First Conference Tilt Proves Disastrous To Unlucky Hoop Artists

Blackbirds Here Thursday

In their first conference game of the season the Falls bowed to Superior by a rather one-sided score, 9-27. The night before, Superior dropped their first game to Stout at Stout, and it seemed as though they had been saving all their thunder to bring defeat to our door-steps. The uncanny shooting of Pederson of Superior, savored more of "Swede luck" than anything else. There is no doubt, however, that the up-state aggregation had the best outfit, although none of our men were playing in anywhere near the form they showed at St. Thomas last week. Cleberg and Beran missed innumerable shots, and though close to the ring many times, they failed to register. Price played the best game for the Falls with two baskets to his credit and a good display of floor-work. Coach Cox attempted sev-

The Red Card Members Greet Lucky Outsiders

There are times it is better to be on the outside looking in than to be on the inside looking out. If you were in a house that had a pretty red sign displayed on which was printed in large type "Scarlet Fever," there would be moments when you might happen to wish that the sign was absent. However, since only the first hundred years cause any difficulty, we are trying to make the best of it.

We are of firm conviction that

LOSS OF BEATRICE MAIER KEENLY FELT

In the death of Beatrice Maier the students of River Falls have lost a dear friend. Though her life was short, it was seemingly a happy one, for she was known every where for her engaging good humor. She was square, straightforward, and was liked by everyone with whom she became acquainted.

The Student Voice, in behalf of the Student Body and faculty of River Falls, wish to express their sincere sympathy to those to whom she was most dear.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerimiah Ezekiel Wadaneska announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha Matilda, to Timothy Oscar Snodgrass. The wedding will take place some time in February.

FORMER COACH DEFEATS BROTHER

Friday night Otto Eggebrecht, our worthy coach of previous years defeated his brother, Carl, in a forty minute bout. The bout took place in St. Paul at the home of Otto, who is now coaching athletics at the South High.

The fists consisted of two husky basketball quints inspired and directed by the able brain power of two former River Falls stars. Carl's fighters were Marshall High where he is now employed as coach. The exact result of the tilt is not known, but the fact that the brothers are on even terms again shows promise of more interesting tilts.

While coaching at the Falls, Otto lost to Carl in a non-conference game by two points. If they meet again, who can tell the result. Anyway, honors will always remain in the family.

The Motto, The People Should Have The Best, Brings Excellent Movie

Those who saw "The Mark of Zorro" will be glad to hear that "Doug" is coming again. This time it will be in his six reel comedy, "The Nut." The scene is laid in New York City. It deals with the adventure of an eccentric young inventor. Normal Auditorium, Monday night, Jan. 25. The show begins at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents.

Dream Street Not Up to Expectation

Though highly recommended by The United Artists, the motion picture last Monday night failed to please the audience. The management had no opportunity to see the film screened beforehand, but accepted it because it was so strongly endorsed by a reliable house. It is a matter to be regretted that "Dream Street" fell so far short of being acceptable to the fine audience gathered to see it. The management intends to use every effort to obtain pictures for Monday night entertainments that will be both acceptable and pleasing.

MYSTERY OF THE FLIVER TO BE EXPLAINED

The students have been having a chance to listen and see a large number of good programs put on in Thursday's Assembly so far this year. Some of the students who have been here in past years, no doubt think the programs on Thursday are better this year than they have ever been before.

This Thursday the students will have the opportunity to see an industrial, and also scenic movie, put on by the Ford plant. This movie will be interesting from more than one point of view and undoubtedly will be enjoyed by all. The committee that has charge of the assembly programs is to be voted a vote of thanks for the many worth while and entertaining programs they have given the student body.

Who Shall Grant Degrees To Be Big Question At Coming Regent Meet

One of the most important questions to be discussed at the Board of Regents meeting to begin next week will be the granting of degrees for four year courses which the normal schools of the state are preparing to establish. Senator Hunt introduced the bill that gave the Board of Regents the power to designate which schools should grant degrees. Before any action is to be taken, the board intends to consider all phases of the question.

