Senate grants budget totaling $143,401

The Student Senate approved the breakdown of its $129 thousand budget at the Oct. 30 meeting, creating three new departments.

The budget is still pending final administration approval. The Senate budget committee has been in conferences with President George Field and Dr. William Munns, vice-president of student affairs, in drawing up the budget.

The Rodeo team was departmentalized at the Nov. 6 Senate meeting. Rod Nilsestuen, Senate treasurer, commented later that in the past the Rodeo team was in a precarious position, never knowing for sure if they would get the money. Now they are assured funds each year.

WRFW, our radio station, was also added to the budget. Originally WRFW was going to work under funds out of the journalism department. Money could not be obtained so a request was made of Senate for salaries.

Women's extramural sports which used to be under Women's Recreation Association (WRA), has been given its own budget.

The Senate budget of $129 thousand with a $12,377 carryover from last year gives Senate $143,401 to work with.

A complete breakdown of the budget follows.

Senate receives $14 per student per quarter out of student activities fees. Of these $12 go for the Senate budget. The other $2 go to the president's reserve fund. Part time students pay a graduated amount depending on the number of credits.

This means that the $129 thousand for the year, an increase of $23,105 over last year, is only an approximation because the number of students changes from quarter to quarter.

HEALTH

This budget is prorated per student. The rate is set at $3 per student and the state of Wisconsin pays $5 per student. The allocation this year is $13,645. With a negative carry over of $503 the health department has $13,142 equal to their request which is an increase of $2,393 over last year.

MUSIC

The music department has been granted $7,380 from Senate. Last year's carry over plus $2,000 from the president's fund for choral uniforms gives them a total of $10,400 to work with. This almost doubles their $5,600 budget last year. The music department has expanded its program over last year. They are working for a larger tour and will be holding special clinics for university and area high school students.

FINE ARTS

Fine Arts covers the Fine arts Festival. There was no festival last year so with a carry over of $2,150 out of $2,162, they were allotted $1,076 to bring the total allocation to $3,250 which is equal to the request. A festival is in the planning this year. Chou Wen Chung, a composer, has been commissioned to write a special piece for the University. He will spend three days here. There will also be a guest actor and a guest artist.

CONCERTS AND LECTURES

Concerts and Lectures was "one of the areas in which we felt needed an increase," said Nilsestuen. "Concerts and Lectures has demonstrated ability to put on a good program," he added. The increase amounts to $2,245 over their request of $7,000 giving them $9,245 plus last year's carry over of a negative $245. Last year Concerts and Lectures was given $6,959.

DRAMA

The Drama department increase of about $2,000 over last year is due to an increase of supply costs. Drama was allotted $5,009 plus a negative $9 carry over. This is $275 less than their request. The department wants to replace equipment that cannot be repaired. They would also like to have a more professional job done on their printing.

FORENSICS

The forensics has a larger program this year. Senate allocated $4,421 plus a $179 carry over from $3,559 allocated last year, giving forensics $4,600 to work with, $1,000 less than the request.

STUDENT VOICE

The STUDENT VOICE has been allocated $13,384 plus a negative carry over of $46. This gives the VOICE a budget of $13,338, compared with last years budget of $10,138. The major increase is due to an increase of printing costs and increase in salaries and additional paid positions. The VOICE budget is pretty much set up over the summer because the contract with the state printer must be signed then.

PROLOGUE

The PROLOGUE was not allotted any additional money over last year. Senate felt that the carry over of $1,260 would be sufficient for two issues of the PROLOGUE this year. Final decision on the PROLOGUE will rest with the Publications Board. The Publications Board constitution is presently up for Faculty-Senate approval.

MELETEAN

The MELETEAN was granted $15,698 plus a $259 carry over from last year. Last year's budget came to $16,454. The MELETEAN will return to Senate any revenue that comes in from the sale of the year books. Next year the yearbook will be on a strictly self-supporting basis.

WRA

WRA was allocated $940 plus a $15 carry over. Last year's allotment was for $1,418, but WRA will no longer carry women's extramural sports.

WOMEN'S EXTRAMURAL

Women's Extramural sports, a new department, was allotted $1,000, $717 less than requested. Their costs are mostly for transportation. In years past the money has been coming out of the women's private funds.

ATHLETICS

Men's athletics received the largest increase this year. The increase of almost $10,000 will be "more in keeping with what they need," said Nilsestuen. The hockey team budget which was separate last year is included. The budget allows for a $1,000 buffer. The increase will allow the team to travel first class. In the past the teams have been going to away games and returning the same night.

WRFW

The radio station, another new budget, was allocated $2,680. This money will go for staff salaries.

RODEO TEAM

The Rodeo team was allotted $3,000.

SENATE

Senate allocated itself $13,417. Last year's carry over of $1,583 brings the allotment to $15,000. Out of this comes Big Name Entertainment, United Council of Wisconsin State Student Governments fees, cost of sending delegates to United Council, National Student Association services fees, and office equipment.

MISCELLANEOUS

The $3,000 allotment to the Rodeo team brought the miscellaneous allocation and carry over to $6,711.

Dedication ceremonies planned for Commons

Dedication ceremonies for Rodli Commons will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 17.

The dedication of the Commons will include introductions by William Munns, vice president of student affairs, a welcome by President George Field, and remarks by Richard Delorit, academic vice president, and Eugene Clifford, assistant manager of the Wisconsin Electric Cooperatives in Madison.

Mrs. David Rodli, widow of the man for whom the building is named, will respond.

David Rodli, Baldwin, was a member of the Board of Regents of Wisconsin State Universities for six years and a president of the Board for two years. He was a member of the St. Croix County Electric Cooperative at Baldwin from 1948 until his death on Feb. 15, 1965.

Mrs. Rodli, the former Virginia Thaves, still lives in Baldwin. Their children are Keith, a 1968 graduate of WSU-River Falls; Sue, a sophomore at the University; and Jan, who is married and living in Chicago.

Rodli was born April 15, 1911, in Albert Lea, Minn., and attended Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1943 to 1946 and then worked for two years with the Freeborn County, Minn., Electric Cooperative at Albert Lea before being named manager of the St. Croix County Electric Cooperative.

In a personal reminiscence Feb. 25, 1965, the editor of the "Baldwin Bulletin" wrote that Rodli was "deeply interested in education. I got to know and admire him as a man of deep convictions, a most capable and exacting person, who wanted to know 'the why and the where' of every subject we discussed."

