Farmers Need More Liberty Benson Says in Address

If the voices of 90 million farm people in America could be crystallized into one voice, it would demand more freedom for farmers. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said here Saturday afternoon.

Addressing the final session of the Rural Life Conference at the college, Secretary Benson said, "Farmers have had about all the political panaceas they can stand. They know that controls breed more controls. Farmers don't want milk allotments and cow quotas."

Denying that the family farm is "on the way out," the Secretary said, "The truth is that today 96 percent of our commercial farms are family farms — the same proportion as 30 years ago."

"The family farm is changing, that's all — changing for the better. It's becoming larger — stronger — a better place to live."

The population shift away from the farm has dropped radically in the past five years, Secretary Benson said, adding "These figures are U. S. Census Bureau figures, too, not Agriculture Department figures, although they'd be just as accurate if they were from the Department of Agriculture."

One of the greatest challenges facing professional agriculture workers, the Secretary said, is to help farm people and the public generally to gain a true understanding of the facts involved in agricultural policies and programs.

Men of conviction must often stand for unpopular ideas, he said. "For taking the path of least resistance makes crooked men as well as crooked rivers."

His address in the North Hall auditorium had few political references although he said that in a campaign year there is some-

Swanton Says Rural Society Needs Executive Commission

Mr. Swanton recommended here Thursday the creation of a Presidential Country Life Commission similar to the one set up almost 100 years ago by Theodore Roosevelt to deal with the present blending of "overalls and gray flannel suits" in our present rapidly expanding New Rural Society.

Mr. Swanton, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Council of Agricultural Cooperatives, spoke as part of the week-long WSC Rural Life conference which ended Saturday.

REGIONAL MATERIAL ABOUNDS IN STATE, GARD TELLS WRITERS

Wisconsin has a wealth of regional material from which short stories, novels, plays and feature articles could be written, Prof. Robert E. Gard told those attending the program on "Creative Writing in Rural America" here Friday.

Bringing photographs to illustrate some of the historical incidents which he felt would furnish material for creative treatment, Prof. Gard discussed work he has done and possibilities that exist in regional drama.

Discussing other phases of creative writing in Friday's program were Mrs. Lee Olson of Wauchesa, Mrs. Eva John Kuhn of Whitehall and Al P. Nelson of Delafield. All are free lance writers with a number of publications to their credit.

Closing the Friday program was a presentation in reader theater form of "Antietam in the Lower Forty," a drama of rural Wisconsin presented by the Wisconsin Idea Theatre of the Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Swanton began his address by saying, "We live in an era of new hybrids." In our present rural society, he said, we can see three groups: "The full-time farmer, the part-time farmer with some off-farm work, and the under-employed of the city."

Referring to this latter group, Mr. Swanton said, "It should be realized that an active, healthy person employed 40 hours or less a week in the city is really under-employed."

As another part of the day's

An all-school pizza party, a swimming party and a songfest will be highlights Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 29 and 30, when the 1958 Homecoming begins at River Falls.

Campus and window decorations will begin on Wednesday. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded for the three best decorations in each division. At 7 p.m. that evening, an all-school swimming party, complete with lifeguards will be held in the North Hall pool.

Elections for Homecoming Queen will be in the cafeteria Thursday, Oct. 30, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Results of the voting will remain secret until the Friday night coronation. Featured Thursday evening will be the all-school pizza party in the cafeteria, followed by a songfest and informal pep gathering.

Rosa Fleischauer, manager of the cafeteria, and the Vet's Club are cooperating to sponsor the dinner. A cheese and sausage pizza will be prepared by Mr. Fleischauer at a cost of 75c including beverage. Members of the Vet's Club have volunteered to handle the work.

Pep Fest, Coronation Are Highlights Friday

Dance Slated With 'Smooth' Featherstone

River Falls students will dance to the strains of one of the top musical artists when Jimmy Featherstone and his band appear for the Homecoming dance in the Hudson High School gym, Saturday, November 1. All faculty, students, friends, and alumni are invited to attend.

