RAPID RECENT PROGRESS OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

MANY VARIED PHASES OF MUSIC NOW OFFERED TO ALL

After several periods of research work spent in looking through the Normal Badger's and catalogues of River Falls Normal from 1899 on down to the present time, it was found that the Music Department as it is now found is quite a recent development.

In 1875-85 the Music Department was a very small factor in the courses of study; in fact, at that time it could not even be called a department, for it consisted of a singing class, which was directed by a professor who taught history and geography.

From 1892-92 the only music in the course of study was the so-called vocal music. However, at that time they had a ladies' chorus and an orchestra of twelve pieces. There was not much added to this department up to 1911, excepting a ladies' glee club and a fourteen piece orchestra. Notice they called it ladies' glee club at that time while today we call it girls' glee club. Are we getting younger or just losing some of our dignity?

ORGANIZATION BASKETBALL PROVIDES MANY THRILLS

Last night's games resulted in wins for the Y. M. C. A. and Links over the N. C. A. and Ags. respectively

The Y. M. C. A. had a walk away in their first game of the tournament here Thursday, when they defeated the "Wind Jammers" 26-11.

Believing that there is strength in numbers, they crowded the players section with alternates. The sight of the countless numbers would have frightened to death any group except that which upheld the honor of the Lincolnian.

Battling against tremendous odds, both as to numbers and

Eau Claire Starts Debate

Mr. Thompson, the debate coach at Eau Claire Normal, sent out the first call for debaters when school reopened after the Christmas recess, holding the first meeting Thursday, January 7. The preliminary tryouts were held the early part of the following week, ten being the number chosen for the squad. Unlike our bunch, the entire number of debaters is made up of men.

If time spent in preparation decides the victor, Eau Claire seems doomed to get another encore of the defeats of the last few years.

MYSTERIOUS WEDDING PLOT THICKENS

Mr. and Mrs. Jerimiah Ezekiel Wadaneska have recently announced the date of their daughter's wedding to be February 6. The ceremony will take place in the parlors of South Hall.

Invitations will be sent within a short time. Mr. and Mrs. Vandozero Pachanie will come to attend the wedding as Mrs. Vandozero is a half sister of the bride's grandmother. Their home is in Osbellola Bay, Honduras. Archbishop Wupseenoka Michcosin will officiate.

Several cooks have been sent for from the Boston School of Colorization. These specialists will have charge of the wedding dinner menu.

Miss Wadaneska has gone to Paris to get her trousseau. Rumor has it that the wedding gown will be created after the fashion of Queen Elizabeth's favorite gown.

Stop! Look! Listen!

February Fourth Promises To Be A Big Musical Evening

Stop, Look and Listen for further detailed announcements in regard to the musical which will be presented a week from tomorrow night, in the Normal auditorium. The program, it is believed, will be the finest that the school can offer in the line of a musical program. Of course, the feature number of the program will be the appearance of the Band in full uniform. The suits are to consist of our school colors—red capes with white linings, white duck trousers, with caps of the same colors. The band will play patriotic numbers, waltzes, and overtures. This alone constitutes a worthy program, but to add to this feature, the trio, consisting of Miss Hatch, violin, Miss Wharton, piano, and Miss Smith, cello, will present several classical selections; Mr. Geere and the girls' quartette will sing; Gladys Bleisner will play a piano solo, and in order that the program will

THE HONOR TEA PARTY

The women of the faculty entertained at tea Thursday afternoon for all girls who were on the honor roll last term. Miss Green's room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and a pleasant hour was spent by both faculty and students. Several faculty wives were present also.

NOTED ALUMNUS DIES

W. A. Clark, professor of Psychology at Stevens Point Normal School, dropped dead while conducting class last Wednesday, January 20. Mr. Clark was a River Falls Alumnus, graduating in the class of 1897.

ORATORICAL STUDENTS CLASH THURSDAY

One of the annual events of each year in assembly is the oratorical elimination contest. At this contest the orators who survived the former elimination, will deliver their orations. Donald Olson will give his oration, "The Inequalities of War," and John Davison, "A Plea for Korea." John Burke will give "The Rising Tide of Lawlessness." Seven judges consisting of Mr. Hunt, Mr. Hanna, Mr. Junkman, Mr. Karges, Mr. Davison, Miss Schlosser, and Mr. Goble, will give the final decision. The students, however, will have an opportunity to voice their opinion by means of a ballot. This is entirely new, as formerly the judges decision was the only one given. However, the students decision will not count.