Another tribute to Rodli was written by Walker Wyman, then president of WSU-Whitewater and now Distinguished Centennial Professor of History at River Falls. In the Feb. 24, 1965, issue of the Whitewater student paper, the Royal Purple, Dr. Wyman wrote: "Mr. Rodli was a modest, friendly, and unselfish man who served well his community and state in his fifty-three years."

A reception will be held in the Yellow Dining Room following the dedication ceremony. Tours of the dining center will leave from the reception area.

Greeks planning Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Councils

Since many Greek organizations are going national, the Greek Letter Council (GLC) is looking into forming a Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Council (IFC). Once the councils are formed, they will replace the GLC as the governing body of the Greeks.

The Panhellenic Council will govern the sororities while the IFC will become the governing body for the fraternities.

Delegates will be sent by the GLC to the national Inter-Fraternity Council Convention in Miami, Fla. during December to

Fees due Nov. 22

This week the Registrar's Office will be mailing a copy of each students' winter class schedule to their school address. If a student does not receive the mailing by November 18 they should stop by the Registrar's Office.

Students are reminded that to retain their winter class cards, fees must be paid by November 22.

If pre-registered students that do not pay fees by November 22 wish to enroll winter quarter, they must re-register on December 2.

gain information regarding the formation of an IFC at River Falls.

The GLC has written nine other schools to see how they have established an IFC on their campuses.

The formation of the IFC and Panhellenic are necessitated by the Greek's national charters.

HHH wins mock election

The students of WSU-RF picked the loser of the national election in a mock election held on campus Oct. 29 and 30.

Hubert H. Humphrey took 45.8 per cent of the total vote cast, and Richard Nixon trailed close behind with 41.2 per cent of the total vote. George Wallace received only six per cent.

Five hundred students voted in the election. Nine other people received votes in the Presidential race. They were Eugene McCarthy, Pat Paulsen, Fred Halstead, Dick Gregory, Ted Kennedy, Eldridge Cleaver, Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller, and Barry Goldwater. Two students chose to vote "No."

In the race for Governor, Warren Knowles edged his Democratic challenger, Bronson LaFollette, by seven votes. Students gave Gaylord Nelson his U.S. Senate seat back in a sound victory over Republican candidate, Jerris Leonard.

In other results from the mock election, students selected Jack Olson for lieutenant governor, Robert Zimmerman for secretary of state; Charles Smith for state treasurer, Robert Warren for attorney general, Gunnar Gunderson for member of congress, Robert P. Knowles for state senator, and one student preferred Zorro over successful winner Stanley York for the seat in the Assembly.

A Century of Change

Addition of North Hall quieted critics

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series dealing with the history of Wisconsin State University--River Falls.

The addition of North Hall assured the long life and prosperity of the River Falls Normal School. The permanency of the school was established and critics no longer talked of closing the school or moving it to a new location.

The normal school appropriations bill signed by Governor McGovern in 1913 provided $145,000 for the construction of a new building on the River Falls campus. This was the largest single building appropriations in the bill. The yearly maintenance appropriation for River Falls was increased from $41,000 to $65,000.

In October ground was broken for the new building and on June 17, 1914 the cornerstone was put in place in an impressive Masonic celebration. Masons from most lodges in western Wisconsin and state officials of the order, members of the Board of Regents, and local political dignitaries all took part. President Crabtree was honored for his "tireless, wise and well directed efforts" in promoting the normal school at River Falls.

COMPLETED IN 1914

The building was occupied late in the fall of 1914. No appropriation was made for new equipment, so it was necessary to move in from South Hall school furniture and equipment which had been in use for many years. North Hall provided an auditorium and mens' gymnasium. The science department was located on the third floor. The first and second floors of the building were given over to the training school, with the recently established agriculture department located in the basement.

For a great many years certain publications have been put out by the student body of River Falls. The earliest publication known was called "The Badger." Some copies of this are on file in the library. The history of the origin and scope of this publication is unknown.

In 1912, the first school annual was published. This year book, called "The Meletean," has been put out by students in each succeeding year down to the present time.

A weekly newspaper, called "The Student Voice," has been published regularly throughout the school year since about 1912.

The first summer session at River Falls was held in 1909, extending six weeks, from June 28 to August 6. The purpose of the session was primarily to afford opportunities for professional training for rural teachers.

The faculty for the first summer school was nine in number, including the president and one county superintendent who was brought in for the summer work. The enrollment in the summer session was quite satisfactory.

The records show no reference to athletics in the school prior to 1910. No financial support was given to sports. The administration of the school did not encourage competitive athletics. Young men of the school, however, combined with boys from the high school and from the city, organized football teams as early as 1896 or 1898. These teams competed with neighboring high school teams and town teams. Along about 1906 to 1908, the school was represented by a basketball team of unusual ability.

In 1909 a definite policy of encouraging athletics was announced by the administration of the school. Members of the faculty were appointed to take charge of athletic teams. Both football and basketball teams were organized, and carried on contests with neighboring high schools, and to a limited extent with other normal schools.

On Feb. 9, 1912, a resolution introduced by Regent H. O. Hamilton of Whitewater, made the first definite provision for the employment of athletic directors in each of the schools. Swenson was appointed Athletic Director at River Falls, assuming the duties with the opening of the 1912-1913 school year.

In 1912 a new organization for the supervision of athletics was created, known as the Athletic Council. R. A. Karges of the faculty was appointed on the first athletic board.

J. H. Ames was appointed the sixth president of the River Falls normal school in 1917.

In 1914, purchases of farm land were made in order to provide the agriculture department with suitable facilities. The tract directly west of the South Hall campus was purchased in March, 1914, for $4,000. The tract was slightly less than 14 acres.

In February, 1920, ten acres of land was purchased for an athletic field. This piece of land was two blocks east of the main campus.

The school was profoundly affected by World War I. Young men withdrew from the school to enter military service. By the opening of the fall term, 1918, the number of men in school had greatly diminished. Faculty men were assigned to war work in near-by counties supervising thrift campaigns and advising farmers and business men in regard to activities designed to assist the U. S. Government in the prosecution of the war.

The 1919 commencement exercises were dedicated to River Falls men who had been engaged in military and naval service. A feature of this program was the unveiling of a bronze memorial tablet carrying the names of the RF men who lost their lives during the World War.