Featuring Ami Silvestre, the band has recorded for the Tower Record Label, and has appeared at all the larger ballrooms, including the Plantation Club in Nashville, the Aragon Ballroom in Chicago, and the Vincent Lopez Show in New York.

The Englishman's style is patterned after that of Art Kassel. The smooth, sophisticated music in the Featherstone fashion has been applauded all over the country by those who like to dance to better music.

Tickets are now on sale in the cafeteria at $3.00 a couple.

Kleinpell Points Out Views On Homecoming At Kickoff Assembly

President E. H. Kleinpell spoke on "A Philosophy of Homecoming" at a kick-off assembly Tuesday, Oct. 21, in North Hall Auditorium.

The president stressed the necessity of keeping Homecoming the thing it is meant to be. He said there seems to be a split interpretation of the meaning of Homecoming. "One," said Dr. Kleinpell, "is the 'student centered day' where a student can show a lack of responsibility. The other interpretation is that Homecoming is a time for graduates to assemble at their alma mater and be part of activities which provide an atmosphere for winning a Homecoming football game."

Dr. Kleinpell pointed out that college is a place where young people who are the "cream of the crop" in their communities come together and, with the help of advisors and faculty, educate themselves.

"Homecoming," he said, "is one of the few times in the year that students can act as a unit. Why not make this Homecoming an occasion of which every member of the student body can be proud."

Nesbitt, Hut Four Set For Evening

Climax of the Friday Homecoming activities at the college will be the Homecoming Queen's coronation at the pep fest at 7:30 p.m. in North Hall Auditorium. Attractions for the evening include speaker Dick Nesbitt, KSTT sportscaster, and the Hut Four singing group.

A "Scream for the Team" contest on North Hall lawn will begin the festivities for the day. Organizations who are entering cheers will meet facing North Hall immediately following dismissal of classes at 10 a.m. The cheerleaders and band will also participate in the pep rally.

At 11:30 a.m. there will be an outdoor picnic lunch on South Hall lawn. In case of bad weather, the picnic will be in the cafeteria. At 2 p.m. campus and window decorations will be judged and the championship intramural football game will be played at Ramer Field. A candlelight pancake supper is planned for 5:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Having the Hut Four at the Homecoming pep fest has become almost a tradition at River Falls. They made their first appearance here in 1955, and have returned each year since. Two members of the quartet, Don Sundt and Bob Dykstra, are alumni of the college.

Mr. Nesbitt, who will speak at the assembly, was a former football player at Drake University and also played professional football with the Chicago Bears.

Also on the program for Friday evening are Homecoming skits, numbers from the band, and several selections by the Abbott Combo, consisting of Dr. William Abbott, piano; Doug Young, bass; John Kirk, trumpet; and Jim Lane, drums. Miss Sandra Kins, Homecoming Queen of 1957, will crown the successor of the title.

Following the assembly will be the traditional bonfire behind Hathorn Hall. Immediately after there will be a dance in Hathorn Hall with music by the Abbott Combo.

Saturday's activities will begin with the 10:30 Homecoming parade on Main Street. Various alumni dinners will be held prior to the River Falls-Platteville football game at 1:30 p.m. on Ramer Field.

A coffee hour and tours in Stratton Hall are scheduled at 4 p.m. Winding up the weekend will be the dance at the Hudson Gym to the music of Jimmy Featherstone.

The Editor Speaks . . .

Students at the college who are 21 years of age and have resided in Wisconsin for one year have a right they may claim early in November when elections are held in River Falls.

Every student at the college who meets the above qualifications may cast his ballot this fall for the state candidates he feels will best represent his point of view. Regardless of his hometown, he may register and vote here in River Falls. The only additional qualification set forth is that the voter be a resident of this city for 10 days prior to the election. All students attending the fall quarter here at the college have, of course, already met this qualification.

A number of years ago, students could not vote in River Falls unless it was their hometown. The year the bill was enacted to read that these college students could vote in the city, the student balloting was extremely high. But in years since, it has decreased. Why? Perhaps qualified students did not know of their right. So here it is in black and white. All that is necessary to do is to register and cast your ballot on election day.

