Students Blast Brutality

Senators Wire LBJ a Resolution

At a special meeting called last Tuesday, the Student Senate passed a resolution concerning the events of Selma, Ala., where, according to the resolution, "Alabama State Police brutally beat, stamped upon, and injured citizens...with nightsticks, tear-gas bombs, and horses..."

In the conclusion of the resolution, the Senate demanded that the Governor and the State of Alabama be forced to adhere to the Constitution of the United States of America, and that the Executive and Judicial branches of the Federal Government take immediate steps to enforce the full adherence to the Constitution." There was also a demand for action on the part of Congress, and that "responsible citizens of the United States put an end to this shame in Alabama and other states..."

The resolution was sent in a telegram to the President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, as well as in letter form to vice-president Hubert Humphrey, the attorney general, the majority and minority leaders of the Senate and House of Representatives, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Justice Frank M. Johnson, Jr., and to the governors, and senators of the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Alabama, as well as Wisconsin congressmen.

The resolution stated that the Governor of Alabama had "ordered the Alabama State Police to stop the demonstration march in violation of Constitutional safeguards of the right to assemble, to petition for redress of grievances, to vote without regard for race, color, or previous condition of servitude, and to enjoy the equal protection of the laws..."

This action by Gov. Wallace and the Alabama State Police was termed an "outrage against humanity...and a shameful and despicable act in the eyes of free men throughout the world."

Sen. Ken Lee voted against the resolution, and Sen. Tom Scaffer abstained from voting. Scaffer, who later said that he favored the resolution, said during the discussion, "We're shooting off our mouths up here in the North--how are we going to help them (the marchers)?"

Rolf Derikartz, one of the persons who presented the resolution to the Senate, answered that, "something has to be done. We can't all go down there and help as the heroic civil rights workers--but we can urge others to take action."

After the voting, Lee explained why he had voted against the resolution. He stated, "I think we have just gone too big this year. I'll back this--now that it has been passed. But I would just like to know where this will stop."

122 Walk, Decry Acts Of Police

About 122 WSU-RF students and teachers with a number of local clergymen, marched through the University campus and downtown River Falls Friday in protest to police brutality used against Negro and white demonstrators in Selma, Ala. last week.

Led by members of the Student Association for Equality (SAFE), a newly-formed student organization, the marchers walked from a point between South Hall and the Hagestad Student Center down Cascade Avenue and Main Street to the center of the business section at Main and Maple streets and returned to the campus by the same route.

With the student marchers were about 15 faculty members, including Dr. Edward Peterson, Dr. Robert Bailey and Dr. Richard Darr, and a number of River Falls clergymen, some of whom were the Rev. Arthur Johnson, Fr. Joseph Higgins, the Rev. Richard Truitt and the Rev. Stanley York.

Leading the demonstrators were Peter Faulkman, president of SAFE, and Sanders Howse, vice president of SAFE and a junior from Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

Carrying banners asking for federal intervention in securing voting rights for Negroes, the marchers walked in silence as many River Falls townspeople stopped to watch the demonstration.

During the march, River Falls Police Chief Glen Young followed the demonstrators in a police car with its red light flashing to prevent any accident.

After arriving back on campus, the demonstrators met in North Hall Auditorium. There the resolution passed by the Student Senate last Tuesday requesting federal intervention in Selma, Ala., was read and Marvin Dunn, junior from Westfield, who toured the South last fall and talked to Gov. George Wallace, told the group some of his impressions of Alabama.

The protest march received television coverage from WCCO, a twin city station.

MORE THAN 122 STUDENTS, FACULTY and clergymen marched from the WSU-RF campus Friday through the business section of River Falls protesting police brutality in Selma, Ala. The protest march was led by members of the Student Association for Equality (SAFE).

Faculty, Students Join For Foundation Week

An all-school convocation, the Faculty Frolics presentation of a melodrama, the midway and auction will highlight Foundation Week which begins next Monday.

The week-long project, sponsored by the Foundation Committee to raise $2,000 for an outdoor amphitheatre in the South Fork area, will be studied with events featuring both faculty and students.

Monday, a 9:45 all-school convocation will be held in the Karges Center gymnasium to explain the aims of the project. Speaking at the convocation will be Gene Smith, Student Senate president, Dr. Melvin Wall, chairman of the Campus Planning and Beautification Committee, Dr. Wayne Wolfe, administrative vice president of the University and a representative of the alumni.

A skit from the melodrama "Deadwood Dick" will also be presented by a number of faculty members during convocation.

The midway will be held in the Wrestling Room of Karges Center from 5 to 8 p.m. Wednesday. Groups wishing to have booths in the Midway must sign up in the Student Center Director's office before this Friday.

An auction in Karges Center gymnasium at 8 p.m. Wednesday will offer all sorts of items for sale from dates with girls to pizzas. Auctioneers will be River Falls Mayor Maynard E. "Spike" Hoffman and alumni representative Louis Daniels from St. Paul.

The Faculty Frolics, this year a presentation of a melodrama titled "Deadwood Dick" will feature such well known actors and actresses as Robert Beck as Ned Harris (alias Deadwood Dick), Associate Dean Nancy Knaak as Calamity Jane, Al Svance as Wild Bill Hickock, Dr. Edward Peterson as the judge, and a host of others.

Directed by Sanford Syse, instructor of speech, the play will be presented Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27, at 8 p.m.

Groups wishing to enter a candidate in the Ugly Man on Campus contest must sign up for this event at the Student Center director's office. The student body will select the Ugly Man by putting money in jars bearing the names of the candidates. The candidate with the most money in his jar will be the new Ugly Man on Campus. "Voting" for this event will be held in the dining area of the Student Center all week and the winner will be announced Saturday at the Faculty Frolics.

Money donated to the Foundation Committee this year will be used to begin work on an am-

LAC to Hold Forum on St. Croix

Controversy over the construction of an electrical power plant on the bank of the St. Croix river will be aired in two open forums Wednesday at 1:45 and 7:30 p.m. in the dining area of the Student Center.