Finals and Thanksgiving cancel three Voice issues

This will be the last issue of the STUDENT VOICE for fall quarter 1968.

The first winter quarter issue of the VOICE is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 9. There will be no paper for the next three weeks.

Finals begin Monday so there will be no issue next week and Thanksgiving vacation will cut out the next two issues.

VOICE SCORES FIRSTS

Fall quarter 1968 has been a special quarter for the VOICE. The paper has scored two firsts--the largest issue and the largest extra in the history of the paper. Both were published in the same week.

Usually the VOICE runs eight to 12 pages an issue. But on Oct. 14, the paper was 16 pages in length. That week the editorial staff combined to put out an eight page Homecoming extra also. The extras in the past have all been four pages in length. During that week, a 16 page paper was printed Monday; an eight page paper came out on Friday and an eight page regular issue was printed on the following Monday for a total of 32 pages.

EDITORS LOG 4000 MILES

The VOICE staff has logged about 4000 travel miles fall quarter.

UAB schedules "Flaming Mame" on November 16

The annual "Flaming Mame," scheduled for November 16 at the Spielhaus with Danny's Reasons playing, was the main topic of the Universities Activities Board (UAB) meeting last Monday night. The finishing touches are being put on by the Special Events Committee.

The Coffeehouse Committee reported that the first opening of the "Deep End" was a success. It was discussed as to whether the "Deep End" should be rented to organizations and whether or not a record player or juke box should be purchased.

Donna Sandell resigned as chairman of the Coffeehouse Committee and Sharon Miessner replaced her. Kathy Ball resigned as chairman for the Public Relations Committee and was replaced by Micky Schafer.

Events scheduled for the future by the Coffeehouse Committee include a Brave New World Workshop on Dec. 7 in the "Deep End" starting at 7:30 p.m., the Three Party System on Jan. 9 from 6:30 to 12 p.m. and the Orchestis, a dance production scheduled for May 15-16.

The proposal that the Visual Arts Committee be made a standing committee, responsible to UAB, approved by the board.

Harley O'Brien, sports editor, has traveled over 1,500 miles to cover football games at Platteville, Oshkosh, Whitewater and Stout.

Managing editor Reggie Costigan and reporter Judy Herman traveled to Eau Claire to cover the fall session of United Council.

Editor Rich Marshall traveled with Walter Bunge, adviser to the VOICE, Dr. Donald Brod, adviser to the MELETEAN, and Craig Middleton, MELETEAN editor, to New York City to attend the American College Press (ACP) association convention two weeks ago.

Profiles in student government Senate vice-president transferred from WSU-Oshkosh to River Falls

"Student power is a necessity to the extent that students must be given consideration in formulating and administering policies affecting the university community and its educational level," stated Jim Ochiltree, Student Senate Vice-president.

Transferring from Oshkosh to River Falls in the 1967-68 academic term, Ochiltree stated, "After I was once here, I was favorably impressed by the friendly atmosphere and accessibility of professors."

Commenting on the role of the student leader, Ochiltree said, "A student leader is someone who draws his support from a wide student base, someone students are willing to follow. True student leaders must exhibit charisma."

Library hours and the proper use of library facilities are important to Ochiltree, as he has done extensive background work in this area for the Student Senate. His comment: "At present library hours are due to be changed when the new section of the library opens. I would express sincere regret if hours are not extended on Friday evening to at least midnight, and if Sunday openings are not pushed forward three to five hours. This should not be taken to mean that the entire library must be open this long."

Students are concerned about the quality of teacher that they find in the classroom, which is directly involved with the granting of tenure. Ochiltree feels, "From a philosophic view point tenure is a mixed blessing. A professor under tenure may not be afraid to innovate in novel fields. On the other hand, tenure may give an instructor a chance to sluff."

"In practice I think that tenure should be granted not only on the basis of teaching competence but also in respect to an individual's contribution to the total university community. Very possibly, it should be given on the basis of a board decision, a board which at least gives consideration to student opinion. There should also be some form of tenure review to insure adequate teacher performance."

"Yes, I believe in politics," said Ochiltree as he commented on his political beliefs. A political science and economics double major, he stated, "I've been called a liberal Republican and a conservative Democrat. I guess it all depends on who is doing the classifying."

On discussing the faculty, students, and administration, Ochiltree said, "Too often the eternal triad of university life is pictured in three separate and uncompromising camps. It would seem that more emphasis should be put on the university community concept. However, all segments must realize that a university is a place for investigation and experimentation, not indoctrination."

In commenting on the recent national election, Ochiltree said, "There were only two things which I really wanted either presidential candidate to support: one was to terminate the Vietnam war as rapidly as possible; the other was that the government use its budget to balance out the economy and improve the society. Mr. Nixon did not seem to concretely indicate this in his campaign."

Ochiltree is interested in team sports, tennis, and outdoor life. He is also quite interested in urban planning and development.

35 RF students named to Who's Who

Thirty-five River Falls students have been elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Who's Who is a book of outstanding college seniors.

The criteria for selection of the 35 students is set up by a six student ad hoc committee of Student Senate. This committee is representative of the major activities on campus.

This committee selected 50 seniors whom they thought had the scholastic, extra-curricular and leadership qualities needed. This list of 50 seniors taken from the entire senior class was then sent to the department chairman's office. From there the list filtered down through the university's various departments. The students with the most votes were elected to the Who's Who list. Of the 50, 35 were selected. These were:

Charles Feltes of West Chicago, Ill. His activities include: Student Senate, president and treasurer; Young Republicans, treasurer; Legislative Activities Committee; and the Dean's list three times.

Dana Dufenhorst of Waterford, Wis. Her activities include: Secretary and president of Womens Recreation Association (WRA); Intra-and Extra-mural Volleyball, Basketball, Field Hockey, and Softball; Member of Kappa Delta Pi; and member of Lambda Phi.

John William Graham of Hudson, Wis. His activities include: Dorm Council; Fraternity Office; Senior Class Officer; President of Animulas Scopus; Homecoming Chairman; University Activities Board; Intramural sports.

Lawrence J. Chipov of Chetek, Wis. He is involved in: Cross Country; Gymnastics; "R" Club; Kappa Mu Epsilon; Physics Colloquium.

