

Dr. Karges Dies in Building Named After Him

Shortly before 8 p.m. Wednesday night, unknown to most of the fans who packed Karges Gymnasium, the man for whom the building was named had just collapsed of a heart attack while entering the building.

Dr. Rudolph "Doc" Karges had walked from his home on South Fourth Street that chilly Wednesday night like he had done so many a previous Winter night to watch his favorite basketball team play its first home game of the season. The bespectacled little man had just entered the building which has bore his name since 1960 when the heart so many have loved and respected could give no more to its 83 year old body.

At half-time the news of his death reached many in the gym. It was then that the spot in the south-west part of the gym where he usually sat seemed conspicuously empty.

Dr. Karges had taught 43 years at River Falls before his retirement in 1951. During that time the chemistry prof served as River Falls' representative to the Wisconsin State Conference Athletic Committee for 39 years and as vice-president of the college for over a quarter of a century.

He perhaps got closest to his love for athletics, however, when in 1910 he assumed the role of the RF basketball coach. He summed up his coaching days by quipping at his retirement at the age of 71, "At that time we could afford only two college games (Superior and LaCrosse) so we played the local high school teams." Proudly he said of his record, "We never lost a high school game," and added with a smile, "and we never won a college game."

Always a favorite with his students, Dr. Karges was called upon many times to deliver speeches in which he displayed his faith in God and his belief in the worth of the individual.

At one time in the early 1930's he participated in a faculty skit and according to The STUDENT VOICE, "had the students in stitches".

The "Doc's" boundless energy and enthusiasm were further attested to when a group was formed on campus to perk up school spirit.

The group was known as "The Loyal Legion of Leather Lungs" and chose as their advisor who else but Dr. Karges.

After his retirement he continued to be a familiar figure on campus. He attended most of the Falcon's home football and basketball games. Many a night he could be seen walking slowly into the Chalmer Cayce Library where he spent countless hours pursuing his interest in history.

It was only fitting that the white-haired old scholar should end his long, productive and inspiring life quickly, in the building set to his memory and beneath the picture on the wall that will remind many of the Falcon tradition of enthusiasm and alertness to the very end.

President Kleinpell Remembers 'Mr. Chips'

By Eugene H. Kleinpell
President
WSU-RF

"Mr. River Falls" is dead!

To many generations of students, Dr. R. A. Karges was River Falls. He was the "Mr. Chips" of this campus who combined in a single personality the most admirable attributes of a teacher - an interest in young people and a concern for their welfare, dedication to a field of learning, a wide range of interests outside his specialty and an intense loyalty to "his" college.

Many here when the basketball teams played in the "cracker box" gym in North Hall will never forget his frequent trips to the middle of the floor to check the scoreboard. They will always remember his frequently reiterated, "By golly! We're going to win this one."

His name was always among the first mentioned at alumni gatherings; it was he who was on hand to welcome "old grads" when they returned to the campus.

His retirement did not lessen his interest in his school. He was present for nearly every special event - a music program, a visiting lecturer, a dramatic presentation. He was an ardent supporter of the athletic teams. It was, somehow, appropriate that he was on his way to see a game when death came.

I am pleased that our Board of Regents saw fit to immortalize his name by placing it on one of our buildings. I think that, secretly, Dr. Karges was pleased, too.

But "Kargie" didn't need that sort of immortality. He had already earned a greater kind in the impressions he made on all who knew him . . . in the influence he had on the many students whom he taught in his 43 years as a faculty member.

"Mr. River Falls" is dead, but his memory will be with us for many years and the contributions of his life will never die.

Rozehnal, Senate Discuss Editorial

Dr. B. J. Rozehnal, dean of students, appeared at the Senate meeting Monday to "discuss the editorial that appeared in the Nov. 16 edition of The STUDENT VOICE." He questioned the Senate as to "whether there was an infraction of the (University) rules, as the editorial implies."

The Senate emphasized that there had been "very little drinking" during the United Council meeting, and President Gene Smith stated that he "did not see a bar while in Oshkosh."

