Enrollment Sees Increase As New Term Begins

The campus lights are on at night! The din in the library increases day by day! College life, in general, is beginning to come up to all expectations. And what is the reason for this rising wave of excitement? If you have seen the list of students who enrolled at the opening of the second term, you already know the answer. We have 62 new students, 58 of whom are men. Of this group, we have a total of 46 veterans. Many of them attended R.F.S.T.C. in former years, and are coming back to complete their courses; while, for others, everything is rather new.

Many towns of Wisconsin are represented, including Neenah, Menomonie, Bloomington, Arkansaw, Whitewater, Spring Valley, and others.

LANGUAGE CLUB AIDS WAR TORN EUROPE

The Language club is "all-out" to aid the war torn countries of Europe. Last Wednesday night, the club launched into a drive to gather clothing for the needy people of France and Spain. Members of the organization began a house to house canvas of the town to collect clothes at that time. However, the drive is far from completed and the club is urging everyone to help. Bring your contributions to any Language club member or let them know and they will get it. Ask your housemothers, too, for something to add to the drive. The cause is very worth while.

In addition to the clothing drive, the Language club is also sponsoring candy sales to finance the sending of the boxes of clothing for Europe.

Buy Christmas Seals

Christmas seals, put out by the National Tuberculosis association, are on sale at the main desk in the library at one cent per seal. To date 1000 seals have been purchased by the students and faculty members of the college.

Special Musical Assembly Program To Be Presented

Thursday evening, December 13, at 8:00 o'clock, Miss Wharton, in conjunction with the assembly committee, will present Lila Estenson and Doris Howe in a piano concert at the College Auditorium. The two pianists will be assisted by Lola Estenson, violinist, and Mary Ellen Pederson, soprano vocalist.

Doris Howe, who comes from Cumberland, will play a group of Chopin numbers, one of which is the popular "Polonaise" which was made famous in the screen production, "A Song To Remember." Doris plays this number brilliantly and artistically, and you will not want to miss her performance.

Lila Estenson, whose home town is New Richmond, will play a group of very interesting modern numbers. Lila performs her numbers, especially "The Fountain" by Ravel, with a great deal of beauty and dexterity.

Lola Estenson, from New Richmond, will play the Allegro non troppo from "Symphonie Espagnole" by Elourdo Lalo. This movement is very colorful and brilliant and Lola renders it skillfully.

Mary Ellen Pederson, from Wilson, will sing the gay "Estrellita" and one of Strauss's popular waltzes, "Voices of Spring". Mary, with her light, high, colorature soprano voice sings these numbers with grace and beauty.

Miss Wharton feels that the student body should hear the best type of music in assembly programs. Therefore she is presenting these girls who will play that type of music. For your pleasure, come to the evening assembly program on December 13, and listen to music presented by your fellow students, Lila Estenson and Doris Howe.

Archie Morrow, former student at RFSTC, was a head lineman in the Notre Dame—Great Lakes football game last Saturday.

Funeral Services For College Regent Held Sunday

FOREIGN LANGUAGE TEACHER IS ILL

We have all missed the presence of Miss Isolde Henninger the past two weeks. Miss Henninger, our Spanish and French teacher, has been recovering from illness in a Minneapolis hospital. It is reported by her doctor that she is doing very nicely and will be with us by the close of Christmas vacation or sooner.

During Miss Henninger's absence, we are fortunate in having Mrs. Francis Chisholm, wife of Professor Chisholm, as a substitute teacher. Mrs. Chisholm is enjoying teaching and the opportunity to know several of the students better.

We all miss Miss Henninger's cheerful smile and pleasant personality, and we send her our best wishes and hopes for a very speedy recovery.

The Editor Says

Beginning with this issue, the STUDENT VOICE comes out in a new and larger form. Well, maybe it doesn't look so big to those of you who remember back to those days when the VOICE was made up of pages twice the size of these but it really is an enlargement over the four page edition which our financial status has forced us to adopt for the last two years. But now, with the increased enrollment (and, we might add, the diligent work of our business managers in obtaining advertising), the finances of the STUDENT VOICE seem to be sufficient to warrant a larger paper.

Winter moved in to the RFSTC campus during Thanksgiving vacation. The entire campus had a different appearance as students returned after their two day holiday to begin a new term. But the new blanket of snow was not the only reason for the changed atmosphere. The large group of new students, mostly veterans, who have enrolled this term does a great deal to give the RFSTC campus that "prewar" appearance. To all of you we say, "Welcome Back!"

From the showing that our boys made on the floor against Concordia last Tuesday night we can be assured of a real basketball team—one that we know will lead RFSTC to many victories. This promises to be a thrilling basketball season so you won't want to miss a game. Let's show some of that good old RF school spirit by really backing our team.

