SANDY KINS WINS HOMECOMING TITLE

Parade, Football, Dance Highlights of Saturday

"And away we go" could be aptly used to signal the start of 1957 Homecoming, as the pep fest began an active round of events. The spirit of this year's Homecoming permeated the campus as decorations were finished, floats received final touches before the parade and last minute arrangements were made. The parade, game and student and alumni get-togethers will highlight the various rounds of tomorrow's activities, according to Homecoming Chairman Mike Dodge.

The FALCONETTES, Sophomore class float, Roberts band, LSA float, Weisman's Dodge, Hammond band, Junior class float, Don Sundt's Boys old car, Mayor Hoffman's convertible, River Falls Band, Democrat Donkey, YM-YW float, Baldwin band, Newman Club float, Prescott band, Vet's Club float, Toastmaster's old car, Clear Lake band, FFA float, FTA float, Elmwood band, Freshman class float, WRA float, Glenwood City band, and Phi Sigma Epsilon float will form tomorrow's parade and will precede downtown at 10 a.m.

The chairman asks that the first unit be formed directly opposite the Davis - McLaughlin funeral home facing south and that the rest of the units continue to line up on third street facing south.

Seventeen windows were decorated by various campus organizations. The Quarterback Club and the Chamber of Commerce donated prizes of $15, $10 and $5 for the three best windows. Similar prizes were awarded to the campus organizations. These two events were judged by Dr. Robert Bailey, Dr. Walter Engler, and Mrs. Erwin Davison.

Organizations sponsoring windows were:

Atelier, Vets Club, Rural Life Club, Sophomore class, PTA, FFA, ACEI, Masquers, Math Club, Publications, Kappa Delta Pi, Sigma Chi Sigma, Wesley Foundation, Newman Club, Freshman class, Chemistry Club, and Delta Zeta Delta.

"And away we go" will be symbolized by the release of about 200 balloons at the kickoff of the 1957 Homecoming football game with Eau Claire at 1:30 p.m. at Ramer Field.

Half-time exercises will consist of maneuvers by the River Falls high school band, the Falconettes and presentation of the 1957 Homecoming Queen and her attendants.

After game activities include coffee hours sponsored by Masquers and Alpha Psi Omega for alumni and members at the home of Dr. Blanche Davis and by Hathorn Hall for alumni and friends.

The Newman Club will hold open house and coffee hour for members and alumni following the game at their new headquarters.

The annual smorgasbord dinner at Homecoming will be served again this year in the cafeteria from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at a cost of $1.25.

Students will dance away the hours to the music of Jimmy Featherstone and his orchestra, featuring "The Hilltoppers". Decorated on the theme of "Autumn Nocturne," the dance will be held at the Hudson high school gymnasium, located on Fifth and Oak streets, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. With admission set at $3.00 per couple, the dance will add a final touch to a strenuous round of Homecoming events.

Freshmen Will Display Talent

Freshmen talent, largely unknown and untapped, will have a chance to be "shown off" to the student body in a special talent show on Oct. 24. Marge Olson, chairman for the event, reported that plans for the all-Frosh evening are rapidly being carried to completion.

The Social Committee, which is in charge of the entertainment, asks that each campus organization sponsor a contestant. The show resembles the famous Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program in that each entry will be introduced by a member of the organization sponsoring him. The names of talent must be turned in to the Social Committee before Friday night, Oct. 18. Members of the Committee are Marge Olson, Don Sundt, Lynn Radkey, Don Patin, Bernhard Feld, Carl Duch, and Virginia Novak.

SANDRA KINS

One of the most thrilling moments imaginable to a college coed came tonight for Sandra Kins when she was crowned Queen of the 1957 Homecoming.

The pretty, blonde junior from Ellsworth will reign over the festivities with Sara Garnett, Virginia Novak, Colleen Rasmussen, and Janet Wihela, runners-up for the honor, as her attendants.

A crowd of students and alumni filled North Hall auditorium tonight for the pep fest climaxed by the coronation. The queen was chosen in an all-school election Thursday. But the results were kept secret until the moment of crowning.

A total of 771 students, approximately 68 1/2 percent of the enrollment, cast ballots in the Queen contest.

