

Proudly We Hail Again Our Heroes Who Are Making Us Glad We Know Them

Hardly a day passes but what we get letters from our men in the service all over the world. Each of the writers makes mention of the letters from school pals and buddies who like himself are serving our nation. Because of government regulations the Student Voice can no longer reach our men who are overseas, but we still want their letters. We'll keep the Voice coming and we know you'll "Keep Em Flying," fellas.

EDWIN OLSON—AFRICA AGAIN

We are now stationed in Africa and we haven't stayed in one place over a month since leaving the states.

We have been in England and Africa and on trips in the planes to many wonderful parts of the world.

I am now stationed where there are two other classmates from RFSTC. One of them is my buddy who joined the army with me. We parted last January 12, 1942 in Texas. He is Sergeant Joseph C. Janicki. The other classmate is Lt. M. C. Person, whom I just met a couple of days ago. It was a real treat to meet these boys again and talk over old times. I received the Student Voice the same day I met Lt. Person.

The American soldier has every reason to be happy. He has pretty fair food, is well clothed, and his morale is something that just can't be torn down.

I just came back from a movie which was shown in a hangar on the line. The picture was George Brent and Joan Bennett in "Twin Beds." Tomorrow night we have a party and dance planned for the officers in our squadron. We are inviting about 35 American nurses in for the dance.

I am enclosing a copy of our first group paper. (This paper is now in the library on the table by the door.) It will give you an idea of what a happy go lucky bunch we really have.

There is a lot of work to do, but when we can relax we really have the time of our lives. I would like to hear from a few of the students as well as some of the instructors. I would like to get the Student Voice every week, as it sorta reminds me of those days I have yet to spend in RFSTC.

Yours truly,
Lt. Edwin R. Olson

REX FINDS WE'RE STILL "TOP"

We apologize to Sergeant Technician Rexford Mortimer, who corrected us on a few points which were wrong in the issue of Jan. 13. He says:

"I still am a sergeant technician not a technical sergeant. . . Who wants a corporal attached to his name when he holds the rank of sergeant!

. . . I received my technical training at the school for Medical Department Technicians located at Fitzsimons General Hospital, which is about eight miles east of Denver, Colorado, where the early morning sun casts a rosy glow on the majestic Rocky Mountains creating a picture which no artist can duplicate.

. . . At Denver, Colorado, I was in the city known nationally and internationally as having girls with the most beautiful legs, and you can take it from me that that statement is not far from wrong. But as far as I am concerned, I have yet to see a district, state, territory or country in which the girls come anywhere near comparing with those raised in good old Wisconsin.

While I was at Camp Berkeley, Texas, I had a taste of desert heat and dust. It was usually 105 degrees to 110 degrees in the shade. On those "little walks" which they used to schedule for us, they used to blow a Pretty, brunette Barbara Wright of Whitewater will act as Prom Queen this year and will lead the Grand March with her escort Robert Thayer.

She's The Right Girl

BARBARA WRIGHT

A student at the Whitewater State Teachers College, she is a junior in the elementary department. Her work and play there lead one to believe that she is quite a talented young lady, enjoying such cultural arts as painting, drawing, and singing. She is also quite a proficient pianist. Barbara is a member of the A Cappella Choir, the Whitewater Student Government Council and the Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority.

This will not be her first visit to our campus, as she was Bob's guest last year at the prom and again at the 1942 homecoming. She likes River Falls very much and often remarks about the friendliness and good-fellowship prevailing among the students.

Ghost Train Cancelled

The manpower shortage has made its effect felt on the College Masquers as well as on so many other activities. After frantically recasting several times, the additional blow of the loss of Dean Kittel forced the director, Carleton Ames, to admit defeat. At a vote of the cast taken at rehearsal Monday evening it was decided to cancel the production of "Ghost Train" which had been planned for March 11.

