Language Arts Conference Dec. 4, Registration 9 a.m. Dr. Charlotte I. Lee, Speaker

Dr. Charlotte I. Lee, Professor of Interpretation, School of Speech, Northwestern University, will be the featured speaker at the third area conference on Language Arts, to be held here Saturday, December 4th. Registration begins at 9 o'clock, in the Little Theatre.

Dr. Lee, a noted authority in speech and author of "Oral Interpretation", will speak on "Improving the Speech Interpretation Program in the School."

This meeting is the third of a series of conferences on Language Arts, which the college began last spring. Dr. Francis P. Chisholm, chairman of the English Department, organized this series of programs, which will continue discussing various phases of the language arts. The two conferences this fall have been held with the cooperation of the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association. Dr. Blanche Davis of the college faculty is chairman of this conference, assisted by Superintendent F. M. Robey of Clayton High School. Mr. Robey is chairman of the River Falls District Association.

Another phase of this meeting will be the consideration of problems of basic speech skills. Blake Anderson, speech correctionist at the college, will talk on "The Need for Speech Improvement." Robert James, St. Croix county speech correctionist, will speak on "What the Classroom Teacher Can Do."

A panel composed of high school teachers and one superintendent will discuss the topic "Basic Speech Skills in Oral Reading." The panel will include Doris Fuka of River Falls, Darryl Lien, Superintendent of Amery Public Schools, Thelma Willink of Elmwood, Helen Hartwig of Hammond, Francis Rolle of Hudson and Frances Williams of Roberts.

In the afternoon there will be reading demonstrations by high school students. The conference will be concluded with comments by Dr. Lee and Dr. Chisholm. The coffee hour will be at 2:45.

Dr. Francis Chisholm, head of the English Department, started the series of Language Arts Conferences last year.

King Selects Vocal Groups

Mr. King, director of the college choir has selected the choir members who will sing in two girls trios and one male quartet.

In the trios will be first sopranos Elaine Mortson and Marilyn Murphy, second sopranos Mary Weatherhead and Mary Olson, and altos Audrey Windal and Elaine Solum. Joan Engbretson will be the accompanist.

Members of the male quartet are tenor Leroy Brown, second tenor Gary Buck, baritone Dean Carlson, and bass Dave Zerahn. The accompanist will be Marlys Olson.

In addition to working as single units the groups will combine for one rehearsal per week. They will be prepared to perform as a single, small mixed ensemble similar to last year's folk singers.

King Announces Christmas Program December 12-13

Chauncey B. King, director of the college choir, has announced the dates for presentation of the choir's annual Christmas music festival. The choir program will be given Sunday, December 12 at 3 p.m. and Monday, December 13 at 8 p.m. in the North Hall auditorium. Mr. King says that this year's Christmas festival will attempt to carry out a church setting.

Program in Three Parts

The program is divided into three parts. The first part will feature choral works dealing with Biblical prophecy of Christ's birth, the second with the Christmas story, and the third part with adoration and praise. Ronney Jensen as narrator will read scriptures related to each part of the program.

Several of the choir presentations will feature quartets and trios including the regular male quartet and girls trios picked by Mr. King earlier in the quarter.

In the first part of the program the choir will sing: "O Come O Come Emmanuel" as arranged by Paul Christianson, "There Shall A Star From Jacob Come Forth" by Mendelssohn, and "And The Glory Of The Lord" from "The Messiah" by Handel. The male quartet will sing "Lo, How A Rose Ere Blooming".

On the second part of the program is: "Fanfare For Christmas Day" by Shaw, "A Virgin Unspotted" by William Billings, featuring two mixed quartets with the choir, "The Virgins Slumber Song", sung by the girls trio, "Sing We Noel" as arranged by Edward Green, sung by the male choir, "Joyous Bells Of Christmas" a Danish Carol by Luvaas, "Silent Night", to be sung by one of the girls trios, "How Far Is It To Bethlehem"—a childrens song of the nativity, as arranged by Paul Christianson, "Let Carols Ring", a Swedish folk melody arranged by Pfohl, "Shepherds Awake" sung by the male quartet, "To Shepherds Fast Asleep" by Davies, and "O Holy Night" sung by a girls trio.

In Part three of the program, the choir will sing "Of The Father's Love Begotten", a 12th century plain song by Lindquist and "O My Soul Bless God The Father" as arranged by Simes. There will be no admission charge for either performance, however a free will offering will be asked.

