Men Outnumber Women 3-1

Coeds should have excellent dating opportunities on the nine Wisconsin State College campuses, especially at River Falls. That is if statistics are used as the criterion.

This is not to imply of course, that they would allow thoughts of matrimonial bliss to displace the historical facts, mathematical statistics and chemical formulas which now clutter their minds.

The Board of Regents of the State Colleges last week reported that there are 9,019 men and 5,319 women on the nine state college campuses. This is a ratio of 1.6 men to one woman. But at River Falls, with 935 men and 298 coeds, the ratio of almost three-to-one.

But despite this present inequality, there is some hope. For the first time in the last five years the rate of increase of new men at the colleges was less than the rate of increase for new women. If this keeps up, the balance could swing the other way—scores of years from now.

Men and women ratios on the other campuses include: Eau Claire, 1,001 men and 707 women; La Crosse, 1,091 men and 730 women; Oshkosh, 1,183 men and 865 women; Stevens Point, 1,103 men and 506 women; Stout, 736 men and 557 women; Superior, 821 men and 445 women; and Whitewater, 929 men and 763 women.

Most of the women—4,297 to be exact—are taking teaching courses, while 4,403 men are also enrolled in this field.

Of the 1032 coeds in the non-teaching areas, 273 are studying pre-professional courses, 758 are in liberal arts and one lonely girl is in pre-engineering.

Organization pictures for the 1960 Meletean are scheduled for the first two weeks in December, the editors announced last week.

Band and choir pictures will be taken at the concerts.

No organization picture will be taken of a group whose president has not filled out an Organization Information Sheet, now available in the Publications Office in the Student Center or the Public Relations Office in North Hall. ## MSM To Feature Cards by Crane

A series of Christmas cards designed by James Crane of the College art department is being featured by the Wisconsin Methodist Student Movement.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for this year's MSM service project of supply equipment for the Methodist Kindergarten in Linz, Austria. The kindergarten has been built on the site of a bomb crater, largely by college student work-camps.

In announcing the decision to use the Christmas card sale this year as a means of raising funds for the project, a spokesman for the MSM said, "This reflects two significant efforts: (1) the return of Christmas to a celebration of the coming of Christ, and (2) the use of contemporary art forms in expressing the ever-continuing Christian faith.

Mr. Crane's five designs serve to illustrate Biblical quotations.

Winter Registration Will Begin This Week

Tomorrow at 11 a.m. counselors will meet students who were unable to complete the trial study section of their registration cards last Thursday. Juniors and seniors who have not been admitted to Senior Division will need to present evidence that they are working on their deficiencies before obtaining their permits to register. At the eleven o'clock counseling hour counselors will be in the rooms designated by the registration direction sheet which can be picked up in the Registrar's Office.

Students should remain in the same sequence courses unless a particular section is discontinued. Use the "enter daily schedule" form on the registration form for checking conflicts. Excess load applications should be made with Dr. Akins in 117N before 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20.

Class cards for sequence courses will be handed out by instructors in classes today and tomorrow when the students present trial study cards initialed by their advisors. Class cards for non-sequence courses will be issued at designated locations on Thursday, Nov. 19 at the following times: seniors at 1 p.m., juniors at 1:30 p.m., sophomores at 2 p.m., and freshmen at 2:30 p.m.

All classes will be excused and all faculty members will be on hand from 1 to 5 p.m. for issuing class cards and signing registration forms.

Receipt of each class card by students will be indicated on the trial study card by the instructor's initials opposite the course. Students should not fill in the personal information until all class cards have been obtained. In case students change courses or enter new courses and find sections already filled they should return to their advisors and return their schedule of classes.

Class cards for unfilled sections may be obtained between 10 a.m. and 12 noon from the Registrar's Office, starting Friday, Nov. 20. After a student has obtained all class cards needed for the Winter Quarter, the remaining registration forms should be filled out. This step should be performed as soon as possible in order to obtain the counselor's signature on Thursday afternoon. Obtaining approval of one's program after Thursday may not be convenient since counselors may be busy giving exams and will have irregular hours.

