Final Approval Is Given New Majors In Journalism and American Studies

Two new majors—one in journalism and the other in American studies—will be offered in September at Wisconsin State College at River Falls. Neither major is offered at any of the other State Colleges.

Final approval was given Friday by the Co-ordinating Committee for Higher Education at a meeting at Oshkosh. Both majors had received preliminary approval by the Board of Regents of State Colleges.

The journalism major at River Falls is designed particularly for students interested in the weekly and small daily field.

In pointing out the need for such a program, the College referred to statistics which show that the nation's newspapers require about 3,500 new workers each year for their news and editorial staffs, or about 1,000 more than the total annual number of journalism graduates. It was noted also that job placement offices of schools of journalism are listing anywhere from three to 10 openings for each graduate.

The major in journalism will be offered as a liberal arts degree with the requirement that each student in the curriculum also have a second major.

"Those who have prepared the sequence believe that a broad background against which news events may be interpreted intelligently is at least as important as some of the technical aspects of journalism," President E. H. Kleinpell said.

River Falls has offered a minor in journalism for the past 10 years and will continue to provide this program for those entering the teaching field.

Designed primarily for students who plan to teach, the American studies major will be an inter-departmental offering with special emphasis on social science and literature.

Students taking the major will concentrate on the arts, humanities, and social sciences of the United States but also must study a foreign culture through language, history, literature, music and art.

Elementary Majors Face 'Education 180' Deadline

A new pattern of elementary student teaching beginning in the 1962-63 school year makes it necessary for elementary majors to apply for Education 180 by May 15, according to Dr. Rowland Klink, principal of the Campus School.

Elementary majors will, if possible, enroll in Education 180, Elementary Student Teaching, for one quarter receiving 15 credit hours. Unlike the present plan of two hours per day for five hours of credit, students will spend the full day in the classroom. This is known as the "professional quarter."

Application materials can be obtained in the Campus School Office.

Elementary majors also are reminded by Dr. Klink of the requirement of five days of September field experiences. Details and material are available in the Campus School Office.

Dance Show Set For North Hall Tomorrow Night

"Dance Début," a program of modern dance, will be presented by Orchesis at 8 p.m. Tuesday in North Hall Auditorium.

The program, designed to promote appreciation of modern dance through better understanding, will be followed by an all-school convocation on May 9 presented by a professional dance group from Minneapolis starring Gertrude Lippincott and Robert Moulton.

Tomorrow night's Orchesis program is free of charge and open to the public.

Prom Tickets to Go On Sale Tomorrow

The Social Committee reports that plans for the 1962 Spring Prom are progressing smoothly. Tickets will go on sale starting Tuesday, May 1, from 9:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Student Center. Advanced tickets are priced at $4 a couple. Price of admission at the door will be $5 a couple.

The prom will feature the music of Rich Sutherlin and will be Saturday, May 5 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Hours will be extended for women until 2 a.m.

The Sutherlin band is composed of ten pieces and features a woman vocalist. They have played at colleges and universities throughout the nation and are noted for college-type music. Any song requested from the people in attendance will be played.

Karges Center is to be decorated to the theme of a Southern Plantation. The back drop will be a scene depicting southern plantation, while trees, shrubs, pillars and moss will take up floor space. One of the highlights will be a fountain. A false ceiling will be made of blue ribbon.

The activities committee, headed by Chris Laaska, is in charge of refreshments and the decorations in the Student Center.

Proper attire for women will be cocktail dresses or formals while tuxedos or suits are expected of men.

2 Write-Ins Take Class Presidencies

by Leah Pitzer

After a somewhat short campaign, two of the three new class presidents were elected on a write-in basis. Jim Stolzman and Earl Burton were the two upsets at the polls.

In the first vote for senior class president, Earl Burton tied with Albin Peterson 35 to 35. Ted Falkenberg ran close behind with 24 votes. On the second ballot Earl Burton won easily with 71 votes to Albin Peterson's 38 and Ted Falkenberg's 1, as a write-in.

Bob Cross became vice-president of the senior class with 53 votes to Don Jaworski's 42. Carol Freier defeated Glenn Anderson for secretary, 55 to 37. Judy Runkle trumped Marjory Shearer 75 to 18 for senior class treasurer.

