Captain A. Hasselt Discusses Adventure Before History Club

Commanding Officer of C. C. C. Camp at Ellsworth Tells Of Arctic Flight

"My adventures in the Arctic regions" was the topic of an address given by Captain Bert Hasselt, commanding officer of the Ellsworth C.C.C. camp, before the History Club Tuesday evening.

The topic dealt with the adventures which befell Captain Hasselt and a companion, "Shorty" Kramer when they attempted to establish an air route to Europe which would be less dangerous than others which were contemplated.

The explorers left Chicago in the summer of 1928 and flew northward to James Bay from whence they had planned to fly eastward to the European mainland. They were criticized by U. S. newspapers for attempting to reach Europe by flying north.

Due to strong winds, they were driven off their course between fueling points, and their fuel supply was exhausted. They found themselves marooned from civilization on the southern tip of Greenland.

With only a rifle, axe, revolver, and small supply of food, they set out to locate a camp which was being used by the University of Michigan for meteorological studies. After thirteen days of perilous hardships, they were rescued, and to use Captain Hasselt's words, "It was the happiest day of my life when I heard the sound of a motorboat coming across the bay."

Their food during these two long weeks consisted chiefly of pemmican made from buffalo meat and tallow. On one occasion they shot a ptarmigan, a northern species of grouse, but aside from that, they refrained from killing the caribou, blue fox, and other wild animals which inhabited that barren waste. They realized that the animals, like themselves, were putting up a brave struggle for existence.

Their homeward journey was also eventful in that their small craft was wrecked on the rocks.

In conclusion, Captain Hasselt emphasized the progress and commended the work which is being done by our American airways.

Dr. R. A. Karges Will Speak

The Deutsche Gesellschaft will hold its meeting Thursday evening in the social room. A program featuring Dr. R. A. Karges is being planned.

A photograph of the assembled group will be taken for the Meletean. Refreshments and German games will occupy the social hour after the program. Each prospective attendant is asked to bring a nickel.

Baffling Mystery Is Solved

"Surprise! Or is it a secret? Where? When? What's everybody waiting for?" These and similar queries floated about the campus. The more ambitious students searched among the many dog-eared, ancient notices on the bulletin board, but no clue was to be found.

All over the corridors in North and South Halls, groups of students discussed the weighty problem.

As a committee of one, your reporter set about to solve the baffling mystery. No strange or unusual sounds were issuing from any of the wings of South Hall; so our detective training told us that our search led elsewhere.

Across the dry-run we dashed, to the doors of the new building. Ah! Just as we thought, weird, spine-shivering noises rose from the lower halls.

"Guess we've got something here," we mumbled in our collar as we raced toward the noise.

Sure enough, there in North Hall gym was the traditional set-up for "Ye Old Spring Term Matinee Dance." However, your old detective is still wondering why such a tradition of the old institution should be kept a deep, dark secret.

College Band To Present Concert March 23

College Vaudeville Is Scheduled for April 22

Dr. J. H. Owens Is In Charge of Organization Stunts

Plans for the "biggest and funniest" college vaudeville ever held are being made for this year's annual college vaudeville to be held Thursday, April 22.

"Bigger and funnier than last year's faculty Christmas party," are the words used to describe the faculty stunt. Professor Arthur Johnson is head of arrangements for this stunt.

A five dollar prize will be awarded to winning stunt presented by an organization, the faculty stunt not being eligible for the award. Dr. J. H. Owens, chairman of the organization stunts, requests all organizations who wish to have a stunt to appoint stunt chairman and begin work before the vacation. About April 15 there will be try-outs to limit the number of organization stunts to about six.

Following the program in the auditorium, there will be a dance in the North Hall gymnasium, the orchestra to be announced later.

The annual college vaudeville sponsored by the Athletic Council always proves to be one of the outstanding entertainments of the college year, and this will be no exception. The admission will be only twenty-five cents, which includes admission to both the program and dance.

Tickets for the vaudeville will be printed soon, with members of the "R" Club conducting the selling campaign. Professor E. A. Whitenack is head of financial arrangements.

Notice to Meletean Subscribers

Students who did not pay the Meletean subscription of seventy-five cents at the time of registration may make this payment in South Hall, first corridor, Monday, March 22.

College Masquers Present Four Plays Wednesday Evening

Four Plays Are Directed by Student Coaches As Part Of Masquers Work

The College Masquers presented four one-act plays last evening in the college auditorium. All of these plays were coached by Masquer members.