Sponsored by the Legislative Action Committee (LAC), the first forum will feature a speech by Carl Pemble, a River Falls man active in the Save the St. Croix Committee.

The second open forum will be a speech by a Stillwater, Minn., lawyer, Sherman S. Crane, who is co-chairman of the Share the St. Croix Committee.

Pemble, a chemical engineer who has been active in the "Save" committee since its inception, conducted a study of the effects of the proposed $68 million Allen S. King power plant, which may be constructed at Oak Park Heights, for the St. Croix Association.

He reported that there would be enough heat going into the river to merit investigation.

Crane, in conjunction with R. M. Hadrath, has written a series of 12 articles appearing in the "Stillwater Gazette" repudiating the arguments of the Save the St. Croix Committee.

He will be speaking largely from the testimony of those who appeared before the various committees on pollution.

LAC has invited any interested persons to attend the open forums. A question and answer period will follow each speech.

EXAMINING HIS MODEL of an amphitheatre to be constructed in the South Fork area is Bob MacGregor, junior from Milwaukee. The amphitheatre is the project to be built from money earned during Foundation Week next week.

phitheatre in the South Fork area. Committee members hope the site will be sloped and seeded by next fall and a 60-foot by 40-foot stage with lighting and sound will be constructed.

To help reach the goal of $2,000 Foundation Committee President Harvey Stower said any group wishing to sponsor a dance or some other event is welcome to do so.

This year a point system of one point for each dollar donated to the South Fork project will be used for all events during Founation Week. The group with the highest number of points at the end of the week will receive a Foundation Week Trophy. The winner will be announced at the Faculty Frolics Saturday.

In addition, each group or individual contributing $25 or more to the project will have its name engraved on a plaque commemorating the project.

The winner of the Ugly Man on Campus will also have a photographic study done of him that will be shown in the Student Center following Foundation Week.

Prof Sells Two Works

Conrad DeJong, assistant professor of music at WSU-RF, announced last week he has signed contracts with Ensemble Publications of Buffalo, N.Y., for the publication of two of his music arrangements for brass instruments.

The two works are "Three Josquin Pieces" (edited by DeJong for a brass trio of trumpet, French horn and trombone) and "Canzon 'Bergamasca'" by Samuel Scheidt (edited for a brass quintet).

The three pieces by Josquin des Prez were first published between 1501 and 1503 and the Scheidt piece was first published between 1587 and 1654.

During Foundation week a model of the proposed amphitheatre built by Bob MacGregor, blueprints of the structure and other information about the project will be on display in the Student Center.

Biology Prof Receives Grant

Dr. Martin Laakso, associate professor of biology, has received a grant to attend the Summer Institute in Activation Analysis at Texas A & M University, College Station, Tex.

The six-week institute for college teachers in the sciences or engineering will be in session from July 20 to Aug. 28.

To Check Cheating

Student Senate President Gene Smith last week appointed Sen. Harvey Stower to investigate the problem of cheating on the WSU-RF campus.

Smith appointed Stower, a junior from Grantsburg, to meet with administration and faculty members in the wake of what the Senate president called "one of the most tragic collapses of academic morality on campus in recent years."

Smith cited crib notes being smuggled into examinations, plagiarism on term papers and the use of previously administered examinations as examples of what he termed "me-too-morality."

He indicated Stower would be given full authority in seeking information and a solution to the problem.

Graduate Exam Will Be Offered On April 24

Students interested in taking the Graduate Record Examination, which will be given April 24, at WSU-RF, should file a formal test registration form with the Educational Testing Service and pay an examination fee.

These forms may be obtained at the Student Personnel Office.

Applications for admission to some graduate and professional schools are required to take this examination.

All registration forms and fees must reach the Princeton, N.J., office not later than April 9.

Biochemist to Talk

Dr. D. M. Updegraff, research biochemist of the biochemical research laboratory of 3M Company in St. Paul, will speak Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Rooms 101-102 of the Student Center on "Selective Toxicity, An Approach to the Discovery of New Drugs and Pesticides."

The speech, sponsored by Tri Beta, will be open to all interested persons.

Greg Brindley, the other person who presented the resolution, commented later that he was pleased by the quick response of the Senate to the situation.

Senate President Gene Smith, who had favored the resolution, said in an interview, "I feel that the Senate has meaningfully acknowledge the continuing question of how to successfully implement the full legal and social aspects of the Civil Rights Law of 1964. I shall be most interested in seeing what response the resolution will bring from those individuals who were furnished copies of the legislation."

Smith, who earlier had voiced his support of the campus forum series on civil rights, said he thought the legislation would provide a "new impact" on the series. James Bevel, a Martin Luther King aide in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference drive in Alabama, is an upcoming speaker in the series.

ERICK HAWKINS

Modern Dance Program Coming This Thursday

Presenting a program of modern dance, Erick Hawkins and his dance company, will appear at 1:25 p.m. Thursday, March 18, in North Hall Auditorium.

A choreographer as well as a dancer, Hawkins has worked with Kreutzberg, Martha Graham and George Balanchine. He has toured the United States and Europe since 1957 with a company of dancers trained by him in his school in New York City's Greenwich Village.

Hawkins was born in Trinidad, Colo., where he saw his first dance performance when he was eight years old. At the age of nine, he taught himself to play the piano and read music; later he received formal music training. At fifteen, he won a scholarship to Harvard University, where he majoried in Greek philosophy and art and also did well as an athlete, in swimming and rowing.

His company has performed at the Theatre of Nations Festival in Paris, the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival and at the American Dance Festival at Connecticut College, New London.

WISCONSIN STATE UNIVERSITY-RIVER FALLS MONDAY, MARCH 15, 1965 3

Parking Laws To be Enforced

Neil Barron, head University engineer, warned students last week that campus parking regulations would be stringently enforced beginning this week.