The new president of the junior class is Fran O'Connell, who scored over Tom Knutson 106 to 79. Bob Rosenbrook topped Robin Hoover 132 to 53 for the vice-presidency. Secretary of the class of 1964 is Nancy Miller. She defeated Delores Dahl, 105 to 77. John Hanson whipped past Ron Leitner for treasurer, 105 to 80.

As was previously stated, Jim Stolzman, a write-in candidate, is the new president of the sophomore class. Stolzman's 186 votes easily won over Dan Love's 98 and Dave Bunch's 62. Sidonia Sweeny scored over Joan Chelmo 201 to 143 for secretary. Dave Balke defeated Shirley Frederickson 172 to 152.

In the race for vice-president of the sophomore class, a recount was necessary. In the first count Gene Smith had 172 votes to Joe Long's 169. In the recount, however, Gene Smith had one vote less than Joe Long. The final count was Smith 170, Long 171.

Approximately 651 persons voted in this year's election for class officers.

John Rood Expected On Campus Thursday

John Rood, bronze falcon sculptor, is expected to arrive on campus Thursday of this week to begin assembling and mounting the bird on the north wall of Karges Center.

The falcon will be dedicated in an outdoor ceremony Thursday, May 10. An exhibit of Mr. Rood's other work will also be on display from May 6 through May 20 in Room 1 of the Student Center.

Mr. Rood recently won first prize at the Church Architectural Guild's annual convention for his sculpture, "Crown of Thorns," a replica of the head of Christ.

Anthropologist Relates Studies Of Man, Monkey

Dr. Gibbs, professor of social anthropology at the University of Minnesota, spoke at a convocation Wednesday on "Monkey Mothers and Human Antics."

Dr. Gibbs said that culture vs. personality has been a concern since the 1920's and 30's. In studying this concept and other anthropological activities, he said that they dip into the fields of sociology and psychology, and break down such psychological ideas as, for example, the Oedipus complex. He said that this idea varies in different cultures.

Dr. Harry Harlow was cited by Dr. Gibbs who described Dr. Harlow's experiments with monkeys and personality. According to Dr. Gibbs, Dr. Harlow took 60 baby monkeys and separated them from their mothers six to 12 hours after they were born. They were placed in cages with gauze pads on the bottom. The experiments cited that the monkeys became strongly attracted to these pads, possibly by an emotional tie.

Two imitation mothers were placed in the cage with the monkey. One of the mothers was made of chicken wire and had a doll face. This was to represent the "scratchy" mother. The other was made of a frame, was covered with terry cloth and represented the "cuddly" mother. A bottle was placed in the mother's chest for nursing the baby monkeys. This experiment was carried out to test the attraction to the mother, to verify the idea that, "you love the hand that feeds you."

The public is cordially invited to attend this recital.

The Editor Speaks . . .

The art work now on display in Room 1 of the Student Center is certainly worth any time spent viewing it. All paintings, drawings, and other objects on display are the work of the River Falls students, and give to the viewer an idea of what is going on in the College art department.

Among the types of art work on display are paintings, including landscapes, abstracts and portraits; prints; charcoal and pencil sketches; and pottery in a variety of shapes and sizes.

Although I am definitely no authority on art, one of the things that impressed me most while examining the exhibit was the talent that is evident in the works shown. Many of the entries would rate very highly, I am sure, with some of those seen in recent art exhibits in the Student Center.

Even if you are not particularly interested in art, I would recommend that you spend a few minutes just browsing around in Room 1 sometime before Friday, May 4, if for no other reason than to see what kind of work your classmates, friends and acquaintances are doing. I would venture to say that you will find that many of them do definitely have artistic ability and skill and will probably be among the noted artists of the future.

As soon as the magazine is received from the publisher it will be made available to the students. Copies will be distributed in the STUDENT CENTER, the LIBRARY, the DORMS and various other sundry places. The magazine is financed through student fees, and does not cost a thing, IT IS FREE, and you are not under any obligation whatsoever, if you pick one up, take it to your home and read it. It is the only magazine of its type published in the State Colleges of Wisconsin. So it's pretty rare, too.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor,

Normally this announcement would appear on the second page squeezed in between the lost and found column and the weekly schedule. However, in order to reach as many people as possible, and to avoid feelings of guilt and inferiority we've decided, as you can see, to blast our little message across the editorial page where people can see it. It is the opinion of this writer that even if no one takes what we're giving away at least we'll be able to stir up a little controversy.