And while we are on the subject of elections, we might remind students of the election that will be held on campus this week—that of Homecoming queen. In past years, the percentage of students voting in all-school elections has been lower than desired. These same students who do not vote may well be the ones to change the outcome. Here's a chance for every-to vote on an issue—21 or not!

Knowledge for College

by John Oostendorp,
Speech and English Departments

If you are a regular reader of this department, you have received since the opening of the school year, all sorts of wise advice. You have been told that you exercised the right of free choice when you came here. You have been told to expand your horizons and keep your sense of humor, to find yourself, to try the creative arts, to attempt to solve problems, to plan your work and work your plan and not to worship bigness. If you have read, memorized and assimilated all of this, you don't need further advice from me.

I would like to pause and reflect here on that happy June day in the future, when the faculty will assemble in all of their collective dignity and academic garb, your parents will come and cheer, and you will be graduated. Then willingly or unwillingly the question will arise, now I have a degree, am I educated? I have accumulated 192 quarter hours, I have successfully negotiated general education requirements, major education requirements, minor requirements, and all other obstacles that were placed in the way of my achieving this glorious day. But am I educated? To answer this question, the regents, the president and faculty will have to stand mute while you ponder the answer. They can give no clues to the answer.

This leads me to the subject of this essay, the marks of an educated human being. It is far easier to tell what are not the marks of the educated man than what are. It is rather commonly agreed that the ability to recall on signal the multitude of facts crammed into text and reference works is not one of the marks. Univac and similar machines can do this faster and more accurately than we.

John Henry Newman defined the educated man as one who never gave hurt to his fellow man. This may lead us to the answer of, how do we learn to avoid giving hurt. We learn from the ability to observe and evaluate our actions. Are we able to profit from our past mistakes and success. Can we see where we gave hurt or avoided giving it? Can we profit from the past?

To test the validity of this hypothesis reflect for a moment on the fact that there is little evidence to lead us to believe that our brain is any larger or more efficiently used than the brains of the prophets of Israel and the philosophers of Greece and Rome. Yet few of us are able to maintain that man has not made some advances over the years. The advances would seem to have come through a distillation of the experience into a product that some of us call wisdom.

This then will give you a clue on how to answer the question, am I educated. Can you view experience and draw meaning or do you merely recite a description of what experience is? This ability to find meaning is thus one of the marks you must seek to gain during the remainder of your stay here.

CAMPUS MEETING SET FOR OCTOBER 30 BY COUNTY WEA

Pierce County teachers will meet on the River Falls campus Thursday, Oct. 30, for the fall meeting of the Pierce County Local of the Wisconsin Education Association.

Main speaker for the day will be Dr. Charles Fraley, economist at the University of Wisconsin and salary consultant for the WEA. Dr. Fraley does continuous studies in the field of salaries and salary conditions throughout the state.

BENSON—(con't. from p. 1) times a tendency "to misrepresent the facts."

"I understand there's a campaign going on now," he added.

Earlier in the day, Secretary Benson visited the 320-acre farm of Richard and Robert Bjerstedt, six miles north of River Falls, where he addressed a group of more than 60 farmers.

SPEECHES—(con't. from p. 1) program, Dr. Storla, RFSC social science department, said the family-sized farm is on the way out in America as a major agricultural unit.

The reason for this, he feels, is that it's not possible to reach the "desirable level of living" on the farm today. Dr. Storla qualified his remarks with an "if-then" type of reasoning. His conclusion, he said, is based on the assumption that present trends will continue in rural society.

Starting the afternoon program, Professor John Kinneman, of Illinois State Normal University, said, "There is little prospect for the eventual survival of agricultural villages—at least those villages which presently have a population of 1500 or less." "Rural Development in Action," was the topic of Vern Hendrickson's address. Rural Development,

Student Senate

October 20, 1958

The meeting was called to order by President Clarence Dulek. The secretary's report was approved as read, and the treasurer reported $347.32 in the Student Senate account, $186.06 in the city account and $593.52 in the vending machine account.

