Coward's Comedy, 'Blithe Spirit,' At Hathorn Hall Thursday, May 23

by Frank Holub

A novel presentation of "Blithe Spirit" will be made here Thursday, May 23, at 8 p.m. when this "improbable farce in three acts" is offered as "theatre-in-the-round." The play is directed by Duanne Johnson, a senior from River Falls. It will be presented in the Hathorn Hall Lounge.

Playwrights sought diligently for escapist drama inspirations during the early, depressing months of World War II, and Noel Coward of England was the most successful. He was deeply moved to find his people bravely gay in the face of awful months of battering blitzkrieg and repeated threats of an invasion.

"It isn't merely gallantry and putting on a brave face," he wrote to his American representative. "It's very real and infinitely stimulating. Realizing that this particular feeling was more important than anything else, I decided to write a farce."

Londoners and New Yorkers roared with laughter at the utterly fantastic and improbable farce.

The play opens with Charles Condomine (Duanne Johnson) and his second wife, Ruth Condomine (Lynn Radkey) preparing for a party. Charles is an author who is writing a book about the supernatural world and the tone of the play is shown in this early exposition. Dr. and Mrs. Bradman (Sherwin Gronlund and Ora Fast) are the first guests to arrive. Madame Arcati (Beatrice DeGidio) who is an eccentric old woman making her way in the world as a medium to the other side, is the other guest and is the subject for a forthcoming book.

The light nature of the play is demonstrated by the false front which is put on by the Condomines for the benefit of Madame Arcati. This is also evident of Madame Arcati and her attempt to make contact with her control in the other world, Daphne, and the nature with which Edith, (Marge Olson) the maid, performs her duties.

But to Madame Arcati's astonishment and delight she actually conjures up the spirit of Charles' first wife, Elvira (Ruth Stolpe), at a seance after dinner. No one believes in the existence of the spirit but Charles, who alone can see and hear her. With two wives in the house Charles obviously is in for difficulties.

Workshops and New Courses To Be Featured in Summer

by Mark Wyman

Featuring workshops, new courses, and "outings", as well as the regular line of classes, the Summer Session at River Falls will commence June 17 and run busily to its completion, July 26. Director of the annual session is L. G. Stone, Director of the Division of Professional Education.

The session is designed for several purposes. Besides being open to recently-graduated high school seniors, it is aimed also at the teachers who desire to meet new teaching certificate requirements, qualify to teach in new areas, or observe new developments in their own fields.

Recreational events for this year's summer school include the square dance series on the tennis courts, the annual end-of-session picnic, and early in July, a boat trip on the St. Croix river. Due to receive much use this summer, also, is River Falls' golf course with its revamped set-up and newly-installed grass greens.

A new course in teaching foreign languages in elementary schools is also being offered. The courses for teaching French and German will be taught by Dr. Ernst Jurgens. The courses are designed for those teachers who have little or no knowledge of foreign languages but would like to prepare themselves for teaching it in elementary schools. Special programs scheduled are

NEARLY 80 PERCENT VOTE IN PRIMARY

An unusually spirited primary resulted in ballots being cast by nearly 80 percent of the junior class Friday. The exact percentage was 79.6.

An earlier election, May 2, had been invalidated by the Student Senate because the primary had been omitted from the election procedure.

Candidates named in Friday's primary were Neil Christensen and Jerry Anderson, president; and Gordon Lee and Chuck Wallen, vice-president. Uncontested were Betty Weber and Colleen Rasmussen, secretary; and Otto Becker and Jim Johnson, treasurer.

The general election is scheduled for May 24.

'VOICE' TO PUBLISH TWO MORE ISSUES

Two more issues of the "Voice" will be published this year. The May 27 issue and the graduation issue, which will be distributed June 9.

Students Vote to Return Six Senators to Office

ARLIN ALBRECHT

Albrecht to Edit Meletean for '58'

The Student Senate has named Arlin Albrecht as editor of the 1958 Meletean. His nomination came with the recommendation of Wayne Wolfe, advisor to the yearbook.