"Heels", by Joyce Caraway, coached by Francis Haugh, is a study of an immigrant family's adjustment to a strange America. The vivid characters and appealing love interest add to its attraction. The cast was:

Peter ----- Eugene Gossen
Magda ----- Betty Jane Hogue
Mr. Blankinsop ---- Romain Brandt
Maria ----- Rhoda Hawn

"Land's End, by Dorothy Hughes, is woven about the Irish superstition of the will-o'-the-wisp who dances its victims over the cliffs to death. It is an Irish fantasy. The coaching was done by Marion Hawkins. The cast included:

The Countrywoman - Lucille Spriggs
The Wisp ----- Vern Dahl
The English Lady - Lenore Anderson
The Maid ----- Olive Joos

"Hotel Dilemma" by James K. Donovan, is a clever comedy taking place in a hotel corridor. The unforeseen climax makes this farce irresistible. Niles Grunke was the coach. The parts were played by:

The Young Man -- Lawrence Gherty
The Prima Donna -- Harriet Campbell
The Old Gentleman -- Arnold Rhiel
The Young Girl ----- Lucille Evans
The Old Lady ----- Doris Nystrom

"Thirty-three," by Hiram Gordon, was coached by Joyce Leonard. A paralyzed old lady outwits two crooks. The characters were:

Miller, the crook ----- Bill Carlson
Lucille, the maid ----- Olive Joos
Mrs. Simms-Vane ---- Avis Swanson
Miss Jones ----- Ruth Moen
Police --- Jim Webert, Jack Osborne

Y.M. and Y.W. Sponser Easter Vesper Service

A dramatic and musical Easter vesper service will be sponsored jointly by the YMCA and the YWCA on Sunday, March 21 at 4:30 p. m. It will be held in the college auditorium.

One of the features of this vesper service will be a play entitled "The Things That Are Caesar's" written by Dorothy Clarke Wilson. The setting for the play is in the bare room of a soldiers' barracks in Jerusalem.

John Bradley Will Give "The Sacrifice"

Apprentices Will Present South African Tragedy

A one-act play "The Sacrifice" by Lewis Stone will be presented by the college Masquers at the assembly program, Thursday, March 18. This play is coached by John Bradley, a member of the Masquers, and Masquer apprentices comprise the cast.

"The Sacrifice" is a dramatic tragedy, and the scene is in the house of a British colonel on an island in South Africa. Hugh Sutherland sacrifices himself to stop the drum beating that is driving the people mad.

The cast includes:
Colonel Sutherland ----- John Lowe
A Doctor ----- Fred Hanson
Suna, a maid ----- Stella Tobiassen
Hugh Sutherland -- Lyman Morrow

Sophomores Elect Officers

New officers were elected by the sophomore class at their meeting March 5. The following students were chosen: president, Frederick White-marsh; vice-president, Thomas Ronnigen; secretary, Cyril Lyons; treasurer, Dorothy Anquist.

Rural Life Club Will Meet

The Rural Life Club will hold a short meeting at 7:30 Thursday evening. Pictures will be taken, so all members are urged to be there.

The regular meeting, postponed because of examinations and vacation, will not be held until April 8.

Fifth Annual Spring Band Concert Will Be Held March 23

Works of Modern Composers Will Be Presented In Concert Selections

Works of modern composers will be featured by the concert band in its fifth annual spring concert under the direction of Professor B. J. Rozehnal, Tuesday, March 23, at 8 p. m. in the college auditorium. The admission charge will be twenty-five cents.

The opening number, "Apollo Overture" by a modern composer, Haydn Wood, was composed as an ending for the "Unfinished Symphony." The band will next play the first and third movements of the "Ballet Egyptian" by Alexandre Luigini.

"The Dance of the Comedians" from the opera "The Bartered Bride" is a selection from the works of the Bohemian composer, Bedrich Smetana. For the fourth number, Professor Rozehnal has chosen a composition from another modern composer, Friedemann's "Slavonic Rhapsody."

An outstanding selection of the second half of the program will be a cornet trio, "Bolero" by W. M. Smith, featuring Frederick Bremer, Newell Younggren, and Alfred Chelgren.

"Friml Favorites" is an arrangement by Freddie Grofe of a collection of hit songs from Rudolph Friml's musical comedies. Among the hits included are the well-known "Sympathy Waltz" and "Allah's Holiday."