The parking regulations will be enforced by the campus police, who are under the engineer's supervision. Under Wisconsin law, the parking regulations have the force of municipal law and offenders must appear before River Falls Municipal Justice Douglas Boles.

Parking is allowed only in the following areas:

1. The lot South of Stratton Hall.
2. The lot south of the Student Center.
3. The lot south of Hathorn Hall.

Taylor, Clift in Sunday Movie

Montgomery Clift and Elizabeth Taylor star in "Raintree County," a movie to be shown in the Student Center Sunday, March 21. Set against the background of the Civil War, the movie depicts an idealistic young man searching for the mythical raintree, which will bring happiness and reveal the meaning of life, becomes infatuated with a bewitching beauty who eventually drives herself into a state of mental instability.

No movie will be shown Friday night, March 19.

Hall.

4. The lot east of the Campus Lab School.

Other areas have been designated as available only for parking for staff members who have permits.

No parking will be permitted on any of the streets on campus with the exception of Friday and Sunday, when residents of the dorms may park while loading or unloading luggage.

Barron said that the regulations would be enforced 24 hours a day.

Sampson's Art On Display in Texas Museum

Two drawings by James Sampson of the University art department were on exhibit until March 14 at the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, Tex.

Sampson's drawings were among 33 selected for exhibition of a group of 803 drawings from 17 states. His drawings were among those picked as exceptional by the judges. Sampson was the only artist to have more than one drawing selected.

The show consists of drawings in various media such as ink, charcoal, crayon, pencil, etc. Sampson's works were entitled "Reclining Head" and "Nude."

Dr. Kleinpell Predicts Tuition Will Decrease

By the time children of present University students reach college age there may be no tuition for college students, President E. H. Kleinpell predicted at a President's Coffee Hour last Monday.

Speaking to students at the informal gathering about out-of-state tuition, Dr. Kleinpell suggested that eliminating tuition fees might be a solution to the economic barriers confronting students seeking a college education.

The President said there are 4.5 million students in United States colleges today as a result of the post-war "baby bulge". There are three main pressures on colleges and students today, he said.

Legislatures say they will take care of only their own state residents as far as education is concerned.

Most states aren't prepared to take care of their own residents.

And there is a problem of higher education costs.

Although taxes do pay for part of a student's schooling, a non-resident pays 60 to 65 per cent of the cost of his education, while a resident pays only from 20 per cent to 25 per cent of his. Right now, Wisconsin's out-of-state fees are the highest in the Midwest, but the problem is still prominent all over the country, the President added.

President Kleinpell likens the non-resident costs to "tariff barriers". He said every young person in America should have the opportunity to develop himself to the limits of his ability. Most people want both fine schools and lower taxes, but it is impossible to have both. Eighty per cent of the people in a state would probably not object to higher taxes as long as the money went to support public schools and higher institutions of learning. Dr. Kleinpell innumeraed three important aspects of present day colleges: (1) There definitely is an economic barrier to higher education; (2) although tourism is stressed and much money is spent on promoting it, the out-of-state student is the best kind of tourist; and (3) mobility among states is beneficial because the non-resident student can and will contribute to the economy of the state.

A proposal made by Gov. Warren Knowles is coming up before the legislature. If it is passed, tuition for both resident and non-resident students will be raised $20 a year, or $6 to $7 a quarter. An earlier proposal brought before Congress that failed was one that would have given credit on federal income tax if a person or his children were in college.

The problem of this proposal, President Kleinpell said, was that this would mean those families who could send their children to expensive colleges would get more money exempted from their income tax than would parents sending their children to cheaper colleges, thus getting the wealthy "off the hook" instead of the middle class.

Leaders Say Bill Threatens Social Activity

Student presidents of the nine state universities meeting here Saturday, March 6, passed a resolution condemning an assembly bill which they claimed could wipe out campus social life if interpreted strictly.

The Council of Presidents of State University Student Governments, representing nearly 30,000 students in Wisconsin protested against a measure which would prohibit the sale of non-educational items and services if also provided by local communities.

Student leaders said the proposal, now in the Committee on Education, apparently was aimed at campus bookstores but insisted dancing areas, bowling alleys, game rooms and other recreational and money-making functions could be affected.

Gene Smith, River Falls, who chairs the Council of Presidents, labeled the bill a "flagrant legislative attempt to railroad college students into bankruptcy."

Smith announced that Larry Schmitz, President of the White-water State University Student Senate, was appointed at the meeting to coordinate a state-wide program of information concerning the bill. A letter-writing campaign to legislators is planned, Smith said.

Assemblymen George Borg (R-Delavan) and Thomas Barland (R-Eau Claire) co-sponsored the proposal. The bill states that University unions should not be prohibited from selling food but any contract in conflict with the bill, such as contracts held by bookstore owners, should not be renewed at its expiration date.

Items of a personal nature could not be sold, and the bill implies that newspapers, magazines, paperbacks and other "non-educational" materials would have to be purchased from local merchants.

Basic textbooks are rented from the universities and are not handled by the bookstore managers, meaning personal items provide much of their income.

Concert Tour Started Today By Music Dept.

The WSU-RF music department presented the first two concerts of its band tour at Prescott and Baldwin today. Tomorrow, the symphonic band and the concert choir will leave River Falls at 8 a.m. The band, directed by Donald Nitz, will present concerts at Clear Lake, Cumberland, Osceola, Webster, Chippewa Falls, Cameron, New Richmond, Elk Mound and Unity High Schools.

The concert choir, directed by Elliot Wold, will present concerts at Durand, Westby, Sparta, Schofield, Owen-Withee, and Spring Valley.

German Program is Set

About 100 students from six area high schools and the German Clubs of Macalester College, St. Paul, and WSU-Eau Claire will participate in a program sponsored by the WSU-RF German Club on Friday, March 19.

The program will consist of skits and plays by the high schools and colleges attending. The River Falls club will conclude the program with a two-act play entitled "Der Jasager and der Neinsager."