The Christmas music festival is an annual event on campus and the choir spends most of the fall quarter in preparation for it. Accompanist for this year's performance will be Marlys Olson, of Baldwin.

Student Insurance Can Be Renewed

It will be possible for you to renew your student insurance policies as soon as this term is over. The student senate will have a box in the registrar's office where you can deposit the premium. The blanks will be there too.

Anyone who didn't have the insurance the first term may get it now if they wish. You are covered while playing either intramural basketball or varsity ball.

The premium for the full winter term is $2.00.

RF Debators Win Excellent Ratings at Bradley Tourney

Participating with fifty colleges and universities from ten states, varsity speakers of Wisconsin State College at River Falls placed excellent in all events at the Eighth Annual Bradley University Speech Tournament on November 19 and 20 in Peoria, Ill.

Results in individual events were as follows: Larry Henneman of River Falls won an excellent rating on his oration "Something Old, Something New." Beverly Domaika of Rhinelander won an excellent rating on her original folk tale, "Exploits of Febold Feboldsen;" Shirley Engleman of Woodville received an excellent rating on her after-dinner speech, "Societies," Shirley was the only girl in this division of speaking; and Jerry Murphy, River Falls, received an excellent rating in extemporaneous speaking. Jerry spoke on phases of the subject of diplomatic recognition of China.

Shirley Engleman and Jerry Murphy won excellent ratings in Discussion. The question was "How can the American educational system best meet the needs of our society?"

In debate the affirmative team of Henneman and Murphy won three out of four discussions. They won over Illinois Wesleyan, Carroll, Bradley University, and lost to the University of Chicago. The boys won an excellent certificate in debate. The negative team of Engleman and Domaika won decisions over St. Ambrose and Northern Illinois and lost to St. Louis and the University of Illinois. One hundred forty-two debate teams were entered in the tournament.

Professor Ed. Peterson of the College Debate Committee accompanied the students and judged throughout the meet.

The student and their areas of participation include: Shirley Engleman of Woodville—debate, discussion and after-dinner speaking; Beverly Domaika of Rhinelander, debate and folk-tale telling; Larry Henneman of River Falls, debate and original oratory; and Jerry Murphy, also of River Falls, debate, discussion and extemporaneous speaking.

The Bradley tournament, one of the major tournaments of the year with more than 40 major colleges and universities participating, is the second tournament of the school year that River Falls has entered. Last week, the River Falls team placed third behind St. Olaf and Eau Claire in the fifth annual Women's Debate tournament staged at St. Olaf college in Northfield.

Ten schools were represented at that meeting, with two teams from each school debating "Resolved the U. S. Should Extend Diplomatic Recognition to the Communist Government of China." The River Falls team consisted of Mary Lou Jensen of Hudson and Annette Peterson of Rice Lake arguing the affirmative, and Shirley Engleman and Beverly Domaika arguing the negative.

The debate program at Wisconsin State College at River Falls is under the direction of Miss Marion Hawkins.

Freshman Class Schedule Dance To End Term

"The Kings of Modern Swing" a six piece band from Frederic, led by Bruce King on the trumpet, will play for the "Farewell" or end of the term dance to be held in North Hall Gym the night of December 1. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:30.

The Freshman class will sponsor the dance and they will be selling refreshments. Glen Hartman, Freshman Social Chairman, announces that there will be special entertainment during intermission. Janice Strizic, of Holcombe, Wisconsin, will do a special "tap" number and there will be songs by Sandra Knox of River Falls, and Carol Anding of Hudson.

The Editor Speaks . . .

ON LINE-JUMPERS BEING B.M.C'S—

It is easy to find out who the important people are on campus. If you observe the chow line during the dinner hours you can pick them out easily. No matter how long the line is you can always find these "important, busy hard-working" people busting into the line.

What? You say they aren't the "big shots"! They think so! They must. Anyone with enough guts (the disease commonly known as "laka-en-e-manners") to walk up to the front of a chow line certainly must think their time is more valuable than that of others.

ON GETTING THE WORD—

"You were supposed to report to the Dean's Office yesterday. Where were you? Why didn't you show up?"

"I didn't know that. Nobody told me."
"Didn't you see the sign with your name on it down in the cafeteria on that bulletin board. You know, the board with those other thousand or so signs and posters on it."

Such conversation takes place frequently on campus. Let's do something about such circumstances. We need an O.B.B. (official bulletin board).

