MEMBERS OF THE GIRLS TRIO WHICH WILL PERFORM TONIGHT ARE; Mary Louise Olson, Shirley Olson and Elaine Solum.

All plans for Foundation Week activities are now complete according to Jim Huber, chairman of the Foundation Committee. At the kick-off assembly last Wednesday, he stressed that the size and quality of the memorial bulletin board, which the committee plans to erect with the funds collected, will depend entirely on the proceeds from the various activities.

An all-star musical variety show is headlined for tonight at 8 p.m. in the North hall auditorium. On the program is the "Hut Four Quartet"—two members of which, Don Sundt and Bob Dykstra, attend Wisconsin State College—and the "Six Point Bucks", a pantomime group from Hudson. Also appearing will be the Girls Trio, consisting of Shirley Olson, Elaine Solum and Mary Louise Olson, pianist Harry Elzinga, Jerry Best, Woodville high school student who plays the cornet and 11-year-old Jeanne Allyn from Ellsworth who does a song and dance act.

Admission for the show is adults, 75 cents; college students 50 cents; high school and children, 25 cents.

Tuesday evening, students may attend an old-fashioned sleigh-ride which starts from Hathorn hall at 7:30 p.m. A dorm dance will be held at approximately 8:30 or immediately following the sleigh-ride.

The Falcon basketball squad travels to Northfield Wednesday night for a game with Carleton College.

An informal dance will be held Thursday evening at 9 p.m. in North hall gym. Music will be furnished by Dave Hurley and his orchestra. Admission to this event will be: Couples 75 cents and 50 cents for stags.

Friday has been designated as "game night" and carnival-type activities have been planned. A cover charge of 50 cents will admit students to the activity rooms where they will be free to play at card tables, monopoly or bingo tables. Ping pong doubles will be played in the game room. Students interested in participating are asked to sign up at the button table in the cafeteria Tuesday and also enter the name of their partner.

To "wind up" Foundation Week, Sigma Chi Sigma is sponsoring its annual Italian Spaghetti Supper Saturday, Jan. 28. This "spicy" affair will be held in Hathorn Lounge with serving from 4:30-6:30 p.m.

To enable the organization to know how many will be attending, tickets will be on sale in the cafeteria Tuesday through Friday during the dinner and supper hours. Tickets are 50 cents per person and students are requested to purchase them beforehand.

REPORT RELEASED ON O.T.S. FINDINGS

A report of the discussions that took place during the Officers Training School, held in the Little Theatre December 8, was released recently. The report includes recommendations for officers of school organizations to help them in performing their duties.

The school was designed as a supplement to the more extensive Workshop on Student Leadership held each year in the spring.

O. T. S. was a practical response to the frequent inquiries by newly elected officers who have not had the benefit of the spring workshop, as to proper procedures for organizations of student groups.

The Editor Speaks . . .

Foundation Week funds this year are being used for the purpose of purchasing a large, illuminated bulletin board for the campus. The board would bear a plaque in honor of Neil Mulholland, a senior student at the college who died this fall. A board such as this is badly needed as the small boards scattered here and there throughout the college do not adequately serve the more than 35 organizations on campus. A directory of faculty members posted where visitors to the campus could see it would save time and a great deal of questioning. It has been our experience that college students are equally ignorant of where these offices are located and a directory placed where they can see it every time they cross the street SHOULD be of some value.

The size and quality of this bulletin board depends largely on the student body. Last year's students whole-heartedly supported Foundation Week and contributed over a thousand dollars. The enrollment this year is higher, therefore, logically, we should be able to do as well or better. The committee has worked hard on planning the many activities and students are urged to attend. Bring yourself and a friend.

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor:
Are River Falls students culturally illiterates?
Last Tuesday evening an outstanding artist presented a concert on the campus. Out of an enrollment of 900, fewer than 100 students were "interested" enough to attend.

For the more than 800 students who did not attend, here are some questions they might consider: What makes a college degree valuable? Why do employers in the business world want college graduates? Why does the American public in general think that a college education is desirable?

After giving some thought to the above questions, they might further ask: Of what does a college education consist? Is it mere parroting of information back to the instructor, remembering it only long enough to get it down on an exam, collecting credit, and forgetting it as quickly as possible? Or does a college education mean more than this?

The college concert and lecture series is designed to provide students with more kinds of experiences than they are likely to get in classroom instruction only. All of these extra-classroom experiences contribute to the completion of a "college education". Students who do not take advantage of these offerings are not getting a complete "college education."

