Today Marks Kick-off For March of Dimes Drive

by Don Laue

Monday, January 16 has been selected as "kick-off day" for March of Dimes Week, Jan. 16-20 on the River Falls campus. The entire week will be dedicated to the task of raising funds for the victims of that crippling disease, infantile paralysis. An intense canvass is planned for the month of January in hopes that every student on campus will be contacted.

This coming week will offer a number of attractions guaranteed to make the week a success. Monday through Friday will find special hours set aside in the cafeteria for the individual to contribute.

'Dime March'

Monday morning, and continuing all week, 9:30 to 11:00 will afford students the opportunity to join the "Dime March", and also meet the captain for the day, Jim Laue. During the afternoon, the time between 1:30 and 3:00 will enable students to meet the captain and join this worthy cause.

Captains Selected

Captains have been chosen for each day of this week, wherein they will be responsible for it. Tuesday's captain is Larry Henneman, Wednesday will see Ardyce Miller heading the day, Mike Fleming will be in charge on Thursday and Doris Lindemann completing this ambitious week on Friday.

Movies

Thursday evening a varied film program will be offered with the presentation of two famous films. "The Great Train Robbery" was the motion picture which we first sought to use as the media to tell a story. The second film, "Mutiny on the Bounty," features Charles Laughton in one of his best roles as Captain Bligh.

The film program will be presented at 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. so that students may attend a show immediately after dinner or when the library closes.

There will be a minimum charge of 25 cents per person, but a student may contribute any amount over that figure that he wishes, as his price of admission.

To make this week and this year a success, the faculty com-leave of absence to continue work on her doctorate in health at New York University. Miss Hopkins received her B. S. degree from the University of Minnesota and her M.A. at Columbia University. She has taught physical education at the Universities of Delaware, Illinois and at Kalamazoo College in Michigan. At River Falls, Miss Hopkins will teach physical education and health courses.

Another new member of the faculty is Gerhardt Bohn of River Falls, who will teach in the Agriculture department. He is a River Falls graduate with an agriculture and science major. He is doing graduate work at the University of Minnesota. Mr. Bohn is married and has two children.

BOOK HOUR CHANGE

A change in program for the Library "Book Hour", Sunday, Jan. 22, has been announced by the Library Committee. The play reading scheduled has been postponed.

Dr. Harold Hodges of the sociology department will review two recent books in his field: "The Authoritarian Personality" and Riesman's, "The Lonely Crowd". The lecture will take place at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 22, in the Little Theatre of the Chalmer Davee Library.

Musical Variety Show to Open Foundation Week January 23-28

The Hut Four Quartet will headline a big variety show Monday night, setting the stage for Foundation Week, January 23-28. Additional attractions on the program are the Hudson pantomine group, the Girls Trio, pianist, Harry Elzinga and Jerry Best, playing the cornet.

Committees Combine Funds

The Foundation committee has decided in conjunction with the Neil Mulholland Memorial committee to combine the money in the memorial fund with that expected from Foundation Week and buy a large outdoor bulletin board. The board would be erected in memory of Neil Mulholland. The committees feel that such a board is needed to replace and supplement the numerous and scattered notice boards presently used on campus.

The new board will be placed in some advantageous spot on campus, weatherproofed and illuminated, so students could view it after regular school hours. Sufficient room for each organization to post its own latest announcements, in its own section, will be provided. The board will also provide space for notices from special committees, as well as a campus directory to assist visitors.

All-School Assembly

An all school assembly will be held Wednesday to explain the origin of Foundation Week.

Solley to M.C.

Bill Solley will be master of ceremonies for the variety show, Monday at 8 p.m. All events scheduled for the week will be at this time, unless otherwise designated. Prices for the show are adults 75 cents, college students 50 cents, high school students and children 25 cents.

Tuesday night, the committee plans a sleigh ride, followed by a dance in the dorm with music on record. Wednesday, Jan. 25 River Falls visits Carleton for a basketball game.