Linda Graves of Neilsville, Wis. Her activities include: Student Senate Secretary; University Activities Board; secretary; United Council, corresponding secretary; Women's Recreation Association Executive Board; Phi Delta Theta sorority; Young Republicans; Student Voice Staff; Class officer; National Student Association delegate; and Symphonic Band.

Kenneth Harter of Wabeno, Wis. Activities are: Theta Chi; "R" Club, secretary; Student Faculty Athletic Committee; dorm resident assistant; member of Interdorm Council; basketball and football team manager.

John Paul Chudy of Ashland, Wis. Activities are: Student Senate; Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity member.

Donald E. Gettinger of River Falls Wis. His activities are: Silver "R"; Dean's list nine times; Kappa Mu Epsilon, treasurer; Kappa Delta Pi, president; Physics Colloquium Chemistry Book Award; Physics Student Assistant Book Award; Freeman Drug Co. Scholarship; Lions Club Scholarship.

Sharon L. Heidt of Cambria, Wis. She has participated in: Caballeros Club, secretary; Girls Rodeo, team captain; National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association; National Finals College Rodeo; Falcon Frontier Days, rodeo secretary, Student National Education Association.

Marguerite M. Hough of Chippewa Falls, Wis. Activities are: Student Foundation Committee, vice chairman and chairman; American Childhood Education Institute; Alumni Relations Committee; Kleinpell Carillon Committee; Student National Education Association.

Gerald H. Gust of Deer Park, Wis. His activities include: Student Senate; Phi Nu Chi fraternity; Dean's list; Phi Alpha Theta Honorary History fraternity; Honorary Economics fraternity; Pre-law Scholarship; nominated to Danforth and Woodrow Wilson Fellowships; state officer in Wisconsin Young Democrats; Quarter Abroad program to Europe.

Tom J. Daniels of Weyerhaeuser, Wis. has participated in: Omicron Delta Epsilon; Silver "R"; Dean's list three times; Newman Club.

Dianne M. Huppert of Ellsworth, Wis. activities are: Sigma Chi Sigma; Kappa Mu Epsilon; Chemistry Club; Silver "R"; Dean's list.

Paul W. Juckem of Chilton, Wis. His activities include: Football letter winner three times; two Scholarships; Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Ellie Betz of Byron, Wis. Her activities include; Student Senate; Phi Delta

"Wilde Evening" draws 400

Richard Gray and Mayo Loiseau, two professional actors on tour, performed to approximately 400 people last Wednesday evening in North Hall Auditorium with "A Wilde Evening with Shaw."

The performance showed how intellectuals George Bernard Shaw and Oscar Wilde interacted during their lifetime.

In the three-act performance the audience was introduced to an almost intimate relationship with the two men and found that they maintained a personal feeling of mutual dislike while still admiring one another's work. This unique relationship was well illustrated by Gray and Loiseau who used only a chair and a couch as props, moving freely between them as the program progressed.

Wilde in 1895 went to court to be tried for libel and was sent to prison for two years after being convicted on vague charges. It was brought up that although it seemed that Shaw held a certain amount of hostility for Wilde he tried to assist him by unsuccessfully raising a petition to free Wilde on the basis of his status as an "artist."

During this time Shaw became deeply concerned with capital punishment. After leaving prison, Wilde died two years later in France. "House of Judgement," which was written shortly before Wilde's death, was the climax of the second act.

The third act was concerned mostly with Shaw and his works "Caesar and Cleopatra," and "Man and Superman." In "Man and Superman" Shaw makes the statement that religion is an excuse to hate evil and the law is an excuse for hanging.

At the age of 68, Shaw wrote "Saint Joan." Around this time of his life he was offered the Pulitzer Peace Prize for Literature which he decided then, but accepted later because he had not produced anything the year he was offered the Prize.

Both Gray and Loiseau changed clothes three times during the performance. In the first act, Gray was attired in a colorful smoking jacket while his off-stage wife, Loiseau, wore a red dress. The second act found Gray in a green jacket and Loiseau in a white dress. In the third act, Gray wore a red jacket and his wife a black dress.

At the age of 91, Shaw appeared on television and made the statement that throughout his life one of his best friends was Wilde. This statement concluded the performance.

Eight clubs must turn in officer lists

The Student Senate requests that the following clubs turn in two copies of their officers no later than Nov. 20, 5 p.m.: Council of Religious Organizations, Masquer's, Demosthenians, Future Farmers of America, Pre Law Club, Student Youth Volunteers of Wisconsin, Lambda Phi and Sitzmakers.

If two copies are not turned in by the set date those clubs listed will not be recognized as campus clubs.

Natl. election results topic of discussion

Results of the world's largest election were discussed by Ronald Anderson, Donald Brod, and Bilbert Smith as part of the Contemporary Man Series Thursday evening at the First Amendment.

Humphrey's defeat was due to "triumph of organization," third party candidate, George Wallace, Mayor Daley of Chicago, and the Democratic Convention in Chicago stated Anderson.

Personality of the candidates, he continued, include both instrumental and symbolic qualities by which both "Happy" Humphrey and "Tricky" Dick were handicapped.

Anderson mentioned that the average person is not concerned as much with issues but with images.

Nixon will be the first President since the beginning of the two party system without Congressional control which creates serious disabilities for him, commented Brod.

The possibility of changing the electoral vote to popular vote was introduced by Anderson. He mentioned the amending of the Constitution and the present suffrage qualifications would be the barriers of this proposal.

Smith concluded by outlining what the country should expect of the new administration such as reduction of taxes and spending and continuation of deficits.

Rodeo team to get $3000 this year

Beginning next year, the Senate will provide the rodeo team with a separate budget. In the past, rodeo team expenses had been absorbed by the Senate. The rodeo team was granted $3000 for this year's activities.

The Underground Films program was granted $700 on two conditions: that the admission price be no higher than 35 cents and any revenue gained from the films will pay for a guest lecturer. Rich Soligny, one of the original planners of the film program, said he hoped to begin the program in January.

The River Falls' cheerleaders were granted $472.05 to be used to buy new uniforms and pay for transportation.

Kappa Delta Psi was granted $50 to pay for a trip to Mankato.

In two separate motions, four constitutions were passed, following minor changes. They were the constitutions of the Class of 72, Phi Iota Chi, Caballeros Club and Luteran Students Association.