Free refreshments will be served in the Student Center after the program.

WISCONSIN STATE UNIVERSITY-RIVER FALLS

Voice Policy

Again The STUDENT VOICE begins a new cycle during which a new editor assumes the responsibility of giving students at Wisconsin State University-River Falls a good weekly newspaper.

A good student newspaper, in our estimation, has a two-fold duty. First it must present a complete and objective account in the news columns of the news which interests and pertains to students. Second it must comment objectively and constructively on the editorial page about matters, both on campus and off, of concern to students at this University.

The only major change in the VOICE staff, in addition to the editor, is the appointment of David W. Peck, a junior from Marshfield majoring in journalism and agriculture, to the position of managing editor.

Those continuing their services to The STUDENT VOICE are Sports Editor Mark L. Nelson, junior from Grantsburg majoring in art, and Business Manager Nancy J. Wolfe, junior from River Falls majoring in elementary education.

Contents of the editorial columns is determined by the seven-member editorial board. This board, composed entirely of students, decides what subjects will be commented on in the editorials and what stand will be taken by The STUDENT VOICE. Members of the board then write the editorials.

All letters to the editor which are signed and are not libelous will be printed in The VOICE. However, The STUDENT VOICE reserves the right to edit all letters.

The contents of the news columns is determined solely by the editor. Because of the increasing amount of news on the campus and the limited space in which to print the news, not all stories turned in at the VOICE office will be printed. Stories deemed most important to the largest number of students will hold priority over other stories.

The role of our able adviser, Donald F. Brod, will be that which is implied in his title; he will offer advice and criticism to the VOICE staff, but will leave the driving to us.

For the next three quarters we on the

Score One, Ace

After three quarters of accusation, expose, and a sort of aggressive editorial style, it is refreshing to turn around in midstream and swim against the current for a while.

All last year, we heard about the lousy food provided by Mother Ace. Furthermore, there were investigations, high feelings in the student body and a pretty specific dissatisfaction with the quality of food received for the dollar paid.

But things have changed. This year, we have steak periodically, tough at times, but steak, nevertheless. This year we have African Rock Lobster Tail - and that, my friends, is a delicacy usually found in resort hotels and fancy restaurants.

This year, we have free evening snacks, friendly service, and a continental breakfast line. And we have a food committee that has kept the campus free from food riots. Not bad for a beginning, Mr. Couteau!

staff of The STUDENT VOICE will work to give students at WSU-RF a good weekly newspaper.

Constitutional "Guarantees?"

Is our government - - local, state and national - - based upon theory rather than practice?

Recent events in Selma, Ala. seem to indicate that some of our Constitutional "guarantees" have become part of only a framed document for our mantle. When the rights of an individual - - especially in regard to the rights guaranteed by the First, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution - - have been infringed upon, it is time we take the document from the shelf and take a long, hard look at exactly what it says.

The Constitution specifically states that "all citizens" are guaranteed the rights and freedoms under each Amendment. What ever happened to the words of the Preamble to our Constitution which state that we have joined together "in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility . . . ?" Have they become mere words without meaning?

Perhaps the step taken by the Student Senate at a special meeting last Tuesday evening shows that an effort is being made to follow our basic rights and freedoms.

The resolution, endorsed and adopted by the Student Senate, deals with the situation in Selma, Ala. It resolves that the "Governor of the State of Alabama be forced to adhere to the Constitution of the United States of America," and that the executive, judicial and legislative branches of the federal government "take immediate steps to fulfill their obligations" to American citizens.

The action which prompted this resolution occurred Sunday, March 7, 1965, when, at Selma, Ala., the Alabama State Police brutally beat, stamped upon, and injured with nightsticks, tear gas bombs and horses, citizens acting in accordance with their rights as guaranteed by the First, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments.

Another instance prompting this action was the order given by Gov. George Wallace of Alabama to the Alabama State Police to stop the demonstration march to Montgomery, Ala. These people were on a protest march because of the violation of the constitutional safeguards of the "right to assemble, to petition for redress of grievances, to vote without regard for race, color, or previous condition of servitude, and to enjoy equal protection of the laws."

Although the resolution adopted by the Student Senate offers no concrete solutions, it does prove that citizens of the North are aware of the inhumanity, destruction of democracy and desecration of the Constitution of the United States of America in regard to the Negro. If this resolution brings action by only one legislator or one student, it will be successful. At least this may make some governmental officials aware that we are watching our government.

Writer Predicts No Dorm Hours Within 10 Years

To the Editor:

I recently heard that Carleton College in Northfield, Minn. had adopted a new policy which will permit men and women to visit each other's dorms at specified hours.

It is interesting to note that last year when the same thing was advocated by The VOICE, one of the nastier comments came from the Northfield area. The action taken by Carleton is only another case which emphasizes the lack of "progressive thought" on the part of our personnel division.

I think that I can safely predict that within ten years, we will see restrictions on women, with regards to the hours which they must be in the dorm, relaxed considerably if they are not eliminated all together. It is simply a question of time.

Another prediction which I can safely make is that within ten years no dorms on campus will seriously consider entering Homecoming or Winter Carnival competition against the Greeks.

We have only to look to other campuses where the Greeks predominate to see that they have an annoying tendency to force other organizations out of competition when they become powerful enough. On two state university campuses, the Greeks control the student government and on others, non-greek groups are not even permitted to compete in such events as Homecoming. Several Whitewater students have told me that the Greeks have such a strangle hold on campus activities, that it would be inconceivable for a non-greek girl to even be selected as a candidate for homecoming queen and that for non-greeks, there is little or no opportunity to do anything but sit on the sidelines and watch what the others are doing.

Although this situation does not exist here at the present time, there is no reason to believe that it will not in the foreseeable future. Participation by dorms has declined considerably over the last two years and less people have been actively participating in the campus events than ever before.