Dorm Enlargement Starts in Spring

Construction on the third floor addition to Hathorn hall may begin before the end of the spring term it was learned today in an interview with President E. H. Kleinpell. The architects are Schubert, Sorenson and associates of La Crosse. Bids for the addition will be published in February.

The third floor addition will have practically the same floor plan as the second, however the rooms will be at least six inches wider. It will house approximately 52 girls and will relieve some of the crowded conditions that now exist at the dorm. Laundry facilities will be available on the third floor.

Hathorn hall was finished in 1951 and houses slightly more than 100 girls. The dorm is named for Miss Irma Hathorn, former dean of women at the college.

NOTICE

Petitions for Winter Carnival King must be handed in to a Student Senate member by 6 o'clock, Monday, January 23. Only the first three petitions will be accepted. Petitions must be clarified through the dean's office and contain the signatures of 50 students.

This program was originally scheduled for January 10, but the singer was delayed because of storms in the Atlantic which prevented his return from Europe as scheduled.

Sixteen RFSC seniors will be included in the 1956 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities". The announcement was made by B. J. Rozehnal, dean of men. The seniors selected for this honor are Annabelle Eitland, Glenn Gill, Doris Lindemann, Gene Leubker, Edward Mahlum, Sally Malone, Stanley Mares, DeWayne Meyer, Ardyce Miller, Marilyn Murphy, Robert Nelson, Charles Pace, Virginia Potter, Donna Proue, Colleen Ryan and John Wallesverd.

The Editor Speaks . . .

Our congratulations to the freshman class for "breaking the ice" on week-end activities with their "Snow Fun Party and Bean Soup Feed". A fairly good turn-out at the event apparently indicates that this is the type of activity that is needed to keep students here on week-ends. Participation by the faculty afforded students to meet them informally and discover "that they are human too".

Now that the freshmen have started "the ball rolling" it shouldn't be too difficult for other groups to keep it going. Informal dances after games, more winter sports, suppers—the informal parties Saturday afternoon that are held at the dorm—let's see more of them. President Kleinpell remarked at the last Student Advisory Council meeting, "That the student body has a great potential if they choose to use it". How about it—does the student body have potential? Or are they merely willing to sit back and wait for "someone else to do something"? It's up to you.

The importance of the March of Dimes and of individual contributions cannot be stressed too much. To be sure, organizations can give generously of their time and money toward this worthwhile cause, but basically the individual student is the backbone of this drive on our campus. The work OUR money can do to alleviate the suffering and bodily destruction of the 68,000 victims who will be struck down during the coming year is limitless, but it must first be channeled into the position where it can do some good. Let's open our hearts and pocketbooks to fight a common enemy, infantile paralysis.

Frozen Beauty

by Shortfellow

I saw frozen beauty falling on a dreary winter day
When the earth was bleak, the naked trees stood out in stark array.
The barren ground was flecked with spots of smoke-discolored snow;
All the world's face seemed gloomy, and the tide of joy ran low.

The stillness in the air well matched the silence of the land
As if in wait for some event predestined; close at hand.
Then, as advancing clouds obscure the sunlight from below;
Night fell, and with it the velvet whiteness of the snow.

A million times a million of the feath'ry, dancing flakes
Descended to adorn the trees and glisten on the lakes;
To produce on earth a carpeting of dazzling delight
Which would add its crystal beauty to the crispness of the night.

In a splendid sparkling pattern did the frozen beauty fall;
An icy cloak of crystal overcame the wintery pall.
A million tiny mirrors glittered at each downward glance;
And the yellow lamplight made the falling snowflakes seem to dance.

At dawn it ceased; the world observed the transformation wrought,
The respite from a gloomy scene that kindly nature brought.
The face of earth had lost its gloom, and gained much cheer as well,
And life was so much brighter after frozen beauty fell.

"LA PART DE CIEL"; PAUL PILOTAZ ASKS SOME QUESTIONS.