The ACE members announce a Story Hour to be held on Saturday mornings at ten-thirty in the Training School. All college students are invited to attend.

whistle and tell us to fall out and hit for the shade—when the only shade you could get would be to deprive some unfortunate grasshopper of his lonely blade of grass. While at Camp Berkeley I had the opportunity of being within 25 feet (or thereabouts) of Rita Hayworth, and you can take it from a guy who knows, she ain't worth whistling at. Here at Brigham City it is a totally different story for we are right in the middle of a Mormon district. When the hospital first opened up, the soldiers weren't even allowed to be seen on the streets of the fair city of Brigham but now we are getting invited out to dinner. Oh, well, I guess it is the fickleness of human beings."

Army Air Corps and Other Services Again Call Men

Uncle Sam beckoned six of RFSTC's Army Air Corp Reserves into service this past week. Dale Kelly, Ed Schmidt, Russel Rosen, Bob Lovell, and Merlin Groskopp, who are included in the group reported at Chicago for final tests and then were sent to Shepard's Field, Texas. Bill Hanson, however, went to Fresno Field Air Corp Reserves are still carrying on at RFSTC waiting for their notices.

Farm Boys Attend Short Course In RFSTC

The Federal Farm Security has put twenty two to thirty boys in our college this past week. These boys are here for a three week's course in agriculture and farm machinery.

Formerly from unproductive farms up north they after completing their short course here at college will be hired if not drafted first, by owners of large production farms.

The boys spend half of the day taking ag classes and the other half working in the shops on farm machinery. At night they have round table discussions and recreation hour. They use the swimming pool, gym, etc.

The Farm Security Board pays the boys' room and board and allows them spending money each week.

If it is possible to get more boys, this program will keep on for some time to come.

Radio Course Will Be One of Many New Classes

Several new courses are being offered this term as part of our war effort. Many of them should prove of great interest to our students. Miss Kenall our school nurse, will offer a two hour home nursing course. Mr. Sjowall and Miss Branstad will each offer a three hour physical education method course (121), which should prove of value to people who will graduate soon, for many of them will be required to teach physical education classes in junior and senior high schools. The activities in the victory program will be offered. Mr. Sjowall will also offer the two hour course in recreational leadership which was offered last year.

Miss Arbuthnot will teach a three hour vocabulary building course. In addition the one credit course will be offered for the people who started it in September.

A three hour course in Wisconsin history will be offered by Mr. C. Ames. Although this not a new course, it should prove of value to everyone.

Mr. Rozehnal will instruct a two hour course in radio and the four hour meteorology course offered by Mr. Mosher.

A four hour physiology course for pre-nurses will be offered by Mr. Ketchamp.

Mrs. Eide will present a two credit spherical trigonometry course for

Junior Prom Will Be Dedicated To Victory In the Armed Forces

Hail To King Thayer

BOB THAYER

Prom King for this year is the good-natured junior class president Robert Thayer. He is an "Ag Man" coming from Whitewater, Wisconsin, and is in the Naval Air Corps Reserve.

Bob is quite a versatile young fellow. Besides being president of his class, he is a member of the Honor Society FFA "R" club, Student Senate and the baseball and football teams. He was also selected to be student representative of the Athletic Council, All-Conference Guard in second team football, and in Who's Who in American Colleges. Not wishing to overlook anything, we might add that Bob is the milkman for the College Dairy.

His hobbies are athletics and crop-raising. He spends his summers preparing his blue-ribbon sheep for the State Fair and the International Stock Show in Chicago.

Miss Wharton's Musical Groups To Give Recital

Miss Cara Wharton is planning a very interesting and entertaining concert of ensemble music to be held in the auditorium on Sunday, March 7th, at 3:30 pm. Those taking part are Dorothy Nelson, Lois Bernd, Ruth Froiland, Shirley Wiff, Kathryn Sneesby, the Women's Chorus, and the Methodist Choir, fourteen of whom are college students.

The ensemble numbers are Schubert's "March Military," Schumann's "Concerto," "La Jata," a Spanish Dance by Gravodos, "Le Matin" by Charminade, and "Eascandle" by Schyttes. The Womens Chorus will sing "Oh Dry Those Tears" with Muriel Pearson as soloist. The choir will sing the Negro Spiritual "Were Yov There?", "Almighty God of Our Fathers", "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" with two pianos accompanying.