I do not mean to deny that the floats and snow sculptures have not improved fantastically since Greek organizations were permitted to come on campus, but I submit that this has also resulted in an unhealthy decline in the participation on the part of the student body in general.

If such a decline is not checked, we may well be nearing the day when the majority of our students will be forced to be comparatively uninterested onlookers at many of our social events out of deference to a small group of well-organized Greeks.

If I might refer back to the article in the Saturday Review by David Boroff, Boroff did not advocate the banning of Greek organizations, but felt that on a healthy campus the Greeks should be constantly challenged by an active independent group. This is what is lacking here and I certainly hope that such a group of active independents can be formed.

If this cannot be done, not only will the campus suffer from increased apathy, but the Greeks will tend to become stagnant with no one to challenge them.

Student Urges Another Party To Be Formed

To the Editor:

Last Wednesday, it came to our attention that a political group was being organized on our campus calling itself the Committee for Better Government. It was designed to select certain candidates and provide them with funds to be elected to the Student Senate. It is composed of certain organizations which have been asked to contribute funds for campaigns.

The concept of a political group organized to improve our campus could be a good one. It could help to promote student interest in the workings of our Student Senate.

The idea could also have a bad effect, however. Our student government should be a "people process," not a one man or one group show. A single party cannot present a diversity of choice to the student body. It could, however, lead to stagnation through a lack of diversity and lack of choice for leadership. Monism in the world of ideas can lead to absolutism in action.

The American tradition, however, is conspicuously pluralistic in its political system. It is through a two party system that all of the people have the best chance of being represented. Our Student Government, under a two party system, would be open to new thoughts and fresh criticism. It would, therefore, like to encourage that another party be founded to offer a constructive program for our Student Senate, and to offer a real choice to the student body.

25 Students Are Receiving Federal Grants

Twenty-five WSU-RF students are working under federal Economic Opportunity Acts grants. The students are working either on campus or for non-profit organizations.

Each of the nine Wisconsin State Universities is participating in the work-study program. The universities recently reported that they expect to have 963 students holding work-study jobs before the end of the school year.

The program is designed to help students from low income families. Students work up to 15 hours a week at about $1.25 an hour.

The nine Wisconsin State Universities have committed most of their federal work-study funds by providing part-time jobs for nearly 600 students, the Board of Regents office in Madison reports.

Four of the universities have requested additional federal economic opportunity act grants so that more eligible students can be hired under the program, said Robert DeZonia, assistant director of state universities.

The State Universities originally asked for a total of $503,966 in federal funds to pay 90 per cent of the wages of some 2,000 students expected to take part-time jobs on the nine campuses. They received a total of $196,377 or 39 per cent of the total asked.

Oak Lawn, Ill., school representatives will be on hand on March 23.

Interviews will be held in the Agriculture Building on March 15 and 16. On March 15, Wilson & Co. representatives will interview job applicants at 9 a.m. On March 16 the Production Credit Association representatives will be available at 8 a.m.

And On Other Campuses...

By MICHAEL BRÉCKE

This column, which will appear weekly in The STUDENT VOICE, consists of excerpts of articles published in other state university student publications. We hope to show some examples of current problems and solutions to them found at other Wisconsin universities in the hope that this might stimulate ideas on WSU-RF campus problems.

Students at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee have instituted what they call a "brain trust," likened to the one during the days of FDR, as a means to introduce new and better plans and programs for the students on the University of Wisconsin campus. The new organization, christened the Development Commission, plans to devote its time to the area of student government.

Students who form the "brain trust" fear that their university will graduate a "huge number of deformed graduates. Our graduates will neglect their right to vote, their right to speak up against the evil forces in society."

Leaders in proposing their reforms said that in "the past two years campus leaders have been guilty of gross apathy. Reforms which the "brain trust" has introduced are a science and industrial exposition which displays the talents of members of the university, a creativity course and increased utilization of special skills which are present on the campus.

..... University of Milwaukee Post VITAL, a new University of Wisconsin at Madison political organization, met illegally March 1 as part of an anti-Daily-Cardinal (student newspaper) movement. VITAL listed as its objectives continuing long year party action, fostering a more optimistic view of Wisconsin Student Association (WSA) and increasing interest in active legislation.

The new political group was advertised earlier in the day on the "WSA Today" radio station. Members of the WSA criticized the use of the program for the personal gain of the students involved. The meeting itself was frequently interrupted by anti-Cardinal remarks, one of which was, "Since we elect the Cardinal board, we're going to have to see to it that middle-of-the-road policies are carried out in the Cardinal." The announcements on the radio program said that an immediate stand on the Cardinal issue would be taken.

Baseball Begins This Afternoon

Coach Don Page held the first baseball practice this afternoon at 3:30, and other eligible candidates can report tomorrow at the same time.

Page's Falcons, defending state champions, have a nucleus of 10 returning lettermen as they open the 1965 season. The Falcons set the pace last year with a 7-1 conference record and a 15-6 mark over all.

Returning is third baseman Al Space, who as a sophomore last year, led Falcon hitters with a .444 batting average. Space led the nation's small colleges in hitting until a late season slump.

Returning also is ace relief pitcher, Ron Peterson (3-0) and outfielder-pitcher, Dennis Kaiser. Kaiser collected 27 hits for a .351 average and was 1-2 as a pitcher.

Other letterwinners back are shortstop Wayne Jarvinen, pitcher Art Johnson (4-3), outfielder Noel Schranagle, utility man Roger Dillenbeck, outfielder Tom Gustafson, first baseman Greg Thoney, and pitcher Tom Roelke.

Three starters on last year's team were lost through graduation. Among them was the Falcon's leading pitcher, John Boortz (7-0). Coach Page said that first year ball players could possibly fill these vacancies as well as some of the other positions.

Last year Platteville, White-water and Stevens Point had fine baseball seasons finishing second, third, and fourth respectively behind River Falls. This season the conference will consist of nine teams as the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee will not compete as it did last year.