The boys have been working on their orations diligently, and we hope that River Falls will be well represented in the State Oratorical Contest, which will be held here March 19th.

By winning from Stout last Friday night the Eau Claire quint has increased her lead in the conference race to three wins and no defeats. Platteville is second with one win and no defeat. Stout and Superior have each lost one and won one, and each one of the other sister schools has lost her first game (excepting Milwaukee and Oshkosh from whom we have received no report).

With practically the same line up they had last year, Eau Claire has developed into a fast, smooth-

WITH DEBATE DANCERS

The debate squad entertained their friends at a dancing party in the society room, Saturday evening.

The losing team, consisting of Fred Wandrey, Theodore Goble, and Everett Barry, performed the menial tasks of the evening.

Several special numbers added to the enjoyment, as the "Wandrey Shake," "Debate Squad Special," and circle two steps.

The fact that the couples numbered thirteen did not cause any misfortune. To prove that everyone enjoyed the party a motion was passed by an unanimous vote to have a party every week.

BASKETEERS LOSE 19-20 IN OVERTIME GAME SAT.

BLACKBIRDS WIN BY PLAYING SUPERIOR BASKETBALL

St. Mary's nipped the choice part of a mighty close score last Saturday night in a nip and tuck battle with an overtime period to decide the winner. The Falls completely outplayed their college opponents the first half, allowing but one field goal, and counting up a total of thirteen points for themselves.

At the half they led 13-5, a good lead but not a cinch score. St. Mary's came back powerful the second half, somewhat in duplication of their feat this fall in football. A streak of lucky shooting brought them up to close range with our basketekers, and when the game ended the score was tied. Zamjohn, our stocky center, tied the score with a neat counter just before the whistle blew. But hard luck shunted our hopes, and when the gun announced the end of the five extra minutes St. Mary's lead by a winning point. It was a hard game to lose, but it wasn't a conference game

"Orphans of The Storm"

This great movie, "Orphans of the Storm," is soon to appear in River Falls. It is perhaps Griffith's greatest picture, featuring Lillian and Dorothy Gish, with the French Revolution as the background of the story. There is no lack of thrills. It is believed by those who have seen, and are recommending the picture, that it will afford fine entertainment. "Orphans of the Storm" will be shown in the Normal Auditorium Monday night, February 1. Owing to the length of the film, screening will begin at 7:30, instead of 8:00. Admission will be 25 cens.

Co-ed Voters Represented

Christine Larson, who attended school here last year, had the signal honor of representing the Wisconsin Normal Schools at the state convention of the League of Women Voters last November. The convention was held in Milwaukee, representatives of the various chapters, the Universities and Colleges, being present. She was invited by the State League, and Mrs. Hibbard, the organizer who was here last spring, to represent the Normal Schools, and to give a talk at the banquet of the League, telling of the work being done in the Normal Schools. Christine reported a most enjoyable trip and an excellent convention.

It was very inspiring to listen to the enthusiasm manifested at the game last Thursday evening. The wonderfully organized cheering is a great credit to the institution, and would be a competent rival for any graveyard ghost. Of course, we admit that it was with great difficulty that we were able to secure any evidence of the remnants of school spirit, yet the crowd did exceedingly well considering who they were.

It is altogether fitting and proper that a Normal School student never do anything unseemly except to knock everything possible at every opportunity. If there isn't an opportunity, make one. Since you are so enthusiastically helping to make your school one which will be highly respected, undoubtedly every community in the state will demand that you render them your valuable services because of your prestige as a citizen who will do much to better existing conditions. How can our team keep from winning when you so clearly show that you are back of them, but also with your backs toward them? Again we congratulate you on the vividness of your yellow streak, but please don't encore.

If you have not started to die from the hair on your head down, why act like a corpse? A good sport is one who admits defeat, who goes down fighting, and is never licked. Those who fail to cheer when the game is going against them are also absent when there is anything to do except to tell how wonderful they are. Would you turn traitor because the opposition is strong? Don't be a slacker, but do your bit by boosting for your school and your team whether they are ahead in the scoring or not. The fighter who is "game" to the end is admired, and the student body which is loyal to their school and team earns the respect of all.

Stout's Pep

Stout Institute has a Pep Committee made up of representatives from each school organization. The purpose of this committee is to promote the display of school spirit. It is responsible for the enthusiasm and pep which prevades that institution and helps it in every way. Why not have a similar committee here? We believe that there is enough of the zip and go-get-'em spirit here and that it merely needs to be uncovered. Are we satisfied with the present seeming lack of loyalty to the Red & White? Why always sit back and "let George do it?" Why not acknowledge the situation, and then do something to awaken ourselves?