Rozehnal stated that he was not concerned whether there was drinking in bars. "I have no control over this," he said. "I am concerned with drinking on the bus. When you are a delegation representing River Falls University, that bus becomes a part of the campus."

There is a University rule strictly forbidding drinking on campus.

Rozehnal said that while he did not favor censorship of the press, he did question "whether, when something comes up, it should appear as an editorial before anyone knows about it?"

Ending the discussion, Rozehnal pointed out that he had been invited to accompany the bus to Oshkosh, but he had been unavailable at that time. He assured the Senate that in the future, he, or another faculty member, would be present.

Rozehnal also discussed Winter Carnival. He said, "At the present time we will not approve renting a chalet for a party." He explained that this decision was made because last year's Winter Carnival Committee "did not come through with their promise to control drinking." He said that sking would be permitted, but that the party afterward would not be allowed.

At the Nov. 16 meeting of the Senate, the Greek Letter Council had introduced a resolution stating that the "G.L.C. will continue to recognize Delta Iota Chi as a sorority in good standing and will continue to do so until the Student Senate strikes the original action against Delta Iota Chi from its records and the matter can be brought up before the representatives of the GLC for this consideration." After a motion to reject the resolution was defeated, the matter was tabled until the next meeting to enable the Senate's constitution committee to investigate the GLC constitution.

At last Monday's meeting, Wilmot moved that in cases where the Student Senate finds it necessary to suspend a Greek organization, notice will be sent to GLC to "carry out punishment and regulation of such punishment." The motion carried.

The constitution of the Vegetable Club was received by the Constitution Committee.

The Senate had approved the Le Animalus Scorbia constitution by a 7-3 vote at the Nov. 16 meeting.

DEAN ROZEHNAL

In other action, Wilmot moved to take $100 back from the Greek Letter Council. The Senate had given the money to GLC last spring when GLC was thought to be in worse financial shape than it actually was.

After his motion had been seconded, Wilmot spoke against it, saying that he had only made it so that it would be defeated and GLC could be certain of having the money.

The motion was defeated and John Bruce moved to reconsider. Bruce's motion died for lack of a second although Bruce later explained that he had only made the motion so that it could be voted down and could not be reconsidered again.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS, O. B. Bergsrud asked the Senate for money to form a hockey team at the last Senate meeting. Also pictured are Sen. Dan Brandenstein and Vickie Weisner, who sat as a non-voting member of the Senate in place of Sen. Ken Lee who had a basketball conflict.

The evening session included as participants the supervising teachers and cooperating public school teachers who will be guiding student teachers.

Topics undertaken in the workshop were the student teacher's

Committee Discuss Thanksgiving Buffet

"I think that this is well-taken," said Jack Couteaux, manager for Ace foods when John Bruce, chairman of the food committee, questioned the handling of the Thanksgiving buffet.

Couteaux said that he had not realized how long the students would take to serve themselves and said that this was the reason for the long delays. He also pointed out that when the serving of the entree and potatoes had been moved from the buffet table to regular serving line, the pile-up had still occurred where the students were serving themselves.

The committee reported a large number of complaints which ranged from the length of time that it took to be served during test week to the lack of trays at the meal.

Couteaux said that the trays had not been used in an attempt to make the meal "buffet-style" and that more than 30 students had been served in the Falcons Cage later in the evening when they had had to leave the line because of an evening exam.

Robert Brock, director of the Student Center and faculty representative to the committee, recommended that if such a meal is planned for the future, trays be provided and that it not be done during finals week.

Couteaux told the committee that he has had some trouble in the past getting people to serve at banquets and said that this was why he did not feel that he could require his workers to wear uniforms. This came after a query by the committee as to why some meals had been served by waiters wearing blue-jeans.

Couteaux said that banquets and certain hours during the day were problems for it was hard to find workers. He said that during those periods, he would hire people who were not on the meal plan to fill in. At other times, Couteaux said that those who were on the meal plan and those who had worked before would be given priority.