"La Part de Ciel" (Man Alone) is a highly unusual and quite unique novel. It has as its setting the banana growing territory of French West Africa. The banana-planter champion, is the novel's coprotagonist—he has wrested from the jungle a huge banana plantation and continues to make it larger and more productive as part of what he calls "the building of my personality". He is altogether alone and has no argument as to what is right for his "personality building". I could not help but think of Joseph Conrad's "Falk" as very much like Champion of "Man Alone"—all Falk needed for his neuroses was a wife, though—Champion is pursuing a far more coy nymph than Falk pursued and caught.

Another less wealthy planter, Viboud, sends Champion a novice banana grower, Pierre Maubert—Viboud is dying and can no longer train him. Maubert is energetic and young—he will build a plantation and succeed as a planter. When this purpose of Maubert's becomes known to Champion and when Maubert shows indications of duplicating Champion's feat, i.e., that of building a great plantation, Champion realizes that the bases upon which he has worked and lived are at stake. Maubert has no consuming demon to mollify as does Champion. Champion realizes that his life has testified that, among other things, great banana plantations spring from demons in the soul, so to speak.

The book becomes a struggle between Champion—who is trying to evangelize Maubert in the demonic scheme of things—and Maubert, who believes Champion to be mad and wants to save him.

Through this skein Pilotaz runs some rather searching questions—rather too searching for novel entertainment. Some of these plainly come from quite deep within the author's personality—this gives the novel a universal quality. The questions are quite in keeping with the problem of Champion, who is brought to question himself by Maubert. The question which follows is one which Maubert asked himself as his redemption of Champion flagged.

Maubert asked himself: "Why is it that the beauty of nature, which can give strength to men's hearts, make up for disappointment, confer peace of mind and belief in oneself, in others, in God, so often remains hidden from our eyes?" It may have been merely a literary technique, but the question had been answered before it had been asked—the book demands recall and sympathy. This point in the novel marks the summation of Maubert's resolve.

Pilotaz does not answer his questions—"is why—". Upon this scheme of things that are Pilotaz's plot he moves his characters through a logical sequence of events to self-discovery for each.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT CLASS YOU'LL BE TAKING—SO I'LL EXPECT A LITTLE EXTRA WORK FROM YOU THIS TERM."

I Am A Zoologist for the FBI

by Perry Mecium

My name is Perry Mecium. I'm paid by a group of inveterate college students known collectively as Failing Biologists, Inc. I worked my way into the top security branches of zoological science as an elevator boy for middle-aged amebas. I know all there is to know about their doings. I've eaten T-bone steaks from protozoa, which is very difficult to find among invertebrates. I've sung the top song of the Hit Parade with a party of amebas, which is, naturally, "Gone With the Wind". Running a close second is the novelty tune "You get cilia every day".

At a recent meeting of the top brass, the main issue discussed was that of the invasion of privacy by the microscope-happy college students. The large Stentor ciliates fairly bristled with indignation at this action. Mrs. Henry Flagellum, wife of the late Henry Flagellum III, gave this account: "There we were, just Henry and I, out on a picnic. Henry had forgotten the lunch, so I had to make the best of the available circumstances. Then, just as I finished the last of Henry, there was this horrible eye above me. It irks me terribly to have someone looking over my shoulder while I eat!" The remainder of the group sympathized with her, as she looked hungrily about.

The assembled group also discussed sponges as a side issue. They were accused of being spineless as jellyfish.

Sinbad Says—

Nothing is Better Than Anything— Sometimes!

As everyone who has ever read this column will realize, it is to everything in general and nothing in particular. In previous issues, I have generalized in some phases of everything, so now I feel that the time has come to particularize about nothing.

A first consideration may be to specify precisely what I am writing about. I have often wondered myself. At any rate, Webster defines nothing as "not any thing"; plus a great deal more verbosity which tends toward further ambiguity. My own definition is much more pleasant and understandable, I keep telling myself. Here it is: NOTHING—is the unadulterated quintessence of nihilism. Neat, huh? I worked on it for days before I had it perfected. I like it because it's so nice.