Several Seniors will appear in this concert, and it will probably be their last appearance in any concert given by Miss Wharton's as choir groups. You are certain to like the program, so plan to attend.

five weeks of the term, and Mr. Junkman will offer a one credit course in both solid geometry and slide rule. A student taking these courses will get four hours credit in mathematics.

The biggest event on the social program of the year is the junior prom, to be held on Saturday evening, March 6, 1943, in North Hall gym. Appropriately titled a "Victory Prom," the event will be dedicated to the armed forces, and the decorations for it will include different sections along the sides of the gym devoted to different branches of the service.

The prom will start at 8:30, the grand march being held at 9:00. Music will be furnished by Red Melgren's orchestra, and the charge per couple will be $1.50.

For the benefit of those men who will be leaving soon to join the service, the prom is being put on earlier this year. It is to be formal, however not to such an extent that everyone can't attend, and because it will probably be the last prom for the duration, all students are urged to take advantage of it and attend.

Committees for the event are functioning under the direction of Rudy Meehan, the general chairman. On the decoration committee are Amy Webb, chairman; Eileen Deneen, Vigil Clark, Margaret Simonson, Essie Solheim and Eileen Anderson; on the property committee are Elmer Hedlund, chairman; Neil Goodspeed, Jarl Diffendarfer and Bernard Bagan; on the publicity committee are Jane Gronlund, chairman; Hugo Dejong, Marjorie Dempsey and Donald Vruwink; on the punch committee are Anna Johnson, chairman; Beulah Crownhardt, Mildred Fleming, Carol Whitaker and Delores Hanson.

Bonsack Speaks At Annual FFA Banquet

The River Falls Collegiate Chapter of Future Farmers held its seventh annual banquet last Monday evening at the Gladstone Hotel. The banquet had been planned and arranged by Frank Reynolds and Bernard Bagan. Bernard Schumitsch was the toastmaster.

C. H. Bonsack was the main speaker of the evening with impromptu-speeches given by Mr. Wall, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Prucha and Mr. May. The impromptu speeches gave the banquet a typical Ag atmosphere.

The program consisted of group singing lead by Eddie Greschner, musical selections on the guitar by Hugo De Jong.

This banquet was also a farewell banquet to many of the Ag boys who will soon be leaving for the armed services.

SLANTS By JOCH

Youth's demand today for suffrage right for young men and women of eighteen years and older seem to be very justifiable. The young people making these demands are the ones who are assuring the survival of our democratic living. They are the ones who are fighting and dying on the world's battlefronts; they are the ones who have donned work clothes to keep our factories humming; and yet they would be denied the right to have a voice in the affairs of state and national government. The young men and women of eighteen today are more mature than the teen-agers of the past generations. Maturity has been forced upon them by the responsibilities which they have necessarily assumed. Certainly they should be entitled to a voice in the deliberations which will determine the peace and policies that will re-make the world they are saving, and in the selection of public officers who will execute those policies.

The Mathematics Club is affording a real service to students by offering a series of review lessons in high school mathematics, such as arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. A program of this kind is of genuine value to men and women planning on entering the services, as well as to every person who expects to be of any value in civilian life. We don't have to impress you with the importance of a working knowledge of the fundamentals of mathematics, even though a good many so-called educators have in recent years declared it "impractical". If you are a bit "rusty" in the art of using figures, don't be ashamed of it; instead, do something about it. Let the obliging Math Club members sharpen you up a bit.

We haven't talked to a single person who took advantage of the double-session summer school last year and was sorry for it. The importance of the time-element in education as well as other war jobs is evident. The shortage of teachers will soon become so acute that it will be the patriotic duty of those not to be called into service to begin teaching as soon as possible. Summer schools must therefore be utilized. Men expecting to enter the service benefit both themselves and the war effort by accelerating their educations. Aside from the basic value of an accelerated education, ask any of the girls who begin teaching this week, because they availed themselves of the double summer-session last year, whether or not accelerated education pays in dollars and cents too.

