have been in operation for less than one year.

Orators Turn Out For Speech Rally

The Calico room was filled to overflowing last Monday night as last year's debate squad and prospective members for this season's speech events met to start the forensic ball rolling.

Charles Schillberg, prominent veteran debater and Pi Kappa

Schillberg

Delta president, welcomed the new people and spoke on the values of speech work.

Among other things he said, "In debate as in most other things you get out just about what you put into it." Mr. Schillberg feels that debate is a valuable asset to any student who is interested.

Miss Marian Hawkins, debate coach who has sparked the debate squad to numerous victories in the past, spoke on "The Spirit of Debate" and outlined pre-season plans.

Last week fledgling debaters met with Miss Hawkins to learn the fundamentals of debate. The proposition for debate this year reads, Resolved: The federal government should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries.

The first big speech event of the year will be the Upper Iowa tourney on Dec. 2 and 3.

Wind Blows, Roof Goes; Wind Dies, Money Flies

Damage to college buildings, which may run to the excess of $3,500, was caused by a wind that pushed down on River Falls on Monday, Oct. 10.

South Hall suffered the brunt of the damage as large steel ventilators were blown from the roof. Slate shingles were also torn from a large section of the roof. Some windows were broken by flying shingles.

The roof of Hathorn Cottage was stripped of some of its covering. Many rooming houses sustained minor damage.

Smoking only in North Hall lounge and the Cafeteria.

Psychology Students Make Tour Of Hastings Mental Hospital

by Nancy Behrens

Dr. Gordon Stone's Glenwood City extension class in mental hygiene and campus class in applied psychology went on a field trip to the State Mental Hospital at Hastings, Saturday, Oct. 15, where Dr. Newman Bradley, one of the hospital's leading psychiatrists, conducted a three hour clinic in which he explained types of mental illness, their causes, and treatments.

During the session he brought in ten patients, each of whom typified a different type of illness.

Dr. Bradley pointed out that mental diseases may have an organic or a psychic origin and much research is being done to determine in what cases and to what extent each of these is responsible.

He emphasized the important fact often played by encephalitis in childhood, early injury to the nervous system, and hardening of the arteries in adults.

He brought in many asides such as, "The members of your class are probably all undergoing by this time more or less hardening of the arteries." "All the mentally ill people are not hospitalized." "We often feel that some of our visitors should be detained and some of the patients allowed to go home."

The class was shown the devices which are used to give electric shock treatments and received an explanation of how drugs are used in therapy. An explanation was also given of the relatively new kind of brain surgery called pre-frontal lobotomy, which has been performed on 170 patients with surprisingly good results. Dr. Bradley demonstrated the brainwave machine and explained some of the charts.

The group was shown through the several wards and were allowed to observe and converse with the inmates. The average age of the inmates is 60 years. The hospital has a population of 1200.

Minnesota has made considerable advances in improving the mental hospitals. They now have a psychiatrist for every 150 patients. These hospitals are now looked upon as places where people who are ill go to receive treatment. Many are dismissed to return to normal life.

Mental hospitals are no longer considered to be custodial institutions where hopelessly incurable people remain permanently.

Newman Panel Starts Series on Marriage

A panel discussion on marriage and divorce was the highlight of the Newman club meeting on Oct. 11. This panel was the first in a series which will be given at forthcoming meetings on marriage and divorce.

A member from each class took a different phase of the topic to discuss. Fred Adler, senior, was chairman of the panel.

Other members of the panel and the phases they discussed were: Jean McLaughlin, junior, courtship and engagement; Phyllis Hathaway, sophomore, feminine and masculine psychology; and Glen Tobias, freshman, the religious aspect.

Members of the panel succeeded in enlightening the students on some of the problems of marriage.

Pioneer Passes Sink Falcons

A brilliant passing attack coupled with the superb pass catching of end Leo Butts gave the Pioneers of Platteville a 24-0 victory over the Falcons at Ramer Field, Saturday, Oct. 15.

Quarterback Dick Wainwright and end Leo Butts put on a show of their own as they combined for a total of 159 yards through the airways.