The 1958 book will be completely modern in layout and theme according to the new editor. He said the book's size will probably be about the same as this year. Final plans will depend on enrollment and budget allotment.

Mr. Albrecht, a junior from Chippewa Falls, completed a year as editor of The Student Voice at the beginning of spring term. He has worked on the Meletean as photographer for the past two years. At present he is on the Voice staff as reporter and photographer.

Enrolled in the Liberal Arts curriculum, Mr. Albrecht is majoring in agriculture with minors in journalism and economics. His activities include debate, Alpha Psi Omega, Masquers, The Group, The Prologue, and Young Democrats.

In addition, he serves as chairman of the Hungarian Scholarship committee and is on the Public Relations Committee.

The Student Senate elections held last Tuesday returned six of this year's members to the Senate. Only one new member was elected. Approximately 60 percent of the student body voted.

Mike O'Connell, a sophomore from Roberts, was the only new member elected.

Next year's class presidents will also serve on the Student Senate. As yet only two of them have been decided upon. They are Lewis Schoenwetter, sophomore president and Clarence Dulek junior president. Because of election difficulties, the senior class president will not be known until next week. The freshman class will elect its president next fall.

Seven of the 21 candidates in the election were present member of the Senate. The remainder were nominated by organizations and from the floor of an assembly held May 8.

READER'S THEATRE TO PRESENT R.U.R.

R.U.R. (Rossum's Universal Robots) will be presented by a new group on campus, Reader's Theatre, in the Little Theatre on June 4 at 8:30 p.m.

Reader's theatre is a recent innovation. Charles Laughton originated the first group of this type which met with immediate success. It is unique in that the actors portray the characters in the play solely by the use of voice and facial expressions.

The play, written by the Czech playwright Karel Capek, is the story of an industrial organization which manufactures mechanical creatures possessing superior physical and mental abilities—but no soul.

The cast of characters include: Richard Doetkott, Duanne Johnson, Henri Elzinga, Mike Fleming, Lynn Radkey, Carla Norden, Rusty Titel, Marge Olson and Carol Naiberg. It is under the direction of Dr. Blanche Davis.

"I WISH I MAY, I WISH I MIGHT," say Betty Davis and George Kerckhove over some obviously funny wish during the Junior Prom in North Hall gym Saturday night. In addition to the wishing well, the "Moonglow" decorations featured a rock garden made of real rocks. —Photo by A. A. and J. K.

"All pledges made to the Hungarian Scholarship Fund must be fulfilled at the last collection date, Wednesday, if we are to make good our proposal of offering a scholarship to a refugee student," says Arlin Albrecht, chairman of the drive.

A total of $850 was pledged by RFSC students at the drive's start. Approximately half of this amount has been collected. If the remaining amount is paid next Wednesday a scholarship for one year can be given to a refugee student.

A collection table will be set up in the cafeteria from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The Editor Speaks . . .

Back in December when the Christmas spirit was still with us, the students of RFSC pledged more than $850 to bring a Hungarian refugee student here.

To date, only half of this amount has been received. Of the $425 contributed, approximately one-fourth has come from faculty members. So what began as a student enterprise to help a fellow student has bogged down.

If we are to bring a refugee student to the campus, the pledges made MUST be honored. If the total amount pledged can be collected at the final contribution date, May 22, it will enable the students of River Falls to extend a scholarship to a student who has been forced to flee his homeland and who is seeking a fresh start in an atmosphere of freedom.

Back in December we thought this to be a worthwhile project. Evidently, at that time, many agreed with us. We believe the pledges were made in all sincerity. From our experience with the student body and campus spirit at River Falls, we believe the drive will not be halted half way.

The collection this week will prove whether or not we are right. If the pledges are met, we can confirm our offer to accept a refugee student next year.

The generosity of River Falls students in making this offer has been publicized throughout the state. More than 30 Wisconsin newspapers carried stories of the gesture made by this campus shortly after the revolt in Hungary.