It doesn't look as if the tragedy of the Boston nightclub fire could be repeated in case a blaze should start in South Hall. Despite the fact that fire-drills are not held in our school, there was no sign of panic among students when the fire-alarm in South Hall was accidentally set off last Wednesday afternoon. In fact, it took most students so long to get started when the alarm sounded that a deaf observer, might think they were merely passing to classes. Some of them were so indifferent that they were seen standing directly under the alarm horn and discussing the probability of whether or not there was a real fire, and if so, how did it get started. One of the cardinal principles of safety in case of fire in a building is "walk, don't run"; but

Orchids To Vonnie And Cal:

Here's throwing a big bouquet of congratulations and lots of luck to our editor-in-chief, Calvin Larson, and our feature editor, Vonnie Johnson, who will no longer be the guiding stars of this little sheet. These two have shown so much initiative and good sense in editing our paper that their loss will be greatly felt.

Vonnie, as you all know, has already taken up her duties teaching at Granton; Calvin is leaving in the near future to join Uncle Sam's Army. Although we will be sorry to lose these young people, we shall be proud to have them represent our school wherever they may go.

Vonnie Johnson, a senior from Baldwin, majored in History and English. She was active in YWCA Sigma Chi Sigma, band, and the Student Voice. Calvin Larson, a junior from Weyauwega, also majored in History and English. He was a member of the band, Honor Society, and participated in intra-mural sports, besides being editor of the Student Voice.

So You're Going To Washington!

There was some very interesting information about the nation's capital from the Associated Collegiate Press in the mail, so I'll pass it on to you just in case you're interested in getting a job in that city. There are a tremendous number of "horror" stories coming from Washingtonians. But I guess that's quite natural, because there are one and a half million people living in the city—and it was only meant to hold half a million.

Nevertheless, as military circles would say, the situation is under control. Spare rooms and attics are being converted into living quarters. Then too, the government is building temporary dormitories for its workers.

If you're going to Washington, you'll be interested in the following information which a good bureaucrat wouldn't be found dead without. You must remember, for example, that no government conference is quite complete without reference to the "over-all picture". The over-all picture, of course, is something you should never lose sight of! When the conference is inter-departmental, you should remember to ask conferees from other departments, "What would your shop think about this idea?"

When someone asks you how the situation looks, the appropriate preface to your remarks is the observation that "The last report from the field was . . ." "The field" may be any number, or all, of the forty-eight states.

In ducking a responsibility—an important technique to develop if you wish to progress—always remember to say, "We're not the action agency on this." Or you can say, "That's outside our jurisdiction." Or, if you don't have the slightest idea of what your questioner is talking about, "We'll check the file on that."

When you send some correspondence, or a memo to higher authority, the correct remark to make to your associates is that you've sent the material "through channels." Everything in Washington moves "through channels."

When you're in an aggressive mood and wish to impress a superior, simply thump your desk, temperately but firmly, and say: "This—this, gentlemen—is all-out war!"

Once you've mastered these few comparatively simple fundamentals, you may consider yourself well on the way to a bright career in Washington.

THE END OF THE TERM BLUES

I've got those "end-of-the-term blues." Efen I could write songs, I'd write a song about 'em—but I can't write songs. Efen I could write stories, I'd write stories about 'em—but I can't write stories. Efen I could write poetry I'd write a poem about 'em—but I can't write poetry. Efen I could write, it'd help a lot!

Those end-of-the-term blues" just sort of crept up on me unbeknown—just like the end of the term and term tests. It's remarkable good heavens, man, it does imply that you should at least keep moving toward the exits!

CAN YOU TAKE A HINT KIDS?

Once upon a time there was a little chaperone who was often asked to attend a college dance. Now this little chaperone liked to dance; so she very obligingly came whenever asked.