When paying fees, students must present: (1) a permit to register, (2) a fee card, (3) an auditor's card (if not enrolled during Fall Quarter), (4) a registration card, (5) class cards, and (6) the plan of studies form. A new student may obtain an auditor's card by applying at the Registrar's Office.

Fees will be received in 219N at the following times: 8:15 to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 30; 8:15 to 12 noon on Tuesday, Dec. 1 and 8:15 to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 2.

JOURNALISM MEETING DRAWS 115 STUDENTS

The Publications Conference on campus Saturday attracted 115 students from seven area high schools.

Main speaker at the noon luncheon was Gareth Hiebert, writer of the "Oliver Towne" column in the St. Paul Dispatch. In his speech Mr. Hiebert emphasized the need for using enthusiasm, observation and details in writing.

Morning and afternoon sessions featured Jerry Brown from Greene Engraving Co., John Roberts from the Taylor Yearbook Co. and River Falls faculty members and students discussing phases of newspaper and yearbook publication.

Participating schools were Amery, Woodville, Taylor Falls, Minn., Hudson, River Falls, Frederic and Clear Lake.

KLEINPELL TO SERVE ON ADVISORY BOARD

President E. H. Kleinpell is one of 35 college presidents in the nation named to serve on the Presidents' Advisory Committee of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Plans are being made to have a meeting of the Committee some time during the coming year. Chairman is Dr. Will W. Orr, Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa. Dr. Kleinpell represents District 14 of the N.A.I.A. which has 32 districts in the United States.

The Editor Speaks

CONFERENCE ATTRACTS STUDENTS

The River Falls campus took on a new look Saturday and Sunday as a pair of conferences attracted over 165 new faces. The Journalism Department held its annual high school Journalism Conference Saturday which drew 115 students from seven area high schools.

Approximately 50 college students from various midwest schools attended the YMCA-YWCA meetings Saturday and Sunday.

Conferences, whether they are high school or college centered, serve as very good advertising devices. They tend to show that River Falls is a growing college intellectually as well as physically with departments and groups that are interested in the betterment of others.

FORENSICS

Another fine representative group on campus that does much to raise River Falls' prestige among other colleges is the Forensic squads.

The Debators placed eighth in the 22 team Oshkosh tournament Saturday which attracted such name schools as Minnesota, Marquette, Hamline, and Wheaton. The negative team of Arlo Miller and John Rice received an excellent rating as a team and as speakers.

In their opening match at St. Olaf the Debators tied for first place.

They are showing encouraging improvement and will continue to represent River Falls well.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"SO I FINALLY HAD TO DRAW TH' LINE."

Letters to the Editor . . .

Our recent game with Mankato may not have been the most spectacular game of the season, but it will unfortunately be one game I shall find hard to forget. When the attention of the spectators is focused on the cheerleaders it should be to follow a cheer for the team, not a defensive mechanism to avoid being hit by a well-aimed snowball. And, when an announcer must break in and publically remind the cheerleaders of their job it reflects not only on them, but on our college as well.

Nor are the cheerleaders to blame. Certain individuals from the crowd who "egged" them on, and those who in a distorted fashion thought fireworks at a football game would be funny, were equally at fault.

Now that we're in college we should make an attempt to discard high school mannerisms and develop adult attitudes. Only when we learn to show respect for others can we earn respect for ourselves.

Gretchen Mallery

Letter to the Editor:

A recent editorial entitled "Student Teaching" delineated a grievance which is often heard wherever student teachers are trained. The editor asked whether or not an attempt should be made, prior to the senior year, to determine by means of a "student teaching experience" a candidate's interest and possible capabilities as a public school teacher. Actually there are many reasons why student teaching is reserved for the senior year. One of these is the need for thorough subject matter preparation prior to teaching.

In the November 14, 1959 issue of The Saturday Evening Post Mrs. Bianca Bradbury, a Connecticut school board member, pointed out the need for a mastery of subject matter when she said, "Teaching real math, real science and real languages takes real background." New areas in chemistry, history, and mathematics must be mastered if the youth of today are to be instructed about the machinations of their culture. To instruct adequately a teacher must be as well prepared as possible not only in specialized subject fields but in related areas as well.