As specialized degree courses will undoubtedly offer less resistance than general degree courses, Mr. May has prepared a brief which sets forth very ably the claims that River Falls has to a four year degree course in agriculture. This presentation ought, according to present opinion, receive very favorable recognition at the meeting.

The four year degree courses for high school teachers presents the problem in a different phase. There are nine normal schools who could be included in this, and if the privilege was conferred upon only to a few, their prestige would prove disastrous to the others. But as this question will be discussed, Mr. Karges is preparing a brief stating our qualifications and other items of importance.

Inter-Squad Debates Strengthen Our Teams For Coming Encounters

Debate With High Schools

The fifteen members of the debate squad are divided into five teams of three members each. These five teams have been carrying on a series of practice debates among themselves on the regular debate question: Resolved, that Congress should be empowered by a Federal amendment to regulate the labor of all persons under eighteen years of age. Each of the five teams has debated every other team of the squad. The winning team, composed of Norseng, Morton, and Wilson, will be banqueted by the other four teams in the near future. The banquet will be served by Wandrey, Goble, and Barry, who make up the losing team.

The winning team was completely exhausted after winning the debate from Davison's gang. In fact Marshall hasn't completely recovered as yet. Mr. Hanna, who judged this debate, decided that a

The Meletean Staff Has Book Well Underway

The Meletean staff has been very busy getting material for the Meletean in shape. All engraving copy has been sent to the engravers with the exception of a few instances in which copy has not been received from the organizations by the staff; and with the additional exception of events which have not as yet taken place. Thus almost all of the copy has been turned in with a most advantageous discount.

The art work, which is being done entirely by students, is based on a definite theme to be carried

BULLETIN BY MR. STRATTON PUBLISHED

No doubt it will be of interest to all the students of River Falls Normal school to know that Mr. Stratton has just published a bulletin, "The Geography of North America and The United States, for the Junior High School." Mr. Stratton is one of the best authorities in geography in the Northwest, and we can be confident that the material he has produced will be able to stand on its own resources.

Maybe you shrug your shoulders and say you're going to teach Ag., History, Social Science or even English. Why should you be interested in geography? Whether you consider that you need it or not, sooner or later you will wish that you had speaking acquaintance with the subject.

Editorial

Last fall all through the football season and for many years past, the student body was full to overflowing with the River Falls spirit. It was this spirit that put River Falls Normal School athletics on the map, and it is this spirit and nothing else, that will keep it there.

The present student body has already seen what this spirit can do; it helped to bring us a State Championship in football in 1925, and it will help to make the 1926 basketball season a successful one.

We, who make up the student body of 1926, also are full of the famous River Falls Spirit, but from the indications shown the past week, we are not full to overflow. In preparation for the first conference game last Saturday night a mass meeting was held in the gym on Friday night; a splendid program was given, but only about half of the student body was present, and only about half of those present brought their voices with them. Is this fair to the team? Have we the right to expect them to win championships with such backing? Now, every man on the basketball squad is a proficient player, but more than that, everyone of them is a fighter—a man who gives everything he's got for the honor of the school. But without backing, they can do no more than play good basketball; they lack that essential thing that will make a man play beyond himself—that will make any team a fighting team and a winning team.

Last fall when that unexcelled eleven of ours went into a game that meant a State Championship we had a great team, but would that team have come through the way it did if each player had not felt the force of the River Falls Spirit back of him and of the team. Some of those games were pretty close; there were very few that were not close. It requires every bit of the fighting spirit that our fellows could muster to beat Eau Claire and Stout. But beat them we did, for the entire student body was in on every minute of those games, giving all they could from the sidelines. Are we going to back our basketball team in the same manner, or are we going to let them fight alone through the next games because we lost the first one? Are we one of that despicable group of "summer soldiers and sunshine patriots?" Are we the kind of people who are willing enough to share in the honors that a Championship brings, only to let the team have the responsibility for a defeat? Of course not, but, unfortunately for us, denials will avail us nothing. Protestations and declarations are worthless unless we do something. We must get back of our team, and let them feel that we not only have the right spirit, but also that we know how to use it.