But you see, it didn't say in our book of etiquette that individuals chaperoning a dance must be asked many hours ahead of time—being caught in the halls between classes on Friday afternoon was plenty of time for a dance Friday night.

Then, of course, she could never expect to have anyone call for her on the evening of the dance—a group of stag girls, a couple, or even another chaperone. She must go over to the school alone, expecting maybe to see another chaperone there, and maybe not.

Now the River Falls dances are so informal that no one dreams of filling out a dance program for this unescorted chaperone, nor does it say in the little book that she must be provided with anything other than a wooden bench to sit on—a bench which is already over-populated.

She will learn as time goes on that she can't expect the fellows to dance with her, for they stand the chance of being accused of "polishing the apple." And the blue book doesn't even say that they have to go over and speak to her.

So—Little Miss Chaperone soon learns that she is expected to stand over in the corner through dance after dance, completely ignored, her presence merely making the occasion "proper," and all in all having a perfectly miserable time.

The moral of this little story is—well you figure it out.

how some people get all upset and study the last week of the term. (I'm taking vitamin-pills for this very nervous difficulty.) It's no wonder I have that blue "let down" feeling after four (well, anyway three and a half) nights of study.

There is some consolation in the fact that I'm not the only victim of the "end-of-the-term blues." Or have you noticed Virgie Clark and Audrey Luberg too? It's been rumored that their cases don't have the usual "end-of-the-term blues" symptoms. In fact it was even hinted that their blues bear all of the symptoms of the "all alone and lonely" variety. Of course I never take much stock in such gossip.

They tell me that there is no accepted way to get rid of these pesky blues—accepted by Miss Hathorn and Mr Stratton, that is. After the war is over, I'm going to work on a fool-proof cure.

DROOP SNOOPS

Here it is the end of the term and we haven't even one law-suit on our hands! Not that we're disappointed! In fact, it's mighty refreshin' to know that you don't resent our all-seeing eyes too much.

Speaking of eyes—have you noticed that "Chick" Ubbelohde and La Verne Dahlby both have the habit of looking in the same direction lately? And say, if you want to know how you stand with the men at the House-of-Jerney—just ask Dorsch and Storz to see that mighty, interesting little list they have displayed on their wall.

Seem' as how all the beauties from the House of Sly are going out school-marring next term, we'll have to turn our spotlight elsewhere for some interestin' goings-on say, to the House of Jensen, for instance.

Suprises of the week: Martin Burmeister with the snappy little blonde number—beautiful Merle Hunter with the Klug lad at a recent Seldom Inn party—Rudy Meehan being more than gallant at the same party. Don't miss the gem that Julie Patten is sporting—Congratulations to her and Ken!

We suppose that you kids have got dates all lined up for the junior prom! Don't lose anytime—it's just two weeks away, you know.

Just in case you've been losing any sleep over who's been the "snooper" of Droop Snoops, it was your own Vonnie Johnson, and we'd say she didn't miss many of the tricks. Good luck in your new job, Vonnie, ol' girl!

Be good, chillun, and take it easy—but take it!

QUOTABLE QUOTES

By Associated Collegiate Press

"Military officials have been appalled at the fact that many of their recruits—college and high school graduates—have little or no knowledge of mathematics or science unless they specialized in one of these fields. Our liberalized education has been so liberal that the graduate got but a smattering of anything and retained virtually nothing. Learning can be made more enjoyable than it was a century ago when knowledge was got at the impetus of a hickory rod, but if school is going to be all recreation, then there isn't going to be much learning." Dr. H. J. Leon, professor of classical languages at the University of Texas, predicts postwar education will have fewer "frills and more substantial teaching."

FALCON SPORTS

Falcons Drop Thriller to Stout, 52-50

Last Friday night, the Stout cagers nosed out a determined fighting Falcon five by the score 52-50.

As the final minutes of the game drew near, Stout visualized a repetition of last year's defeat at the hands of River Falls in the season's final. However Hesselman, Blue Devil center, put the game on ice as he dropped in four straight gift shots in the last minute and a half to overcome a 50 to 48 lead.