By official bulletin board we mean a board placed in a designated spot in both North and South Halls which will hold official notices from the Dean's, President's, and Registrar's offices.

It should be made clear that these boards are for "official business only". Separate bulletin boards should be used for class and organizational business.

EXAM DAY

—Shortfellow

Exams draw near, and heavy gloom pervades;
All gayety takes leave of once-gay blades.
Then studious hearts prepare for dread exams,
Forsaking women, wine, and song, and even Hamm's.

Did Galileo know Copernicus?
Did Newton say things fall in spite of us?
He'd probably leave apples on their trees
If subjected to some courses such as these.

To study well, one needs a proper spot.
A place where one could quickly learn a lot;
A place with cheerful friends to guide one's hand—
Johnnie's, that is. A short one would taste grand . . .

The fateful day, with dread import, draws nigh;
And afterward, you'll promise with a sigh,
"I'll study next term—I'll get right down to it!"
The thought is good, BUT WILL YOU EVER DO IT???

Students Are Waking Up . . . Swamp Editor With Letters

Dear Editor,

For Sometime I've been interested in the campus school, and, after a series of interviews with faculty, practice teachers, President Kleinpell, and Dr. Stone, I felt that an article or series of articles would do much to clarify a somewhat confusing situation.

But since Halbert Belt, senior, has now launched a reform movement, I thought that it would be of public interest to publish the following letter of commendation:

11-14-54

(Confidential)

Dear Halbert,

Congratulations! You've joined the ranks of the reformers (in reference to your letter to the editor, 11-8-54). We're all proud of you. Think of it! Only 3 1/2 years ago you were a high school student. Now, after making an interesting record in the education department, and taking a try at practice teaching, you have suddenly become an energetic and courageous critic of the American educational system. May you soar to new heights!

But don't let your immaturity bother you. Many great men have achieved fame in their youth. Alexander the Great was only 20 when he began his brilliant military career. Napoleon became an officer at 16. You too, will go down in history. So much for the flattery.

My real purpose is to encourage and help you in your crusade. Frankly, just between you and me, your letter was bold but not well written. It scares me to think that I could teach you anything, yet, as one of your admirers, I humbly submit the following observations:

1. You wrote, "I am a practice teacher." You're mixed up in the tense here. You should have written, "I was a practice teacher," because when you wrote the letter, you had already "quit" practice teaching. (I won't discuss your record as a practice teacher now however, since this letter might fall into the hands of others, and then you would really be embarrassed.)

2. "I dodge two . . . brats . . .", you said. This is unfortunate phraseology, and a sweeping generalization. My suggestion is, don't judge everyone by yourself.

3. "Having put in four boring hours", you state. Your use of the word boring makes the reader think that you're not interested in children.

4. After implying that you have previewed films, etc., you allege, "I am well prepared." You shouldn't leave yourself open with such an assertion. Someone might question it, and refute it. In fact, someone did.

Next time you write a letter Halbert, come to me, and we'll see if we can't put it over without so many errors. But I know that you meant well. I just didn't agree with your methods, Senator.

Your friend,
Les Newville

Dear Editor:

After many successful shows on campus, the film committee presented "The Captain's Paradise" in cooperation with the local theater. The title of the picture doesn't begin to do justice to the "paradise", "heaven", "deal" or whatever else you want to call "it" that Captain St. James, the hero of the plot possessed.

I believe it was a real compliment to the student body, and people of the community, to have the opportunity to view this film and treat it as adult, thinking, and broad minded individuals should. Let's face it, it was a funny picture, and there wasn't over three and one-half "boys" in the audience who wouldn't have given their right arms to have been in the "Captain's slippers". He had found the secret of happiness that we all long for, that is, to be able to express our dual natures without the entangling encumbrances placed upon us by society.

May I offer my congratulations to the committee, as well as my thanks, and wish them the best of everything in their search for movies to be presented to the students at our "ivy-less halls of learning".

Sincerely yours,
Ron Jensen, (one not as fortunate as the "dear Captain". . . .)

Dear Editor:

the United States, centers around the method to be used for drawing students to all-school activities, especially those which are not regularly scheduled convocations. The competition for students' time and money is increasing, while the amount a student has of said articles is decreasing.