The question is now raised, since disciplined preparation in subject matter is one of the key requisites to successful public school teaching, should student teaching occur prior to complete college exposure to subject matter? Should a college student be introduced to the difficulties of working with high school students a year or two before he has completed his preparations in the subject disciplines? The writer suggests a negative answer. Student teaching must be performed at a time when the college neophyte is as mature as possible in his relationship with subject matter fields; the public schools do not want their youth "practiced on" by students who are ill prepared.

In some states the importance of thorough subject matter preparation is considered so necessary that professional courses in education and experiences in student teaching are offered only in the fifth year of college.

This writer does not suggest that River Falls seniors are inadequately prepared in subject matter. He is however, adamant in insisting that "the student teaching experience" remain in the senior year. He would concur with the editor that various means be employed, prior to the senior years, to determine a student's potential and interest in public school teaching. At River Falls Education 20, a new freshman orientation course, has been instituted. Its purpose is to assist the student in determining whether or not he wishes to prepare himself for a career in education. Nevertheless a final appraisal of the candidate can be accomplished only through an actual student teaching performance, and this no earlier than the senior year.

subject to a $10 late registration fee unless excused by the administration".

Students will not be permitted to attend classes unless the instructor has a class card for them.

The faculty has ruled that "anyone in residence registering for the Winter Quarter will be expected to attend each class or laboratory during the first week of classes or have his load reduced to not more than 14 hours. No exceptions will be made unless authorized by the Registrar. Absences during the first week of classes are to be reported to the Registrar's Office". Drop-adds will be processed in the Registrar's Office between 10 and 12 student's load totals 18 hours or more.

Textbooks for the Winter Quarter will be issued from the basement of the library beginning noon Dec. 3 through Dec. 9. Class cards for classes being dropped will be accepted during the same hours through Wednesday, Jan. 13. Adds may not be made if the section requested has reached the limit set by the registrar or a Thursday, Dec. 3. Textbooks in sequence courses need not be returned for re-issuing. Fall Quarter texts should be turned in immediately following examinations.

Student Senate

Minutes

President Curtiss Larson called the meeting to order. The minutes of the last meeting were approved as read. The present balance in the Student Senate account stands at $733.34.

Bob Agranoff, Student Center representative to the Regional Union Board Staff Meeting at Purdue University, reported on the conference highlights. The discussion groups were generally large-college oriented, but much was gained which would aid River Falls in developing its Student Center social program. To combat the problem of securing "big name" entertainment, these schools employ a single agent to contract their professional entertainment. Some schools concentrate on dances with "quality" music and reserve "big names" for concerts. Many of these colleges and universities also have a junior and a senior Social Committee. Membership on the junior committee is limited to sophomores and juniors; the senior committee is reserved for seniors who have served previously. Other sessions which Bob attended discussed the use of themes, publicity, and creating public interest where there previously was none. Before concluding, our delegate and a representative of every group met to evaluate the conference and to set up ideas for next year's session.

Ben Bergsrud of the Physical Education Department submitted the budget for officials at this year's intramural basketball games. After lengthy discussion, Carl Duch moved that the sum of $.75 an hour be paid to each referee, providing that an itemized budget is submitted to the Senate. The motion was carried by a vote of 8 to 1, with Ed Schlumpf opposing the motion.

Dean Rozehnal, in a message to the Student Senate, requested that the Senate purchase a piano for the sum of $50 to be left in the North Hall Gym. Several factors were considered before putting forth the motion: first, a piano in this price range will not meet standards set by visiting musicians; and, secondly, with the opening of many new facilities on campus, a larger, more expensive piano will definitely be needed. It was also emphasized that a new piano has already been placed in the Student Center. The question was called and a motion to purchase said piano was defeated.

It was moved the meeting be adjourned: motion carried.