But that is not all. We are so unfortunate as to have in our midst a few chronic knockers. Some of these individuals have already begun their hateful knocking. "They can't play basketball;" "No teamwork;" "Not a player in the whole bunch;" "Poor coaching." These are but samples of some of the expressions that are now heard about the campus. Are we going to tolerate such talk; do we not owe it to the team and to ourselves to curb such sentiments? They are not criticisms; they are not fair either to the players and coach or to the student body. Rather, they are harmful, poisonous, and abominable. Their only effect is bad. The authors of such expressions are either irresponsible, thoughtless fools, or knockers. If they are of the first class a few well chosen remarks will usually be effective, but if they are of the second class, they should be completely ostracised from all student activities. In no event should we permit "knocking" to have a place anywhere on the campus.

The Red Wing Black Birds are here Thursday. This is not a conference game, but it provides an excellent opportunity for us to show the team that we still have the good old River Falls Spirit; that we are back of them, win or lose; that their battle is our battle; that we have confidence in them to give their best, come what may. Let's have a regular bang-up mass meeting in order to work up the proper spirit for the game and for the rest of the season. And make it 100 per cent in attendance, and let the sky be the limit for noise.

THAT "PERSONAL TOUCH"

The English instructor had been trying to impress upon the minds of his English composition classes the value of that "personal touch" in their themes. Finally after several fruitless weeks, he did receive a theme in which the student had evidently made an attempt to get that "personal touch." The theme itself was written in the usual laborious style, but the following "personal touch" had been added: "Dear Prof., how are the wife and kids? And before I forget it, would you lend me five dollars?"

ORGANIZATION NOTES

G. O. P. FORMAL

The GOP formal will be held Saturday evening, Jan. 30, in South Hall Gym.

There is a lingering idea among many students that this dance is for the athletes of the school as in previous years. Because so much attention is given to them, the GOP's of '24 eliminated this custom. Henceforth the dance is given for the members of the GOP and their friends.

Committees are working on decoration schemes, favors and invitations, which will be sent out this week.

CIVIC CLUB PLANS A HILARIOUS TIME

Wednesday evening (tonight) the Civic Club is going to have a sleigh ride party. The big feature of the evening will be perpetrated by the girls of the party, who plan to touch the mens' hearts via their stomachs.

After the ride the party will return to the Domestic Science dining room where the girls will try to serve their burned coffee, sour bread, and other knickknacks which had not been heard about specifically.

We are sure that the Civic Club will have a delightful time, as they always do at all their gatherings. Look for the casualty list in the next issue.

MISS HATHORNE ENTERTAINS THE Y. W. CABINET

Monday evening Miss Hathorne entertained the following members of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet: Alice Hagen, Theresa Machmier, Frances Lethlean, Loraine Brackin, Margaret Jackson, Stella Pederson, Ryda Morgan, and Doris Fredrickson.

The girls appreciated the interest which Miss Hathorne took in their stomachs. The girls vow that the dinner couldn't have been better, and all report a most enjoyable time.

Miss Hathorne had her office decorated for the occasion, and in the candle light it lost its more business-like appearance, and assumed a more genial aspect better suited to the occasion.

THIRD YEAR CLASS OFFICERS

The recent meeting of the Third Year class resulted in the following officers:

RURALITES

The St. Croix County Sectional Teacher's meeting was held at North Hall Saturday, January 16. A large number of the members of the Rural Department attended.

A good program will be given at the Rural Life Club Thursday night. New officers will be elected. All members are requested to be present.

We are glad to have Anna Reitz with us again. She was absent last week on account of illness.

MINSTREL SHOW

An up-to-the-minute old time minstrel, as originally put on, will be given in the Normal Auditorium about February 26. Mr. Geere is director of this show and judging from the past entertainments put on by Mr. Geere, this will be a great affair. The Men's Glee Club will make up the circle and will be assisted by some townspeople.

It will consist of two parts, the first part, or overture, and the second part will be a first class minstrel show. It is run for two nights; so everyone will have an opportunity to see this entertainment. Intensive practice and work will begin about Feb. 1.

This show will be for the benefit of the Normal Promotion Fund.

ONE OF OUR NEW BOOKS

The Life of Judge Gary. The Story of Steel. By Ida M. Tarbell. Illustrated.