The program will also include "My Hero," a march paraphrase of an Oscar Strauss melody, and "The Vision of Fuji San" a Japanese tone poem by Albert Ketelbey.

"Turkey in the Straw" a concert band arrangement of a typical old fiddler's breakdown will furnish a novel touch. And "Skyliner," a concert march much used by the University of Illinois band, will conclude the concert.

Masquers Formal Is April 10

The Masquers annual formal will be held Saturday evening, April 10, in the North Hall gymnasium. Ray Keyes' Orchestra from Albert Lea, Minnesota, will play.

Robert Johnson, as general chairman in charge of the formal, is superintending all arrangements. Committee chairmen who are working on plans for the dance are Ruth Phillips, decorations; Eugene Gossen, invitations; and Ruth Gullick, punch.

Students Like "Dutch Treats"

"The Dutch Treat" is getting to be more popular with men and women college students. There is no reason why the men students should pay all the expenses of taking the ladies to theatres, dances, and parties. More of the young men have to work their way through college than the ladies, most of whom have the money furnished them. It isn't fair, and in this day and age of equality, the "Dutch treat" way is the fair way. An eastern women's college president has come out unqualifiedly for the new plan.

And why not the Dutch treat occasionally? Is there any logical reason for not going halves on a date? Isn't it just precedent and tradition that holds us back? We wonder whether it was a boy or girl who tacked this clipping on the bulletin board. It would be very interesting either way. If it were a girl, it was rather clever of her - maybe she'd like a date with a certain party to the extent of going Dutch. If a boy posted it, it would be an expression of resentment against the present system by which, contrary to popular belief, the man literally pays and pays.

Come on, girls, why the reluctance to play the game through? There has been quite an epidemic of bets being made (and mostly lost, we understand) the last few weeks. Doesn't this show a trend toward the equality idea?

How about an all-college Dutch-date night? Other colleges have taken up the idea in a big way, and have been immensely successful. Come on, re-read the clipping, and think it over. If anyone has any comments, pro or con, the Voice box in South Hall is open for them.

Regents Secure President

The University of Wisconsin regent committee has finally succeeded in finding a man willing to assume the position vacated by Glenn Frank in the person of Clarence Dykstra, city manager of Cincinnati. We heartily commend the choice of the committee, but we can't help feeling that it must have been somewhat discomfoting to them to have so many of the prospective candidates refuse to be considered. We think we can read between the lines when they give their refusal, "I prefer to remain here where I am most happy."

Teachers' Health Important

Our attention has been called to an attempt by Madison officials to make it compulsory for a teacher to satisfactorily pass a rigid physical examination before being admitted to the faculty in any of the city schools. The discovery of a case of active tuberculosis in one of the teachers was the cause for the suggested change. We wonder if the officials have not considered it possible that this case may have been contracted in a poorly ventilated, overcrowded room. Wouldn't it seem more reasonable to insist upon schools maintaining conditions which would protect the health of its teachers before it insisted that the teachers be in perfect health before entering the institutions? Yes, we'll admit that the law requiring a teacher to submit a certificate of health to the school board along with the application is easier to enforce than the one already on the statute books in regard to school buildings, but why should the teacher be once more made the goat? How many of these teachers, who are perfect specimens of health when they enter the school, will leave that school in such a condition? All, we hope, but we are skeptical. We have seen too many cases of poor eyesight develop in ill-lighted rooms, too many cases of shattered nerves from crowded classrooms, and too many cases of other physical disorders arising from overworking the teachers and not allowing enough time for recreation. We think fairness should be exercised by school boards. There should be give as well as take. If the educational systems of our country are to progress, they must attract teachers of high calibre. People of high calibre will not enter the teaching profession if it is a one-sided proposition where the teacher must give his most treasured possession, a healthy body, as a sacrifice on the altar of education, and then, in his misfortune, receive as reward, the scornful sneers of an unappreciative element that now regards him as a parasite of society.

Editorial Comments

Among other student comments on the question of the Supreme Court reform, we heard this one: "If Roosevelt's for it, I am." No doubt Roosevelt would at present appreciate a few more senators with that acquiescent attitude, but such unquestioning approbation savors slightly of that accorded Hitler rather than that of a thoughtful American student.

This week the Masquers have presented an evening performance and the band is scheduled for a concert next week. Both of these organizations at various times present free programs for the students. Knowing from past experience that these entertainments are always excellent, we suggest that your attendance will be not only worthwhile to you, but also an indication to the organization of your appreciation of all their programs.