The game started slow, and Stout moved into a 18-7 lead midway in the first half. The Manionmen, however, came back strong for the half ended with the Red and Whites trailing 23-24.

The second half was close all the way with Stout pulling away and River Falls cutting their lead with spurts to remain on the heels of the home team. With but three minutes to go, McCardle netted a bucket to put the Falls in front 50-48 for the first time in the game.

It was at this point that Hesselman took over and handed the game to Stout.

Storzer was removed from the game on personals in the final minutes, and his loss was felt heavily.

Hesselman, Chartrow, and Sullivan led the scoring with 18, 15, and 13 points respectively. Box score:

Dempsey Bests Linehan In Badminton Tournament

Marjory Dempsey defeated Eva Jean Linehan in a close contest for the woman's badminton championship. (The table-tennis tourney has been discontinued for lack of players and playing.)

The blue and red basketball teams, captained by Jean Linehan and Eileen Anderson respectively, are tied in the woman's intramural tournament. The games held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon are close and hard, and the outcome of the tournament is far from decided.

Volley ball will begin soon after the start of the new term. Also will begin practice of ten minutes of body-building exercises at the start of each gym or sport hour. All women are urged to participate—to play basketball, volleyball, badminton, table tennis, and to swim—in this Physical Fitness program!

"Appearance Counts" --- Supt. E. P. Lock Finds

"To a school superintendent, the attitude, appearance and speech of an applicant count as much or more than his qualification." This statement was made by Mr. E. P. Rock, Superintendent of Hudson Schools, in a talk before a joint meeting of ACE and Midguardian organizations, Tuesday evening, February 16. Mr. Rock, speaking from his own experience, urged the girls to be careful of their appearance—clothes, hair style, make-up,—to use discretion in their speech, to be frank, honest, humble and above all, not a conversation monopolist. Mr. Rock made plain to the girls that he has hired or fired merely because something was not "up to scratch" during the first interview.

RURAL LIFE

The Rural Life Club met Thursday evening, February 19. The program consisted of the poem "Paul Revere" read by Bernice Metcalf and a talk on Paul Revere by Miss Mabel Jorstad. Movies on Paul Revere, India, and the Rural Life convention that was held last fall were shown by Miss Jorstad's sister.

Fate is against us—La Crosse lost four regulars the week following their game here, and now three of Stout's first five go to the Air Corps after playing River Falls.

Andy Phillip has been breaking Big 10 records galore. It looks as though he will be the first one ever to have a 20 point average for the season.

Look out for Illinois. There's just about the best basketball organization in the country. They held Kotz scoreless for the only time in his college career.

Close only counts in horseshoe, but the Falcons almost took Stout. It was a close, exciting game, and you should have heard the noise made by the Stout cheering section.

Our gym will be the scene of a lot of good high school basketball during the next week. Spring Valley and New Richmond are rated one-two in this tournament.

Next Friday we play Superior, here. Titus is the big offensive threat for the Yellow Jackets. It should be quite a game.

Puff-pant Prom and Bean Soup Party Big Successes

No girl could help having a good time at the Puff-Pant Prom, especially with such exceedingly handsome and extravagant escorts. Competing for honors in the realm of hilarious fun was the Bean Soup Party at which Professor J. P. Jacobson was the jovial host.

Students Become Teachers

Many students who have had their practice teaching and are graduating at the end of this term, or are near graduating, have already secured teaching positions.

Pauline Olson is now teaching mathematics at Milltown; Norma Howe is substituting in the second grade at New Richmond; Yvonne Johnson is teaching history at Granton; and Mrs. Dana Rasmus (Beverly White) is teaching English at Ellsworth.

February 22, Margaret Stronks and Jane Jewson began teaching; Margaret is teaching the fourth grade at Clear Lake and Jane has the second and third grades at Elcho.

On the first of March, Evelyn Plombon goes to Grantsburg to teach junior high and Joyce Morton goes to Medford to teach social science.