Jerry Ramsier was appointed to serve on the Campus Planning Committee.

Big name entertainment was also discussed by Senate. In a straw vote, eight music groups were voted on. They are, in order of most votes cast, The Buckinghams, the 1910 Fruitgum Co., Big Brother and the Holin' co., The Box Tops, Harper's Bazaar, The Buffalo Springfield, Tim Buckley, and Gladys and the Pips. These are only some of the groups being considered. Possible dates for the entertainment are Dec. 9 and Dec. 12 or a date in January.

Music department plans 1st "new" music concert

The first in a series of three contemporary music concerts will be presented by the WSU-RF music faculty and students on Thursday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. in the North Hall Auditorium.

With the exception of certain "centers" of contemporary music such as New York City, Chicago, San Francisco and a few major universities, performances of recent music are infrequent. The WSU-RF music department presents a series of "New Music" concerts every year and has had several works written by young American composers specifically for this series and premiered on our campus.

This first concert will feature works by William Albright, John Cage, Aaron Copland (in honor of his birthday), Conrad DeJong, Toshiro Mayuzumi, Mel Powell, Elliott Schwartz, Igor Stravinsky, and Morton Subotnik. Theater elements and electronic sounds will add to the diversity of this program.

The newly composed "Three Pieces for Three Trumpets and Piano" by Conrad DeJong of the WSU-RF music faculty will be premiered on this concert.

Admission to the concert is free. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Winter play scripts available in library

Scripts for "A Man For All Seasons" are now on reserve in the library according to Sanford Syse, director of the winter quarter play to be presented Feb. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15.

Try-outs for the 11 male parts and three female parts will take place on Dec. 3, 4, 5 and 7 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

That line is busy...

"I'm sorry sir that line is busy."

Beep, Beep, Beep, Beep, Beep . . . ?

Nine times out of ten the above is what one hears when he picks up any campus telephone. That is what one hears if the telephone even works. That is what one hears if the telephone stays on the wall during the duration of the dialing process.

The administration attempts to call administration, faculty, and students. The faculty attempts to call faculty and students. Students attempt to call students. Friends attempt to call friends, and toward dusk, boy friends attempt to call girl friends, and vice versa.

The result is numerous frustrated people, with lost time and sore dialing fingers. The reason is a antiquated, messed up, campus telephone system. The switch board is too small, and the system has too few circuits. The campus telephone staff attempts to do all it can, but it can do no more than the actual system will allow.

Are their solutions to the problem?

Several, if student government feels a responsibility and, more important, if the administration sees the need and can work hard enough to bring the needed improvements. The improvement is evidently a greatly expanded system which can only come through money.

We urge the administration to do all it can to obtain the necessary money. The need is immediate and the time is overdue.

A job well done

After only four days on the air and with very little past experience, the staff of the new educational radio station provided area listeners with first rate election coverage.

Fulfilling their promise to deliver the most concise local election coverage of any broadcasting media in the area, reporters stationed themselves at election counting locations throughout Pierce and St. Croix counties as well as in Nixon and Humphrey headquarters in the Twin Cities.

The staff of reporters, writers and broadcasters did a job which is easily comparable to the most professional, full-time radio station in the area. They provided accurate, prompt coverage which was delivered in an informal and pleasant style.

Hot coffee, cat-naps and No-Doz kept the radio station staff alert and ready to report the latest statistic and the most recent change in the standings of various candidates. Outlasting the majority of their listeners and continuing coverage after fulfilling their initial promise to cover local results, the staff remained on the job and on the air until 3:30 a.m.

Lorin Robinson, faculty manager, has worked hard and long to achieve the reality of a campus radio station. Both he and the staff have accomplished what four years ago seemed impossible. They have done it with a flair which will make the radio station an interesting and valued asset to the campus.

Supplement scoop

The "Daily Supplement," another campus news media, also made a very successful attempt to provide up-to-the-minute coverage of election results. The written coverage of the election supplemented the broadcasted information.

Students received the six-page Supplement early in the morning on Wednesday, long before other newspapers were distributed. Because of the energies of 12 members of the Advanced Reporting class the "Daily Supplement" was made available at 5:30 a.m.

The sleepless hours and work of these students does not go unnoticed.

Voice spanked

Dear Sir:

While it is perhaps too much to expect either literacy or spontaneity from the pages of the Student Voice, your readers do have a right to demand accuracy. In the article "War protest week ends" that appeared in your Nov. 4 issue, the remarks I made about the Oct. 24 demonstration are so badly quoted and summarized that they make me appear to say things that I never said.

I refer in particular to the sentence in which your reporter summarizes my statements as follows: "He (meaning I) said that the pause in the bombing was in answer to their efforts even though the press ignored the demonstrations which took place all over the United States and in several foreign counties." As it stands, that statement seems like self-deception at best, and egomania at worst.

What I did say was something akin to the following: The demonstration here has to be seen as our local contribution to a week of anti-war activities that were taking place throughout the country during Oct. 21-27. This national demonstration was the most recent expression of a deep-seated and widespread American disgust with the Vietnam war (44% of the populace opposed to the war according to the Gallup poll of three weeks ago). The bombing pause comes from the realization by the Democratic Party that it needed to tap that sentiment as its only chance of getting Humphrey elected, and that they could tap that sentiment only by offering demonstrable evidence of a change in the war policies. Hence it is fair to say that the bombing pause resulted from public pressure -- pressure that the cumulative effect of the anti-war demonstrations of the past four years have helped to create and to make visible.

But I never said or implied that there was any direct line of connection between the forty people who made their opposition to the war visible in River Falls two weeks ago and the cessation of bombing.

One other matter: I would like to know by what species of illogic you decided that whether or not the Vets club thought we had any right to demonstrate had a place in an article presenting to cover the demonstration. Have you no standards of relevance?