Couteaux also said in response to a question that student organizations may purchase food elsewhere for events which will be held off-campus, but that all campus events must be catered by Ace Foods. Couteaux said that this was an administrative decision, rather than a regulation of the food service.

History Prof To Read Paper

Dr. John Lankford of the department of history has been selected to read a paper on "The Behavioral Sciences and Social History," at the national convention of the American Historical Association in Washington in December. He is currently on research leave from WSU-RF, researching in church history at the Union Theological Seminary.

He has been invited to teach at the University of Missouri during the 1964 Summer Session.

Tomorrow's program will feature Matthew Corshu, an agriculture student from Sierra Leone, West Africa. On Thursday, Dr. B. H. Kettelkamp, chairman of the biology department, will tell about his summers spent as a naturalist in Glacier National Park.

The series' first program last Tuesday featured Dr. Edward Peterson, chairman of the social science department, comparing the situations in East and West Germany as he found them while doing research there last year.

Last Thursday Dr. Wayne Wolfe, administrative vice president, and Donald Brod, chairman of the University's public relations committee, discussed an open house program which was held on campus yesterday.

The series is a joint effort of Station WAVN and the public relations committee.

Hockey and Rodeo Get Funds

A total of $1,600 was granted to the newly formed hockey team of the River Falls State University, and $3,000 was given to the Rodeo Club by the Student Senate at a special meeting Thursday night.

O. B. Bergsrud, University athletic director, Jon Swenson, a freshman from South St. Paul, and Pete Holstrom, a freshman from St. Paul representing the hockey team, presented a proposed budget of $1,800 to the Senate Monday night.

At the Monday meeting, Bergsrud pointed out that he had received requests five out of the last eight years, but that "none of the groups did as fine a job as these boys" in organizing a team and working out a budget.

Swenson said that there is a possibility of a home game during Winter Carnival as well as games with St. Thomas, Macalester, Augsburg, Hamline, St. Olaf and Carlton.

The Senate was enthusiastic about the idea, and Sen. Dan Brandenstien suggested that the boards of the hockey rink be painted white, and advertising be sold on them to local merchants.

The Rodeo Club will receive $1,000 during Winter Quarter for practice sessions, and $2,000 to finance trips to other rodeos in the Midwest. It will receive backing from the River Falls Chamber of Commerce for a spring rodeo, said Dave Stafford, senior from Grinnell, Iowa, and president of the Rodeo Association.

AUCTIONING OFF EVERYTHING from textbooks to cars last Thursday, were Dave Stafford and Tod Planer of the Rodeo Club. The auction, which was sponsored by the club was the first of its kind here.

Two Students Attend Convention in Oklahoma

Two representatives of the River Falls student body attended the first annual convention of the Associated Student Governments of America which was held over Thanksgiving in Oklahoma City.

Tom Schaffer, treasurer of the Student Senate, and David Frazer, member of the Legislative Action Committee, were the only students attending from Wisconsin.

Frazer expressed the opinion that River Falls would not benefit from association either with the ASG or their counterpart organization, the National Student Organization (NSA). Schaffer said he doubted that River Falls would derive much advantage in ASG membership, but said that he would like to look into the NSA further before making a decision.

Schools which attended included Rutgers, Duke, Illinois, Purdue and Louisiana State University. Both of the River Falls observers said that they noticed a strong southern bloc. "The southern schools seemed more unified toward each other than the northern schools," Schaffer said.

Schaffer also pointed out that the budget of the students at River Falls compared favorably to most of the schools in attendance. "Their total budgets would be larger," Schaffer reported, "but the budget of our Senate was the second-largest of all there." Schaffer chaired the second session of a seminar which considered problems relating to fiscal policy.

Schaffer also said that he had attended a seminar on student rights and human relations. Many schools have problems which do not seriously affect River Falls, according to Schaffer.

"All of the other schools attending the session had some limitations as to what speakers could be brought in," said Schaffer. Some schools reported rules against Communist and other minority speakers.

Although Schaffer said that many of the schools (especially the southern ones) reported racial problems, most of the delegates appeared to be against the continuance of segregation. Many problems were found in the area of off-campus housing.