The most common excuse for not attending these activities seems to be "We're not interested in that type of thing". What a sad confession of a limited horizon and a narrow mind! Besides, many students have never had these experiences and are in no position to decide in advance whether they would be interested or not. They show no curiosity or desire to explore the unknown or unfamiliar, but firmly believe that ignorance is bliss, and they won't go near the water until they have learned to swim. Is the phrase "I'm not interested" equivalent to "I refuse to find out?"

Most students at this college come from small towns with limited opportunities for enlarging background. That is nothing to be ashamed of. But it does not mean that students should limit their opportunities to what they are already familiar with.

Or have these students been lured into a state of wishful thinking by $64,000 TV-give-away shows or lulled into a lethargic complacency by "entertainment" that requires little taste and no judgement or discrimination, and, especially, no thinking?

If students desire to a COMPLETE college education, one that society has recognized as being of great value, they might consider how they may reach out into new fields for new interests. One means of developing these new interests is by attending the events the college provides.

Perhaps the answer to this problem lies in compulsory attendance at all college convocations.

Music Notes

by Joan Engebretson

Many musical events and opportunities are being missed by a large percentage of the student body. The College has a Concert and Lecture Committee which brings many great artists in concert to the campus for student enjoyment and benefit. The music listening room is open to all students who like to listen to music and now it is possible to "study to music" there. If you are not "checked out" on the listening room and would like to learn to operate the hi-fi phonograph, see one of the music students and they will make arrangements for you to be checked out.

There are a great number of records to choose from in the library, including modern, classic, semi-classic, etc. For reading material, you will find approximately 15 shelves of books on all phases of music.

For students interested in learning to play an instrument, Mr. Jadinak has a string class and is always interested in having new members. There are also classes in woodwinds, brass and percussion.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

U.S.F.
"How to Succeed in College Without Half Trying" was the subject of an illustrated lecture by James Crane of the college art department at an interstate meeting for Congregational USF college students.

Attending the meeting Sunday, Jan. 15 in the local Congregational church were students from Eau Claire, Stout and River Falls colleges and the Olivet Church group from St. Paul. This last group is made up primarily of Macalester college students.

The Critics Corner...

by Joan Engebretson

Although the crowd was small there was no dearth of appreciation for Inar Holmstrom, Finnish tenor, who appeared here Tuesday evening, Jan. 17.

His selections in German, French, Italian and English were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. English selections included "Only a Rose," "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen", and "For You Alone". Other numbers included Rossini's "La Dansa," an aria from Mozart's Dan Gioacani, a Swedish number, "Wings on Song" and an Italian folk song, "To Mama". As an encore, Mr. Holmstrom sang "I Love You".

Mr. Holmstrom rendered each selection with deep feeling and displayed great breath control. He was accompanied by Art Becknel.

It was a shame that this inspiring concert was missed by fully three-fourths of the student body.

LADY CHATTERLY'S "ABGOTT"

D. H. Lawrence discusses in the First Lady Chatterly a problem dogging the steps of this American civilization—the same problem which dogged most notably the Greek and Roman civilizations. It is the classical problem, completely non-sequitur in any civilization's experience: "Is internal moral decay the herald of a civilization's destruction?"

Whereas in the Roman and Greek civilizations, the moral lassitude came about collectively, the "moral decay" (that which befalls Lady Chatterly is apparently "moral decay") comes to Lady Chatterly singularly.

Sir Clifford Chatterly has become paralyzed from the waist down. However, his wife loves him greatly. Their existence together is completely platonic—they will discuss the literature of the day together. Lady Chatterly would rather have a Pluto than a Plato, though, and comes at times to think she can no longer abide the possessiveness of Sir Clifford. She is determined not to make a tragedy of the situation, however. She presents her case to Sir Clifford; he allows her to choose a lover—only to use the good taste befitting her station.

She has, to all appearances, greatly degraded herself. She is convinced that she could have done nothing about it—she could not and does not wish to do anything to ameliorate the situation. Lady Chatterly believes her situation has come from altogether too great a depth within her. She is incorrigible completely; yet it is D. H. Lawrence's premise that anything which comes from the deep, passionate soul is not and cannot be bad.