Queen Sandra, an elementary education major, was sponsored by the Vet's Club. She is President of Hathorn Hall and has been active in choir, AWS, FTA, ACEI, LSA, and Sigma Chi Sigma.

An overflow crowd packed North Hall auditorium this evening for the annual homecoming pep fest. Master of ceremonies for the program was Mark Wyman, sophomore from River Falls.

The program began with comments by Coach Fran Polsfoot about Saturday's game. He then introduced the players to the assembly. Several skits were presented in keeping with the theme of "Snare Eau Claire." Activity was also provided by the cheerleaders and the band.

Featured vocal group was the "Hut Four." This was a return appearance to the campus by the popular quartet. The college group, turned professional, sang several numbers.

Guilty as charged was the most common verdict arrived at in Kangaroo Court Wednesday night.

Judge Kaluzny found all but two of the freshmen tried guilty of beanie violations.

Egg shampoos, hair dyeing, ducking for olives in shaving cream and barefoot tomato walking were typical sentences.

Off campus sentences involved pencil selling, bridge bolt counting and finding the oldest person in a graveyard.

An auction climaxed the court. John Kestell bought a freshman girl for a used stick of chewing gum.

Ozzie Cowles

Principal speaker of the evening was Ozzie Cowles, head basketball coach at the University of Minnesota. Mr. Cowles coached football and basketball here from 1933-36.

A gala bonfire and pep fest in back of Hathorn Hall and a dorm dance followed.

Homecoming Committee

The Editor Speaks . . .

Alumni returning for Homecoming after several years of absence will find the campus at River Falls quite different from the campus they left. At least, the physical appearance of the campus has changed.

Just seven years ago the campus had four main buildings—North Hall, South Hall, the Industrial Arts Building and the Barns. Since then, Hathorn Hall, the Chalmer Davee Library, and the Agriculture Building have been added. Those returning for Homecoming next year will find Stratton Hall, the new men's dormitory, completed.

In addition, three other major buildings will be under way soon. The Student Union, a Health and Physical Education Building and a new campus school are in the immediate future of the college.

Enrollment, too, has taken an upward surge. Ten years ago the college was crowded with an all-time high postwar enrollment of 772. This year there is another record enrollment—a high of 1124.

But along with the many changes, we hope the alumni find some things constant. We believe there still exists the qualities which have marked the college in the past—friendliness, emphasis on the individual student, an outstanding faculty, and pride in its products.

We at River Falls are proud of our school. We hope the alumni share our feeling.

HAGESTAD

POINT OF VIEW

by Bill Hagestad

The past week has been what newswriters and commentators reservedly call "quiet." It was preceded by a period of several weeks in which the news was anything but "quiet," reports in the publications being full of disorder in Little Rock, missiles successful and unsuccessful, Russian arms-shipments into the Middle East and the like. Weeks to come will doubtless see a pattern emerging in Little Rock, a heightened pace in the East-West struggle for technological supremacy, perhaps a showdown over arms in the Middle East. But none of these things happened last week and the newsmen were quite right—last week was quiet, an interlude to be sure.

IT IS IN INTERLUDES such as these that attention may be properly focused on what is certainly news, but news of a less dramatic—"unquiet"—variety than that noted above. Such news as this is "evolutionary" rather than "revolutionary," it is events unfolding over long periods of time at a quiet, unsensational pace. Generally, it is only after this long process is finished that these events capture front page headlines and receive first mention in newscasts. It would seem that there are several such "evolutions" in progress now; taking advantage of a "quiet" interlude, this writer would like to focus attention on one of them.

—El Generalissimo—
Who is Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina? Not many people in the United States know—this is perhaps well for those people . . . and for the Generalissimo, too. His history has been a long and steady rise to absolute power in the Dominican Republic. His beginnings were humble as a 2nd lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps of Caribbean Occupation many years ago. He has risen since then to his country's highest position, General of the Army.

THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC is a one-man show now; Trujillo is the ring-master and his show is an interesting one. Dr. Jesus Maria Galindez, formerly of the Basque Republic, the Dominican Republic and New York City, was a thoughtful critic of Trujillo's regime: in March, 1956, Dr. Galindez disappeared. Gerald Murphy, a professional pilot working for the Compania Dominicana Aviacion, disappeared nine months later. The FBI believes pilot Murphy flew the plane which spirited Dr. Galindez out of the United States . . . to the Dominican Republic. The Dominican government, earlier this year, "sadly" announced that Gerald Murphy had been murdered. The killer had been found; but unfortunately, he had later committed suicide; happily, however, he left a note, admitting the murder. The note, says the FBI, is a forgery; the Galindez-Murphy case is still open.

DIPLOMATS WHO VISIT the Dominican Republic and stay in its capital's luxurious hotels (Jaragua, El Embajador) do not talk about Trujillo or his country. Sound-recording systems are conveniently located in the rooms and more than one country has had to withdraw its representatives from the Republic for "... saying the wrong thing."

All main roads in Trujillo's "... private fief," as Galindez termed it, have strategically-placed check points:—raised humps in the pavement, reminding drivers to slow down and have their identification papers ready.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS BY BIBLER

Knowledge for College

by R. E. Manchester, Dean of Men, Kent State University, Kent, Ohio

HOW TO GET AN "A"

If one desires the first letter of the alphabet placed in the small square at the right of the name when a prof sends a record sheet to the registrar, one must take steps. Contrary to popular belief and contrary to certain treatise on the subject, profs are members of the human race and have virtues and vices common to typical specimens of aforesaid classification. One seeking recognition and consideration should study the matter carefully and follow procedures long established and many times tested.

Seniors, through experience, trial and error, invention and by taking dangerous gambles have learned at least the basic principles and have a reasonable amount of skill in inveigling a prof into placing the "A" in the proper spot. Freshmen are not so well equipped, so advice is in order.

First of all one must be noticed. So when entering the class room one should assume a determined pose,—walk with a hurried and enthusiastic step to indicate a feeling that one can scarcely wait for the class to start. When seated the eager beaver should take out a pencil and look at its point to indicate a great desire to take notes, look at the prof with a worshipful expression, take notes with fury and flourishes, hang on every word spoken by the prof with an air of inspired suspense, laugh quickly at any point when a witty remark is uttered and be sure to be an attentive listener

'America's Last Frontier' Proves to Be Land of Surprises to R F Student

by Bill Finlan

Alaska, often referred to as "America's Last Frontier", is far different from its usual description. I was amazed to land on Bristol Bay and find a temperature of 70 degrees on a sunny May 17.

I left River Falls May 14 and drove a car for a transportation company as far as Seattle where I got a swift flight to King Salmon, Alaska.

There I discovered that a temperature between 50 and 80 degrees prevailed during the entire summer. Three or four mild rains, some wind and quite a few mosquitoes, no-see-ums, and White Socks were all that broke up the perfect spring weather.

Although I had always thought of Alaska as "rugged and mountainous", all I could see for miles was endless tundra. A closer look revealed thousands of tundra flowers and species of wildlife—birds and animals which enlivened the landscape.

My job of supplying outlying camps from the main camp at King Salmon gave me numerous opportunities to see all of the Bristol Bay area. The most memorable experiences were climbing into the valley of 10,000 smokes, flying out to the Hagemester Islands several times to take pictures of a herd of more than 1,000 Bull Walrus, making many Stream Surveys and all the glorious fishing trips up the river systems. All these and more made it a sportsman's paradise. To add a final climax to the summer, the District Supervisor and I flew out to one of the many Tundra lakes and bagged a fine two-year-old bull moose.

Also very interesting was observing the functions of the world's largest weir on the Naknek River. Pilings are driven into the bed of the swift river and then pickets placed the entire length of the 1600 foot weir which makes it fish-tight except for three fish gates placed on the weir. Counting houses with glass bottoms are put above the gates and the migrating salmon are actually counted when passing beneath. The data collected from this along with counts made of fingerling salmon going down stream help the FWS in determining the approximate size of runs the future year and up to four years ahead. The main objective of the FWS is to get 50% of the migrating fish past the fish nets and on up to the spawning beds so as to perpetuate the salmon. FWS can and does regulate the number of days fishing takes place and thus controls the size of migration to the spawning beds. This year the population and catch was one of the largest in years.