"After attending the meeting, I'm almost convinced that we have the greatest freedom to manage our affairs of any school in the nation," Schaffer stated.

Frazer said he felt that River Falls students should make use of their time strengthening and broadening the United Council to "elevate our sister colleges so that they can experience the high degree of responsibility which we enjoy."

Frazer said that he attended a seminar at which two members of the national People-to-People staff were present and got ideas that he hoped to bring to this campus. "I don't care if they call it People-to-People or not," said Frazer.

SAC Asks Cuts in Suspensions Of Three Organizations

Student Advisory Council members, at the regular monthly meeting last Wednesday, approved a resolution to be sent to the Student Senate requesting that the 90-day suspension imposed by the Senate on three clubs that failed to attend one SAC meeting be reduced to 30 days.

Pres. Harvey Stower asked that any person having a suggestion for improvement of either the campus or the student government bring his suggestion to the January meeting.

Senate Pres. Gene Smith announced that mailboxes will be installed in the Student Government offices soon after the holidays for all campus organizations. Hours will be posted when mail can be picked up, he added.

Smith also told the group that a Riders-Drivers map is planned

Registration High For Winter Quarter

Registrar Melvin Germanson reported last week that 2,443 students had registered for winter quarter with another 40 to 50 expected to register late. These figures do not include graduate students. Dr. Philip Anderson, director of the graduate program, estimated that 40 to 50 graduate students would be enrolled.

These figures compare with 2,592 students for the fall quarter. Germanson stated that the difference represents less than the usual percentage drop from fall to winter quarters since 25 students graduated at the end of fall quarter.

Last year 2,031 students were enrolled during winter quarter.

for the Student Center. He said that any person wanting riders or a ride to any area in the state may stick a pin in the map at that area with information such as time, date, number of persons needed and where he can be reached.

'Voice' Releases Results of Poll to AWS

Results of The STUDENT VOICE'S opinion poll regarding AWS were given to the AWS Executive Board at its meeting last Wednesday.

The poll consisted of three questions:

1. Do you think that membership in AWS should be compulsory?
2. Do you wish to be a member of AWS?
3. Do you wish to be represented on the AWS Board?

David Taube, editor of The VOICE, pointed out to the board that these results should not be substituted for those of the AWS-sponsored poll, which was also scheduled during registration.

Taube pointed out that The VOICE poll gave women the option of saying that they did not want to be a member of AWS and therefore did not want to be represented.

The AWS poll assumed membership of the commuters and asked whether or not they wanted a representative, Taube said.

Results of the poll reported by Taube were as follows:

Question 1	78 yes	290 no
Question 2	160 Yes	226 no
Question 3	203 yes	175 no

Taube also pointed out that the women who listed themselves as "at home and commuting" had voted 44 to 75 against having a representative.

Miss Nancy Knaak, associate dean of students, pointed out that all women were represented on the board through the delegates who were elected at large. She indicated that she felt that The VOICE poll should have taken this into consideration.

Cathy Linden, senior from Amery and president of the organization this quarter, announced that Jan Benson, junior from Hayward and president of the board last quarter, will be practice teaching this quarter. Miss Linden said that she will also be gone during the spring quarter for the same reason.

Georganne Schaffer moved that Mrs. Benson be permitted to resume her post upon her return. The board also named a committee to study the AWS constitution.

It was also announced at the meeting that another speaker has been engaged by AWS. She is Han Suyin who will speak Feb. 24 on "The Many Faces of Asia."

power of the combined groups.

The SCGB chairman added that at present the two organizations duplicate work without coordination between them.

Committee to Investigate Merger of 2 Groups

The Student Senate at its meeting last Monday appointed a committee to investigate the possible merger of the Social Committee and the Student Center Governing Board.

Dean Ringger, chairman of the SCGB, said that he was sure the merger would take place at least by next fall. Ringger said the merger would enable the two groups to operate more effectively because they could set up committees to handle specific areas. The practice would be possible with the increased man-

The committee set up to look into the merger consists of the chairmen and vice-chairmen of the Social Committee and the SCGB, the Student Senate president and Senator Jim Kubiak. The committee will study the problems involved in closed sessions throughout the winter quarter.

