

IN ONE OF HISTORY'S SHORTEST REIGNS, Bob Slaughter and Nancy Rundhammer were named King and Queen of Saturday night's Valentine Formal. The two were crowned at 10:30 p.m. and their term expired at 1 a.m. when the dance ended. Royalty for the annual formal has traditionally been chosen at random from ticket stub holders. Exhibiting true King-like character, Mr. Slaughter here adjusts his Queen's bracelet while posing for a Voice photographer.

Treasure Seekers Get Clue As Carnival Plans Progress

"It's not high, it's not low, and it's surrounded by snow," is the first clue for this year's Winter Carnival treasure hunt. A cash prize of $10 will go to the student who finds the treasure, hidden somewhere on campus.

The treasure is to be hidden the evening before the Carnival opens officially begins.

Preliminaries for the 1957 River Falls Winter Carnival include the presentation of Royalty candidates next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in North Hall aud. An all-school election Friday, Feb. 8, will pick a King and Chairwoman from the three candidates for each position.

Voting will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Campus organizations entered in the snow sculpture contest are planning to start work within the next few days. The South Hall gym will be ready by 10 a.m. on Thursday, Feb. 14, for construction of booths on the midway.

Deadline for entering the FFA talent show, first evening assembly of the Carnival, is next Monday at 5 p.m. Participants must have their act ready by 7 o'clock that night for the combination audition and elimination contest to be held in North Hall aud.

The FFA will award prizes of 15, 10, and 5 dollars to the contest's three top winners.

Students planning to participate in the mixed-doubles bowling tournament and the annual hockey game must register on the official Carnival notice board in South Hall. Couples will not be allowed to compete in bowling matches unless they have signed up before 5 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 14.

Deadline Next Week For Students Entering April Oratory Contest

Students planning to enter a contest for choosing the outstanding RF freshman or sophomore in original oratory speech work this year must contact Walter Simonson within the next week.

A cash award of $10 will go to the winner.

The money is part of a $50 fund presented to the college by Anthony Runte, class of 1933. The grant is to be used over the next five years to stimulate interest in oratory at RFSC.

The contest, to be held sometime in April, is not exclusively for students now active in the forensics program. If enough persons are interested, tryouts will be held to select six finalists. The winner will then be chosen at an all-school assembly.

Campus Art Show Features Variety Of Student Work

by Mark Wyman

From a coffee table to a wood carving, and from enameled cuff links to abstract paintings, in brief, describes the wide variety of art works to be on display this week in the Student Activity Center. The exhibit is sponsored by Atelier, the campus art club.

The entire Center will be used for the display, to run through Saturday, Feb. 9. Members of Atelier and other art students have volunteered to be on hand to explain and point out the presentation's various details.

The display represents a cross-section of student work from both present and previous art classes. It includes creations by beginners and experienced students alike. The compositions can be classed under six main headings: painting, sculpture, applied design, ceramics, jewelry, and prints.

Commenting on the amount of work by first-year art students, Louis Kollmeyer, director of the art department, said, "Students have progressed very well considering that most of them have had little background in the field." "The majority," he said, "have had no real art courses before coming to college."

Rather than having this exhibit just for ersons to "look at," Mr. Kollmeyer said that the purpose of the showing is "... to acquaint the student body and faculty with the type of work accomplished by art students at River Falls." He continued, "We know that many students aren't aware of the variety of subjects offered by the department. We're sure that spectators will be pleasantly surprised by the items shown."

Mr. Kollmeyer feels, "that it will be thirty minutes well spent for anyone who visits the display."

BOOK CLUB RESULTS FROM MEDIA PROJECT

A newly-formed book club is the result of a recent freshman English class media report. After completing a survey to determine how students select books, the committee in charge suggested that a book club be formed at River Falls.

Members of the club will each buy one book. They will then exchange a book every month with another student in the group. This means that persons in the organization can buy one book and read seven.

The poll to determine methods of book selection was taken on approximately 150 men and women students from all classes. The results showed:

28 percent selected books from the library card catalog using only the titles as a basis for judgement,

20 percent chose books after having seen movies made from the publications,

20 percent said they had heard about the books from their friends,

12 percent read books because they had seen reviews of them in (Continued on Page 4)

Students at RFSC will soon have their grade averages boosted one point. However attractive this sounds, the value of the new grade point will still be the same as the old one. The change stems from a recent faculty decision to install a new honor point system. Under the new plan, similar to the one used by the University of Wisconsin, an "A" grade will be worth four honor points instead of three.

Grades for the winter term will be recorded on the new four-point system.

Other important changes in the grading system include allowing students to retake, for credit, courses in which they have received a "D" grade. Previously only failing grades in a class allowed it to be taken a second time for full credit.