The present generation has watched the growth of Big Business from day to day and it comes primed to enjoy every page of this biography of the head of the United States Steel Corporation. It is not only an account of a life typically American in birth, training, activities, ambitions, and conquests which Miss Tarbell gives but in addition there stands forth the story of the industry which Judge Gary dominates, Steel. Miss Tarbell has had complete access to all sources—letters, documents, testimony, court records—and she has wrung every ounce of truth and interest from the subject. The book possesses not only the interest of life of its central figure, but through its pages pass as well the famous men with whom Judge Gary has come in contact. Here are Morgan, Carnegie, Rockefeller, Roosevelt, Frick, Schwab, Gates, Widener and many more pictured to life. For whoever enjoys biography there is no other of the year more interestingly written or with a more arresting appeal.

Chollie—"Gilbert, the old flirt, is going to make 1926 a model year."

Mollie—"If he is as successful with the models as he was with the chorus girls last year he is out for a good time."

An Englishman took an American to see "Hamlet."

"You sure are behind the times," commented the American. "Why, I saw Hamlet in America four years ago."

This and that

Gerald Paul spent the week-end in Durand.

Earl Kuhn has gone to Berkely, California.

Vivian Vassau spent the week-end in St. Paul.

The Norseng gang gave a party for their boy friends Friday nite.

Cora Younggren and Thelma Best spent Saturday and Sunday in the city.

Thomas Barry and Gladys Bleisner spent Saturday afternoon at the park, looking at the bears.

"Mike" Wahl is enjoying long, exhilarating walks in the country these days, especially when he has a companion.

Connie Miller, Lillian Norris, and Ellen Burke hiked to Ellsworth and back Saturday. Connie says she's "awful" stiff.

Several occupants of the House of Lords have been practicing the Charleston so much that the rugs themselves have that appearance most of the time.

Lila Embertson, Ruth Johnson, Beatrice Roe, Richard Moore, Eugene Brown, and Frank Rademacher, drove to Stanley to attend the funeral of Beatrice Maier, nee Ross.

The Parent-Teachers' association of Hudson secured Messrs. Karges, Geere, and Davison, from the normal faculty, and also the Girls' Quartette, to give their entertainment Monday evening.

Someone told us that they heard that a student whose name is pronounced Osborne Attoe caught cold one night last week when he stayed out too late. 'Better wear a heavier coat next time; that porch isn't heated.

Charles McNabb had "business" at the Twin Cities during the week-end. We heard that "Mac" has been having quite a few of these pressing engagements of late. 'Seems strange, doesn't it?

A large number of students at the game last Saturday distinguished themselves by avoiding straining their voices. We are glad to see such people extinguish themselves by their rotten display of school spirit. A few knockers have been disclosing their yellow streak of late also. We are delighted to know you in your true colors.

It is rumored that Victor Peterson has been taking correspondence lessons on training a horse to drive itself while the driver is otherwise occupied. From what a little bird told us we believe that you are already very proficient, "Vic." One of our friends heard that your "bunky" (We dislike telling his initials.) Jack Lightfoot, is an efficient teacher.

Several Aurelia members consisting of Lucille Malott, Lyla Van Alostine, Doris Fredrickson, and Christine Norgard, have gained considerable prominence lately by giving their ABC love Affair. The girls have given this play for the Odd Fellows and also at a Lutheran program. Harriet Gilbert, who is famed for her readings, has also joined this literary group.

Evelyn Holt visited in the city over the week-end.

Lois Hunt resembles Santa Claus; she comes with bells on her garters.

Ellen Bannister spent the week-end visiting at Pat Ingh's home in Ellsworth.

Marshall Norseng played with Herman Bonart's orchestra at Somerset last Sunday night.

Gen Stewart is substituting in Hammond for Bessie Moe. '24, who is confined with the mumps.

AG. NEWS

Mr. Herschberger started out to give a talk at the Ag. meeting held last Thursday night, but it ended up in a class in Zoology. His topic was on a species of fish. He gave his speech and then asked for questions, which he certainly got in large numbers. This merely goes to show how much Mr. Herschberger's talk was enjoyed by the society.