Campus Silhouettes

This senior is, in his own terminology, a milk-fed product of the fertile Mann Valley. (And he eats his lettuce, too.)

Seriously speaking, he is qualified to speak of the products of Mann Valley, for ever since he was 12 years old, he has been engaged in some agricultural project there. One of his projects, improving the fertility of some acres in that same valley, netted him three first prizes in the course of four years. His 1929 project literally went up in smoke - his 4-H club calf burned to death when lightning struck the barn.

Naturally enough, he has studied the agriculture courses both in high school and college, and, provided some school board is willing, he will also teach it.

He likes good orchestras and claims he can pick them in spite of the fact that the choice of a Prom orchestra at one time laid his reputation low. Is a member of the Masquers and has a flair for dramatics. Is mildly resentful when one suggests that his tie leans that way also.

His face (comparatively), white (so his driving license says) and just 21. Is not handicapped by bashfulness. Underneath his swaggering, happy-go-lucky exterior, he takes himself and life quite seriously. Really has plans for a career.

You may think you know who he is, but this may catch you. He's not Norsk, but German; he has played football and, not the least of his accomplishments, he has made the honor roll.

If you're in doubt, turn to page 4 for the answer.

New Library Books

During the month of February, the college librarians have added a number of new and interesting books to the shelves.

In literature have been added Russell's Modern Plays and Playwrights, Brook's Flowering of New England, Quinn's History of the American Drama from the Civil War, and Shakespeare's The Complete Works, edited by Kittredge. To the shelves of history have been contributed Vinacke's History of the Far East, Andrew's Colonial Period of American History, and Hubbard's The Older Middle West. Travel books have merited by the addition of Stark's Southern Gates of Arabia. One biography, Chesterton's Autobiography, and two social science books, Robinson's Human Comedy and Germany's Foreign Policy by Hitler have been purchased.

Moment Musicale

The enthusiasm which most students of public school music do in general feel for the courses devoted to their subject cannot be regarded as a gauge to the merits of those courses. The average student elects them in pursuit of what he feels to be a far-sighted and 'practical' goal. Since the public school music courses are set up to serve this end, it is natural that the students should generally be pleased with them; and it also follows that the student will not be displeased even if the course fails to give him more than a rote knowledge of music itself. Anything like a real understanding of music, a technical proficiency in Theory, or a generous reserve of musical knowledge such as would give both vigor and weight to his teaching is usually lacking. Equipped with a repertory of teaching pieces, a few pedagogic devices, a smattering of Accoustics, the ability to play an instrument and finger most of the rest, and a college degree which testifies to these achievements, a student is prepared at graduation to offer himself to any school. He is likely to be little more than a walking textbook; but he has come up to the standard set for him. (Taken from a "Survey of College Music.")

Falcons Add Three New Opponents to '37 Grid Schedule

Falcons Play Four Conference Games; La Crosse To Be Homecoming Foe

The Falcons are starting spring football practice within a few days in preparation for one of the strongest football schedules that the local school has had in years. They have signed three two-year contracts with schools that the local fans haven't seen for years, if ever. They open the season with a home game against Mankato State Teachers College. This team was formerly coached by Emmet Lowery and has at its helm at present, Carter, one of the Purdue Touch-down Twins.

They next meet Joe Benda's St. John's University team at Collegeville, Minnesota. Their first conference opposition comes from Eau Claire on the Eau Claire field, and then comes the big Homecoming battle with LaCrosse. A trip to Milwaukee is followed by a home game with Michigan Tech. The season closes with a trip to Superior and a game with Stout on the local gridiron. This is a very well balanced schedule. The Falcons will play four games at home and four away. They have four conference games.

The dates for the games are:

- Sept. 25—Mankato at River Falls
- Oct. 2—St. Johns at Collegeville
- Oct. 8—Eau Claire at Eau Claire
- Oct. 16—LaCrosse at River Falls
- Oct. 23—Milwaukee at Milwaukee
- Oct. 30—Michigan Tech. at R. F.
- Nov. 5—Superior at Superior
- Nov. 13—Stout at River Falls

Intra Murals Have Volleyball Tournament

The volleyball tournament will begin this week, with 14 teams seeing action Tuesday night. Each contest will consist of an 11 point game. The winner will be the team winning two out of three games played in succession at the scheduled time. The losers will be immediately eliminated from tournament play. The members of the winning team will be given awards by the athletic department.