The Falcons threatened to score in the final quarter when they got as far as the one-foot line on one attempt and as far as the ten yard line on another try.

Both ground attacks were equally potent as both teams amassed 155 yards rushing. Platteville's superiority showed when they unleashed their passing attack early in the game. The Pioneers completed 10 out of 15 pass attempts compared with four out of 15 for the Falcons.

All the Pioneer touchdowns came via pass plays with Leo Butts scoring three of them, and end Leo Seiler the remaining six-pointers. None of the attempted conversions were successful.

Failure of the Falcons to set up an adequate pass defense proved to be their undoing as Wainwright completed pass after pass with unerring accuracy and precision. Harkness and Cardinal handled the passing for the Falcons but they were not nearly as effective due to the lack of protection provided the passer by the line.

This was the second conference loss and the fourth loss of five games played to date.

Former Falcon Star Has Good Coaching Record

A former Falcon star, who played end for three years, is experiencing one of his best coaching years.

He is L. E. McChesney, head coach at Cornell (Wis.) high school. During his 12 year stay at Cornell he has witnessed eras of six-man, eight-man, and finally eleven-man football.

This year his Cloverbelt conference team is headed for the championship. They are undefeated in season's play with only a tie to mar their record.

Coch McChesney played for River Falls from 1931-33. He was all-conference end in 1932-33.

Prell to Manage Campaign For FFA Queen Candidate

Mary Ann Most, senior, was nominated candidate for Homecoming queen at a regular meeting of the F.F.A.

Responsibility of campaign manager was vested in Russell Prell.

Homecoming plans were made with the appointment of the following committees: bon fire, float, and skit.

A list of associate officers was presented to the group and their approval was unanimous. Their duties are to assist regular officers and to gain experience until the next election of officers.

The campus school closed Friday, Oct. 14, and the faculty attended the district WEA convention at Eau Claire.

Q.B. Club Hears Coaches

Coach George Schlagenhauf said "team spirit" was the main factor in the Falcon win over Stout at the weekly meeting of the Quarterback club.

High school coach Roy McPherson stressed injuries to key men for his team's loss to New Richmond.

After a luncheon the members continued with an informal discussion of both ball clubs.

Frosh Beanies Make Appearance Today

Freshman initiation, after a stormy trip across the waters of official channels, has been approved by those concerned. Today marks the beginning of freshman woes, which is wearing a beanie.

On the spot penalties for violators have been set up. They are: sing "Rock A-bye Baby", painting the offender's nose with mercurochrome, and the giving of a quick shoe shine.

Any freshman that refuses to do any of these penalties will be tried by a circuit court. If the offender does not accept the punishment of the circuit court he will be tried by a supreme court as part of the Homecoming celebration.

A recording committee has been organized and it will be their job to: accept names of violators turned in by sophomores, serving of court appearance papers, and use brute strength to bring in violators who do not come to court sessions when asked.

The circuit court will be composed of: six judges, with two or three presiding at each court session, two prosecuting attorneys, and 12 jury members who will serve for one court session. A freshman may pick a lawyer to defend him.

Falcons Lose Toughie

Game Played In Snowstorm

You have all heard the saying, "it's the score that counts, the statistics itself doesn't mean a thing. This was truly the case as the Falcons thoroughly outplayed the Yellowjackets of Superior Friday evening, Oct. 21, but still lost 9-6.

The game was played under extremely adverse weather conditions. A heavy rain the evening before covered the field with so much water that a good share of it remained as pools on various parts of the playing field and along the sidelines. For a brief time during the fourth quarter a driving snow came down.

Superior scored early in the game when Dom Moselle crashed through the left side of the line for the necessary four yards and a touchdown. Poglase kicked the point. This touchdown drive originated on the Yellowjacket 30 yardline and resulted in five consecutive first downs before Moselle scored the leading 6-pointer. Superior was completely outclassed the remainder of the game as they managed to pick up only four more first downs the rest of the game.