Driving to Seattle, flying to Alaska, fishing, hunting, mountain climbing, seeing fabulous herds of Walrus, counting millions of Salmon and working for the Fish and Wildlife Service all add up to be the most interesting and fascinating summer of my life.

KNOWLES DISCUSSES COMING ELECTIONS

Senator Robert Knowles of New Richmond, a graduate of River Falls, spoke at the regular meeting of the Young Republicans, last Wednesday.

Senator Knowles, who has served the tenth senatorial district since 1955, discussed the coming elections and the possible candidates that will be running for office on the Republican ticket.

After the meeting a coffee hour was held in the social room, during which time members had a chance to meet the Senator personally and discuss various issues with him.

In August of this year, Milton Bracker of The New York Times did a series of articles on the Dominican Republic for his paper. He later described an incident involving him which itself describes Trujillo's modus operandi. In the course of running down material for his series, Bracker went to a Dominican newspaperman and asked him several questions. Within twenty-four hours, the questions were known to Generalissimo Trujillo personally.

Individuals wonder why, after thirty years of the Generalissimo's rule, the million and a half Dominicans do not rise up and topple the man.

Bracker suggests in The Times (Sept 1, 1957) that it is an ingenious combination and dispensation of benefits and reprisals that has kept revolt from occurring. The Dominican Republic is perhaps the most advanced of the Caribbean states. Generalissimo Trujillo has maintained an equality of race, color and religion—while not flawless—remarkable in his area. He has successfully courted foreign investment and tourist trade, outlawed communists and significantly raised his country's standard of living. The people benefit by these things, love the Generalissimo who instituted them, call him "El Benefactor"—and there are no newspapers to tell them about the other side of the story.

The other side of the story is rather bad. Dr. Galindez wrote his doctoral dissertation at Columbia University on it and that is why he disappeared. With Trujillo's benefits go reprisals for those who are unhappy; the reprisals are quick, efficient and sanguinary.

Generalissimo Trujillo is an aging man; he will be 66 next week. Someday soon he will die and the long evolution begun by the Marine lieutenant many years ago will be finished. Then, the "quiet," unsensational pace by which that event has been developing will become "unquiet" and newsworthy. Then, what might have been another, rare and "quiet" interlude will be filled with news of Dominican revolt and unrest. For, as someone once sagely observed, such is the legacy of dictators.

I-M SPORTS FOOTBALL

The Doozeys, by virtue of two convincing victories in the intramural league this week, moved into a first place tie with the Terrible Ten.

The Doozeys have run up a total of 116 points in three games while limiting their opponents to two points. By running up this stupendous total, they should be regarded as the title favorites. Meanwhile, the Terrible Ten kept their record unblemished as they ground out a 13-0 victory over the previously undefeated Coasters.

The Dukes who were in a tie for first place last week, dropped out of the title picture as they had one of last week's victories taken away because of an ineligible player.

Next week, the top game will pit the Coasters against the Dukes Tuesday night. The Coasters must win this game to stay in contention for the league crown. Standings:

Fall Meets Scheduled For RF Cross-country

River Falls' cross-country team will have at least three meets this fall according to coach Fran Polsfoot. Two matches with Mankato and one with LaCrosse have already been scheduled and there is a possibility that several more meets may be set up with neighboring colleges in Minnesota. Coach Polsfoot also expressed hope that the team would make it to the state cross-country meet which will be held in LaCrosse later this fall.

Four returnees from last year's undefeated squad form a solid nucleus for this season's team. Bill Shimel, Vern Parker, Dan Teetzen, and Joel Dahby are presenting working out with several newcomers. However there is still plenty of room for more runners, said Polsfoot.

RF Gridders Look Forward To Third Consecutive Win

Coach Fran Polsfoot's rapidly improving Falcons will be seeking their third straight conference win tomorrow afternoon when the Eau Claire Bugolds come to town for the big Homecoming clash at Rammer Field. A share of first place awaits the winner if Platteville loses its game with Oshkosh.

After dropping the league opener to La Crosse 21-13, the Falcons have downed Stout 20-6 and Superior 14-7 to stamp themselves as definite title contenders. The Bugolds also lost their initial conference game as Stout took advantage of several Eau Claire injuries to chalk up a 20-0 triumph. However, coach Jim Rice's club has looked very impressive since then—winning an 18-6 decision over Superior and trouncing Milwaukee 45-12 last week.