Sincerely,
Everett C. Frost

Editor's reply

Mr. Frost:

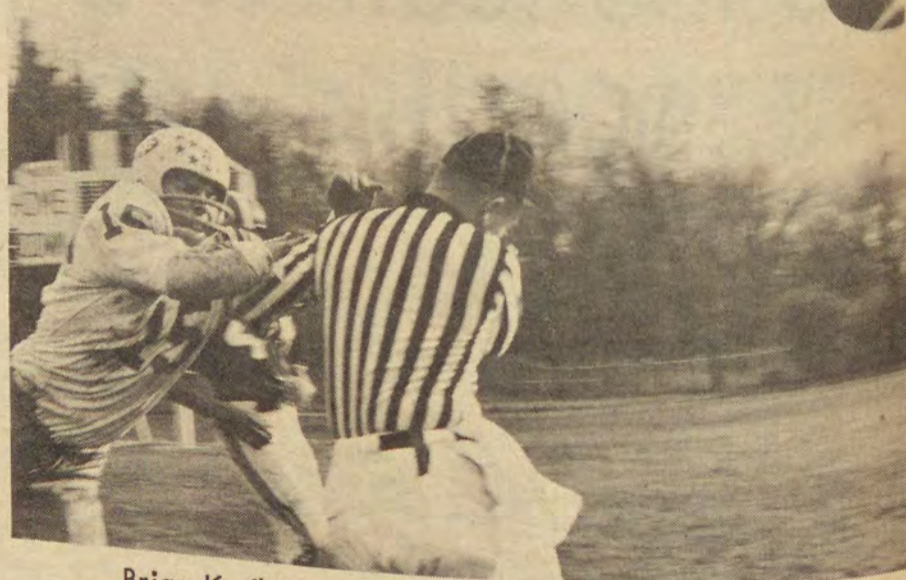

While I do resent the snide remarks with which you open your letter and take exception to both points, I feel that name calling is both cheap and childish. On this basis, I will not attempt to debate either point with you at this time.

However, I feel that I must defend my reporter from your unwarranted and hastily conceived attack.

I must say that it "seems like self-deception at best, and egomania at worst" that you could have interpreted the sentence you have quoted (correctly) to mean or to imply "that there was any direct line of connection between the forty people who made their opposition to the war visible in River Falls two weeks ago and the cessation of bombing."

I believe that if you will take a slightly more objective and realistic look at the sentence you have quoted, you will find that the use of the pronoun "their" associates you with a loosely defined number of "concerned" groups throughout the nation who are protesting the Vietnam war, rather than with the 40 individuals with whom you protested.

Editor defends policy

We have heard, either directly or indirectly, from a number of sources that some of the WSU-River Falls students and faculty members are not pleased with the VOICE editorial policy this year. Comments have been made that the editorials are "elementary," "unsophisticated" and "not worth reading."

We must admit that this "opposition" has some very valid arguments on which to base its criticism. BUT, the VOICE editorial staff does have reasons for the "limited" editorial outlook.

Certainly, the Vietnam war is more important than the fact that River Falls is a "suitcase college," BUT a VOICE editorial would probably stand a better chance of influencing the amount of time that the campus recreational facilities are open on weekends than of changing the course of the war.

The War of Poverty must be ranked over the Wall amphitheatre in importance, BUT a VOICE editorial would more likely get the maintenance department off its chairs to do a little cleaning and repair work than to influence the spending policy of the United States.

The policy that the VOICE is following may be best explained by quoting the PHALANX from the March 11, 1968 issue of the paper which was written shortly after the present editor took over.

"The PHALANX will deal almost exclusively with this University.

I have very definite biases about the war in Vietnam, racial problems and how to save the world, but this column will seldom be used to promote them."

GUEST EDITORIALS INVITED

Recognizing that the VOICE has the responsibility of serving as a forum for the entire campus, however, we of the editorial staff not only invite but encourage the submission of guest editorials.

If any group or individual on this campus has a solution to the Vietnam war, a comment on United States domestic problems or just a good personal gripe, we invite him or the group to submit a guest editorial or inform us that there is a need for us to take an editorial subject on the problem.

These editorials would naturally, for the protection of the VOICE staff, be subject to editing for taste, style and length. The VOICE policy will be to print as many of these guest editorials as possible.

To submit a guest editorial, an individual or group must meet only one qualification. The editorial must be delivered in person to the VOICE office between 7:30 and 11 p.m. on Thursday nights.

If you number among those who have been dissatisfied with the VOICE editorial policy, here is your chance to do something about it besides gripe. We strongly urge you to submit your own editorials or approach us with your editorial ideas.

Society plans 3 lectures

Pierce County, South Africa and Western Europe are topics in three lectures scheduled by the Pierce County Geographical Society.

These will be presented at the Pierce-Pepin REA auditorium, one mile west of Ellsworth at the junction of U.S. Highways

Karolides NCTE luncheon chairman

Dr. Nicholas Karolides of WSU-River Falls has been named local chairman for the Conference on English Education luncheon at the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) convention. The Wisconsin Council will host the 58th annual convention of the NCTE in Milwaukee, Nov. 28-30.

Besides general sessions, luncheons and banquet, and pre-convention meetings--87 programs in eight sequences are scheduled for Friday morning and afternoon, Nov. 29, and for Saturday afternoon, Nov. 30. The feature of this year's program is a special prose sequence on contemporary prose and children's literature.

"The Geography of Pierce County" will be presented by Dr. Cotton Mather, professor of rural geography, University of Minnesota, at 8 p.m., Friday, Nov. 8. Dr. Mather has published in leading journals in the U.S., Canada, Western Europe and Latin America.

His familiarity with Pierce County stems from his work with two national institutes in this area and from his summer residence in the county for the last few years.

The second in the series, "Farmers of South Africa" is at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22. Dr. John Fraser Hart, the lecturer, is a former executive officer of the Association of American Geographers and Editor of the Annals of that association. Dr. Hart has written several books and ranks as one of America's most eminent geographers.

"Europe: Town and Country" is the third lecture, also at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 6. Edward Maranda, assistant director of planning for the Twin City Metropolitan Council, will speak. Maranda has visited 80 countries on five continents during the past decade.

The public is invited. Admission is 50 cents.

Debaters take finals break

Debaters are taking a "finals break" during this and the next week. They will be preparing for the Whitewater pre-Christmas Tournament, Dec. 13, 14, which will include six rounds of debate and several rounds of competition in individual events.

The previous weekend students will be participating in forensic individual activities at Stout State in Menomonie. Areas of competition in this tournament will include original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, radio speaking, criticism, and after dinner speaking.

NSTA offering skiing trips

The NSTA, (National Student Travel Association) is offering student skiing trips to Canada and Switzerland. The association also features a Caribbean Christmas and intersession sailing jaunts. These trips are especially designed to suit the students' interests and budgets.