The fact that the revolt is no longer in the news does not lessen our obligation to those who have accepted refuge here. We must convince them that we do care and that we ourselves look upon America as the land of opportunity.

We should not have to struggle for funds to help one who has struggled for freedom.

CRITICS CORNER —

by Marlys Laue

The combined spring concert given by the band and choir this past week was one of the musical highlights of the term.

The opening number on the program was "1812 Overture" by Tchaikowsky. This selection would have been more proper in another section of the program since the band needed a "warming up" piece before the Overture. Because of no previous selection, the band lacked continuity between phrases of the Overture. In places the entries and endings to phrases were very weak. This was especially noticeable in the reed section.

Grieg's Piano Concerto was enhanced by soloist Harry Elzinga who performed in his usual superb style. However, at times the band and soloist were not coordinated in tempo.

The performance of Polka and Fugue by Weinberger was interesting. The organ accompaniment by Rae Buchholz added to the solidity of the selection.

The Choir's section of the program was of greater variety. The choir's first number "Salvation is Created" by Tschesnokoff-Mattinger was well performed. "Annie Laurie" added a familiar touch to the program. The choir had good balance among its various selections but at times the sopranos were singing at too high a range. This decreased the quality of the selections. "Land of Hope and Glory" by Elgar was an appropriate number for graduation time because of the familiar processional.

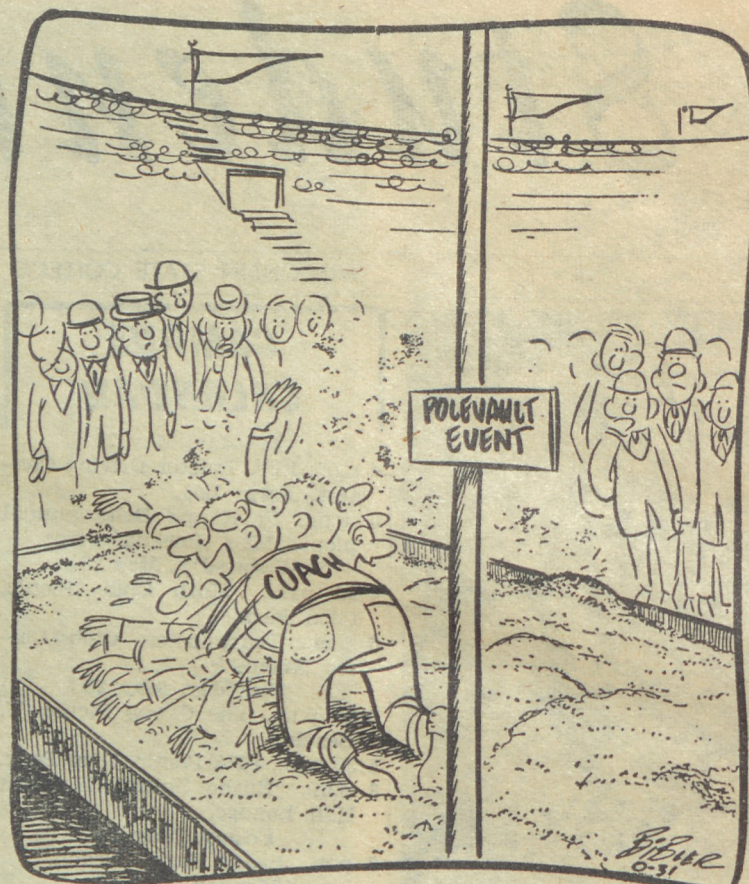

Part Three of the program consisted of three numbers by the band. The first, "Three Cardinals" by Davis, featured a trumpet trio composed of John Kirk, Glen Sandve, and Jerry Best. This selection and its encore were probably most enjoyed by the majority of the audience. These numbers were quick and concise, which added to the lightness of a fairly heavy program. "Emblem of Honor March" by Danburg was enjoyed by all. Perhaps more marches of this type could be included without lowering the musical level of the program. This is especially true when a concert is presented to a mixed audience which has varied music appreciation.