Last year Jim Bollinger engineered the Bugolds to a convincing 35-20 win over River Falls that knocked the Falcons out of the title picture. However, Bollinger has graduated and so has Don Pierce, the big Bugold lineman who stopped Falcon ball-carriers cold in last season's tilt.

The biggest groundgainers for Eau Claire this year have been a pair of speedy halfbacks, Jim Johnson and Ted Devine. Falcon rooters will remember Devine as the 150-lb. scaback who was on the receiving end of many of Bollinger's passes in the 1956 game. Pete Adler, a bruising runner with adequate speed, shares the backfield duty with Devine and Johnson.

The left side of the Eau Claire line will probably find Gary Bersech at end, Ron Ganong at tackle, and veteran Don Gudmanson starting at guard. Hank Donatell should get the nod at center. Tom Nadeau, Rog Hedington, and Chester Moore will comprise the rest of the forward offensive wall.

Sophomores Dick Odegard and Bill Elstran will share the quarterbacking duties that were supposed to fall on the shoulders of Don Lee, a promising freshman signal caller who is on the injured list.

The status of Bob Hessler, the Bugolds' senior fullback is unknown. Hessler, another thorn in the Falcons' side last year, has seen little action thus far this season because of an early injury.

River Falls has played Eau Claire for Homecoming twice within the last ten years. The Falcon topped the Bugolds 21-13 in 1947, but lost a 13-7 decision the following year.

The Falcons will be gunning for their fifth consecutive Homecoming win. They beat Superior 21-0 in 1953, Stout by 26-7 in 1954, Superior 47-0 the following year, and Stevens Point by a 35-20 margin last season.

More than 2,000 fans turned out last fall for the River Falls-Stevens Point clash. At least that many are expected to be on hand tomorrow afternoon to watch the Falcons "Snare Eau Claire."

Injuries May Change Coach's Regular Lineup

The River Falls' starting lineup for tomorrow's Homecoming battle with Eau Claire may differ from the one used in earlier games this season. Head coach Fran Polsfoot was hesitant in naming a definite order due to the fact that several regulars are nursing injuries sustained in last week's encounter with Superior.

Jack Neurer is assured of a starting berth at left end but Tom Shield is still limping on a sprained ankle so Vern Gilbertson may get the call at the other end position. The rest of the line will remain unchanged. Al Wienke and Dick Shimel will get the nod as guards, Bob Koplín and Jim Carew will fill the tackle posts, and Gordie Hoff should be at center.

Signal-calling duties will be handled by Jim Hallen but its still questionable who will be sharing starting backfield honors with him. Mick Lauber remains a fixture at left end. Fullback Jack Omer has a pair of painful charley-horses so Pete Hubin might start at that position. Regular right halfback Darrel Johnson has been bothered with a bruised hip and his replacement, Frank Sprenger, is also on the injured list. If Johnson and Sprenger aren't ready, sophomore speedster John Rassbach will take over the right half post.

Falcon Fanfare

Certainly any inhabitant of the TV lounge during the last week is well aware of the fact that the Yankees are no strangers to the

World Series.

Similarly Bob Koplín, 225-lb. Falcon tackle, does not find this weekend's Homecoming festivities an unfamiliar situation. This will mark the fourth year that Bob has been in a Falcon uniform for the annual fall fete—and he has yet to play on a losing Homecoming squad, a record very much comparable to the Yanks' stranglehold on their annual fall classic.

Bob's athletic career began at Red Wing, Minnesota High School, where he lettered in basketball, football, and track. As a Senior he was a member of the Winger squad which suffered a heartbreaking loss to Hopkins in the opening round of the Minnesota State Basketball Tournament. Hopkins later went on to capture the championship that year.

Thus far in college, Bob has lettered twice each in football and track and last fall was named to the all-conference grid squad at tackle. This fall Bob's football prowess was again rewarded when he was elected Falcon co-captain along with his old high school teammate, Darrel Johnson.

On campus, Bob is a broad area science major with physical education minor. No doubt someday he will be exchanging his football gear for the weathered topcoat of the coaching profession.