7-M Wrestling

The first WSU-RF wrestling tournament was held last week with eight weight divisions being decided. The single elimination tournament crowned intramural champions from the 123 pound class to the heavyweight class.

In the 123 pound class Bob Miller bested Gordon Fleury to take that division title.

In the 137 pound class Paul Vick and Allen Sinclair made it to the finals with Vick the even-

Tankers End In 5th Place

The Falcon Tank team closed out its 64-65 schedule last weekend with a fifth place finish in the WSUC meet last weekend.

The River Falls swimmers scored 8 1/2 points to finish behind host Platteville who had 80 and LaCrosse, 66; Oshkosh 61 and Stevens Point, 59. Eau Claire with three points was the only other team to score.

Finishing sixth for the Falcons were Bob Peterson in the 50 yard freestyle and Jim Daniels in the 200 yard individual medley and the 200 yard butterfly. Daniels set a new team record in the latter event.

Fifth place finishers for the Falcons were Lloyd Nelson in the 200 yard breaststroke and 400 yard freestyle relay team. The relay team was composed of Peterson, Ogren, Olson and Revere. Nelson's time in the breaststroke was good for a new team record.

Wrestlers Shutout in NAIA

The Falcon representatives at the NAIA small college tournament last week were beaten in every match. This is the first time River Falls has been shutout in the nationals as the previous low was seven points. The Falcons of 1962 finished seventh in the national, and the Falcons of 1961 placed 13th.

Dave Stark at 115, Al Gross at 147, Dave Amdahl at 167, Ron Knutson at 177 and Butch Roberts at 191 were all beaten in the initial match.

Stark and Roberts got wrestlebacks as they were beaten by high placing entries in the first round. Stark, after losing to last year's national champ, lost a close match to Marquardt of Eastern Illinois. Marquardt finished in the nation's top four. Roberts lost his wrestleback 3-2 to an entry from Indiana State.

There were 65 schools and over 300 contestants at the tournament.

Coach Byron James reported that Wisconsin State Universities did very poorly. Superior scored points on the first day but was stopped right there, he said.

James commented on next year's team: "We have 14 lettermen and 13 will be coming back next year. We anticipate having a representative team."

Five Falcon Wrestlers Enter Indiana Tourney

Five members of the Falcon wrestling squad left last Wednesday for Terre Haute, Ind. to compete in the NAIA small college wrestling tournament. The tourney consists of a greater number of the small colleges around the nation. Seven of the nine WSU schools have entered this meet including conference champion Superior. Also entered are some leading Minnesota schools including Mankato and St. Cloud.

Representing the Falcons at 115 was Dave Stark, a sophomore from Ellsworth. Stark has been wrestling at 123 most of the season but dropped in weight for the tournaments which proved to be for the better, placing him fourth in the WSU conference meet.

At 157 for the matmen was Al Gross, sophomore also from Ellsworth. Gross had a fair season winning the greater number but failed to place in the conference.

Transferring from Rochester Junior College this year, Dave Amdahl gave what may be said one of the best all-around performances during the year at 167. Amdahl lost four matches during the season, two of these in the tournament at North Dakota which included schools such as the University of Minnesota, Kansas State and South Dakota State. Amdahl placed second in the WSU conference, losing his final match in the last few seconds to Superior.

Freshman grappler Ron Knutson from Rice Lake showed the greatest improvement as the season went on. Knutson wrestled 191 in the WSU conference meet and placed third but was wrestling his normal weight at the National tournament which is in the 177 pound class.

The fifth competitor for the Falcons was freshman heavyweight Butch Roberts. Roberts did a fine job throughout the season winning as many as he lost.

Another Falcon wrestler who placed fourth in the conference at 130 was Bob Olson, sophomore from Baldwin.

High School Tourney Opens on Thursday

Thursday afternoon the 50th Wisconsin State High School Basketball tournament will get underway in Madison at the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse.

Eight teams, their coaches, schoolmates, parents, alumni and just plain basketball fans will descend on Madison for a weekend of basketball, and all the accompanying festivities which will result in crowning of a champion Saturday night.

Only one team from last years meet will be returning, Eau Claire Memorial. This will be the fifth year in a row and the seventh in the last nine years coach Harry Gibbs has guided his team to the March classic. A Gibbs coached team has never won the title and his best finish was a second in 1962.

The Old Abes earned their season tickets this year by whipping previously undefeated Alma, 77-62. The win was Eau Claire's 20th against four losses, a record which earned them a special mention in the final WIAA ratings.

Monroe's top ranked Cheese-maker's hammered Baraboo, the state's No. six power, 78-57 in their sectional final. The loss was the first of the season for Baraboo and the win gave Monroe a 23-0 record.

Third ranked Wauwatosa East rallied in the closing minutes to defeat Milwaukee King 70-69 for their 19th straight win and 22 in 23 games. The winning points came in the final five seconds on a free throw. King led through most of the game.

Appleton, champion of the powerful Fox River Valley conference was pushed into overtime by West DePere before winning 59-56. Appleton tied the score with a field goal in the final two seconds at 56 all, then added a field goal and a free throw in the overtime to run their record to 21-2. They were ranked fourth in the final WIAA ratings.

Stevens Point held on to a 15 point third quarter lead to edge Rhinelander 57-55. Rhinelander outscored Point in the final period 20-7 before time ran out and ended their rally. The ninth ranked Panthers ran their record to a 19-4 with the victory.

Cumberland will be the smallest school in this year's tourney. They hooked up with Ashland for the nights highest scoring game. Cumberland trailed until the middle of the final period before pulling ahead for it's 23rd victory, 98-90. John Shell scored 36 points to lead the undefeated No. 10 school to it's win.

Brookfield Central used a strong second half to pull away to it's convincing 69-58 win over Racine Horlick. Central had a two point lead at halftime before pulling away to their 21st win against 2 losses.