Eau Claire's Pep

All schools have and want "pep," so for the purpose of promoting organized school spirit a group of twenty students met recently and drew up a constitution for a "pep" club, to be called "The Howling Half Hundred." This group appointed a committee of two to present the matter to President Schofield, and he gave them his consent to organize such a club.

The club is to be a representative group of all organizations. Each organization, according to its membership, elects students to the honor of belonging to the "H. H. H." The organization committee, with the various organization representatives, will form the club for the rest of this school year.

If students lend their co-operation, the "H. H. H." will aid greatly in making Eau Claire Normal one of the strongest in the state for school spirit.—Spectator.

DO THE STUDENTS WANT A MASQUERADE DANCE?

The custom of having an annual masquerade dance was started a few years ago and proved very successful.

However, for some reason or other, this dance was not held last year. It is now up to the student body this year to renew this custom. A masquerade dance is something out of the ordinary run of dances and adds a little "spice" to a dance.

If we want informal dances, the masquerade is one form that is most assuredly informal, and judging from past years, everyone always had "the time of their life" at the masquerade. We will have dances anyway; so why not make one of them something different. It is great sport to dance with some old "hay shaker" and when the unmasking takes place find that he is one of the "shieks" of the school. If you have time, you can make an elaborate costume; if not, just stick on anything and come along.

What do you say? If you want a masquerade, let the social committee know, and we will hope for results.

Customer: "Waiter, a little bird told me this coffee was not strained."

Waiter: "A little bird, sir?"

Customer: "Yes, a swallow."

ORGANIZATION NOTES

G. A. A.

Thursday evening the G. A. A. has a novel entertainment planned. Believing that all G. A. A. members are good sports and like the out of doors, the program committee has provided for an evening of skating and tobogganing. All who skate are urged to appear at the rink, for races, stunts, and games have been planned for all to participate in. Toboggans will be provided for those who do not skate. Everybody out for a good time. The full moon will provide plenty of illumination.

Basket Ball, especially among the under classmen, is progressing famously, and the teams are getting in trim for the tournament, but it behooves the third years to move if they intend to keep their prestige in the game. So far there have been scarcely enough out of the aforementioned class for a team. Practice is scheduled every Tuesday and Thursday after school.

NO CASUALTIES

Many people were holding their breath last Wednesday evening, for they were afraid that they would soon receive bad news, since the Civic Club was having a sleigh ride party.

About 7:45 about all that a sleigh could carry gathered together and "dashing through the snow," they sang songs, played jokes on Wesslen and Sid, and it is rumored, they even masticated gum.

After riding around the various streets of River Falls until Harold Walton was almost "frize up," the party returned to South Hall where they made their way to the dining room.

The rooms were very prettily decorated in red and white, and by the glimmer of red candles many a clever story was told, for after the feed everyone had to tell some story or imitate some person. Harold Walton, Evelyn Nelson, Mr. Davison, and Vic Sivertson proved their ability, while Sid Seoville tried to tell the group how to get to Mars.

Thus far everyone is enjoying the best of health, in spite of the good cooking which was predicted in the last issue. Anyone who doubts the success of the party may ask Clarence Wesslen for adequate proof.

quality of players, the insurmountable quartette of orators battled bravely until the whistle blew the third time and they were relieved of their torture. Brooks really blew the whistle a fourth time, but that was when Harold Heggen was vernalized for holding.

Walter Paulson starred, making nine points.

N. C. A. 18; Ags. 15

The N. C. A. won the second game from the Ags. when they gave them the short end of an 18 to 15 score.

Two evenly matched teams met in this hotly contested battle. At no time during the game was there an advantage of more than two field goals. At the end of the first quarter the Ags. had an advantage of a 6-4 score, but the end of the half saw the count 11-12 in favor of the N. C. A. The affectionate nature of Glass caused him to be sent to the showers at the start of the second half. However, he was the scoring machine of the Ags, making 8 points in the half. David Burke was the outstanding star for the N. C. A., making 11 points for them.

Yesterday afternoon the "Y" and the N. C. A. met as did the Links and the Ags. Tomorrow the "Y" battles the Ags., while the Links take on the N. C. A.

When your eyes get weak and the sight is bad
Then only troubles can well be seen
But Vic says the specs wouldn't be so bad
If he could only keep the darn things clean.