Several examples may be in order here to show the relative values of nothing to different people. That it is held in high esteem by all is obvious. Famous golfer Seamy Snad: "NOTHING is better than a hole-in-one." Philosopher Socrates is reputed to have first made the oft-quoted statement: "NOTHING is too good for my mother-in-law." A modern proposal is often answered by "NOTHING would make me happier!"; thus relegating the smitten young man to his proper second fiddle position.

The upshot of all this is the fact that NOTHING is better than anything. Give some to your best friends. If you have nothing, share it. Give it to your steady as a birthday gift. It will be returned many times over. Soon you'll have nothing in the line of friends.

A final use might be to give it to your instructor on an exam. I've done it often and gotten a just reward for it. Many times before I've written as much about nothing as this, but you are deeply privileged to read it on this occasion in particular. You see, this is the first time I've ever admitted it!

Falcon hopes were darkened when "Chief" Bob Wood broke his ankle . . . the college got a memorial Jay H. Grimm Scholarship.

OCTOBER . . . Jim Anderson was elected Homecoming chairman . . . Falcon gridders lost to Eau Claire 20-13. In the game fullback Bill Brandt suffered a concussion and was lost for the rest of the season . . . the "Falconettes" made their first colorful appearance at the Eau Claire game . . . the path is opened for financing a men's dorm by a State Supreme Court decision . . . Natalie Vanderhoof was voted 1955 Homecoming Queen—River Falls defeated Superior in Homecoming game 47-0 . . . MOST UNUSUAL GAME OF THE YEAR . . . Falcon victory over Winona in the season's first blizzard.

NOVEMBER . . . Nearly 500 pupils attended High School forensic conference on campus . . . Falcon gridders finished in a second place tie in conference play with an all-over record of 7-1 . . . John Steffen won recognition as one of the top ground gainers in the nation . . . Senator Wiley spoke at an all-school convocation . . . Masquers presented one of the top dramatic performances in their history—"The Crucible".

DECEMBER . . . Pat J. Phillips was selected to represent River Falls at the St. Paul Winter Carnival . . . Four new faculty members were added to the staff at WSC . . . Don Shirley presented a piano concert . . . the college choir Christmas concert featured "Music from many lands" . . . 72 students were listed on the fall term honor roll . . . the "under-dog" Falcons won the Stevens Point Christmas tourney in a surprising upset.

State Senator Knowles Relates Experiences

State Senator Robert Knowles spoke informally to the political sciences classes Tuesday noon in the Little Theatre. He gave an account of his experiences as a freshman senator, along with an insight on how the Wisconsin legislature operates and some of the problems it is confronted with.

Senator Knowles, a Republican from the ninth Congressional District, held himself out as a "Political Neophyte", as he told how hectic his first days in the senate were. He holds a seat formerly occupied for 14 years by his brother Warren, present Lieutenant Governor of Wisconsin.

The amount of money to be spent on education and its distribution throughout the state is one of the problems listed by Senator Knowles as being of the utmost importance to all state legislators. He went on to give details regarding how tax money is spent and what proportion of each tax dollar is allotted to the different departments of the state.

The Senator explained some of

Cast for 'King Lear' Chosen; Production to Run 5 Days

King Lear, the first Shakespearean play by Masquers in three years, will be presented in the college Little Theatre February 20-24.

Playing leading roles are Mae Bos, Julia Kaminski, Marilyn Murphy, Sara Garnett, Mary Alt, Laura Gardner, Orlan Larson, Mike Fleming, Dick Doetkott, Henry Elzinga, Tom Haugen, Duane Johnson, and Bob Hawley. King Lear, based on an old myth, portrays a 'philosophy of age.' It is the story of the downfall of an aged king because of his childish trust in the faith of his children.