On this basis Lady Chatterly is exonerated. D. H. Lawrence's premise is a completely aesthetic one — dealing with aesthetic things, Lady Chatterly's situation particularly. The world judges Lady Chatterly bad and incorrigible—and in an aesthetic sense what she has done is beautiful.

Here we have a discrepancy which has appeared at a point in history—the fall of those civilizations Greece and Rome—the events have been interpreted as having been caused by a "moral lassitude". While the situations—Lady Chatterly and Greece and Rome—are somewhat unlike each other, Lawrence casts some illuminating light on the subject.

Participation In Intramurals Hits New High At River Falls

Huskies Nip Falcons, 84-81, In Non-Conference Contest

by T. A. Benson

by Harley Larson
Participation in the intramural sports program at Wisconsin State College so far this year has been the largest on record. A total of 555 students have turned out for four sports—football, ping pong, bowling and basketball. This figure is only 107 short of the 662 who turned out for all nine sports last year.

The number of students taking part in the intramural program, which is under the direction of Coach Fran Polsfoot, has increased by 185 over those who participated in the same sports last year. A rise in the College's enrollment and an increasing competitive spirit seem to be the causes for this increase.

Bowling Shows Biggest Gain
Showing the biggest gain is bowling, with the addition of 64 keglars swelling the total to 112. This sport was introduced into the intramural schedule at RFSC last year. Next highest gain was in touch football. Participation in this sport went from 70 to 133 with 63 additional players signing up.

Basketball, which has the largest number of competitors, jumped from 225 participants last year to 280 this year—an increase of 55. Coach Polsfoot said that the women's gym may have to be used to complete the basketball season on time. The large number of teams may necessitate use of this additional playing space.

Polsfoot Notes Advantages
In a recent interview Polsfoot said "A good intramural program gives everyone interested in sports an opportunity to compete". He went on to say that unlike interscholastic sports, competition in intramural does not require any extraordinary skill, yet the competitive spirit and healthy physical exercise are retained.

Polsfoot would like to add track and field to the spring schedule if the interest is great enough. With student interest in ping pong at the present high level, a tournament every term would also be a fine addition to the intramural program at RFSC, according to Polsfoot.

SPORTS IN A NUTSHELL

by Rog

It's always fun to make comparisons, and with the return of George Mikan to active service with the Minneapolis Lakers a little more than a week ago, he can be likened to Ted Williams, the man accredited with the big improvement of the Red Sox last season over the team of 1954.

Williams played in 98 games last year, hitting .356 with 28 homers. The Bosox finished 12 games behind the pennant-winning Yankees, a gain of 30 full games over their finish the previous year.

If the Lakers continue on their winning ways, basketball followers will invariably point to the return of George Mikan as the big reason for their success, such as it may be.

If the Lakers' dream comes true, the crystal ball gazers will nod and say "I told you so." But if their flag hopes are not realized, Mikan will be just another pro who sacrificed himself for the tumult and the shouting of the customers.

In his first game, George netted 11 points in 12 minutes, and the Lakers won. In another game against the Eastern Division leaders, the Philadelphia Warriors, he got seven in the same time, and the Lakers triumphed again.

In comparing the two sports immortals, this writer believes the chances of Mikan's further success is appan's further success are apthat of Williams. Ted has returned to baseball five times (two wars, two serious injuries, and a semi-self-retirement) and George has been inactive for 18 months. The outfielder is 37, while the big center is 32.

But it should be pointed out that, while the basketball season is less than half as long as that of baseball, it is more than twice as strenuous to participate in, as well as frequent traveling.

In considering Ted before his last return and Mikan now, Williams had one thing in his favor—he had proved before that he could do it.

day tourney and was an all-tourney choice.

Herum Tops Falcons

Junior center Dave Herum has scored 211 points in 10 games for an average of 21.1 per contest. Following him in scoring are Bob Hubert with 126 points for a 12.6 average and Johnny Steffen, who has collected 99 points in eight games for an average of 12.4 per game.

BASKETBALL AND BOWLING HIGHLIGHT PRESENT I-M ATHLETIC PROGRAM AT RF

The only way to stop a player from scoring is to not let him play, or so someone once said. It worked last week when five of of the top ten scorers in intramural basketball were forced to sit it out as the A league was inactive.

Hanzlick Top "B" Scorer

In some of the B league action Wednesday night, three players combined for 44 points as team 9 defeated team 10, 50-47, in a hard-fought game. Glen Hartman paced the winners with 18 points, while Bill Hanzlick scored 22 for the losers.