Fifteen volleyball teams have been selected. The following are captains of teams: Donald Staley, Leo Stenbach, Dale Johnson, George Roberts, Glen Gerhardt, Ben Hylkhema, Albert Stiener, Elmer Hehnke, Eugene Gossen, Allen Peterson, Cyril Lyons, Nolen Niccum, John O'Brien, Gordon Martin, and Lloyd Frank.

Basketball Letters Are Awarded to Nine Men

The basketball season has come to a close, but the echoes of the Falcons will ring in our ears for months to come. Coach Lowery has just taken care of the last formal bit of business in announcing the letter winners for this popular sport. He is following his custom of awarding more letters than has heretofore been done. He is starting a precedent that should bring as its result a larger number of men trying for places on the athletic teams of this school. The student body should appreciate this as it will tend to strengthen the teams that represent River Falls.

Coach Lowery has designated the following men to receive the basketball awards for this last season: Russell Nystrom, Walter Herkal, Merton Wulf, Stanley Torgerson, James May, Charles Cudney, Ward Randles, Kenard Skyberg, and Marcel Nelson.

Dan's Dope

Now that basketball practice is over, Falcon athletes are eagerly awaiting the opening of the baseball season. The battery men are already busy in the gym limbering up the old "soups." Mel Erickson, veteran, and "Pickles" Stenbach will undoubtedly be the "big guns" of the mound staff this year. Other promising candidates for this position are Torgerson, Stuner, and Blaisdell.

Al Erickson's contract with Columbus leaves Coach Lowery with a big gap to fill at the receiving post. Rendler, veteran outfielder, is being tried as a catcher and is at present the leading contender for this position. Other men who show ability behind the plate are Morris, freshman from North High, Minneapolis, Al Peterson, and Christenson.

On paper, at least, the Falcons look like a winning ball club. A crew of veterans are back from last year's team, and reports are that there will be plenty of new material trying out for every position. Veterans are: Wulf, Herkal, Dan Johnson, Nystrom, Osborne, Rendler, Erickson, and Stenbach. This list, however, indicates that new recruits will have to handle some of the outfield positions.

A summary of the results of the basketball season show the Falcons outscored their opponents by 47 points — making a total of 563 points against 516 for the opposition.

Prescott high school, winners of the tournament here, now enter the tournament at Eau Claire which is to take place the latter part of this week. Kulas, ex-Falcon star and acting coach at Prescott due to the illness of their regular mentor, has the best wishes of all his River Falls friends.

Most of the fellows that took in this tournament thought the Glenwood cheerleader was as big an attraction as were the games.

Bud Manion's high school players were disappointed last week because they could not take in the Class B tournament at St. Croix Falls. Health authorities thought the boys had better not go because of the danger of spreading scarlet fever.

Hudson defeated Osceola, Spring Valley and Ellsworth to win the tournament. They played the final game against Ellsworth without the services of Riedel, star center, who became ill following the Spring Valley game. Ellsworth also had tough luck in this game being minus the services of two regular forwards; Harlander, who suffered a slight concussion in the first game of the tournament, and Fitzpatrick, who broke his finger in the first play of the final game.

Now that the Big Ten coaches have decided to follow the example of the Pacific coast conference by eliminating the center jump, the chances are that high schools and colleges will also fall in line and expect this innovation. The National Basketball Coaches Association is considering the proposal this week. Big Ten teams will use the jump only to start each half and overtime period, and after technical and double fouls.

Miss Ilene Mau and Kenneth Wallen former students of River Falls State Teachers College were married March 6 at Menomonie, Wisconsin. Mr. Wallen is teaching agriculture at Downing, Wisconsin.

We all remember the stage hit of a few years ago entitled "Fifty Million Sweethearts." At the boarding club we now have a situation that might well be entitled "Fifty Swains and One Sweetheart." There's an iota of the romantic in those boys.

Elected Captain

Russell Nystrom, star Falcon guard for the past two seasons, was unanimously elected to lead the 1937-38 basketball team by members of the squad at the annual basketball banquet Tuesday, March 16.

Badminton has literally taken the college by storm. A mixed doubles tournament and a women's doubles tournament are being played at the present time. The singles tournament was completed on Thursday, March 11.