Kennedy Tells Students Of Plight of Teachers

by Bob H. Enstad

"We pay the average railway conductor nearly twice as much as we pay the teacher who conducts our elementary classes. Plumbers, plasterers and steamfitters are paid more for improving our homes than we pay teachers for improving the minds of our children," Senator John Kennedy said here last week.

The Massachusetts senator spoke to an overflow crowd in North Hall Auditorium on Thursday. Mentioned as a possible 1960 Democratic presidential candidate, he was on a two-day tour in Wisconsin.

Speaking on the crisis in American education, Senator Kennedy said that the Soviet Union now has almost as many engineers and scientists as the United States and Western Europe combined. "The current enrollment of engineers and scientists in institutions of higher education in the Soviet Union exceeds our own," he said, "and we are already falling far short of our current needs."

But in our education of scientists and engineers, he continued, we must not neglect the education of our politicians. "We must have men and women capable of leading the 'free world,' of taking the hard and unpopular decision necessary to preserve world peace and national security," the senator said.

In commenting on the kind of education that Americans need, the Massachusetts lawmaker said that we should develop a broad range of talent. He also emphasized that we need scholarship

'Our Town' Theme Of AWS Meeting

"Our Town" was the theme of the state A.W.S. Convention at Milwaukee Downer College which 11 River Falls coeds attended Oct. 24. The 11 members of the A.W.S. Board, accompanied by Dean Knaak and Lois Bowman, resident counselor, represented the River Falls' Association of Women Students.

The objectives of the convention were to sensitize the educated woman to her role in the community and to create in her an awareness of the need to utilize each moment to the fullest.

The keynote speaker was Mrs. Val Phillips, attorney at law and first Negro woman to serve as an alderman on the Milwaukee Council. Mrs. Phillips spoke on "Living Creatively," emphasizing the fact that "we create today the kind of life we live tomorrow." The panel discussion, enlarging upon the ideas of the keynote speech, related the factors in it to the woman's role in human relations, government, social welfare agencies, and religion and education. The panel was led by three women, a Unitarian minister and a civil court judge.

The convention was attended by A.W.S. groups from various colleges in the state.

State Ranks Favorably In Faculties Doctorates

Percentage of earned doctorates among Wisconsin State College faculty members compares favorably with the national average, according to a recent study made by the State College Board of Regents.

Slightly more than 35 per cent of the teachers — excluding librarians, campus school instructors, faculty assistants, new instructors and miscellaneous personnel — possessed a doctor's degree. The national average runs between 35 and 38 per cent.

According to the Board's survey, River Falls tops the list in the percentage of its college faculty holding the doctoral degree. The figure for the College is 45 per cent, approximately ten per cent above the average for the state and considerably higher than the national average.

The average number of years teaching experience of these 243 individuals, out of 688 included in the tabulation, was 17 years.

At least two years of graduate work provides the educational background for 168 more, representing 24.4 per cent of the total included in the study. Their average experience was 18 years.

Seventy-two persons, with an average experience of 21 years, had done a year and a half of graduate work and represented 10.4 per cent of the total.

Master's degrees or the equivalent were held by 187, or 27.2 per cent, with 16 years as the average teaching experience. Only 19 possessed merely a bachelor's degree, and they represented 2.7 per cent. Their average experience was 11 years.

This is a far cry from a 1913 survey which showed that of 186 faculty members, 73 had done no graduate work; 41 had a year completed; 19 had two years; 23 had three years; 12 had four years of work; and 18 had completed more than four years.

The new survey also reveals that 78 per cent of the full professors at the nine State Colleges hold doctorates; 33 per cent of the associate professors; and 20 per cent of the assistant professors.

Wesley Players to Give Religious Comedy Nov. 19

"Parade at the Devil's Bridge", a religious comedy, will be presented on Thursday, Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. at the Methodist church by the Wesley Players. This is the first play produced in several years by the college Methodist students. It is being directed by John Allen Phillips, teacher at the high school and counselor for Wesley Players.