With Christmas only a few weeks off, the annual sale of Christmas seals is again under way. Be sure you buy some of them to put on your Christmas mail. You will not only be adding a festive note to your letters and packages but you will be aiding a very worthy cause as well. Seals are on sale at the main library desk so make a purchase now!

Are We Becoming Isolationists Again?

Is America drifting isolationist again? Since the war is over, have we decided to relax and drift into another war? Let us look at the facts.

On our own campus how do we regard internationalism? At present there is a clothing drive for the aid of European refugees. How have we responded? All too many have replied, "I have already given. I don't think there is anything more." What a convenient excuse and what a smug one! It is so much easier to worry about the date nylons will be back than to search out old stockings for the refugees.

What was the reaction to the movies shown by the UNRRA representative? "They are too horrible. Why should we be subjected to such things? After all, the war is over now. Anyway, they're mostly propaganda for the War Loan Drive."

How do we regard speakers on world affairs? Aren't they a bore to be avoided unless it is compulsory to attend? If they concern world conditions, it is so comfortable to say, "Those poor people. Isn't it wonderful to live in America!" Then we can forget about them until the next lecture. But beware of that comfortable feeling. It is smugness—a smugness that can lead our country to disaster.

Soon the Y. M. —Y. W. will sponsor the World Student-Service Fund. How much will be contributed for fellow students who are suffering? The world is waiting for our decision on this matter and countless others like it.

Our campus is only a reflection of the rest of the country. What subjects have received the greatest attention in newspaper headlines recently? First of all the Pearl Harbor investigation. Wouldn't it be wonderful to blame a man now dead for the whole war? Then we would never have to worry about it again. Another important headline concerned the end of rationing. Now we can have all of the butter we want. What does it matter if the rest of the world does not have bread?

America is drifting—drifting. It is so much more easy and comfortable to aimlessly drift towards "normalcy" rather

Droop Snoops

Hi kids! Here's your little catch-all and gather-more reporter with the latest gatherin's.

Roving about the campus this week, Droop couldn't help detecting that lift in general campus "outlook on life" these last few days. Couldn't be the addition of the handsome, new vets, could it girls?

Say, and while I'm speaking of the lift, it certainly was apparent at the game against Concordia Tuesday night. You're right girls, those men not only play good ball, but make a superb appearance on the floor. Droop especially appreciated the intonation of those swoons for Farmer Hanson. How about that, kids?

Droop notices Greenlee and Hanson frequenting the House of Luberg recently; special emphasis: the Reid sisters. Just don't forget those training hours, boys!

Did you know the latest Emily Post must? In case of illness, telephone calls are to be received by the room-mate of the sick victim. H'mm—Landberg, could you enlighten us?

Hearing strains of the popular song, "A Little on the Lonely Side", Droop became aware upon closer observation that the latest "blue" singer of the day was none other than Max Wurtz. Too bad, Max. We miss him and the others who left too, don't we, girls?

Pat Patterson and Beth Davis seem in the best of spirits these days, but then why shouldn't they be? After all Tweet and Donny are home and free of the Marines' obligations.

Droop can't help admiring the seniors' taste for "good company". Yes, and our shining examples are Anna Mae H. and Frank P.

Well kids' gatherin's are getting mighty low, but Droop's keeping that net leak-proof to catch-all and gather more for the next issue. See you then!!

WAA VOLLEYBALL HONOR TEAM CHOSEN

The WAA girls in volleyball ended the season successfully with a tournament before Thanksgiving vacation. The two teams were captained by Phyllis Rasmussen and Pat Skane, the former team being the victor by winning four of the seven games.

A volley ball honor team was chosen, and is composed of girls from both teams. The honor girls are the following: Pat Cox—chairman, Phyllis Rasmussen, Pat Skane, Audrey Hygnstrom, Lois Brandt, Betty Porter, Kelma Fuler, Lorraine Palan, Betty Lohman, Elsie Freier, Doreen Barfknecht, Shirley Stone.

At the WAA meeting on November 26, Shirley Stone was elected point chairman to fill a vacancy. The main business of the meeting was to discuss the basketball tournament which is to be held after Christmas. Approximately twenty girls came to the first practice which is very encouraging.

BASKETBALL SIDELINES

From the way the boys played ball last Tuesday night, we can say that our prospects for a good team are very favorable. With Young, Hartwig and Foss in there, there is ample proof of this fact.

While we're at it, we might as well give you a complete list of the players just shipped in from the office. When things get settled we will give you the suit numbers issued to the Squad. Byron Brooks, Fred Thom, Jim Moore, Dave Hanson, Miles Shern, Don Baird, Joe Young, Bud Foss, Bud Hartwig, Dick Berggren, Vernon Hanson, Don Gardiner, Bob Kessenich, Wayne Greenlee, Dick Tracy, Orville Peterson, Bud Bovin, Dick Carter, and Chuck Taylor are the players up to date.