But first a speck and then a smear;
Then it is mist or a spot of dust;
Then it is wipe, wipe wipe; then a fallen tear;
Then wipe again, for wipe he must

"For those who can see with a dirty lens
Are no relation of mine," says Vic.
"When my specs get dirty, then my specs I cleanse,
For I must have vision," says Vic.
So it is wipe, wipe, wipe, and clean, clean, clean.
But still his specs are not clear.
So at all times of the day now
Vic is seen
A rubbing his specs so dear.

TYPEE

By Herman Melville

"Typee" is the story of a land that fifty years ago was the most romantic on earth, and a land that to-day is the same—a land of savages, of curious, fascinating people, who, since the author's time have been all but obliterated by disease.

"Typee" means cannibal. Melville and a companion have deserted their ship and fled to a village of Typees. Their adventures begin at that point, and not all of them are unpleasant either.

The women, naive, exotically beautiful and with bright smiles, charmed the travelers. The women seem to delight in pleasing wafarers. But even the most intrepid wanderer, as the author points out, can hardly be expected to enjoy becoming "long pig," or dinner, for cannibals.

The story moves swiftly, has a vigorous swing, and is well worth reading.

Officer: Hey, you, mark time!

Plebe: With my feet sir?

Officer: Have you ever seen anything mark time with its hands?

Plebe: Clocks do, sir."

—Annapolis Log.

This and that

Bessie Moe, '24, visited school Friday.

Ruby Enloe was visiting school Monday afternoon.

Frances Gass spent Sunday with Gea Slauson in Hudson.

Frances Squires was at home in Hastings, Minn., over the week-end.

Jim Landis, Pewee Weber, Jung, and Wagner spent the week-end in the cities.

Many of the Normal students attended the High School dance Friday evening.

Lillian Otterson has a wrist watch—to keep her dates in Hudson on time.

Mr. Malott hasn't, so far as we have been able to learn, given any test since Friday.

Violet Bates, Frances Gass, and Florence Jewell were week-end visitors in the cities.

Miss Wadaneska was given a shower last week. The gifts were varied and beautiful.

Lucille Johnson spent the week-end with Vivian Vassau at the latter's home in the cities.

Miss Fobes and Miss West spent the week-end in the city, the latter seeing "The Student Prince."

For some unknown reason "Pat" Nelson tried to fall through the floor in History Methods Monday morning.

Adele Williamson and Flossie Bower spent the week-end in the city. Monday found them still missing.

"Peg" Hanley is confined to her home in Roberts with appendicitis. After a two weeks rest she will be back at school.

Genevieve Stewart is back at school again after two weeks of substitute teaching at Hammond. Gen says that teaching is "great stuff."

A few daring souls ventured to make use of the skating rink Sunday in spite of the cold weather. However, they didn't stay long.

Many students enjoyed the dance at Hudson last week. No wonder that they have to go to other towns for their amusements. When did we have a dance at Normal?

Be it known to all Third Year Seniors that "Pat" Ingli will collect their class dues at all hours. Be it also known that promptness is desired as well as a 100% record. Hence, after school today and tomorrow, you will find him in South Hall. Bring the necessary $2.00 for two terms, or $1.00 for one term.

It is reported that a certain student is starting a class in Horsemanship According to the Methods Used by a Bay Shore Company. Three students are recovering from a fit of laughter with which the were attacked while observing a demonstration by the instructor regarding the are of removing a horse from its harness. We refuse to reveal the name of the instructor in this new science, but his father is called Mr. Kexel.

Signa Molberg's sister visited school with her last week.

Ruth Cuddebach spent the week-end at her home in Hudson.

Ruby Cook spent the week-end with home folks at Prescott.

Ida Holmbeck is suffering from heart trouble. Too many letters, that's all.

Mr. Hunt's Supervision class have written their six weeks' test questions. No doubt the class will commit suicide by making the questions hard enough.

When Miss Smith, our Physical Training Director, returned from her home in the cities last week, she brought back her dog, Sally. Sally is very well trained in gymnastics.

We observe that a student whose name is Walter Dunbar, alias Avogadro, and another who is known among his friends as Clarence Shern have had colds. It certainly is disgusting to have everyone know when you "step out." Why not get some good advice from a few veterans such as Earl Brakken or Victor Knerr on the art of keeping warm while standing on the porch on a cold winter evening? Surely that young man who is referred to as Marshall Norseng would elucidate on the subject, and might be so obliging as to give a demonstration.