Complete Shakespearean settings for the play are being built by the theatrical stagecraft class, including a portable stage to be used in front of the regular stage in the Little Theatre.

High schools and other interested groups throughout this area will be invited to attend all performances. All seats for every performance will be reserved. Tickets can be obtained in advance in the cafeteria, or by contacting Dr. Blanche Davis, Wisconsin State College at River Falls.

There'll Be Some 'Changes' Made

College Offers Course In Medical Technology

River Falls is now offering a course in medical technology, one of the newest professions affiliated with the medical field. Dr. B. H. Kettelkamp is in charge of the curriculum, which leads to a bachelor of science degree.

Students enrolling in this curriculum receive three years of general education along with courses in mathematics, chemistry, physics, biology and psychology and complete the course with a year of advanced training at an approved school of medical technology.

The fourth year's work may be completed at any school of medical technology which is approved by the Council on Education of the American Medical Association and the Registry of Medical Technology. Wisconsin State College at River Falls is affiliated with the Madison General hospital.

Upon satisfactory completion of a year of clinical work at an approved school, students will receive the bachelor of science degree from River Falls.

Many of the medical technology schools provide compensation to students in the form of board, books, laundry of uniforms or a stated sum.

Demand for workers in medical technology exceeds the number of technicians available.

Music Notes

by Joan Engebretson

Five music majors attended the Mid-Winter Music Clinic in Madison Jan. 8, 9 and 10. They were Lucille Dahm, Jeannine Davison, Jerry Olson, David Zerahn and Joan Engebretson. The purpose of the clinic is to get music teachers together from all over the state to discuss problems in band, choir, orchestra and ensembles.

They also have an opportunity to hear high school music groups from different parts of the state. This year the clinic invited students in the MENC (Music Educators National Conference) from all Wisconsin colleges. They met and discussed "Our Future as Music Teachers."

One of the groups heard in concert was the Watertown high school orchestra, recognized as one of the finest organizations in that community. The group is directed by Walter Stamstad, a River Falls graduate.

Another high-light was the 1956 Midwinter Music Clinic All-State chorus. It was composed of eight representatives from each of the 13 districts of the Wisconsin School Music Association.

(Editor's note—Anyone having questions concerning music is asked to leave them in the Student Voice office. With the help of the music students, the library and the music faculty, I will try my best to answer them.)

Falcons Split Week-end Games

Quackers Bow, 85-76, As River Falls Five Wins First Loop Game

by T. A. Benson

With Dave Herum leading the way River Falls defeated Whitewater 85-76 Friday night. Herum paced all scorers with 33 points, 25 of which came in a second half scoring spree when he dunked 13 of 18 free throws. Trailing Herum in River Falls scoring were Bob Hubert with 16, Dan Corcoran with 12, Johnny Steffen with 9 and Rock Hanson with 8.

Whitewater came in the game as favorites carrying an impressive 8-1 record. However, they quickly found the Falcons were going to be tough.

River Falls jumped off to a quick 2-0 lead as Herum dumped one from underneath. The Falls held a narrow lead until Whitewater's Bruce York dunked a pair of free throws with 10 minutes gone to gain a 19-18 lead. It took the Falcons until 1:30 left before they could regain the lead. Then Johnny Steffen dropped a set shot from side court for a 35-34 lead.

With just seconds left in the half Clayt Jackson hit on a desperation shot from behind mid-court. This left the visitors down 40-36 at halftime.

The second half was all River Falls. At no time could the visitors come closer than four points and with 10 minutes left the Falcons led 66-52.

With 5:30 left it appeared as though the Falls had the game sewed up as they led 78-67. Then with Gordy Friedrichs, Bob Sutherland, and Jackson scoring, the lead closed to 80-76 only to have the Falcons drop five free throws and gain an 85-76 victory.

Friedrichs led Whitewater scoring with 22, followed by Jackson with 15 and Sutherland with 11, while Jack Keily and Dick Hanick each had 10.