"Parade at the Devil's Bridge" was written by Henri Gheon, one of France's foremost literary figures of this century. His plays, modeled on the medieval mystery and miracle plays, are strikingly modern in characterization and their relation to current problems. They are unique in the field of religious drama since they present comedy and tragedy of highly inspirational and religious spirit suitable for production by amateurs as well as professionals.

The cast for the play includes Merydthe Harris, the Crafty Gypsy; Norlan Smith, the Property Man; Father Kado, a hermit, George Beestman; his cat, Joyce McKinley; Mr. Mathurin, a fisherman, Dale Ducklow; Mrs. Mathurin, Roberta Farmer; their daughter, Polly Knieff.

No admission charge is made for viewing the play but a free-will offering will be taken which will go for the work of the Wesley Foundation.

J. C. "Tiger" Neurer, senior from Cumberland, reached a fitting climax to his spectacular football career last Monday when he was nominated for consideration to the NAIA All-American team.

Jack, a 5-10, 175-pound end has already gained his share of football honors at River Falls by being twice named to the All-Conference squad.

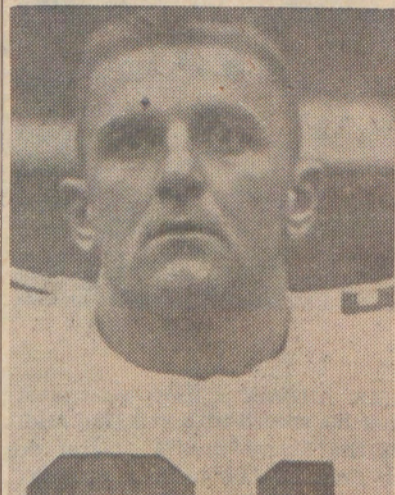

In high school, J. C. won a total of six letters, three each in football and basketball. Upon his graduation from Cumberland high he entered the Air Force for four years.

Dr. Robert Tonn recently attended the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene annual meeting at the Claypool Hotel in Indianapolis, Ind.

Dr. Tonn received his B. S. degree in zoology at Colorado State University in 1949. In 1950, he earned his M.S., and in 1959 received his PH. D. at the Oklahoma State University.

Before coming to River Falls Dr. Tonn taught at Texas Lutheran College, Fresno, California State College and St. Olaf College.

Being a member of Coach Fran Polsfoot's 1958 Conference Champions was "Tiger's" greatest athletic thrill.

When asked which game he would play over if given the chance, Jack quickly replied, "The Whitewater game". The Warhawks, later crowned titlists of the WSCC, bombed the Falcons with a 34-14 defeat early this season.

Jack is majoring in biology with minors in phy. ed. and geology. During the off season he enjoys hunting and fishing.

Cage Drills Begin Four All-Conference Candidates Close Spectacular Grid Careers

by Ed E. Schlumpf
Varsity basketball practice has swung into its second week of action and enthusiasm is running at feverish pitch. With the addition of Mick Lauber, Jack Omer, Jake Lauber, and others from the football team, Falcon mentor Don Page now has about 25 candidates working out each night in the North Hall gym. Drills will be switched to St. Bridget's new gymnasium on Division Street when backboards are installed there.

Page has only four lettermen returning from last year's quint that posted a 7-14 mark overall. Jake Lauber and Jack Omer are veteran guards and Mick Lauber and Mick Collins are lettermen forwards.

Probably the most publicized of the newcomers is 6'5" Charlie Johnson, a sophomore now, who was ineligible last year because he was a transfer student. A rugged rebounder, he shoots just about every shot in the book. He's a center usually, but may see some action at a forward slot.

Two other promising transfers are Barry Lindsay and Gary Mick Lauber, of course, is a two-year letterman and his style of play needs no description. You have to see him to appreciate him.

His younger brother, Jake, paced the team in scoring quite a few times last year hitting a season high of 37 against Eau Claire.

Omer has lettered three years at guard. "Little Feller" seems to perform his best when the pressure is on. Collins was a starting forward last year as a sophomore. A real worker on defense, Collins also boasts a feather touch on his jump shot.