The combined band and chorus numbers were well coordinated. Although certain physical obstacles had to be overcome the two groups performed to their best ability. Several members of the choir were not familiar with their words. The vocal duet in

POINT OF VIEW

HAGESTAD

Generally, books are rather undisturbing things and of all the groups of books, textbooks are perhaps the least disturbing. If one admits these things, then follows that diminishing process further, one could say that a single chapter in an undisturbing textbook would be very undisturbing; and further, a single paragraph in that undisturbing chapter in that undisturbing textbook in that undisturbing group of generally undisturbing books would be about as undisturbing as it is possible to be. Yet this writer has found a paragraph in a textbook that is quite disturbing to him.

Something is wrong here. With logic as pristine as that above, how could a paragraph in a chapter in a textbook possibly be disturbing? To escape these toils of logic and a possible error in observation, let us look at the paragraph in question—then everyone who reads it may decide if it disturbs him or not.

(The following paragraph is taken from page 272 of The Stream of American History, Volume II, by Dr. Leland D. Baldwin of the University of Pittsburgh, with acknowledgement. In the section from which the paragraph is taken, Dr. Baldwin is writing of the "Guilded Age" in America.)

"Since everyone was entitled—and up to a certain age forced—to go to school, the public schools and presently the colleges invented mass education on the lines of mass production. There was increasing confusion between training, in the case of learning a trade, and education in the sense of indoctrination in the traditional arts and social values. The curriculum was a 'rope of sand' formed with the intention of informing rather than teaching to think. A rigidly standardized and regimented credit system ruled with its bells, books, examinations, and courses cut and dried so as to offer the least obstruction to the attainment of a diploma or degree. The aims were to teach social and professional skills (laudable in themselves), while the intellectual aim was touted but rarely honored in practice—there wasn't time! The average teacher himself, however sincere he may have been, was a mediocre product of the same mill without intellectual depth to see its failures."

(Emphasis mine.)

This writer believes that Dr. Baldwin's paragraph is disturbing because it is a comment which carries with itself the very slight possibility that it may still be applied, not only to our past "Gilded Age," but to our present "Platinum-plated Age" . . . Is the good Dr. Baldwin's paragraph disturbing?

Rain Upsets I-M Softball

Spring rains interfered in last week's Intramural Softball schedule and as a result games for last Tuesday will be played tonight. Additional information will be posted on the North Hall board.

In Monday's games undefeated team B-8 continued to lead the league by beating B-1, 18-16. The hits were numerous, with few errors being committed. Team B-4 kept pressure on B-8 by beating B-3 (14-7). This makes four straight victories for them, losing only their first game. Team B-9 also has a 4-1 record, after beating B-7 (10-8) in a close contest which was not decided until the seventh inning.

Wednesday games were similar with all top teams winning. B-7 defeated B-1 (12-10); B-8 ran over B-6 (11-7); B-9 edged by B-5 (12-11); and B-4 continued on its winning way by whipping B-10 (8-6).

Pitching skill and flawless fielding provided few runs in the A League last week. A-3 kept ahead of the league by beating A-5 (3-1). Chuck Nelson gave up only two hits and walked none to take the victory. Close on the heels of A-3 is A-2 after beating A-6, (8-5), with the fine pitching performance of Jerry Smith. In other action A-7 won over A-8 (10-9, and A-4 defeated A-1.

FALCON FANFARE

by Rog Gundlach

Another highly dependable infielder on this year's Falcon baseball squad is 5-8, 150-pound third baseman Don Swanson from Afton, Minnesota. Possessing a sure pair of hands on ground balls, Don has also displayed his share of power at the plate. He is currently sporting a .273 batting mark, with six hits in 22 trips to the dish, but of these half-dozen bingles two were home runs and another was a two bagger. This slugging has made him responsible for five RBIs.

A graduate of Stillwater High School in 1955, Don didn't go out for baseball. But he did pick up numerous town team games during the summer months, always playing third base. The first half of last summer he played for Hastings, then finished the season with Delafield, a town on the outskirts of Milwaukee. Don had moved to Afton from Oconomowoc during his sophomore year in high school.