The Switzerland outing will last from Dec. 20 to Jan. 5. The students will spend one week in St. Moritz, winter sports capital of the world and then "ring in" the new year at Engelberg. Round trip air transportation, lift tickets, and room and board costs $460.

For a more economical trip, the NSTA offers "Go-Go Davos"--an invigorating 17-day ski vacation at the International Student Ski Camp in Davos, Switzerland. A $380 fee includes round-trip air transportation, accommodations and two meals per day.

For the seaworthy, NSTA has the "Mystic Whaler Holiday"--These are week-long Christmas and New Year's sailing trips through the Virgin Islands. The Christmas cruise will be Dec. 22-29; New Year's cruise runs from Dec. 29-Jan. 5. Round-trip air transportation from New York to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands is provided by Trans Caribbean. Seven days are provided on a wind jammer along with three meals per day.

NSTA's "Canadian Ski Capers" are available for both weekend and five-day trips, December through April, in Quebec. The weekend trip costs $30-$35 while the five-day trips cost $90-$99. These prices include lift tickets, room and board.

Yacht cruises in the Caribbean are also available through NSTA. Accommodations start at $325. This includes all meals on board and round-trip air transportation from New York to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

In the spring, NSTA has two programs in Bermuda. Bermuda Supreme and GO-GO Bermuda, are both available March 29-April 5 and April 5-12. Round-trip air transportation, accommodations, meals and planned entertainment costs from $240.

Article by RF journalism prof printed

An article published in the Autumn 1968 "Journalism Quarterly," lists as co-author, Mr. Walter Bunge. Bunge, a member of the faculty at WSU-River Falls, is an assistant professor in the journalism department.

"Johnson's Information Strategy for Vietnam: An Evaluation," was written by Bunge, Robert V. Hudson, and Chung Woo Suh, all candidates for the Ph.D. degree in Mass Communications at the University of Minnesota.

The project, according to Bunge, "began in a seminar dealing with the role of the press as an institution in society." The investigation was suggested as it was felt President Johnson was not using all the information at his avail to present his position on Vietnam.

The article presents cases for and against the war, then proceeds to the President's program concerning the war. The conclusion reached by the authors is that the President's information strategy failed on three levels. First it failed because of the President's credibility gap, second because of a lack of Congressional support, and finally because of an inappropriate appeal to the people of America.

A new strategy was proffered by the three men, calling for re-evaluation of American sentiment. The men proposed careful analysis of public attitudes, so that the President could present his case more effectively to the people.

When asked what he thought the destiny of Vietnam would be, Bunge replied that he saw the North Vietnamese as persevering people who would eventually unite the country. He feels elections at this time would not be feasible, as there is too much corruption in the "democratic" government of South Vietnam. "The South Vietnamese," said Bunge, are "not sophisticated enough to assume a democratic government."

Bunge, who earned his Bachelor and Master of Science degrees at the University of Wisconsin feels the United States is over involved militarily in its commitments, but can never become too involved economically. If there could be more equity in economies throughout the world, Bunge thinks peace could better be achieved.

McMillan Hall doing things says president

"McMillan Hall hopes to serve as more than just a place to sleep and drop your books," stated Kay Hayden, McMillan President.

Miss Hayden feels that "a dorm should, as a collective body, participate in various campus activities, maintain an intellectual atmosphere, and aid the student in developing his own particular talents."

So far this year McMillan has elected officers, set up committees, and has nearly completed a new constitution. McMillan participated in all of the Homecoming activities, including the nomination of a queen candidate and setting up of float and lawn displays.

The recent adoption of a twelve year old Indian boy is another of McMillan's programs. New business for the dorm centers around purchases to be made with dorm dues.

Dolly Center, McMillan Hall vice president, said the hall "can benefit from Inter-Dorm Council (IDC) and through this organization can, hopefully, change the atmosphere in the dorm. Our main purpose is to provide activities for the residents who are not committed to other organizations and for those who need to associate with the rest of the campus."

Library annex should be in use by winter quarter

The new library annex will probably be in use by winter quarter according to Robert A. Cooklock, head librarian. He said that delays which have been caused by the lack of furniture and shelves, are being remedied by the day as new shipments arrive and are assembled.

Cooklock predicted that winter quarter classes will definitely be held in the $1,300,000 complex and that the teachers' offices will be available also.

The main floor, which will contain all the reference materials and most of the books, will be opened in stages. At the present time there are no plans to close the existing library, but to transfer the materials bit by bit and to open each section as it is finished.

An unusual feature of the new annex is the positioning of reference materials. The card catalog, periodicals and microfilm are in the central reference area. Another special feature is the introduction of carrels or small alcoves for individual study. Special larger carrels will also be assigned to graduate students for their private use.

Falcons lose to Bluedevils

The Stout State Bluedevils, aided by the foot of Rob Van Valkenburg, scored an 8-0 victory over arch rival, River Falls, in freezing weather at Menominee Saturday.

Van Valkenburg, a sophomore from Brooklyn Park, Minn., gave Stout all the margin they needed with a 22 yard field goal with 7:26 left in the first quarter.

After a Kreibich punt, the Bluedevils started the drive on their own 35. On a third and six situation, quarterback Larry Helgeson hit Dan Tentcher for ten yards and a first down at the Stout 49. Reggie Holmes then exploded for 44 yards down to the River Falls seven for a first and goal. Donn Reibh hit the line for one;

Dave Goetzinger was stopped for no gain by Falcon Paul Juckem, and Helgeson was stopped for two around end. From the 12, Van Valkenburg connected.

Minutes later the Falcons found them with their backs to the wall as Jerry Trooien was thrown for a nine yard loss trying to pass. With Kreibich standing on his own five, the pass from center went over his head and into the endzone for a Stout safety.

In the second period, Stout drove across midfield from their own 15 yard line and a long bomb by Rocky Maxon was intercepted by Brian Kreibich. With the interception, Kreibich extended his conference record to ". The old record was seven held by Tom Carroll, LaCrosse, and Ted Ragatz, River Falls. He finished the season with 14 steals and extended his string to 11 straight games, including the last game of the season last year against Stout.

The last field goal was set up on a drive from the River Falls 40. After consistent yardage on the ground, Maxon hit Greg Sipek with a 13 yarder and a first down at the 22. The Stout ball carriers then bulled their way down to the 14 where Van Valkenburg connected again.