Payments Due For Insurance

All married students who are paying their student insurance on a quarterly basis should leave their payments at the Dean's Office, 104 North Hall, to be sure of continued coverage. New students may also enroll for the remainder of the year. This must be done by no later than Dec. 18.

Discipline Too Strict?

During the past quarter, two residents of Hathorn Hall served six to eight week periods of "campusing" and one resident was suspended from the University as a result of decisions by the Rules and Disciplinary Committee and the deans concerning infractions of the dormitory sign-out regulations. It seems to be the feeling of the committee and the deans that such campusing is reasonable and necessary if the school is to fulfil its "in loco parentis" responsibilities.

It seems obvious to us that the committee and deans stepped well beyond their necessary function in these recent cases. We would like to point out that no reasonable parent would consider confining his daughter to her room from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. every night for six to eight weeks as is the result of campusing.

The women students affected by these most recent rulings have now completed their "sentences" and therefore no direct amends can be made in these cases, but the matter should be given careful consideration by the committee and the deans before making future decisions. There is more value in giving justice in future cases which may arise than in upholding an unfair decision only because it may be felt that precedents have been set.

Any law enforcement body can only function properly if it has gained the support and respect of the people through fair and wise decisions.

A Wise Decision

At last Wednesday's meeting of the AWS executive board, a motion was made to close the meeting for discussion. "We'll talk it over and let you know what we decide," was the attitude of some of the members.

Last year, The VOICE objected rather strenuously to a closed Senate meeting. Although we have not chosen to take issue this year with the various judicial bodies which exist on campus or those which are in the process of making appointments, we feel that the closing of a meeting for the purpose of discussion is a clear violation (in spirit if not in fact) of Wisconsin's laws which call for open meetings for public bodies.

Had this motion passed, The VOICE would have been placed in the position of having been criticized by the AWS for not having given them "favorable publicity" in the past and yet being denied the opportunity of finding out what action the Board might be taking.

Fortunately, the motion failed (by a substantial margin) and we were left to write a "favorable" story about the fine varnish job on the closed door.

The VOICE wishes to commend the Board for this action. Perhaps this "open door" will permit more contact between the Board and the rank and file membership, a contact which no one will deny is sorely needed.

Tis The Season

In conjunction with recent business trends, The VOICE wishes to foster (if not endorse) the recent business trends which point toward plenty of preparation before all religious holidays.

Remember: There are less than 125 shopping days left before Easter.

Colored Philosophy

Many months ago, 19 to be exact, Hugh Hefner, editor and publisher of "Playboy" authored a piece called The Playboy Philosophy. Although this was supposed to be a brief attempt to explain the credo of one of America's more successful magazines, Hefner, like a recent candidate for the presidency, seems to be constantly explaining and explaining.

Each month, we receive a copy of Hefner's latest meandering (the last one exceeded 8,500 words) and are invited to comment on it by an eager associate publisher, a chap named Spector. Since we are rather tired of consigning these releases to the circular file with out action, here is our reaction:

"Hefner may be the first man to write a book on the installment plan (we note that 'booklet reprints' of this series are already available) but we fear that the book will lack the consumer appeal found in the magazine. Unless, of course, Hefner finds a way to include four-color fold-out pages in his book."

Witch Hunt Ignored

The VOICE has received several pleas during the past few months from various interest groups who advocate strong measures to prevent religious or racial discrimination in campus groups.

The VOICE has taken no action in this field for it is not apparent that such discrimination is a problem here.

The VOICE sincerely hopes that WSU-RF will not be rocked by a witch hunt such as the one going on at the University of Wisconsin where all frats are being pressured into signing a "human rights" statement.

WE GET LETTERS

Voice Create False Illusion By Slanted Stories, Says Reader

To the Editor:

While your story of the Senate meeting of Wednesday, Nov. 11, was correct in its use of facts, the facts were none-the-less slanted in order to uphold the so-called "dignity" of our Senate.