His high school sports consisted of hockey, where he played wing, golf, along with a little basketball. Swanson has also continued in town team hockey, last winter competing in the tough Twin Cities Suburban league as a member of the Frederic squad.

Besides baseball, Don participates in intramural football and basketball, and is a member of the Newman Club. He carries a social science major and is minoring in phy ed.

This summer he will be playing ball with the local diamond squad, the River Falls Redmen managed by teammate George Holland, in the Pierce-Pepin loop.

FIVE FALCONS HIT .300 OR BETTER FOR SEASON

Five regulars on the RFSC baseball team which recently completed its season hit .300 or better for the year. Leading the group of first-string hitters was Joe Burgoyne with a .471 average on 8-for-17. George Holland was second with a .368 mark. Following were Rog Roffler (.314), Dick Fischer (.304) and Al Suezaki (.300).

HE'S OFF! Falcon sprintman Frank Sprenger receives the relay stick from Phil Kuss and roars into the last lap at the four-team track meet Saturday. The RFSC relay team finished third. Sprenger was the meet's only double winner, taking both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Kuss won the 440 and finished second in the 880.

Falcon '9' Ends With 8 - 3 Mark; Tracksters Place 3rd

Coach Bill Solley's baseball Falcons wound up one of the most successful seasons in some years and Fran Polsfoot's track team finished third in a four-team meet at Ramer Field in spring sport action highlights last week.

An 8-3 RECORD was achieved by the baseballers as they dumped Bethel 8-2 in the year's final diamond tilt Wednesday afternoon.

The scheduled doubleheader with Stout Saturday was cancelled due to wet grounds and cold weather.

Dick Hoffman and Rog Roffler each connected for 3-for-4 at the plate as the Falcons snowed the home team Royals under an 11-hit attack. Jim Turnquist and Louie Johnson shared the mound duties, with Turnquist picking up the win, his first of the season.

A complete wrap-up of the diamond season, including final averages, pitching marks and season's scores, will appear in next week's issue of the Voice.

TRACK-WISE, it was Mankato and St. Cloud finishing 1-2 in the annual Minnesota-Wisconsin state colleges annual track meet at Ramer Field Saturday. The two Minnesota schools finished in that order in the old Bi-State meet last spring, also.

The final point totals: Mankato - 96, St. Cloud - 54½, River Falls - 47½, Winona - 5.

Mankato took six first places compared to five for River Falls and three for St. Cloud, but the victorious Indians grabbed eight seconds and eight thirds to out-depth opponents by a big margin.

Only double winner in the meet was River Falls' Frank Springer, who won the dashes in 10.4 and 23.8. In other RF firsts, Phil Kuss copped the 440 in 52.3. Vern Parker won the mile in 4:44.0 and Dan Teetzen breezed to a new school record in the two-mile with a 10:23.2 time, topping the old mark of 10:29.3 set by Joel Dahlby last year.

One meet record fell in the 48-degree temperatures as Mankato's Larry Seehusen tossed the shot 49'8" to break by over three feet the 46'9¼" mark set by Kuehnl of Mankato in 1954. 'Kato's Ted Nelson ran a beautiful race in the 880 to finish in a 2:00.6 time, just .3 off the meet record.

Final Track Meet Set for May 25

Next week-end will mark the grand finale for the season of the RF track squad when it will be competing for honors in the State College track meet at Milwaukee, Saturday, May 25.

Other Wisconsin State Colleges represented at the meet will be Stevens Point, La Crosse, White-water, Oshkosh, and the host, Milwaukee.

According to Falcon thinned coach Fran Polsfoot, the River Falls squad may be expected to finish as high as third, mostly on the strength of its distance runners. Milwaukee and La Crosse are favored for the two top ratings.

A squad of 11 athletes will make the trip and, although final choice of the participants was to be made after the individual squad member's showings at the five-team meet here this week-end, the coach indicated that the following will definitely take part: Dan Teetzen, Phil Kuss, Vern Parker, Ray Meyer, Bill Hermann, Del Mottaz, Vern McKinney, Frank Sprenger, and Aaron Burchell.