But I ask the student body, "Must one well-established organization have to suffer, while other less social, and perhaps less cultured activities flourish." The writer is not inferring that our fine concert band is more important than athletics, speech, or numerous other groups, but it is here stated, that the part such an organization plays in the life of each and every college student is felt for years to come. This includes non-music lovers as well as students and lovers of music.

Certainly more of our student body should make a sincere attempt to attend programs such as the one of Tuesday evening, November 9. The school is equally proud of its band, along with its fine choir, and debate and athletic teams. But from the size of the crowd, a visitor to our school would certainly wonder what is being taught and practiced here.

In all fairness to members of the band, we as a student body can not say we rewarded their hard work with our grateful applause: not when half of a meager audience consisted of faculty members and interested citizens of River Falls.

We will pay twice the price of a concert ticket to view a movie, and perhaps ten to twenty times as much to enjoy "so-called" recreation with our friends at Bel-denville, so why can't we support something "really" worthwhile.—Nuf' said—

Dear Editor,

The so-called silent generation is disappearing. In its place is coming the "spoon-fed generation." The new philosophy is: Be entertained, be taught, be shown but don't eat—be fed. Demand morality from others but make moral responsibility an arch joke—the moralist is a jester.

Is that the attitude which places the bulk of work in the hands of few?

How many of us join an organization to absorb its prestige only, and never contribute to it? Let's look at it another way. How would you like to be on the intramural team that had to relinquish a game because the team members did not all show up? How would you like to be the director of a band and never have a full instrumentation at rehearsals? How would you like to practice part of a play over again because a member of the cast was missing at the scheduled time? Or maybe an editor and have people slow down the system because of a negligent attitude toward "deadlines"?

There is no "spoon-fed" way to keep an organization or activity going. Like a chain, an organization is crippled by "missing links." Like a plant an organization is inhibited in its growth by parasites who draw from but never add to. "Parasites and missing links" plague many organizations. Campus organizations need us but its our willing hands, not our open mouths that are in demand.

Seven Lettermen Are Back Team Hopes For Tall Man

What has become an annual search for "That big center man" is on again here with head basketball coach Phil Belfiori doing the looking.

Last year the search ended successfully when Don Fick stepped in to fill All-American Roger Kuss' shoes. Fick himself went on to win all-conference honors before the cage season was over.

So far this year, Belfiori is still searching.

If, and that's a mighty big if, Belfiori can find a tall man for the center post, the Falcons could be a top threat in the 1954-55 Wisconsin State College conference chase for seven lettermen are back this year, six from last year's squad and one back from service.

Richard Wells and Bob Williams, each after their fourth letter in as many years of basketball at the college, are expected to head up a fast, sharp-shooting squad. Both are forwards, and Williams was an all-conference team member last year.

Expected to add to this shooting power are Cabby Wild, Sammy Erickson, Dave Fisher and Dick Fischer at the guard posts. Dave Herum, letterman forward-center back from last year's teams, also is out for the team again, as is John Steffen, backfield star from this year's grid squad.

Which indicates that if the big man can be found, the Falcons could be very dangerous.

Belfiori had hopes that Manley Olson, a six-foot-eight-inch student from Maiden Rock might be his answer to the problem, but to date Olson has not been out for practice. He has been confined to his home for the past three weeks with a serious illness, and his value this season is thus in doubt. Another potential center is Jim Page who stands 6-7 but will not become eligible to play until after the middle of January.

River Falls will kick off its 18-game schedule this year with four quick home starts. On December 3 the Falcons will face Michigan Tech, on the 6th it's Bemidji State Teachers, on the 11th conference play begins with La Crosse, and on the 15th St. Cloud Teachers will play on the Falcon court.

Belfiori expects to have a fairly strong team this year, but picks Eau Claire to be "top team" in the northern conference, followed by Superior, while in the southern area he thinks Milwaukee and Platteville will be the teams to beat. He is beginning his third basketball season at River Falls.

Muskies Win Intramural Football . . . Bowling Underway

Intramural sports are progressing rapidly this year. The football season closed with the MUSKIES winning all five games for an average 1,000. All of these games were by large margins. This team was composed of Krull, Eckardt, D. Fisher, R. Fischer, Hoffman, Postler, Menas, Stoflet, Korhonen, and Langer. The team standings were:

Team	Won	Lost

Mr. Polsfoot now wants all basketball teams in by NOVEMBER 23. Basketball will start December 6th. Please watch the North Hall bulletin boards or the "Voice" for further notices.