Trooien threw 14 passes before he connected to Bill Nelson in the second half. Trooien finished by completing 13 of 38 for 233 yards. Harold Blank caught five passes for 119 yards and Joe Rozak four for 93. Tight end, Tim DeLawyer didn't dress for the game because of a leg injury.

Linebacker Jim Kiesow didn't dress for the game also with a broken hand and halfback Ed Gruenwald saw limited action.

Norman Ross (32) and Tom Carroll (32) move up to help Brian Kreibich (15) stop a Stout running back.

Quarterback Jerry Trooien sends John Calahan into the Stout defensive line.

What a weekend! Wisconsin lost, River Falls lost, and both Minnesloppy teams won. What's a guy to do?

One good thing came out of frigid Arctic at Stout State and that was Brian Kreibich's interception. He made a beautiful grab deep in Stout territory. It was probably the best catch he made all year, and with the interception, he extended his record. See feature.

Paul Juckem played a fantastic game on defense. It seemed he was in on every tackle. At one point, he did have four tackles in a row.

The Falcons were hurting with injuries. Jim Kiesow, senior from Waterloo, Wis., broke his hand during a practice session and sat out the game. Tim DeLawyer, sophomore from Amery, didn't dress for the game either with a leg injury and Ed Gruenwald, Random Lake sophomore, saw limited action also with a leg ailment.

Stout's football field was sure in bad shape. There was water in the endzone and mud was a foot deep at the fifty yard line. The White Knight would have a field day in that mess.

Oshkosh and Platteville have to finish their game before the final statistics are complete. The game was in the third quarter with one play left, when a woman clipped off a power transformer sending the stadium into darkness.

After taking a good look at the teams in the conference, I have come up with a list of players who were great performers for their respective teams in relation to the conference. I feel this is how they stack up.

1. Chris Charnish, Platteville quarterback.
2. Brian Kreibich, River Falls defensive back.
3. Bob Bergum, Platteville defensive tackle.
4. Ron Cardo, Oshkosh halfback; Al Equi, Whitewater defensive guard.
5. Rocky Falaschi, LaCrosse quarterback.
6. Bruce Rasmussen, Whitewater halfback; Greg Jones, Whitewater halfback.
7. Terry Weinberger, Eau Claire halfback.
8. Bob Peck, Superior end.

9. Faherty, Platteville end.
10. Jim Goeckerman, Oshkosh quarterback.

Wisconsin plays the Gophers next weekend and I must go with Bucky Badger 10-7. The Badgers always get up for this game and it will be no exception next Saturday. Coach John Coatta will witness his first victory since he took the reins from Milt Bruin.

This is the last Voice until December 9. By that time the Falcons will have played four basketball games. The race will be very tight this year with Stout, Stevens Point, Oshkosh and River Falls battling it out.

I have faith in Benson's Boys, so I feel they will finish within the top three, IF they come up with a big center, IF we rebound our opponents and IF George Voss remembers to get on the bus.

The next time you read this column, the hockey season will have started under the direction of Gwynn Christensen. I am sure Gwynn is looking forward to the season. He may have a better win-loss record than he has had in football this year.

Two personalities will meet again as Christensen will look to Jerry Trooien to call the shots. We even have hockey cheerleaders this year.

I can't see why River Falls couldn't build an indoor hockey fieldhouse. If the University couldn't do it, why couldn't the town? I think it's a disgrace for the hockey team to travel to St. Paul to practice and many of our "home" games are in the Twin Cities.

River Falls is going to have a great team this year and in many years to come so I feel an indoor rink would encourage high school pucksters to enroll at RF and more people would attend these games. Who wants to stand in zero weather, braving wind, snow and a freezing body to watch the pucksters.

For those who traveled to Golden Valley last year to watch RF whip Notre Dame, you can see the enthusiasm and impact hockey has on this school. An indoor rink isn't impossible on this campus, is it? What about it? Anybody for a fieldhouse.

pick up information sheets for intramural basketball

Individuals and organizations wishing to sponsor intramural basketball teams for this winter are urged to pick up entry forms and information sheets from Rial Smith, Intramural Director, room 115 Karges. All entries must be in by 4:00 Friday, Nov. 22. League play will begin on Thursday, Dec. 5th. The intramural department will use the same format as last year, with games being played Monday through Thursday nites, with games being played at 7, 8, 9 and 10 o'clock. Something new will start this year, a commuters league. All commuters wishing to sponsor a basketball team contact the intramural office. Games will be played in the Karges Center during noon hours.

Greek turkey

Phi Delta Theta sorority and Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity are seeking an oven that will hold 20 turkeys, or 20 ovens that have a capacity of one turkey.

In observance of Thanksgiving Phi Delta Theta will prepare a traditional dinner of turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, along with trimmings and Sigma Tau Gamma has agreed to help devour the dinner and help with the clean-up.

The sorority and fraternity planned the dinner to promote a meaningful relationship between sororities and fraternities.

Luther Memorial Church is providing a kitchen and dining room but the sorority is still looking for ovens.

Jean-Claude Killy talks shop... Chevrolet Sports Shop

(Freely translated from the French) "I am a man who drives for sport... for fun, you know? This is why I am telling you about the brave new Chevrolet and its Sports Shop. Only in the Chevrolet Sports Shop do you find cars like the Camaro Z/28. Ah, the Z/28. Camaro with 302 V8, more muscular suspension and Hurst shifter. Only Z/28 offers 4-wheel disc brakes like Corvette, also in the Sports Shop.

"You will find, too, the Camaro SS, Chevelle SS 396, Nova SS and the big Impala SS 427.

"The Sports Shop. Part of the Sports Department at your Chevrolet dealer's. "But of course."

conference by kicking 58 times for 2153 yards for a 37.1 average. He has returned 15 kickoffs for 100 yards; run back nine punts for 71 yards and rushed twice for seven yards.

"He is the finest all-around football player we have," commented Coach Christensen. "He can play any position, anywhere. I compare him with Ted Ragatz. Both were (are) extremely capable and both are all-around kids."

Kreibich was a starting guard on Alma's basketball team that went to Madison for the State Basketball Tournament. Kreibich considers this journey as "the best thing that has happened to me."

Spring sports also enthused Brian as he lettered all four years in baseball.