In three weeks the Ag's are sponsoring a musicale to raise funds for the band uniforms. The uniforms were ordered last Saturday; so they will be here in time so that the band can appear in their uniforms at the musicale. Watch for further announcements in regard to this musicale, as we want to make this the biggest event of the year.

The Student Voice made an error last week when it reported that the Sundby house "boasted" about its red placard. If it ever did anything like that, the occurrence took place in the forenoon when we were snoring so musically that we failed to overhear it. Yes, we are now 'rising early for dinner. It is true that frequently the shaking of the house produced by the nasal utterances of Nolan and Sagen during their sleep sometimes spoils our dreams; but we have a cold water remedy which is very effective in such cases.

Peaceable sleepers, such as Weber, do not seem to appreciate being annoyed by trivial things like meals. We, being of a thoughtful nature, feel it our duty to detach him from the bed when supper time arrives, though it is with deep regret that we perform our duty. (Did you ever hear of human camels?) Possibly he is resting in preparation for the time when the ban will be lifted.

Cliff Olson takes all honors when the radio is emitting the strains of Henry Ford's orchestra. His feet keep perfect time to the music; that is, they were in time when we could hear the music last. We were compelled to "tune in" on another station in order that we would not be compelled to spend all the next day in repairing the floor. It certainly was fortunate that Nolan was asleep and that he was keeping time with his snores rather than his pedal extremities.

Sagen's nose is beginning to peel since he has been reading so many books of late. Walter Paulso is attempting to commit to memory the last chapters of all the novels in the house. When the mailman arrives Walter forgets all other diversions, grabs his daily epistle, retires to a corner, and needs no other reading material for an hour or more.

In spite of all good times we are having, you will not find us sitting around the house when normal returns. Perhaps you envy us, but if you think we have the world by the tail and are having the best time of our lives, just try it yourself.

"Her breath came in short, quick pants," wrote the reporter.

"Horrors no" yelled the editor.
"Make it wide, checked bloomers."

eral substitutions but is seemed impossible to get a working aggregation together.

The first half, which ended 4-12, was pretty even, except for the few points lead which Superior held. Pederson started his phenomenal shooting with the initial basket, and, although he made but one basket the first half, in the second half he tallied six more—all of them being rather lengthy throws.

The whole game was fast and pretty rough at times. Jacobinas and Dhals went out on personals—and at one time Dawson had a friendly tussle with one of his worthy opponents which netted each of them a free throw.

Whether it was an off night for the Falls or not, there is still need of a bit of polishing, but they have got plenty of punch and zip. play a fast game, and looked mighty good at times. It was Superior's night, without a doubt, but there is still a long season ahead for the Falls in which to make good. The nice turnout at the Superior game of both students and townspeople is proof enough that the old spirit exists and that we are not going to let a few defeats in the early season dim our hopes.

INTER-SQUAD DEBATES
STRENGTHEN OUR TEAMS

referee would have been more appropriate at this debate than a judge. Davison says that his team would have won had it not been for the Battle of Hastings (1926). The team which ranked second high was made up of Davison, Walton, and Canney. The third team was composed of Miss Lethlean, Smith, and Olson. Frances said that her team would have won if she'd had a couple more women, but one woman couldn't do it all. The Irish Trio, consisting of Burke, Williams, and Casey, came in fourth. They were all green and went down fighting. The members of the losing team all have alibies. Fred went skating and hurt his shoulder; because he was unable to gesture, the debates were lost. Goble got awful cold and had the fire all taken out of him, so he was unable to do his best. Barry's ability as a debater has been declining for some time. This business of swapping girls is rather hard on him.

Last Saturday a debate was to be held here between Amery high and a Normal team. It was rumored that there were some girls on the team. Fred came to school all "dolloed up," but was much disappointed to learn that the Amery team was not coming. He was so downhearted and disgusted that he refused to give his rebuttal that afternoon. Bob Smith said he wouldn't debate unless he could eat dinner with one of the girls. The debate Saturday afternoon was held up a half hour because Bud Morton was showing some of his Ellsworth friends around the Normal.

Practice debates with several high school teams will be held before the real debates. The debaters are now preparing for these.