Punt Blocked

The ball changed hands frequently during the ensuing minutes because of fumbles. Falcon fans were momentarily elated when Tom Linehan picked up the ball in the end zone, after his attempted punt had been blocked and raced down field with it. Two laterals and some downfield blocking resulted in Pat Christie's scoring.

The referee ruled the play otherwise. He claimed that Linehan tried to roll the ball out of the end zone to avoid being tackled there instead of actually trying to pick the ball up and run it out. The team and the coaching staff put up a tremendous protest but his decision stood, therefore the play resulted in a safety for Superior rather than a score for the Falcons.

Wisdom Stars

The second half was completely dominated by the Falcons as they smashed through the line and passed for 13 first downs to Superior's one.

Bill Wisdom played an outstanding game as he crashed the middle of the line for five to ten yards, time after time. Harley Harkness did a fine job of passing as he threw the wet pigskin with accuracy for the needed yardage.

The Falcons scored midway in the third quarter when Gene Cardinal threw a 15 yard touchdown pass to Nate DeLong. Cardinal threw a pass for the extra point attempt, but it was incomplete.

Pass Intercepted

River Falls had a fine chance to score just as the fourth quarter got under way. They had possession of the ball on the Yellowjackets one yard line with two downs to go. Harkness threw a pass that was intercepted in the end zone and resulted in a touchback.

The Falcons never gave up hope and the game ended just as Jack Shields completed a pass to Maveus on the seven yard line.

This was the finest game the Falcons have played this year. If they play like that the next two games Eau Claire and La Crosse are in for a mighty bad time.

Incidentally this was the 17th straight Homecoming win for Superior.

Indians Here In Final Game

The La Crosse Indians will provide the opposition for the Falcons in their last game of the season.

La Crosse is the powerhouse of the league this year and has five straight wins to their credit with three of them being conference victories.

Coach Clark Van Galder has most of the men back who played varsity ball a year ago. They are much improved over last year due to their playing experience and the improved teamwork.

So far the Indians have knocked off the only two teams who the experts figured might have a chance at the title. Superior fell by the wayside 28-19 while Eau Claire bowed less easily, 14-7.

Owen Evans, Ace Loomis, and Jim Nirschl provide the power in the backfield. Evans is one of the smallest men in college football, but he is extremely fast and tricky and will give the Falcons plenty of trouble.

La Crosse depends more on power through the line for yardage than by passing, but they have a very good passing attack when they need to use it.

Last year River Falls and Eau Claire were tied for the loop lead when the Blugolds came here and defeated River Falls 13-7, and put a damper on Falcon hopes for the title. Eau Claire went on to win the Wisconsin Teachers College conference championship.

The Blugolds haven't done so well this year, having lost two of their first four conference games. They opened their conference season at Superior where they lost 13-6 when Superior rallied late in the fourth quarter to score on a 55 yard run by Harry Wilson after Dom Moselle had intercepted an Eau Claire pass on his own 25 and ran it back to the 45.

Stout fell victim to Eau Claire as they won their first victory 7-6 on Oct. 1. Surefooted Dick Emanuel kicked the all important point.

Eau Claire kept its title hopes alive when they eked out a narrow 14-13 win over Stevens Point on Monday, Oct. 10 for their second conference win.

Striking for touchdowns in the final quarters, La Crosse Teachers wiped out a 7-0 Eau Claire lead and scored a 14-7 win on Oct. 15 to end all title hopes for the Blugolds this year.

Eau Claire is sparked by end Ade Washburn and guard Chamberlain in the line. Warren Buckli, Jim Reidinger, and Bob Funk are standouts in the Blugold backfield.

Thirty-five persons attended the splash party Wednesday night in the pool. It was an intramural project. The group was guarded by Red Cross students. More parties are planned for the future.

Sports Reel by Olie

After Saturday night's defeat at the hands of Platteville, and with our three toughest ball games coming up, including the Superior game, it looks as though we are in store for one of the poorest showings in quite some time.

River Falls is not used to a losing ball club, and now that we are confronted with one it has us surprised and very much bewildered.

Many of us have passed it off on the theory that good teams and poor teams run in cycles and we have reached the end of the cycle of winning teams and therefore must accept a few years in which we have a losing club.