MARGOTTO RATES HONORABLE MENTION

Bob Margotto, a four year veteran on River Falls grid teams, was named as an honorable mention selection on the Williamson Ratings Little All-American football squad for 1955. The rugged 210 pound senior tackle from Cumberland has been an all conference choice for two years.

Margotto was the only Wisconsin College Conference player to be voted this honor. Dick Donlin of Hamline was named to a first string end position, while 14 other Minnesota small college players received honorable mention ratings.

IF YOU CAN'T SHOOT, PASS! Dave Herum found himself in favorable shooting position during most of the Whitewater game, though, as he scored 33 points. He hit 10 of 13 free throws in the last quarter to spark the Falcons' 85-76 victory. Guarding Dave on this play is Whitewater center Ralph Munding.

SPORTS IN A NUTSHELL

by Rog

Dear Rog in Nutshell,

I am sending you this scroll in an attempt to answer your column of nonsense and biased wishful thinking of November 14, 1955.

How can you be so vague as to conjecture that my beloved alma mater, Oklahoma, "would come our a poor second" if it played your Big Ten chumps, Michigan State? Perhaps you'll reconsider your challenge in view of the game played at Miami compared with the farce at Pasadena.

Oklahoma belittled the poor, tired Maryland lads by the score of 20-6, while your Spartans were lucky when the bad draft in the Rose Bowl blew the ball over the goal posts with seven seconds left to play.

Our Sooners had the Terrapins so confused and fatigued they didn't know what was going on. After each successful play, our boys would jump up and run back to the huddle, break in five second flat, dash full speed up to the ball and wait for the referee to get out of the way, then snap the ball in play before Maryland had themselves picked up from the last play. We simply ran their legs off.

Although our team was outweighed by five pounds per man, our defense was so sharp in the second half that the Terps tried only 38 plays while we ran 64. Maryland never advanced the ball past their own 33 yard line.

And that 82 yard pass interception by Dodd—that was the real clincher! That completely demoralized the Maryland outfit.

The victory in the Orange Bowl was our 30th consecutive, incidentally, and the 106th straight game in which we have scored.

With these facts in mind, perhaps you would like to withdraw your exaggerated proposal.

Your ardent reader,
Roger Rooter

Kuss' Mark Falls In College Meet

A NAIA basketball record held since 1951 by former RFSC great Roger Kuss fell in holiday tournament play at Omaha, Neb., on December 29. Kuss' record of 18 free throws in a single game was broken as Bill Patterson of Gustavus Adolphus hit 19 in a 77-70 victory over defending title East Texas State.

La Crosse 77, River Falls 64 In '56 Opener

On January 7 the Falcons swung into the 1956 part of the current schedule against La Crosse. The Indians, paced by Tom Giombetti, a 6-0 sophomore sharpshooter, handed River Falls a 77-64 setback. Giombetti tossed in 22 markers on eight field goals and six free throws.

The defeat left River Falls with a 2-5 season's record and a 0-3 conference mark. La Crosse's league record stood at 1-1 following the River Falls clash.

A first half output of 48 points put the Indians in a commanding position as they held an intermission lead of 48-32. The Falcons came back to outscore La Crosse 32-29 in the final 20 minutes and narrowed the final gap to 77-64.

Dave Herum had 13 points, Johnny Steffen 12, Jerry Carter 11 and Bob Hubert nine to lead Falcon scorers. La Crosse's Giombetti got help from Ed Winiarski and Bob Olson with 18 and 16 respectively.

If two games are enough to judge by, then Neil Christenson of team A-1 may well be on the way to capturing his second intramural basketball scoring crown in two years.

Neil poured in 30 points Monday night, Jan. 9, to lead team A-1 over A-6, 77-34. That effort, along with the 15 points he scored in the first game, gives him a total of 45 points and an average of 22.5 a game. Only Tom Beers of team B-8 has a better average. Herum, Hanson Star In Saturday Defeat By Stevens Point

by Jim Laue

Dave Herum hit 27 points to round out a brilliant two-day scoring spree, but the Falcons bowed to Stevens Point, 84-80 in Saturday's game. Rock Hanson played little more than half the contest and came up with 18 points.