Five Women Accept Jobs In Wisconsin, Minnesota

Five more names of women students have been added to the list of students placed for next fall.

Lucille Dahm, senior from River Falls, will teach vocal music at Lancaster, Wisconsin. Miss Dahm, in secondary education, has a major in music and a minor in English.

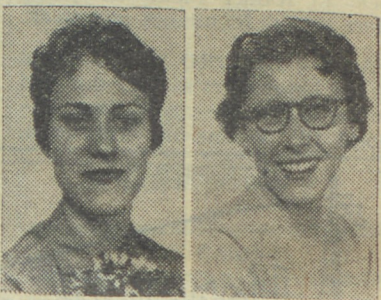

Dahm

Kochendorfer Gardner

Teaching speech and English at Barron will be Laura Gardner, senior from Fall River. Miss Gardner has majors in both speech and English.

Ramona Kochendorfer will have the art supervision of the high school and elementary grades at Balsam Lake. Mrs. Kochendorfer, a senior from Spring Valley, is majoring in English and minoring in art and history.

Rundhammer Skoglund

Nancy Rundhammer, two-year elementary from Star Prairie, will teach third grade at Bloomington, Minnesota.

Also teaching at Bloomington will be Sandra Skoglund, from Pepin, who is in two-year rural education. Miss Skoglund will teach the first grade.

SORENSEN GETS POST WITH DISTRICT GOP

Jim Sorenson, junior from Spring Valley, was elected Vice Chairman of the Ninth District Young Republicans at the State convention at Stevens Point, May 11. Mr. Sorenson was one of a 12 man delegation from River Falls State College.

The convention was keynoted by Melvin R. Laird, Seventh District Congressman who is a member of the House Appropriations Committee.

The speaker at a luncheon held in the Whiting Hotel Saturday was Richard M. Simpson, Congressman from Pennsylvania. Mr. Simpson serves on the House Ways and Means Committee.

Highlighting the three day convention was an after dinner address by Governor Vernon W. Thomson. In his speech the Governor cited Wisconsin as being an example of good state government.

Prior to the convention the River Falls YGOP elected the following officers: president, Don Patin; vice president, Mike Stengel; secretary, Betty Olson; treasurer, Jack Woodbury.

Students to Observe Armed Forces Day

Armed Forces Day will be observed on campus this year, it was decided at a meeting May 15. All students and faculty members who are veterans or who are in the Active Reserves or National Guards are asked to wear their uniforms to classes on May 29. A short ceremony will be performed before the flag pole at 10 a.m.

Students going home this week-end are reminded to bring their uniforms back to college.

DR. GOUGH TO TEACH IN CHICAGO COLLEGE

Dr. Lillian Gough, of the math department, has accepted a job to teach mathematics this summer, at the Chicago Teachers College, in Chicago, Illinois. Dr. Gough's duties will commence July 1 and will continue through the eight-week summer session.

This school is part of the Chicago Public School System.

CONCERT—

"The Student Prince" by Romberg added to the variety of the program. However, it was overdramatized for the atmosphere of the occasion. "The Nation's Creed" by Williams was a majestic ending to the program.

Newman Group Raises $1700

At Kick-off Drive

A total of $1700 was raised in the kickoff drive for the proposed Newman Hall by 87 Catholic students, Tuesday, May 14.

Approximately one-third of the Catholic Students at River Falls pledged an average of $20 apiece, to be paid through P. O. Box 13 in River Falls. Other Catholic students on campus will be contacted for pledges by various members of their class.

Aside from students at River Falls, parents and alumni are also being contacted by means of a letter and brochure. Members of the Newman Hall committee are Calvin Martell, chairman; Mike O'Connell and Tony Koss, co-chairmen; and Pat Lind, secretary.

The hall, which the club plans to have by next fall, will be a place where Catholic students can meet for religious, educational and social purposes. Future plans also include a library and chapel in the hall, and then perhaps the services of a full-time chaplain.