Carl Duch agreed to take care of all bulletin boards and the loading and money—collecting from all of the College's vending machines. The Senate voted to pay him $8 per week for this service.

President Dulek read a letter from Dr. F. C. Chisholm, chairman of the department of humanities, inquiring about an allotment for the Fine Arts Festival. The matter will be taken up with President Kleinpell.

Sandy Kins, Curt Larson and Jim Laue volunteered to serve on a committee to draw up an amendment to the Student Senate constitution to make the Senate elections in the spring more efficient and representative.

A request for funds from the WRA was discussed. The Senate will ask the group's advisor, Miss Levin, to appear to discuss the WRA's financial needs.

Winter Carnival dates have been tentatively set for February 12, 13, 14 and 15. Nominations for chairwoman will be submitted next week.

Mike O'Connell reported that Student Directories will be ready for distribution to the student body by the end of the week.

Before closing the meeting, President Dulek noted that the Senate will ask for nominations for the Student Union Board of governors at the next SAC meeting.

Secretary, Jim Laue

All present,

said the Price County Agent, is a program established by the federal government to aid areas in which economic advances have not been made as rapidly as in most parts of the U. S.

He said, the plan's goals included not only help for farmers, but for townspeople in small villages as well. Some of the project's undertakings have been increasing farm size in Price county, improving forestry resources, encouraging industrial expansion, widening educational and recreational opportunities, and bettering health and welfare conditions.

More people chase after Camels than any other cigarette today. And no wonder! For rich flavor and easygoing mildness, Camel's blend of costly tobaccos has never been equalled. More and more smokers are discovering that the best tobacco makes the best smoke. Year after year, Camels are America's No. 1 cigarette.

Falcon Fanfare

by Ed E. Schumpf

One of the most explosive runners to don a River Falls uniform in a long time is Pete Hubin, a hard-driving junior fullback from Shell Lake. Extremely small (170 lbs.) as fullbacks go, Pete nevertheless must be classified as a power runner. His style reminds many of "Bucky" DiSalvo, a former Falcon fullback who is now coaching at River Falls High School.

Pete played eight-man football at Shell Lake High School and claims the switch to the 11-man variety upon entering college was "just like starting over." Pete contends that eight-man is a more wide-open game however, because each man has more responsibility.

In addition to winning four varsity letters in football, Pete lettered four years in baseball and four years in basketball, a record anyone would be proud of.

Something many fans may not notice from the stands is that Pete wears glasses while operating from his fullback slot. He tried contact lenses as a freshman, but couldn't get used to them. But the glasses certainly don't interfere with his running, as his record to date will verify. He scored once against Stout and once against Eau Claire thus far and could develop into an even bigger threat as the season progresses.

PETE HUBIN

Last week's win over Eau Claire meant more to Pete than anything else because as he put it, "They've wrecked our title hopes so many times; it really felt good to turn the tables on them."

Pete is majoring in biology and minoring in physical education here at River Falls. Naturally he hopes to go into the coaching field following graduation.

Fans may think it's a misprint when they notice the name Hubin listed twice on their program. Actually it's not because Pete's younger brother Jim is a freshman fullback this year for the Falcons. "There is still another, though" adds Pete. A younger brother, Dan, is a 225 lb. junior guard for Shell Lake. "I think he could play college ball," notes Pete with enthusiasm. If he resembles Pete at all, he probably could.

Falcons Down Indians, 21-6

A steady, drizzling rain failed to dampen the Falcons fine passing attack and their championship hopes Saturday night as they defeated La Crosse 21-6 and remain atop the Wisconsin State College Conference with a perfect 5-0 record.

Polsfoot's boys were unable to put together a scoring drive in the first period, twice being stopped within the La Crosse 30-yard line. The stage was set for the first River Falls tally when Ed Olund recovered a fumble, one of the five picked up by the alert Falcons on the 15 on the last play of the quarter.

After being stopped twice for no gain on the ground, Bob Dawson took to the air, finding Jack Neurer for seven yards and Jack Omer for five more and the first down on the three. An illegal procedure penalty put the ball on the one and Mick Lauber bucked up the middle for the touchdown. Jim Hallen's magic toe made it 7-0 with 13:03 still remaining in the period.