Madison East rolled to a 44-24 halftime lead and wound up with an easy 85-65 win over Berlin. The win gave East a 17-4 record for the season and an honorable mention in the final WIAA ratings.

All sectional finals were played last Saturday night, March 13.

The quarter final parings will have:
Appleton vs. Monroe
Brookfield Central vs. Madison East
Cumberland vs. Wauwatosa East
Eau Claire Memorial vs. Stevens Point.

Realizing that anything can happen in a tournament of this type I still would like to make some personal predictions. So in the first round action it will be: Appleton over Monroe, Brookfield over Madison East, Cumberland will fall to Wauwatosa East and Eau Claire's Old Abes will defeat Stevens Point.

The final game of the tournament will have Appleton facing Wauwatosa with the boys from the north end of lake Winnebago taking home the big trophy.

"A friend of those who have no friends,
"An enemy of those who make him an enemy---"

That's David Taube. He's impossible.

Two years ago David Taube, then sports editor of the Student Voice became the hearthrob of Falcon football players by predicting that the gridgers would have a sub-.500 season. The team showed its resentment by shutting out its first two opponents. Unfortunately the sting wore off and the Falcons finished an even .500.

Taube's "reverse psychology" would have worked even better hadn't Falcon athletic teams been so persistent in varifying his predictions.

When Dave became editor-in-chief he continued to foster his sporting ways. He excelled in his play-by-play, foul-by-foul analyses of the student government and the university administration.

Since referees were at a premium in these sports, Taube soon found that he had to make some ground rules or be trampled under. This he did in the tradition of polo players--with mallets toward none. Nevertheless at times he did horse around.

But can you blame him? What would you have done had you had two pages to fill for Monday and you receive your first piece at midnight Sunday. If your lucky, you finish by breakfast. If you're Taube you finish at 4 a.m.

Those were the miracle days when the sports page was somehow printed right-side-up in spite of the fact that our temperamental printer wouldn't let Taube inside his shop door.

Yes sir! Those were the days. They may even happen again now that Dave has threatened to become the dumbist sports writer on the staff. No more will we hear the sound of pounding fists on screams of "Pain, agony." From now on Voice staffers must bear alone the motto set before us by our glorious leader:

"When in trouble or in doubt. Run in circles, scream and shout."

David Taube ran a lot of circles in his day. Yet seldom, if ever, did he abuse the tremendous responsibility placed in his hands

KEN LEE leaps for a rebound in one of the Falcons games. Lee led the team in scoring with a 21 point average.

Neitzel Leads Keglers

The River Falls keglers came back with their best showing of the year in the last match at LaCrosse State. The Falcons won four of their nine games and moved into eighth place in the conference standings, only three percentage points out of seventh.

In the first match the keglers met league leading Mankato State and won the first game 725 to 709. The Indians came on strong to win the next two games, but by the end of the day had fallen to fourth place. The big gun for River Falls was Roger Neitzel, who rolled games of 193, 209 and 221 for a 623 series. Leroy Schultz and Vern Andren also hit the 200 mark with games of 214 and 201 respectively.

River Falls then met St. Olaf and again won one game. Neitzel had games of 190, 200, and 217 for his second 600 series of the day.

The final match saw the keglers take two games from the University of Minnesota at Morris. The high series was again rolled by Neitzel who hit 565. Schultz and Andren chipped in with 500 series also.

Neitzel ended the day with a total of 1795 and moved into seventh place in the conference with a 184 average. Schultz ended the day with a 176 average.

The next match will take place in River Falls March 20 when the keglers meet LaCrosse and the University of Minnesota.

'Deadwood Dick' Opens March 26 In Karges

"Deadwood Dick," an old-fashioned melo drama, will be the faculty's contribution during Foundation week.

The melodrama, interspersed with variety or "Oleo" acts, is set in Calamity Jane's Man Trap Saloon in Deadwood, South Dakota. All characters and bar attendants will be members of the faculty.

The play will be presented in Karges Gymnasium at 8 p.m., March 26 and 27. All profits will be donated to this year's Foundations project, an outdoor amphitheater.

The production is the combined responsibility of Dr. Edward N. Peterson, head of the social science department and Sanford Syse of the speech department.

Robert Beck of the English department and Al Svanoec, resident director of Purchas Hall, are the heroes; Sally Lance of the music department and Carol Jennings of the Laboratory School are the heroines; Lawrence Scott of the chemistry department is the villain.

The bartender is played by Dr. James King of the social science department, the judge by Dr. Peterson, the sheriff by Dr. Alwin Parker of the physical science department, the sheriff's wife by Ann Sherwood, the resident director of Hathorn Hall.

Two Dorms by 1966 Approved for WSU-RF

Two new dormitory halls for WSU-RF at a cost of $1.4 million have been approved to be built by September of 1966, the Board of Regents office in Madison announced.

The River Falls buildings, to house 480 students, are two of 18 new residence halls and four new food service buildings approved by the board March 4.

The construction program was authorized by the State Building Commission. It will be carried out by the Wisconsin State Colleges Building Corporation. The projects do not require state tax funds, said Eugene R. McPhee, director of State Universities, because construction will be financed with loans to be repaid from room and food service receipts.

The 18 residence halls will cost an estimated $18,500,000 including land which must be purchased at four campuses. They will provide rooms for 5,838 students and will bring the total university-operated residence halls to 83, with capacity for 21,143 students in double rooms.

Knowles Received No Council Request

Gov. Warren P. Knowles, in response to a query by The STUDENT VOICE, said, in a letter, that he has received no recommendation from United Council to establish a blue ribbon committee on higher education.

United Council had, at its Winter meeting on Jan. 29 and 30 at Stevens Point, passed a resolution urging the governor to establish a "blue ribbon committee of experts in the area of Wisconsin higher education, to conduct an intensive and comprehensive study of the entire area of Wisconsin higher education and related factors."

The motion also requested the the Music department, will supply the music on a rinky-tink piano, and President Kleinpell may lend his musical talents in the first act.