Herum collected 14 markers in the first 20 minutes as River Falls trailed 43-40 at halftime. Dave limped off the floor with an injured ankle following the second half tip-off, but came back five minutes later to score 13 second half points.

The Falcons' conference record now stands at 1-4. Stevens Point has a 2-2 league record and an 8-4 season's mark while River Falls is 3-6 for the year.

Falcons Take Early Lead

Baskets by Herum and Bob Hubert, and a free throw by Herum gave River Falls a quick 5-0 margin. Pointer guard Jim Marko hit eight straight points and forward Vern Luebstorff added four as the Pointers took their first lead at 12-11 with four minutes gone.

A minute later Point led 16-11. With 5:20 gone Hanson entered the game for the Falcons and tossed in nine points in three minutes to guide River Falls back into the lead at 22-20.

With Herum, Bubs Youngberg and Johnny Steffen sharing the scoring, the Falcons took their biggest lead at 36-30 with 4:30 left in the half. Don Schneiders' field goal just before halftime gave the Pointers a 43-40 margin, and, although tied twice, they never relinquished the lead.

Kestly Paces Point

Sharp-shooting guard Fred Kestly popped in 12 points as the second half began, pacing the Pointers to their biggest lead of the game, 62-50. With 11 minutes to play it was 65-54, then the Falcons caught fire.

Herum hit a basket and two gift tosses then Hubert scored on a jump shot to make it 65-60. Herum dropped in another free throw, Youngberg scored on a driving lay-up, and Hubert calmly swished a pair of free throws to tie it up at 65-65 with 7:34 to play.

Schneiders gave Point the lead again and Dan Corcoran countered with a long set shot to knot the count at 67-67. In alternate sprees the Pointers hit seven straight points, River Falls six and Stevens Point seven giving the visitors an 81-73 margin with 1:45 left in the game.

Gap Narrowed to 3 Points

Steffen and Herum combined for five, making it 81-78 with just a minute to go. Bob Bostad dropped in two charity tosses and Schneiders one before Herum scored the Falcons' final two from the free throw line with three seconds to go.

Balanced Scoring

Four Falcons hit in double column figures. Combining with Herum's 27 points and Hanson's 18 were Youngberg with 13 and Hubert with 11. Marko and Kestly paced Point with 19 and 18 respectively, while Luebstorff hit 14 and Bostad 12.

Non-League Tilt With St. Cloud On Tap Wed.

This Wednesday evening, January 18, the Falcons travel to St. Cloud, Minn., for a non-conference tilt with the St. Cloud TC Huskies.

St. Cloud boasts a 7-7 record in games so far this season. In recent scraps with Wisconsin College Conference teams they whipped Superior 94-79 then dropped a 92-90 decision to Eau Claire with the Bugolds' Bob Morgan scoring the winning field goal with just five seconds to play. Saturday Coach Paul Meadow's St. Cloud five opened the MTCC race with a surprising 68-66 loss to Moorhead Teachers. Huskie forward Dave Westlund led the game's scorers with 32 points.

The Huskies, who split with the Falcons during the '54-'55 season will be strengthened by the return of all-conference guard Jim Zakariasen. The 5-8 sharpshooter has been out of action since he injured a knee cartilage in pre-season practice. He's seen limited action in the Huskies' last two contests.

Probable starting line-ups for Wednesday's clash look like this:

River Falls

f, Bob Hubert, 6-3; f, Darrell Youngberg, 6-1; c, Dave Herum, 6-5; g, John Steffen, 5-10; g, Jerry Carter, 6-0.

St. Cloud

f, Dave Westlund, 6-2; f, Don Plombon, 6-2; c, Jack Kelly, 6-2; g, Ed Miller, 5-9; g, Ted Grams, 6-0.