To begin with, I am not a member of Delta Iota Chi and was not defending Delta Iota Chi alone, but all suspended organizations. Also it stated, "Senate President Gene Smith trying to restore order, demanded everyone be quiet and tempers flared." Actually, when Gene Smith demanded order he said, "Helen, would you please shut your G d mouth." In this instance I feel his swearing was quite uncalled for for two reasons:

1. President Smith was not upholding the "dignity" of the Senate.

2. At the time President Smith called for order, the Senate was in order, including myself because I was replying to a question put to me by Senator Hampton Wilmot.

It is my opinion that The STUDENT VOICE should not be a helpmate of the Senate in allowing it to operate under a false illusion of dignity, for no campus organization, including the "dignified" Senate, should be immune to just criticism.

Sincerely,
Helen Avery

'Where Was AWS Poll?' Asks Puzzled Woman Student

To the Editor:

A previous issue of The STUDENT VOICE announced that the AWS would hold an election during registration. The purpose of this election would be to determine whether woman commuters want a representative of the AWS Executive Board.

Thursday morning I completed my registration without seeing a sign of the proposed AWS election. Being a commuter, I was upset at not being able to express myself on this issue. Since then I have been wondering what happened to the AWS election?

Committee Appointed For Winter Carnival

The Senate has named three people to the Winter Carnival Committee. They are Nadine Amphlett, a junior from Madison, David Bunch, a junior from Hager City, and Tom Socha, a sophomore from Krakow.

This trio is responsible for planning and coordinating the events of Winter Carnival Week, which is scheduled for the end of January.

Staff Speaks

From time to time, staff members may wish to express opinion which the editorial staff does not wish to make the policy of the VOICE. In such cases, staff members have recourse to signed columns such as the one below.

By WILLIAM HOFFMAN
VOICE Editorial Writer

Following the debacle of November 3, there remains for the Republican party a painful post mortem. The Liberal faction, returning from exile, has laid claim to the throne of the party though I would suggest their actions might be placed in the proper perspective with the following analogy.

Picture if you will a scene which casts Dean Burch as commander-in-chief of the Elephant army, while Senator Barry Goldwater assumes the role of field general. The liberal faction fits very nicely in the part of conscientious objectors, or, as I in a kindly moment would refer to them, the bandage makers. The Elephant army, though finding itself heavily overstaffed with these fair weather warriors, nevertheless sallies forth to do battle with the Donkey forces, (or, depending upon your political inclinations, jackasses if you will). Far outnumbered, and lacking even minimum logistic support from the bandage makers, the Elephant army is consequently soundly defeated and retreats home carrying their fallen leader on a shield. No sooner do the survivors reach the safety of their own gates than the now indignant bandage makers slither forth from the bomb shelters, step across the fallen bodies, and make for what they hope will be vacant office space in the War Department.

Thus I hope the reader would see the untenable position of the now raucous Liberal faction of the Republican party. They might be reminded it was they, who in four short years, completely forgot the plea for unity spoken by the then defeated senator from Arizona. It was they who, in the campaign just ended, rejected all pleas for unity, even in the face of the vast assets of the opposition. It was they, who so magnified their differences with the top of the ticket as to present to the voting public the picture of a party divided. And, finally, it was they, who most certainly must bear the burden of responsibility for the overwhelming magnitude of this past defeat.

Whatever the qualifications of the present national chairman he is deserving of a vote of confidence if for no other reason than he, as opposed to those who now clamor for his scalp, was not content to be a mere maker of bandages.

VISITING THE CAMPUS during the annual open house was David Kelly of River Falls, shown here receiving a cup of coffee from Lorraine Gibson of Ace Foods.

Kurt Wild Pots Being Shown At Two Exhibits, One Museum

Kurt Wild, assistant professor of art at River Falls, has work currently being shown in three exhibitions, including one show in which he has won special honors.