FANFARE!!!

The next STUPENDOUS issue of PROLOGUE is presently being published. This issue promises to be the biggest and the best issue yet, and we the editors are quite proud of it. The next PROLOGUE is a virtual JEWEL. It contains one quite long short story by Fred Trautmann, poetry by Morgan Graham, Thomas Brucks, and Third baseman Reno Rizzo takes a healthy cut during third inning of last weeks freshman game with Barron County Normal. The R. F. frosh team crushed the visitors by the score of 19 to 5.

Falcons Lose Opener; Record Falls to 5-3

River Falls got off on the wrong foot in conference baseball action, after a fine start in non-conference play, by losing both ends of a doubleheader to the Indians of La Crosse Saturday by the scores of 3-1 and 5-4. The losses give the Falcons a 0-2 conference record and a more respectful 5-3 over-all mark, winning twin bills from Valley City, North Dakota and Macalester and splitting a doubleheader with Bethel.

Back to back homeruns by La Crosse's Eickhorst and Severson in the sixth inning of the night-cap gave the Indians a clean sweep of Saturday's doubleheader. River Falls had scored two runs in their half of the fateful sixth to take a 4-2 lead and behind the steady pitching of freshman Roland Rieck appeared to have salvaged a split with the Indians until the two blasts. Clement and Severson led the Indians with two hits apiece while Tom Strasser had two safeties and Charlie Moore slammed his first round tripper for the losing Falcons. Mullikin was the winning pitcher for La Crosse and Rieck took the loss.

In the first game Saturday, La Crosse pushed across two runs in the third with the help of a base on balls issued by Falcon starter Ed Gregorich sandwiched between two singles and a sacrifice, and added an insurance run in the fifth to down River Falls in a close game 3 to 1. Bill Halverson's third homer of the season, a solo blast in the sixth, accounted for the lone Falcon tally. Tom Strasser, who had four for six in the twin bill led the Falcon hitters with two singles in three at bats. La Crosse's Ayers was the winning pitcher while River Fall's ace Ed Gregorich was the loser.

BETHEL

River Falls dropped its first game of the season, losing the first game of a doubleheader to Bethel by the score of 3-2. Bethel won the game in the sixth when they scored two runs and winning pitcher Hallstrom held the Falcons in the top of the seventh to preserve the win. Sophomore John Boortz was the starter for River Falls and reliever Len Johnson took the loss.

In the second game, Ed Gregorich pitched a fine two hit shut-out to give the River Falls its first win of the young season.

VALLEY CITY

Valley City, North Dakota moved in to give the Falcons their next encounter on April 19. Bill Halverson provided the fireworks at the plate and Ed Gregorich pitched his second successive shutout in the first game as River Falls won by the score of 8-0.

The second game turned out to be a slugfest with the Falcons coming out on top by the score of 9-6. The sweep of the twin bill gave the Falcons a 3-1 record to date.

MACALESTER

April 24 River Falls traveled to Macalester for two games with Macalester.

Both games were played in a steady drizzle. The first game proved to be a hitters game, at least for Falcon batsmen as River Falls piled up an unusual 17 runs, coming on 15 hits, 8 walks, and two errors. The final score was 17 to 7. Bill Halverson clouted his second homer of the season while Vern Wanish hit his first. Boortz was the winner and Einan was the loser.

Dr. Frye to Present Local Concert May 7

A local concert featuring Dr. Donald Frye of the psychology department at River Falls is scheduled for Monday, May 7 at 8 p.m. in North Hall Auditorium. Numbers by the modern dance group on campus, directed by Miss Emogene Nelson and including a solo number by Miss Judy Osen, will also be a part of the program.

The orchestra accompanying Dr. Frye and the dance group will include David Gerig, piano; Charles Wall, bass; Rodney Nelson, drums; Jerry Rusch (University of Minnesota), trumpet; and Daniel Lehman, flute.

Seniors Receive Graduate Grants

Seniors, Bob Nelson and Gary Wagenbach, were awarded assistantships at two "big ten" schools.