Bowling Started

Bowling has gotten underway and will continue into January. The team points will be scored in this way, each single game won will count one point and the total pins for the two game series will count one point. Therefore there is a possible three points in each match. But only two games constitute a match instead of the usual three.

Through the first week of bowling teams No. 3, 6, 7, were tied for the top. John Steffen had the high single game with 196 while Dick Passon had the high series with 323. High game was team No. 7 with 585 and they also had high team series with a score of 1153. Included on this team are John Steffen, Vern Steinmetz, Bob Hubert, Dick Passon, Bob Peot, and John Matson.

Bowling schedule up to Christmas vacation is as follows:

- Dec. 1 Team No. 2 vs. team No. 5, team No. 3 vs. team No. 4, team No. 6 sets pins.
- Dec. 6 Team No. 1 vs. team No. 6, team No. 5 vs. team No. 7, team No. 8 sets pins.
- Dec. 8 Team No. 4 vs. team No. 8, team No. 2 vs. team No. 3, team No. 7 sets pins.
- Dec. 13 Team No. 1 vs. team No. 5, team No. 4 vs. team No. 6, team No. 2 sets pins.
- Dec. 15 Team No. 3 vs. team No. 7, team No. 2 vs. team No. 8, team No. 1 sets pins.

Two Major Rule Changes In College Basketball Explained by Belfiori

FIRST 3 HOME GAMES

- Dec. 3—Michigan Tech.
- Dec. 6—Bemidji STC.
- Dec. 11—La Crosse SC.

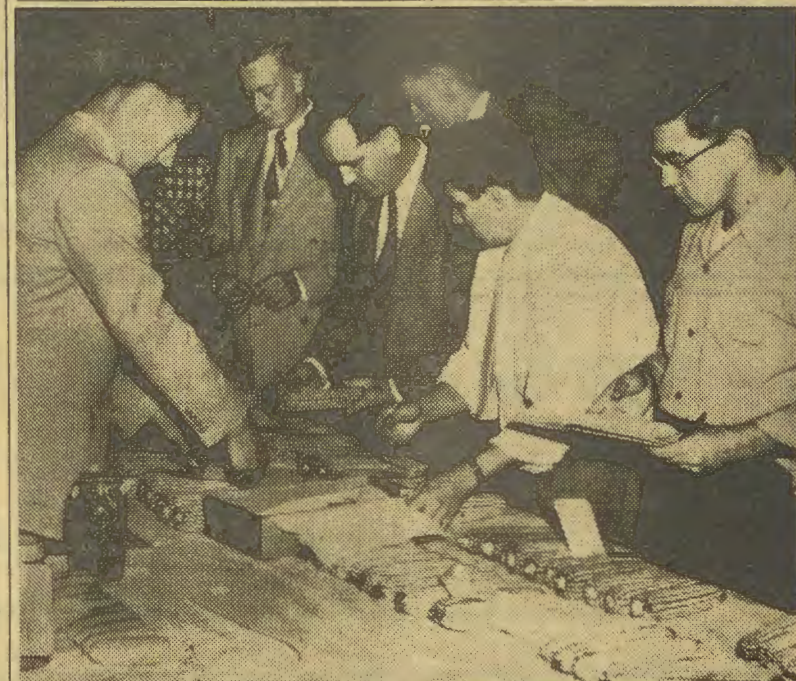

This year there will be two major rule changes in college basketball. According to Coach Belfiori they will involve the old "1 and 1" rule and the quarter system.

In an attempt to put a premium on foul shooting the rule makers have changed the "1 and 1" rule. This year if, on a single shot foul, the foul shooter misses the first shot the ball will go into play. However, if he makes the first shot he will receive a second try. In so doing the rule makers completely reversed their position of the last few years when the rule was that if a player missed the first shot he received an extra shot and if the first shot were made the ball went into play.

The second rule change abolishes the quarter breaks. Now each half will be twenty minutes and the only time outs will be when called by a team and not at the end of the ten minute period. In so doing the center jump at the start of the second and fourth quarters is abolished.

CHOSEN IN DANCE CLUB—

Janis Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Benson, 106 No. Sixth Street, River Falls, has been chosen to become a member of Junior Orchestras at Beloit College. This is a modern dance club, with two sections, Junior and Major Orchestras. Member of Minor Orchestras will improve their dance technique and, in the Spring, the members of minor orchestras are voted upon and initiated into major orchestras.