This theory may be right, but it is my opinion that the losing team this year is not just a product of this year, but has been building up over a period of years, and unless something is done soon the so-called inevitable losing cycle will be longer than any of us wish to think.

Probably the biggest and most outstanding factor in our team is the lack of experienced depth. This has come about during the last few years and has just reached our attention this year.

We are not getting enough experienced high school ball players to enroll here. This leads us to the ever present question, "Why?"

The main reason they will not enroll here is that we do not have enough to offer. Truly this is one of the best schools in the state both academically and financially, but we still have to offer more. The day of the veteran is reaching an end and if we are to keep up with the other schools in our conference we are going to have to set up a plan of part time employment to offer the high school graduate.

There were many contacts made with graduating high school athletes, and many more could have been made, but they all ended up with these words, "We would sure like to see you at River Falls next year." The next school offered part time employment so naturally River Falls was forgotten.

What can be done? I believe we should quit passing the buck and get down to work. We as students can influence others in enrolling here. The problem of odd jobs should be taken over by the athletic board. There are many opportunities.

For example the board should get together with the cafeteria and reach an agreement by which the athletes could have the morning and evening work. The boarding houses, I am sure, would make it a point to let athletes work for their meals. The cleaning of the dressing rooms and chemistry labs could yield enough to help pay for meals of an athlete.

A large point that has been overlooked for years is odd jobs downtown. We have a very active Quarterbacks club, and I am sure if they were approached by our athletic board they would agree to work closely with them in placing athletes in the part-time jobs that they have.

With part time jobs to offer and a good system of contacting I am sure we could keep up with the other schools in enrolling the experienced high school athlete.

Friendly Wisconsin Impresses Students from Mexico City

Six young men from Mexico are now attending RFSTC. They are Enrique Lopez, Hubert Thummler, Herbert Hinrichs, Mario Trabulse, Raul Enriquez, and Andres Friedman. Thummler was here last year; the rest are freshmen.

All six are graduates of the American High School in Mexico City, of which Jon Brille, an RFSTC graduate, is superintendent.

The fellows say that they like life in the United States as much as life in their home-land. "American kids are much more polite than our Mexican friends," said Mario Trabulse in an interview. "They always say 'Hi' or something like that when they meet you. In Mexico people don't speak to each other."

During a report on Mexican schools made to the "Principles of Education" class, Mario explained, "In Mexico, if three cars are traveling abreast on a four-lane highway, and three more are coming the other way, you will read about it in the morning paper. The list of the dead will be given."

Bull-fighting is the Mexican national sport. Every "town" has a "plaza" where the bull-fights are held. Every Sunday about 60,000 people jam the big plaza in Mexico City to cheer their favorite "toreador." Only the larger cities have baseball teams.

American girls amaze the boys from south of the border. "Here you see a nice girl; you just ask her to go to the show, and if she wants to go, you go. But in Mexico you have to ask her father, and prove to him your character and financial status to him before you can get a date with the girl and a chaperon," said one of the fellows.

"But we love Mexico," another hastened to add. "It's our country with our customs and a darn good place to live."

The boys report that the racial prejudice problem, as we know it, is non-existent in Mexico. One's place in society in Mexico depends solely on his bank balance. The races are well mixed.

Let's Go Dancing Babe Conventions Bore Me

Someday we will be teachers. And someday we will have to attend teachers conventions. This bit of comedy occurred at the Teachers Convention held at Eau Claire on Oct. 13-14.

It seems that a noted authority in the field of elementary education was giving a speech. His audience did not appreciate him and soon many of them were asleep.

During the speech an attendant brought in a note and handed it to the chairwoman. The chairwoman was of the nervous type and as soon as the speaker was finished she read this note, "There will be a dance tonight for the teachers at 8:30 at Fourniers Ballroom."

Immediately she realized her error and apologized to the speaker, for a "question and answer" session was to follow the speech without interruption. She then turned to the audience and asked if there were any questions. A teacher who was in the process of waking up asked, "What time did you say the dance began?"