A new game which you can add to your schedule is St. Cloud Teachers College whom we play at St. Cloud, January 12, and whom we play here February 11.

FOR MEN ONLY

(If you gals don't believe me, just read it).

There are plans underway for an extensive intra-mural program this year for all men students. There will be basketball, swimming, volleyball, badminton ping pong, etc., during the winter term. The boys are urged to join right away so we can get some volleyball teams started (one team is already ready to play) as well as league and tournaments. The same goes for basketball and ping pong. If you are interested see Mr. Sjowall immediately.

You know you can't learn to be a runner by just walking.

The River Falls Falcons opened their 1945-46 basketball season Tuesday night, November 27, by swamping Concordia college of St. Paul 52 to 33. Coach Schlagenhauf used sixteen men and experimented with various combinations in the easy win over the inexperienced Concordia quint.

The Falcons started with Greenlee and Hartwig at forward, Joe Young at center and Bud Foss and Vern. Hanson at the guards. This combination rolled up an early lead and the outcome was never in doubt. Concordia could not muster a field goal until 11 minutes had elapsed and garnered only three goals the entire first half. Meanwhile, due to the brilliant rebounding and under the basket playing of Joe Young the Falcons rolled up a 28 to 14 half-time lead. Bud Hartwig contributed some nifty side shots to the Falcons cause.

In the second half River Falls used their reserves throughout and Concordia managed to close the gap somewhat but never seriously threatened the Falcons lead. A majority of the Falcon squad are returned veterans who show great promise but as yet haven't had enough time to get into good playing shape. With a few more practice sessions under their belts, the Falcons will present a fast, sharp shooting quint that will give any team trouble.

ACE Spend Interesting Day In St. Paul

If you noticed many shivering girls clambering into a bus along Cascade Avenue early on the Saturday morning of November 10, you saw Miss Zak and the members of the A. C. E. as we set out to spend a pleasant day in St. Paul.

Arrangements for our excursion had been made earlier by Miss Zak, our A. C. E. adviser, and Mrs. Kempe of the St. Paul Junior Red Cross. At the St. Paul bus depot we were met by Mrs. Kempe who took us out to the Veterans' Hospital at Fort Snelling. There we received a cordial welcome from Dr. Jensen and other members of the staff who took us through the 7 sections of the hospital. What interested us most of all was seeing the work in physical and occupational therapy being carried on for the rehabilitation of veterans.

In the physical therapy wards we saw men weaving and doing leather tooling—projects sponsored by the Red Cross in its program of arts and crafts. An enlightening discussion by the hospital's Red Cross director increased our knowledge of how that organization serves veterans.

After leaving the Veterans' Hospital, our group enjoyed a tasty lunch in the luxurious atmosphere of the new, modernistic Women's Club. From the Club's dining room, Mrs. Kempe took us to see the other beautifully decorated and furnished rooms of the building.

Next a visit to the Hill Reference Library permitted us to see how microfilm is coming into use to conserve space in libraries. A section of 'The New York Times' on microfilm was reproduced for us to read by a device simple enough for anyone to operate.

Displays of scenes and characters from books, made in art classes of St. Paul schools, caught our attention at once as we entered the Children's Library. Gaily designed woolen boxes each to contain one hundred books, were being assembled by St. Paul schools for shipment to other countries. Miss McGregor, the librarian, explained the exhibits of the library to us and stressed the important role in bettering world relationships that would be played by the sending of books to the children of foreign lands.

We spent a short time at the Court House and quite by accident while waiting for a street-

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The shrill blowing of a whistle, the shouts of "Guard her! Watch her!" coming from the South hall gymnasium, and the red floor burns on girls' knees are the harbingers of the advent of girls' basketball, the 20 girls donned their red and blue "pin-nys" and began their warm-up shots. They took the basketballs (and I use the term loosely) which are so lop-sided that trying to shoot them into the basket is like putting a square peg into a round hole, and threw them in the general direction of the basket. If, by some chance, the ball was not deflected by the supporting beams, a long shot might, with luck, reach its goal.

The whistle blew, and the teams started to scrimmage. The scrimmage wasn't really rough; there were no more than ten personal fouls in 20 minutes of

Instrumental Groups Practice For Future Programs

The band now has 22 regular members including three new men: Virgil Byng, Norris Christ and Neil Palmer. The band is looking ahead to an evening concert in February.