Bob Nelson will be contracted by the University of Minnesota for the 1963 school year. While assisting in the zoology department, he will also be engaged in courses toward the completion of his masters degree.

Gary Wagenbach will be a member of the faculty at the University of Wisconsin, with much the same position as Mr. Nelson. Mr. Wagenbach will also be working in the zoology department.

Robert "Scott" Muller, senior from Green Bay, announced last week that he had accepted a fellowship at the Florida State University Graduate School at Tallahassee. The three year grant was received through the National Institute of Mental Health.

Mr. Muller is a sociology and economics major and has served as president of the Economics Club during the past year.

Miss Anita Munson, Minneapolis, who is faculty assistant in the department of English at River Falls, has accepted a teaching assistantship at Indiana University in the department of speech.

In exchange for teaching three two-credit courses in one semester in speech, Miss Munson will be given enough financial aid so that in one year and a summer session she will obtain her master's degree in rhetoric and public address.

According to Dr. Frye, the concert will be divided into three parts:

1. Dr. Frye at Home
2. Dr. Frye in Blue
3. Dr. Frye Just Sings

Dr. Frye, who was once a professional singer under the name of Don Lee, also gave a summary of the types of songs which will be included in the concert. Some examples of what will be heard are slow, sophisticated things like "Where or When;" fast moving things like "Poor Johnnie One-Note;" and old favorites such as "When You're Smiling," and "Bells Are Ringing." The blues portion of the program will include mood music ranging from things like "Moonlight in Vermont" to "Why Was I Born?"

The concert will be produced by the Student Foundation Committee and directed by Dr. Frye. Tom Fuzer will be in charge of sound, David Frazer in charge of lighting and Bernard Skalka in charge of sets.

Students Can Begin Registration for Fall

Students who plan to return in September may begin registration procedures in the Spring Quarter counseling program. Freshmen who have their Plans of Studies completed and approved for their sophomore year and sophomores and juniors presenting an up-to-date Plan of Studies completed for the final two years in college may fill out a trial study card and reserve their class cards in a packet in the Registrar's office for use in September.

Tentative class schedules for the 1962-63 school year will be in the hands of the advisors the early part of this week. Class cards will be packaged after 1 p.m. each week day during the weeks of May 8 and 14.

All-Day Testing For Seniors and Sophomores Set

On Monday, May 7, all sophomores and seniors will be required to participate in an all-day testing program to evaluate academic progress. The program consists of tests in five areas: reading, writing, mathematics, science and social science with each test taking 90 minutes of administration time. Students' scores will be compared to national norms for college sophomores and seniors.

Sophomores who have completed at least four quarters of work and are classified as sophomores in the Registrar's Office are required to take the tests.

All seniors, except those who became seniors this quarter, are required to report for the tests. Seniors who are practice teaching will be excused for the day to participate in the program.

Students will report to rooms in South Hall and Karges Center according to posted schedules.

The tests are a required part of the spring quarter's work and test scores will become a part of the student's academic record.

All classes will be dismissed on Monday for the testing program.

Gibbs Tells of Man, Monkey

In the experiment one monkey was placed in a cage with the two mothers; the "cuddly" mother having the bottle. In another cage another monkey was placed with the mothers but the "scratchy" mother had the bottle. The results were that until frightened, then without exception, they would retreat to the "cuddly" mother. The experiment lasted 165 days and later revealed that the element of comfort played a great part in the attraction to the mothers. The "cuddly" mother won in this respect.

Surprising results appeared in the un-monkey-like behavior exhibited by the baby monkeys. They sat with their hands over their heads and rocked back and forth. Also, their adjustments were not complete. Only three of the females used in the testing were able to become pregnant and none of the males were able to complete copulation. Monkeys who are not taught what to do by their mothers cannot adjust properly became the final conclusion of the experiment. It showed the importance of early mother and child relationships in humans for correct adjustment.

Dr. Gibbs then went on to compare this experiment of Dr. Harlow's with studies made by Clair Dubois of the Alor people of an island in Oceania. Here, too, the children are taken from their mother, according to Dr. Gibbs and Dr. Harlow's study. They are cared for by other members of the family because the mothers or the women of the village are the ones who do the agricultural work.