Falcons Win Trophy At Holiday Tournament

An underdog Falcon team entered the first annual Holiday Tournament at Stevens Point December 28-29 with an 0-4 record and came home with two wins and the championship trophy.

Two Win Streaks Snapped

Coach Belfiori's five played their finest games of the young season as they knocked off two unbeaten, Platteville 80-79, and Stevens Point 65-57. The Pointers dropped Stout on opening night 62-53. Stout copped consolation honors with a 74-68 second night victory over Platteville.

A well-balanced, deliberate attack gave River Falls the edge in both contests. After leading by as much as 14 points in the Platteville game, the Falcons were down by five points with five minutes to go. Paced by Dave Herum, who led the evening's scorers with 28 points, the Falls eased to the 80-79 victory.

A 17 point River Falls lead highlighted the championship contest against Stevens Point. The Pointers' strong finish narrowed the margin to 65-57 as the game ended.

Two Falcons All-Tourney

Herum, who added 12 points against Stevens Point for a tourney total of 40, and forward Bob Hubert, were both named to the all-tournament team. Stout's Jim Bolm, the meet's leading scorer with 44 points; Jim Marko, Stevens Point; and Royce Reeves, Platteville, were other selections.

THORESON'S SPECIAL

At Snow Fun Party President Serves Soup

Ever been served supper by the president of RFSC?

A number of students and faculty members had this honor on Sunday evening, January 8, at the Snow Fun Party and Bean Soup Feed. President Kleinpell, arrayed in a chef's hat and apron, and Registrar E. J. Prucha, ladled bean soup for all who attended.

Starting at 4 p.m. groups of students headed for the ski trails, toboggan hills and skating rinks to work up appetites for Prof. Thoreson's special bean soup. At

"HAVE SOME OF THE BLUE-PLATE SPECIAL!" says President Kleinpell as he dishes out a bowl of bean soup for Jurnell Timm, freshman from Spring Valley.

6 p.m. Mr. Thoreson unloaded steaming boilers of soup at the Industrial Arts Building, and the servers went to work.

Colonel Bill Solley and his guitar added music to the after-dinner festivities. President Kleinpell and Dr. Hodges proved to be quite adept at recalling song verses that students couldn't remember. Dr. Hodges' rendition of "My Darlin' Clementine" was a highlight of the group singing.

Old time dancing and the presentation of prizes completed the after-dinner fun. President Kleinpell selected two names at random and these prizes were awarded:

To Natalie Vanderhoof: something that every student would be glad to have—a copy of one of Dr. Wyman's tests;

To Mrs. John Merner, wife of the Congregational church minister: a treasured gift — Dr. Hodges' first pipe, a black bubble pipe with a red bow.

This all-school activity was sponsored by the Freshman class with the assistance of advisers Thoreson and Hodges. Prof. Thoreson said that leftover soup has been frozen and is available for another such feed in the near future. He suggested Winter Carnival time as a possible date for another soup feed.

TEACHER SHORTAGE TO BE ACUTE BY 1960

America's schools will have 42 million pupils by 1960 and 50 million pupils by 1965, President E. H. Kleinpell told a joint meeting of the American Association of University Women and American Association of University Professors Wednesday evening. This compares with a present enrollment of 35 million.

Discussing the White House Conference on Education, Dr. Kleinpell said it served to dramatize the deepening crisis in education. During the last year, 47,000 persons participated in 3600 conferences on education throughout the country, Dr. Kleinpell said. These persons are now aware of the lack of teachers and of inadequate classrooms. Noting the teacher shortage, Dr. Kleinpell said 200,000 teachers are needed each year. Last year 86,000 qualified teachers were graduated but not all of them went into the teaching profession.

WINNER IN THE AFTER-DINNER SPEAKING Saturday at the "B" Debate tournament was Richard Doetkott, sophomore from River Falls. His topic was "My Racket is the National Guard".