The orchestra also has several new members. Phyllis Anderson, Genevieve Peterson, and Virgil Byng have joined orchestra this term. The orchestra has a very busy schedule. Under the direction of Miss Pfitzner, they played between acts of the Masquer production, 'Blithe Spirit,' on November 29th. The orchestra will also perform for the Christmas assembly program on December 28. The orchestra, with the band, is looking ahead to the evening concert in February.

car we were all invited in to a gift shop which had gifts from all over the world. Last place of interest on our excursion was the Junior Red Cross Headquarters. Varied and interesting samples of work one by the Junior Red Cross were shown to us by Mrs. Kempe. Since a hospital project for that organization is included in our A.C.E. program for this year, the ideas we obtained for designing such things as place cards, menu covers, party favors, and napkins will be valuable to us.

The kind cooperation of Mrs. Kempe and the personnel of the places we visited made the day one to be long remembered by the A. C. E. group and by Miss Hilder, Jr. Red Cross director at R.F.T.C., Miss Bridges, Mid-guardian adviser, and the Mid-guardians who accompanied us.

play, and the only severe casualty was a twisted ankle. As the maimed and battered, but satisfied, basketball fans limped out of the gym, they were still wondering whether or not the Blue team should have taken the ball out of bounds in the third quarter.

Bits From Buddies

Mr. Stratton has received quite a few interesting letters lately which have been very newsy.

It seems that our men in the service are ready to get back in the teaching field. "Really, the more time I spend here the more I want to get back there teaching," writes Sgt. Duane Jackman from Ft. Bragg, North Carolina. He hopes to be discharged by the first of February.

Cpl. Dwight Weidemer, with the 645th AAF Band stationed at Richmond, Virginia, also hopes to finish college here at River Falls and get into teaching.

Lt. (j. g.) Mel Erickson writes from Japan. He, too, is interested in getting back into teaching. He says, "Landed here with army equipment and troops Sept. 25. The natives didn't and haven't given any trouble. A holiday was declared by their remaining authorities so the people could watch the Americans land. They are very polite and cooperative. We use part of the Jap army to unload our ships. Many speak pretty fair English and upon questioning, we found they had spent ten to fifteen years in the states and have strong plans on going back again after things are settled down. Quite a few are born citizens of the United States, families and parents still there."

Norman Dille became a civilian November 14, 1945 after six years in the Navy. He will live in Los Angeles.

Eddie Greschner is with the 4th Infantry Regiment doing occupational duty in Nagoya.

Dean Fenner, now stationed at Camp Shanks, New York, has received his A. P. O. address preparatory to going overseas.

From Port Lyantey, French Morocco, came an interesting letter from Ted Gleiter. Ted was in the hospital for an eye infection, but is now able to stay out except for daily visits to have his eyes checked. Anticipating release soon, probably in March or April, Mr. Gleiter is trying to decide on his post-war education and activities.

These excerpts are from a recent letter received from Lt. Chick Ubbelohde.

"I had a pleasant surprise the other day. While on board the Flagship for this area (Buckner Bay, Okinawa), I ran into Johnny Storzer. This was the second time since we left the states a year and a half ago. John is determined to return to River Falls the day after he reports with the Navy. This, he figures, should be late next spring.

INQUIRING REPORTER QUESTIONS STUDENTS

Roving around the campus, your inquiring reporter secured some choice replies to her question posed primarily to freshmen. The question: "In what way has your impression of RFSTC changed since those first days of September '45"?

Those choice replies:

Pat Cox: "It's wonderful to know nearly everyone by her first name."

Jack Russell: "I'm not so sure it has changed. My interests are what have changed. It's more interesting now than before I entered the service."

Gloria Cree: "Everyone is friendly and easy to get acquainted with; one can't help but feel like part of the school."

Ruth Nelson: "It seems like these freshmen around here are trying to teach the upper classmen how to study. I can't see how freshies can study all of the time as they do."

Margaret Engen: I like a small college because all the students seem like one big hap-

MATH CLUB IS ACTIVE GROUP

The discussion of the three great mathematical problems of antiquity, the trisecting of an angle, the duplication of the cube, and the squaring of a circle, has occupied the most prominent place on the program of the Mathematics club. The club members also discuss the lives and achievements of great mathematicians at the time of the mathematician's birthday, and they discuss any sidelight which may be applied to mathematics.

The programs for the various meetings are directed by Lola Estenson, Lois Landberg, and Rebecca Rees with Mrs. Eide as adviser.

STOODENTS

Listen, my children and I will relate

My report on the books called "bibles" at State,

The little white catalogues, don't let them phase you

Nobody reads them; they're just there to daze you.

Well-planned course titles aptly conceal

Lectures that venture as deep in their field

As they can go. Tell me, did you know

You use sixty-nine muscles to play an arpeggio?

Yes, the book fails to decree that those who would be

Teachers must stagger forth fagged and forgetful

Before they are members of F. T. G.*

Isn't it regretful?

*F. T. G. Friday Thank God.