The freshman crop overall looks exceedingly impressive so far. Frosh Coach Fran Polsfoot will display his squad in preliminary games before each Falcon home game starting with Bethel here on Dec. 5. The Stillwater City team will furnish opposition for that one.

Scharfenberg, both from Luther College in Iowa. Lindsay is a smooth-working guard and an excellent shot from outside. Scharfenberg is a 6'3½" forward whose long arms and tremendous jumping ability make him a real threat in close.

The two most outstanding freshmen are Toby Garey and Don Koepnick. Garey, a 6'4" lad from St. Croix Falls, seems destined to gain a varsity berth at either a forward or center spot. Koepnick is a slim guard who has been hitting with amazing accuracy thus far.

The W.R.A. badminton tournament will continue tonight from 6-8:30 in the women's gym. Victorious last week were Dvorak-Blaisdell over Gorres-Paulson; Fox-Grant over Lindquist-Stesniak; Byhre-Maule over Rogers-Brown; Brown-Daft over Dorgan-Holmes; and Hunter-Brown over Brown-Daft.

Ping-Pong Tournament Off to Flying Start

by Bill Armbruster
The Fall Term I-M Ping Pong tourney got underway this week. Twenty-five students are in this term's tourney and each will play a series of three games with the winner advancing to the next round. The tourney is being held in the North Hall basement, rather than the old, crowded, smoky, South Hall basement where last year's games took place.

Favorites this term are Homer Ayzazadeh, Min Sun Cho, and Loren Albert. Ed E. Schlumpf is a definite dark-horse. There are several new-comers who may give the old timers a surprise, led by Kyu Whang, Murray Grevious, Iraj Amirarjomand, and Bill Mortenson.

Contestants entered in this terms contest are: Richard Schukraft, James McCann, James Parker, Edward Schlumpf, Jerry Anderson, Greg Brindley, Dick Olson, Joe Lucia, Murray Grevious, Don Knopnick, Dave Kelsey, Iraj Amirarjomand, Kyu Whang, Min Sun Cho, Tim Johnson, J. C. Neurer, Bob Beeson, Elroy Rasmussen, Al Hadawi, Homer Ayzazadeh, Lorin Albert, Dale Emerson, Rich Miller, Bill Mortenson.

the football season. And once again the writer would like to present to you his choices for the honor team as far as the River Falls Falcons are concerned. After watching the Falcons in action in 26 of their 34 games during the last four years we feel we are able to speak authoritatively on the abilities of our four nominees.

It will be no surprise to readers to find out that our candidates are the same four that were picked last year from Fran Polsfoot's championship squad — namely Mick Lauber, Jack Neurer, Dick Shimel, and Jim Carew. Neurer was named to the team in his sophomore year in addition to being selected last season.

We'll have to start with Neurer then. As we said, he's been on the All-League group for the past two years and he reached the pinnacle of this athletic career last week when the announcement was made that he has been selected for consideration for the NAIA All-American team.

This 5-10 175-lb. bundle of dynamite has probably turned in the best performance at an end position that this school has ever seen. Defensively he has no equal in the loop despite his relatively small stature. Offensively this glue-fingered receiver ranks with the best.

"J.C.," as he is called, started the season off by snaring a touchdown pass in the opening game against Augsburg. He followed that up with a 15-yard scoring catch against Whitewater. Against Superior he demonstrated vividly his defensive worth by blasting through to block a PAT attempt to preserve a 13-13 tie. He grabbed his third TD pass of the season against Stout and hauled in still another against LaCrosse following a fake field goal attempt.

Falcon fans know it and so does the rest of the league. Pound for pound there's not a better ballplayer in the conference. To leave him off the All-Star team would be a gross injustice to a great player.

Mick Lauber, the fleet-footed halfback from Glenwood City, is another that seems a definite shoo-in as far as the honor team is concerned. His dazzling long runs, breath-taking one-handed catches, and rugged defensive play couldn't slip by unnoticed.