AG. NEWS

The second most important meeting of the year will be held Thursday night, 7 p. m., in Mr. Johnson's room. As the election of officers will take place at this time, every Ag. member is requested to be present.

Besides the election of officers, Mr. Gleiter will show some slides of the Phillipine Islands, which promise to be very interesting. The last number on the program will be a talk by Louis Cervana on the Pea Canning Industry in this state.

John and David Burke were both ill last Wednesday and Thursday, but we are told that Dave couldn't stand to be sick nights.

Donald Brownson and Loron Krueger have been late for Physics class every morning this semester. We don't know why Mr. Krueger comes late.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY—

Wesslen and Scoville, although always close friends, are now united with an unbreakable bond—that of being partners in misery. In each case the result was the same—solitary confinement within an overcoat until opportunity was given to provide a more adequate covering. Last Wednesday evening when on the Civic Club sleigh ride Wesslen and a protruding spike met, the trousers suffering almost irreparable damage. Saturday afternoon Sid reverted to his childhood days, and slid down the North Hall banister. Now one brad isn't as disastrous as one spike, but take in numbers, the result is the same. Fortunately, the effects were fatal in neither case.

The crowd was large, and in a mood for Doug and his humorous ways. Many said that it was the best movie that has been shown so far this year. This picture certainly lived up to its reputation and expectations. Let's all go to see the one next Monday night.

and Coach Cox was well satisfied with his proteges. Too many shots were missed in Saturday's game, shots that should have registered but instead insisted on teasingly careening precariously on the edge of the hoop and then dropping the wrong way. A little lucky shooting which our fellows need and deserve will make them a dangerous foe for Eau Claire, and Coach Cox has made plans to take two reliable horseshoes along with him.

Let's give our team a good send-off Friday when they leave for Eau Claire!

Red Wing Blackbirds Victorious

Thursday night the Red Wing Blackbirds took our team into camp to the tune of 32-22. Despite the difference in the score, the Falls played one of the best games this year. The rangy Blackbirds have a going outfit, and rate high in their circles. "Dorgan" Chinnock, center on our State Champion team in '23, played with them, and his playing, with that of the rest of the team, was evidence of mighty good basketball.

The first half ended with the Falls nine points behind, and throughout the rest of the game they seemed unable to better it. The second half proved rough sledding for the Red Wing Birds, for the Normalites put up a desperate comeback, playing them on even terms both on the floor and hoop. But with their size and experience combined with excellent basketball, the black-jerseyed team kept themselves out of danger. "Bike" Cleberg scored five field goals for the Falls, and Hartapee slipped in six ringers for the Blackbirds. The whole game was full of a speedy display of basketball, and occasionally took on a roughened hue. But the roughness detracted little from the zest of the combat, and followers of the Red & White could hardly be displeased with the fight our fellows put up.

RAPID RECENT PROGRESS OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

For some years, and up until 1913, E. Eugene Willett had charge of all the music. In 1913 there was added another faculty member to the music department, John Howard, who had charge of the orchestra and band, and gave private lessons on the violin. Mr. Howard was a member of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra in 1909. He held the position of Director of the Auditorium Orchestra at Stillwater, Minn., and had also been soloist for the University Extension. In 1912-13 three different courses or subjects of music were offered, but in 1914-15 it was increased to nine. At this time they gave private piano and violin lessons. There was a girls' glee club and for the first time we find a boys' glee club mentioned.

The next year Mr. Wickland was added to take some of the work of the music department and seems to have had most to do with the boys' glee club. Further subjects in music were also added.

Some of you who think Mr. Hanna's only line is English will be surprised to know that in 1919 he was included or listed as one of the instructors of the music department, besides carrying on his work as an English teacher. It is also interesting to note that it is during this year that private voice training was offered. However, the past records did not state whether this has any connection with Mr. Hanna being added to the music department or not.

Up to 1923, at which time Mr. Geere came to this school, there had been a gradual development, and extension in the music department.

However, more drastic steps have been taken since Mr. Geere. Miss Lemmer, Miss Hatch, and Miss Wharton have been added to the faculty members. The courses or subjects now offered by the music department are of a larger number, more advanced, more specialized, and in general much more inclusive than any in the past. Furthermore, there are better opportunities for private instruction in piano, vocal, and instrumental music. The orchestra and bands are capable of music of high quality. The glee clubs are well trained and only the best material used.

The girls' quartette is the most recent addition to the music department, for it was organized only last year.