The "Big Red" scored again in the closing minutes when Neurer made a sensational diving catch of a Dawson aerial on the La Crosse 5. Lauber swept around end for five yards and the touchdown. Hallen's automatic made it 14-0 at halftime intermission.

La Crosse was unable to cash in on a break midway through the third quarter when Mary Hanson attempting to punt on a fourth down received a bad pass from center and was downed on the Falcons 23. The Indians were only able to salvage a two yard loss on three plays from scrimmage before Lauber received a fumble. The Falcons were stopped at the 34 and forced to punt. Abraham fielded the punt and fumbled when hit by Jim Carew, Hanson recovering on the Indians' 40.

Lauber went around end for 14 yards and the first down on the 26. Hallen hit Hanson on a quick pass for 8 yards and Lauber then picked up 10 more around the other end. "first and goal to go" on the eight. Pete Hubin cracked up the middle for two yards as the quarter ended.

Lauber scored his third touchdown of the night on the fourth quarter opener. Hallen's kick was partially deflected by Leblecki but had just enough power to float over the crossbars for a 21-0 lead.

La Crosse scored their lone tally in the fourth quarter capitalizing on an interception by Don Mudrak who ran it back six yards to the RF 34. Mudrak found his right halfback, Dave Skemp for 10 yards and then Skemp crashed up the middle for 17 more and a first down on the 13. After two successive fumbles were recovered by La Crosse, Mudrak again found Skemp alone for 19 yards and the touchdown. The attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful, as there was a bad pass from center.

On the point-after, a personal foul was assessed against the Indians and they were forced to kick off from the 25 yard line. On the kick-off the Falcons heaped humiliation on the stinging defeat, as after Jack Delahunt received the ball, all eleven Falcons joined in a tight huddle. Everyman was a potential ball carrier and it left La Crosse in doubt as to which one had the ball. Lauber ran it back to the La Crosse 37, good for 38 hilarious yards.

The great Falcon line held the Indians to a scant 73 yards rushing. Hoff led the tackle department getting eight.

With only one week remaining in the intramural football schedule, the Moonshiners and Aunt Emma's Boys pace their respective leagues. In last week's results the Moonshiners' unblemished record was marred by a 12-12 deadlock with second-place Smokers. Aunt Emma's Boys in the "R" League defeated the Rum Dums 20-0 to run their league leading record to four wins and a tie. They will face the defending champions, the Doozeys, in a crucial game Thursday night. The Doozeys can gain the Homecoming finals again this year by a victory.

R F LEADS WSSC IN YARD GAINING

Statistically speaking, the Falcons are leading the Wisconsin State College in three offensive departments, not including Saturday's La Crosse Game.

James A. Crane, chairman of the art department, will appear on a nationally televised program originating in New York Sunday morning, Nov. 16. He will be seen on a program entitled "Look Up and Live" carried by the CBS television network.

The subject of the program will be "The Creative Response of the Christian in our Contemporary Society." Others on the program will be Cleak Fitzgerald, sculptor, and Miss Margaret Rigg, art editor of motive magazine. Mr. Crane has served as staff cartoonist for motive for several years and the group will discuss some of the principles on which the magazine was founded. It was established in 1940 as a magazine for Methodist young people of college age and was a revolutionary effort in religious journalism.

It has a wide range of articles by well-known authors including Albert Einstein, Toyohiko Kagawa, Pandit Nehru, Martin Niemoller, Eleanor Roosevelt, Robert Hutchins, Frank Lloyd Wright, Milton Eisenhower, Walt Kelly and William O. Douglas.

Mr. Crane was a member of the college art department at River Falls in 1955 and 1956 and, after a year on the staff at St. Cloud State Teachers College in Minnesota, returned as head of the department here this fall.

His cartoons appearing in motive have been reprinted in magazines and periodicals both in this country and abroad.

The second movie, Ivan the Terrible, will be shown sometime next week. The film concerns one of the most unusual monarchs in history and finds the hero still fighting the villainous Mongols.