He wound up the season with a total of five touchdowns scored in conference play — good for third place among the loop's top scorers. Three of them were tallied on long, heart-stopping runs that left Red and White rooters gasping in stunned amazement. The first came on an 82-yard runback of an intercepted pass against Stout. The second was that never-to-be-forgotten 97-yard return of a punt against Eau Claire in the Homecoming tilt. And the third was a 90-yard punt return against Platteville. In addition he accounted on a one-yard plunge against Stevens Point and tallied another on a one-handed catch of Jim Hallen's pass against LaCrosse.

One-handed catches were every-game occurrences for this flashy performer as he grabbed no less than five during the course of the season! On was for the crucial go-ahead TD against LaCrosse and another was good for 40 yards against Stout. Mick also showed his value as a passer many times throughout the campaign and threw a scoring pass to Tom Everson in the Superior tilt. Some backs were higher scorers but none were more spectacular than this Falcon senior.

Jim Carew will be remembered by practically every other tackle in the circuit. "Caruchi" left his mark as the toughest tackle to don a Falcon uniform since the days of Bob Koplin, the Red Wing, Minnesota blockbuster who made the All-Conference team in 1955 and 1956.

Accurate statistics as to how many fumbles he snatched and how many kicks he blocked are (Continued on page 6) fitted for practical actions as well as merely for discussing political issues.

"To solve the crisis in American education, Senator Kennedy concluded, "We need help from the Federal level for more and better classrooms — help from the state level for better teachers' colleges and better teacher certification, and help from the local level for better teacher recruitment, better teacher promotion, better teacher utilization and teacher salaries."

In reply to some student questions, Senator Kennedy said that he thought that Vice President Nixon was a very formidable opponent for the Democrats in 1960, that he was opposed to the seating of Red China in the United Nations, and that President Eisenhower should have acted sooner in appointing a fact-finding board in the steel strike. Following his appearance here, he continued his Wisconsin tour to Eau Claire.

not available but he had more than his share. Anyone who was there will never forget the play Carew made against Stevens Point this year at Ramer Field. A Pointer back had just gathered in a high-sailing punt when he looked up see Carew barreling down on him a few yards away. A second Pointer back swung by for a handoff which never materialized. Taking no chances Carew slammed into both Stevens Point men knocking each to the ground and then pounced on the fumble while the Pointers lay dazed on the turf.

A terror on opposing passers this 220-lb. blaster will be long talked about whenever great River Falls players are discussed.

The fourth nominee is one that may not make it since he saw limited action because of a shoulder injury.

The injury cost the Falcons his services for three games and it wasn't hard to tell when he returned to the lineup. He had been inserted only moments earlier in the Eau Claire game when he came crashing through to smother a PAT attempt to keep the score knotted at 6-6. Had he been healthy this rugged linebacker-guard would have made it hands down. Even if he doesn't he will go down in RF annals as one of the fiercest competitors the school has ever known.

There are our choices. Despite the Falcon's miserable 2-6-1 record this year, these men were definitely players of All-Conference caliber.

Iglehart Tells Students "Teachers Are Forgotten"

"Teachers are categorized primitive, theological, rational or romantic," said Robert Iglehart in speaking on "The Head of Class" at an all-school convocation Tuesday.

Iglehart, chairman of the Department of Art at the University of Michigan, talked on campus in observance of National Education Week.

In further describing the categories, he said the primitive teacher is like the tribal father for he has received the word and it is his duty to teach. "There is as much mystery in his teachings as there is in the way he received the word," added Iglehart.

"The theological teacher is concerned with the student's soul. He prepares the students for eternity for he believes the world is not a place for pleasure."

When summarizing the rational classification, Iglehart said the to save souls but to clear the way for facts and get the wheels in motion. A new knowledge of Science in early 19th Century America led to this new method.

"The romantic category is student-centered and follows Rousseau's theory that all is good in the natural state," he said. "This type of teacher tries to seclude his class from the corruption of the parents and society."

In continuing his elaboration on the romantics, Iglehart said colleges were put in small towns so students would be safe from corruption. He mentioned River Falls and the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor as examples of this thinking.

Iglehart claimed teachers should be individualistic and not categorized. However, he said, we are stereotyped as organization teachers.