One ceramic pot is included in the Ceramic National Exhibition at the Everson Museum of Art in Syracuse, N.Y., a show that continues until Jan. 31; two pots are part of a special sale exhibition at the St. Paul Art Center being held until Dec. 25; and two pieces have received special attention at the Wisconsin Designer-Craftsman Exhibition, which lasts through Dec. 20 at the Milwaukee Art Center.

At the Designer-Craftsman Exhibition, one of Wild's pots won a $50 purchase prize and will become a part of the museum's permanent collection. Another pot was named to the show's court of honor; a collection of pieces singled out for special display during the exhibition.

Among the 163 artists showing 323 craftworks in the exhibit are four of Wild's former pottery students at River Falls—Miss Karlyn Holmen, Miss Mary Fuller, Frederick Hunter and Douglas Johnson.

Another River Falls faculty member, Walter G. Nottingham is represented in the Designer-Craftsman Exhibition by three rugs.

Pagemen Win First; Lose Two Last Week

The pagemen started the year with a win against Winona 84-79 then lost the next two to Macalester and LaCrosse respectively both by relatively small scores. A surge of Falcon fouls in the last three minutes of play gave Macalester a 99-86 victory in Wednesday's home opener.

The visitors led throughout the game but did not ice the victory until the last minute and a half when they took a 10 point lead. A tip-in of a free throw and a stolen ball resulted in four points and that many seconds. After this the Falcons could only prevent the Scotts from scoring 100 points.

All things considered, the game was decided in the first half when the Falcons failed to take advantage of Macalester mistakes. The Scotts fouled 17 times and obtained few rebounds. In spite of opportunities for easy shots and tip-ins, the Falcons shot only 29 per cent in the first half.

On defense, the Falcons had an extremely ragged start. River Falls used a 1-3-1 zone defense to contend with the Drake suffle used by Macalester.

The Falcons did not shift fast enough to cover the Macalester men who were opened at either end of the baseline. When the defense finally tightened the Scots were hot from the outside.

Ken Lee and Paul Kramer were the only thorns in their side. Lee poured in a steady stream of points with his driving lay-ups and free throws. The Falcon play-maker tallied 33 points with a 500 shooting percentage. Paul Kramer scored 22 points with a .471 average.

a lack of ball control by River Falls. However, he expects the team to improve steadily.

LaCrosse

LaCrosse with superior ball handling and a sparkling offense was able to defeat the River Falls Falcons by a score of 95-91 here, last Saturday night. It was the Falcons' first conference game of the season, and brings their overall record to 1-2.

The game seemed to feature hard luck on the part of River Falls as the officiating was considerably poor. Ken Lee was called many times for traveling, and there were many fouls called, a total of 50. Although River Falls outscored the Indians in the second half, the game was not decided until the final seconds.

Ken Lee of the Falcons was high scorer of the night with 31 points. Following close behind was Paul Kramer with 24. Nate Schilling had 15, and Bob Pritchard 11. High scorer for the Indians was Doug Potter with 27. His teammates, Gary Robarge and Ace Stadthaus each had 21.

The next game will be tonight against Hamline Away. The next home games will be Friday and Saturday, when the Falcons will meet Platteville and Oshkosh.

Matmen Lose, Gain Experience

The Falcon matmen journeyed to Brookings, S. D. Saturday and probably met some of the toughest competition they will encounter this season. The event consisted of three dual meets including the University of Minnesota, Kansas State University and South Dakota State University.

Insulted 32-0 score-wise by the U of M the Falcons put up a fairly good battle considering the Minnesota team consisted of men who place high in the NCAA tournament.

Sophomore Wirtala was defeated 6-5 in the final second of his match with Minnesota in the 177 lb. class, but came back to win 6-5 against S. Dakota State and draw 1-1 against Kansas State.

Dave Amdahl, junior transfer student from Rochester Junior College was the only other Falcon to win at the session. He defeated the Kansas State 167 pounder 1-0. Kansas State and South Dakota State rolled over the Falcons 22-5 and 25-3 respectively.