Ralph Van Sickle will begin teaching soon at the Roosevelt Military Academy at Aledo, Illinois. He will teach science and mathematics.

Several other students have been applying for positions and it is expected that before very long they will be called into the teaching field.

ROZEHNAL CONDUCTS SUPERB FINAL CONCERT

Playing to a large audience last Sunday afternoon, February 14, the college band gave an excellent program of both classical and modern pieces. Mr. B. J. Rozehnal, the able director of the band, dedicated one of the outstanding numbers, the "Czech Phapsody" by Weinberger, to his father, on whose birthday the performance was given.

"Music Inspires Morale" was the appropriate theme given to this concert. It is certain that everyone who heard the program was inspired by the beautiful music of the program, and the thorough Americanism of the last part of the program.

The entire school is grateful to Mr. Rozehnal and the band members for giving this inspiring concert which

PARTY COMMITTEE VACANCIES FILLED

At the regular meeting of the Student Senate last Monday night Dorothy Edkins and Kathryn Sneesby were appointed to fill the vacancies existing on the party committee. Miss Edkins is a senior from River Falls and has always been active in school activities. Miss Sneesby is a freshman from Amery and was chosen because of her ability and because of her interest in college affairs.

Other business transacted at the meeting was the drawing for the third term and the ironing-out of the conflict in meeting times arising between the orchestra and ACE.

Life in The WAAC

Some questions and answers of interest to every patriotic college woman

The drilling sounds so strenuous—!

Nonsense! The most beautiful women in America today are the girls in khaki! Some calisthenics and drilling are vital to general good health, discipline and tuned-up reflexes. After a few weeks at Fort Des Moines, Daytona Beach or the new Fort Oglethorpe training center you'll feel better than ever in your life.

Maybe I wouldn't like the work?

People are happiest doing what they do well. Every effort is made to place you where your service will count most toward final Victory. You may have some latent talent that will fill a particular need for work interesting and new to women—such as repairing the famous secret bombsight, rigging parachutes, operating the fascinating new electronic devices—or driving an Army jeep over foreign terrain.

Then I have a chance to learn something new?

Yes, indeed. And the list of WAAC duties grows constantly. The training and experience you get in the WAAC may equip you for many stimulating new careers opening up for women.

What are my chances of promotion?

Excellent. The Corps is expanding rapidly and needs new officers, both commissioned and noncommissioned. Those who join now have the best chances. All new officers now come up through the ranks. If qualified, you may obtain a commission in 12 weeks after beginning basic training.

What is the age range and other requirements?

Very simple. You may join if you are a U. S. citizen, aged 21 to 44, inclusive, at least 5 feet tall and not over 6 feet, in good health—regardless of race, color or creed. But the Army needs you now—don't delay. Total War won't wait!

Linguists needed. If you speak and write Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, French, German or Italian, see your local Army recruiting office now! You are needed for interpreting, cryptography, communications.

First of all, is the WAAC really needed?

Emphatically yes! Already the President has authorized the Corps to expand from 25,000 to 150,000. The Air Forces and Signal Corps have asked for thousands of WAAC members to help with vital duties. Both Ground Forces and Services of Supply are asking for thousands more. Members of the WAAC may be assigned to duty with the Army anywhere—some are already in Africa and England.

Can the WAAC really help win the war?

The whole idea of the WAAC is to replace trained soldiers needed at the front. If American women pitch in now to help our Army (as women in Britain, Russia and China do), we can hasten Victory—and peace.

What can my college education contribute?

College training is important equipment for many WAAC duties too long to list. Cryptography, drafting, meteorology, laboratory work, Link trainer and glider instructing, for example. If you are a senior you may enroll at once and be placed on inactive duty until the school year ends. See your WAAC faculty adviser for more details.

But can I live comfortably on WAAC pay?

There are few civilian jobs in which you could earn clear income, as WAAC enrolled members do, of $50 to $138 a month—with all equipment from your toothbrush to clothing, food, quarters, medical and dental care provided. WAAC officers earn from $150 to $333.33 a month.