Glen Schodahl and Gordon Hoff scored 19 and 18 points respectively as B-11 downed B-8, 50-43. Wayne Haushalter scored 17 points for the losers. Hoff's 18 points raised his average to 17.3 a game, the fourth highest mark in intramurals.

Team 13, the only undefeated team in league B, continued to romp over all opposition as they smothered team 7, 64-30. Paul Forsythe scored 18 and Bob Schlampp 17 to lead the attack.

"C" League Results

In a C league game Thursday night four players scored in double figures, with Lloyd Johnson's 16 points heading the list, as team 19 trounced team 16, 55-34.

Team C-20 applied a well balanced attack as they walloped C-22, 60-27. William Grubbs was high for the winners with 14 points while three team mates also scored in double figures.

Linnerud Hits 21 in "D"

Ardell Linnerud tossed in 21 points as team D-28 downed D-25, 52-31. DeWayne Mork connected for 19 for the losers.

In another D league game scheduled for Monday, team 24 won over team 29 by forfeit when team 29 failed to show up.

Bowlers in Action

In intramural bowling the standings remain much the same as team 1 still leads the A league, boosting their record to 4-0, while teams 9 and 1 of the B league each won two games to remain deadlocked for first with 4-0 marks.

Pee Wee Meyer continues to lead A league bowlers with a 192 average, a drop of one point from the previous week. Meyer's single game score of 201 was third in the league. Tops was Larry Kochendorfer with a 215, while Meyer rolled the highest two game score with 381.

Posting the top average in the B league was Bob Ames with 164. John Clemens' score of 197 was the top single game score. Tom Wiseman rolled the high two game score of 345.

Falcon Fanfare

by K-Don Tibbetts

Number one reserve on the Falcon five this winter is Larry "Rock" Hanson, 6-1 junior forward from Rice Lake. He won a varsity basketball letter as a freshman after an outstanding sports career in high school.

Rock won nine high school letters—four in baseball, three in basketball and two in football. Two years as a cage regular earned him the captain's spot his senior year.

In 10 games so far this season Rock has scored 73 points while playing not much more than 20 minutes in any contest. He has that knack of shaking loose under the basket and is deadly with a hard to stop backhand lay-up shot, with either right or left hand.

HANSON

His most outstanding performance of the current season came against Platteville in the holiday tourney. Playing about 60 per cent of the time, he hit 18 points and did a tremendous job under the boards in the Falcons' 80-79 victory. In another top showing Rock played about half a ball game against Stevens Point on Jan. 14 and collected 18 points.

The crew-cut blond is a member of the R Club and FTA, and plays saxophone in the Falcons. He was in band, orchestra and MENC during his freshman and sophomore years. Rounding out a balanced schedule of campus activities, Rock was a campaign manager in the Homecoming chairman contest last fall.

Despite a second half splurge the Falcons fell before a strong St. Cloud club 84-81. Playing at St. Cloud the Falcons kept the game close but couldn't gain that necessary lead.

Freshman forward Earl "Zeke" Zimmerman showed up well as he almost single-handedly kept the Falls in the game during the first half. Zimmerman garnered all of his 13 points during this time hitting from all over the court.

Steffen Opens Scoring

Johnny Steffen opened the scoring with a charity toss. Then Jerry Carter and Bob Hubert chipped in two apiece for a 5-0 lead. For a moment the Falcons looked red hot but the hosts quickly got the upper hand.

With Dave Westlund and Ed Miller leading the way St. Cloud forged ahead at 8-7, a lead they never relinquished. At one time the score was 35-24 but Zimmerman led a comeback that brought the Falcons within five points at 41-36 as the half ended.

Miller Garners 15

Miller, "jumping-jack" Huskie guard, garnered 15 of his 19 points in the first half. His total along with 11 by Westlund, gave the Huskies over half of their points in the first 20 minutes.

At the 4:43 mark St. Cloud's Meyer fouled out followed shortly by Carter at 1:35, Bob Hubert at 1:32, and the Huskies' Jack Kelly with 1:08 to play.

With 2:50 remaining Herum hit on a three pointer and the Falls trailed 78-81. Then with less than 30 seconds to go and the score at 84-81, the Falcons missed at least four tries from the field. Final score 84-81 St. Cloud.

Westlund paced St. Cloud with 24, while Miller hit 19, Kelley 19, and Don Plombom 10.