"If there are students interested in working on the set, please contact me for I would appreciate any and all assistance," said Syse.

"I can promise the audience action, laughs, and the opportunity to hiss, boo, applaud, and throw money," he said.

committee to make concrete recommendations based on their findings."

The motion was proposed at a session after the governor had addressed the council and urged more "in-depth studies." An offer of help in "whatever way possible" was included by the Council.

Knowles said that he had received no such request or recommendation from United Council, but pointed out that two task forces are already functioning in the educational field and said that he would not hesitate to appoint additional personnel to look into the situation if it appeared that additional work needed to be done.

Knowles also said that he would be "interested and happy" to hear the results of a poll which is being conducted by the Platteville student government.

The Poll is aimed at finding out whether parents of Wisconsin youngsters feel that more money is necessary for higher education in Wisconsin or whether admission standards in the state universities should be raised to cut down on the number of students.

The Platteville student government has sent questionnaires to all WSU student governments to be passed out in the area of each school to insure state-wide distribution of the forms.

WSU-RF Sen. Tom Schaffer, said that the questionnaires which were sent to River Falls, have been passed out to parents of students in the River Falls school system and that the results have been tabulated and returned to Platteville.

Hampton Wilmot, vice-president of United Council, said that he did not know when Platteville would have all the results ready for release.

Included on the questionnaire, was a request that the parents indicate what means, if any, they feel should be used to raise money for higher education. A blank was also provided for extra comments and suggestions.

3 History Profs Get Grants

Three WSU-RF history professors have received research grants. Dr. Chun-shu Chang, Dr. James King, and Dr. Edward Peterson have been awarded grants to enable them to complete historical research.

Dr. Chang has received a grant of $2,200. The grant was presented by The American Council on Learned Studies and The Social Science Research Council.

"This will be used for next year for me to finish my book," said Dr. Chang when questioned about the grant. Dr. Chang is writing a book concerning "agrarian imperialism" of the Han dynasty. This period, described by Chang, is the period which began Chinese expansion that is still taking place.

Chang will work on his book at WSU-RF during the winter and at Harvard University during the summer.

Dr. King is the recipient of a Henry P. Huntingdon grant. This grant will allow Dr. King to study in the Huntingdon library in San Marino, California next summer. The research done by Dr. King will be toward the completion of his book on General Crook.

Dr. King said that he expected to be in residence in San Marino for about a month during the summer. He described his grant as "simply a monetary reward for doing research."

Dr. Peterson received his grant from the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. The Humboldt Foundation is the grantor of the German "Fulbright-type" fellowships.

Dr. Peterson was awarded a Humboldt grant last summer which allowed him to study in Germany. The present grant is for the purchase of further research materials. Dr. Peterson plans to make these materials available for student use.

"REACHING FOR THE SKY" is Deadwood Dick (Robert Beck) as Al Svanoec holds his trusty six-gun on him. The two men presented a scene from the Faculty Frolics presentation of "Deadwood Dick, or, The Game of Gold," a melodrama to be part of Foundation Week, at a Vegetable Club rally Thursday night.

UAB Forms, Begins Work

Last week marked the beginning of the merger between the Social Committee and The Student Center Governing Board. This new student government committee, called the University Activities Board (UAB) is composed of 13 members of the student body.

The new committee has as its officers Bob Linaberry, chairman; Doug Dube, vice-chairman; Dan Anderson, treasurer; Carol Fuhs, secretary; and Dean Amundson, parliamentarian. Each of the members except the chairman and vice chairman chairs or vice-chairs one of eight sub-committee of the AUB. Seventeen positions are open on these committees for interested students.

The subcommittees, chairmen, vice-chairmen, and number of vacancies to be filled are as follows:

Special Events is chaired by Dan Anderson, vice-chaired by Carol Fuhs, and has three openings. This committee selects, contracts, and arranges for all big-name entertainment that the Senate sponsors.

Falcon Film Slated For Wednesday

A French film, "The 400 Blows," is the next scheduled Falcon Film and will be shown at the Falls Theater this coming Wednesday evening. Tickets for the performances, which are slated for 6, 8 and 10 p.m. are available in the University Bookstores.

The story depicts a boy who was born out of wedlock and is living with his mother (a chronic infidel) and a stepfather (whose sole interest lies in a small car club).

Faced with this home situation, the boy becomes a petty thief and is thrown into jail and treated like a hardened criminal. Finally, he runs away from the juvenile detention home and is cornered by the sea; an unhappy end for an unhappy boy.

The Film Committee, chaired by Dean Amundson has two openings. This committee selects, schedules and presents films sponsored by the Student Center for the year.

Public Relations Committee is chaired by Joyce Felch and has two openings. This committee is responsible for all public relations pertaining to the UAB for posting and enforcing sign regulations of the Student Center. This committee also communicates with other schools and is responsible for the communications between the UAB and the student body.

Exhibits Committee is chaired by Brenda Finses and has two members. This committee selects and displays all exhibits that are presented in the Student Center.

House Committee is chaired by Bonnie Larson and has two openings. This committee is responsible for all seasonal decorations and open houses of the Student Center.

Games Committee is chaired by Sue Finke, vice-chaired by Jay Hayden, and has three openings. This committee plans and conducts all games and tournaments sponsored by the Student Center. This will also include outside games and sports.

Food Committee is chaired by Marilyn Nielsen, vice-chaired by Judy Hofbauer, and has four members, each of whom is elected by a dorm. This committee works in cooperation with the food service of this University as well as the students. It also plans and conducts all banquets, coffee hours and luncheons that the Center sponsors.

Dance Committee is chaired by Sanders Howse and has three openings. This committee plans, organizes and presents all dances held in the Student Center.

The interviews for these committees will be held in the Senate Conference Room of the Student Center at 8:30 p.m. next Monday, March 22. Anyone interested is encouraged to attend the interview. Those interviewed should state a committee preference, an UAB representative said.