Other men competing for the Falcons were Dave Starkey, 123, Dave Guggemos 130, Tom Madison, 147, Fred Lindberg, 157, Bob Ollhoff and Ron Foley both Heavyweight.

After their debut with Minnesota the Matmen "improved as they went along and eliminated some of their earlier mistakes," commented coach James.

Other team scoring went as follows; U of M 16, Kansas State 11; South Dakota State 11, Kansas S. 14; U of M over S.D. 9 25-3.

This Saturday at 2 p.m. the Falcons meet Oshkosh in Karges for their first conference dual meet of the season, and then travel to Augsburg for a non-conference match on Wednesday, December 16.

Gymnastics

Intercollegiate gymnastics will be inaugurated at River Falls this year. Sixteen men are training for competition in eight events. Coach Al Evens said that new members are still welcomed regardless of experience.

River Falls will compete with five other conference schools in events such as floor exercise, trampoline, tumbling, side horse, still rings, parallel bars, long horse and horizontal bar. Although the season schedule has yet to be announced, River Falls will meet LaCrosse, Stevens Point, Stout, Oshkosh and Eau Claire in the conference meet at Menomonie on February 27.

Gymnastic events are judged on such skills as balance, flexibility, agility, speed, timing and fluency of movement.

Major faults include breaks in form and continuity, unsure positions, and improper placement. Strength and endurance are essential yet must remain inconspicuous throughout the gymnastic performance.

Football All-Conference

The Wisconsin State University coaches met at the Lorrain-Hotel in Madison last week and picked men for the all-conference teams. Coach Christensen reports that Orland Olson was named to the first team as offensive tackle, Junior Mick Brandstetter as defensive guard and Sophomore Ted Ragatz as a defensive linebacker. Receiving honorable mention as defensive linebackers were Junior Bob Sommerville, Senior Glen McNaughton, and Sophomore Joe Jilek. Tom Bosman received honorable mention in his position at offensive end.

VanGordon Keglers Lose Free-Agent

Eau Claire's Jim VanGordon was signed as a "free agent" by the Green Bay Packers last week. VanGordon lead NAIA in individual total offensive yards with 2,307 and a game average of 256.3. He brought the second straight WSU conference title to the Bluegolds this past season.

The River Falls Bowling team was beaten all three games here Saturday by the University of Minnesota. Score of the first game was 873 to 781, the second game 914 to 837 and the third 982 to 786.

Three game high game for the Falcons was Roger Neitzel with 526. McCarthy and Megarry for Minnesota each had 576. High single game belonged to Mick Moe with a score of 210.

Ballet Film Coming

"Swan Lake," a ballet by Tchaikowsky, produced by the Russian Bolshoi Ballet troupe, and filmed in the U.S.S.R., will be shown as a Falcon Film at the Falls Theater in River Falls Wednesday at 7 and 9 p.m.

The film is part of a current culture exchange between the United States and the U.S.S.R. Tickets are being sold at the WSU-RF bookstore and will be available at the theater.

The color feature shows the Bolshoi theater, backstage activities, and the performance of "Swan Lake."

"Swan Lake" is a story about a prince and princess in a legendary country. Evil spirits capture the princess and her friends. During the ballet the prince attempts to break a magic spell holding the princess captive.

Three Dorms Slate Open House

The men's residence halls have announced that they will co-sponsor a Snowflake Festival on Wednesday evening, Dec. 16.

Preliminary plans call for Prucha, Stratton and May Halls to sponsor open houses running simultaneously from 7 to 8:30 p.m., with a free dance to follow in the Student Center Ballroom. Music will be provided for the dance by a band from the Twin Cities.

"Snowflake Festival promises to provide a big campus kickoff to the Christmas season," said Gerald Rosenau, vice-president of Stratton Hall and co-ordinator of the general program.

Rosenau, a senior from Milwaukee, said plans call for rooms and corridors in the men's dormitories to be decorated for the occasion.

In addition to the general program, Stratton Hall residents and their guests may attend that dormitory's annual holiday banquet. The affair, which features a buffet dinner, begins at 6 p.m. and will be held in the Student Center Ballroom.