In a thrilling exhibition of badminton, LaVernia Jorgenson defeated Miss M. L. Branstad 3-2 to win the women's singles tournament. Miss Branstad took the first game by a close score, but LaVernia forged by winning the next two games. Miss Branstad captured the fourth game, thus tying the games at two all. The fifth and final game was freakish as LaVernia ran up eight points before Miss Branstad began to score. Securing the serve, Miss Branstad succeeded in tying the score at eight all before LaVernia broke through her service to win the game 11-9. Smashing volleys and physical endurance were LaVernia's strongest points, while Miss Branstad's short shots and finished playing served to keep her in the running for the finals.

Forty-two players have entered the mixed doubles tournament, and 22 have entered the women's doubles tournament. Both are ladder tournaments working on the challenge system. A challenged team must play off its game within three days or forfeit the game. The tournament extends over a period of time, and the team at the top of the ladder at the end of this time wins the tourney.

Debate Tourney Held For Inexperienced

Eight Colleges Represented; River Falls Wins Honors

Eight Wisconsin and Minnesota colleges were represented in the fourth annual invitational tournament for inexperienced debaters held on the local campus on Saturday, March 13. The tourney was sponsored by Wisconsin Delta, the local chapter of the national forensic fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta.

On the basis of individual team records, first honors were gained by the Bethel Institute team from St. Paul, Minnesota, who won all of their four debates. Teams from River Falls and Concordia College of St. Paul tied for second with three wins and one loss respectively.

River Falls with eight wins out of 12 debates, and Eau Claire with seven decisions in 16 debates led in the highest number of victories. Since the colleges were represented by varying numbers of teams, it was not possible for all schools to have an equal number of debates.

The complete tournament record follows:

	W	L	Ave.
Bethel Institute	4	0	1000
Concordia	8	2	750
River Falls	12	4	666
Hamline	4	2	500
Eau Claire	16	7	430
Augsburg	4	1	250
Macalaster	4	1	250
St. John's	6	1	166

The River Falls squad was represented by three teams: Mae Nelson and James Webert won 3 and lost 1; Osborne-Gherty won 3 and dropped 1 decision; and Michaelson-Olson broke even by winning two and losing two.

The local student judges who participated in the tournament were Marion Hawkins, Joyce Leonard, and Frank Sirianni. Roman Zorn, as president of Wisconsin Delta, was in charge of the tournament arrangements. Coach W. D. Wyman was in general supervision of the tourney, of which he is the originator.

The River Falls tournament is considered to be outstanding in that it is probably the only tourney in the entire nation in which participation is limited to inexperienced or second team debaters, and in which the judges are drawn from the ranks of experienced college debaters rather than from debate coaches.

Following the four rounds of debating, River Falls was host to the debaters, student judges, and debate coaches at the tournament banquet served in the college cafeteria.

At the dinner the results of the tourney were announced, and speeches were given by President J. H. Ames, Coach Fred Hughes of St. John's U, Student Judge H. Lewis of Hamline, G. Lundgren of the Bethel team, and Dr. W. D. Wyman. Roman Zorn served as toastmaster at the banquet.

Debate Squad Is Entertained

Dr. and Mrs. Wyman entertained the college debate squad at a supper at their home Sunday evening.

Following the supper, the squad members were asked to vote on:

1. What member of the debate squad had made the greatest progress during the season?

2. What member of the squad had been the most valuable?

Joyce Leonard was unanimously chosen as having made the most progress. Roman Zorn was chosen the most valuable debater. Prizes were awarded to the winners.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge and monopoly.

ACCEPT POSITIONS

Two rural students have recently received teaching positions for next year.

New Teachers College Magazine Is Published

The Wisconsin Teachers College Record, the first issue of which appeared this month, is the first known publication of its kind.

It is not primarily an educational magazine, but it represents an attempt on the part of the Board of Regents to supply a medium for the exchange of expression and communication between the nine teachers colleges of the state. It also supplies general information about the institutions as one of its many functions.

The members of the faculty of each college are the contributors to the publication. In each college a local editor or editorial board is appointed who is responsible for gathering the material at the institution he represents. Prof. O. M. Hanna is the local college editor.

This publication is of interest and of professional value to all college professors as well as those engaged in teaching in lower institutions.

Dr. Wyman Judges Debate

Dr. Wyman acted as critic-judge at a debate held last Thursday night, March 11, at Burton Hall, on the University of Minnesota campus, between women's teams of that institution and the University of Iowa.

The topic for debate was, resolved: That the essential features of the N.Y.A. should be made permanent.

The decision was awarded to the University of Minnesota team which upheld the affirmative case.