Under this plan, the original grade and the grade when the course is repeated will be retained on the student's transcript. However, for purposes of determining the person's cumulative honor point ration, only the honor points and credits gained in the last retaking of the course will be used.

The cumulative honor point ratio is found by dividing the total number of honor points earned by the total number of credit hours.

Following are the letter symbols and the new corresponding values in honor points per credit hour.

Grade	Significance	Honor Pts. Per Hr.
A	Excellent	4
B	Good	3
C	Average	2
D	Passing	1
Con.	Condition	0
Inc.	Incomplete	0
F	Failure	0

The faculty also ruled on the college's probation and reinstatement policies. The new honor point ratio system provides that a freshman or sophomore student will always be placed on probation if the following conditions arise:

- (1) failing grades in half of his work for the quarter, (Continued on Page Four)

Shirley Parker in St. Paul Parade As 'Muskie Queen' from Hayward

Among the bevy of beauties present at this year's St. Paul Winter Carnival was Shirley Parker, an RFSC freshman.

Representing her home town as the Hayward Muskie Queen, Miss Parker, along with 39 other girls, was a guest of the Carnival's sponsors. Festivities started Fri-in outdoor activities including ice-fishing, tobogganing, and skating. Her ski outfit for the events was a gift of the Mt. Telemark ski area.

In the parade Saturday, Miss Parker rode on the Northwestern Federal float. She was escorted to the Coronation Ball Tuesday evening by a student from the University of Minnesota.

Recalling her week in St. Paul, Miss Parker said, "It was a great experience and all five days were filled with fun. The hospitality was wonderful—we had steak at every meal except one."

'Picture in Your Mind' Scheduled Wednesday

The film, Picture in Your Mind, is scheduled for the Little Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday at the following times.

Wednesday, 4 p.m.

Thursday, 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Attendance at the movie is required for all students enrolled in Communications 12. Explanation of the film will not be made at any of the showings.

Students are to prepare for viewing the film by reading page 53 of the Syllabus.

The Editor Speaks . . .

A River Falls professor recently remarked to a group of future teachers, "I'd hate to have any of you teaching my children." Whether or not his comment was justified is not the point of this editorial. However, the situation serves well to illustrate the plight of our education-for-everyone scheme which, in practice, goes round and round like a carnival merry-go-round. Once on the merry-go-round, there are some who ride horses, some who sit on seats, and some who stand, but everyone is still going round and round. Soon however, the carnival packs up and moves on, taking with it the merry-go-round. And all that remains are a few forgotten stakes and some crushed popcorn boxes.

Unlike the one in the carnival, our educational merry-go-round is a permanent thing. Instead of waiting eagerly for it to start each year, we have developed the habit of looking forward only to the time when it finally stops and everyone hops off for a week-end or a summer. When this merry-go-round finally does leave our lives, the effect is much more pronounced than in the carnival's case. We are left with a few fundamentals and feeling, in too many cases, that we are now completely educated. After all, we have a degree to prove it. Most of us are so dizzy from our carousel ride that we lose sight of the ideal in education—the desire to learn.

YES, THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS. Just as some persons win prizes at the carnival, some students develop the proper learning attitude in our school systems. According to all appearances, however, this is not the norm. And so, as students are taught in the same fashion as their teachers were, we all go round and round like a dog chasing his tail. Everyone is afraid to ask the question: "Where are we going?" because the answer is obvious—the place where we started.

Ideally, we should leave college with the desire to continue our education, to build on our accumulated foundation of facts. The tools necessary for fulfilling this desire are another essential. A college graduate should be adept at expressing himself in writing and speaking; capable in evaluating and interpreting the work of others; and have the necessary background to develop his own ideas.

The key to all this is, of course, desire. The need, the will, or the want to explore and discover is the thing that can be found lacking in too many present-day students. A look around will reveal that the good students (Grade point is here disregarded in the definition of a good student.) are the ones who like to read, experiment, and desire something more from college than the means for a better job.

MOST STUDENTS AND PROFESSORS recognize these qualities as ideals. The big question then, is: "Why are the majority of persons made to stay on the merry-go-round until they lose their sense of direction. Somewhere, somehow during the ride's course most students do lose the desire to learn. It's not because they haven't experienced the thrill of discovering new concepts. All are curious when they're young. But this gift is lost during the educational process. Could it be due to the fact that they are not provided with the proper motivation? Could it be because they have been trained in the same manner as their teachers who have never stopped to question the teaching procedure that was handed down to them?"

The merry-go-round has come full turn when the instructor stops learning because he has lost the necessary motivation. This same lack carries over, then, to his students. Perhaps some desirable changes could be made in training America's youth if we all sat out one ride and watched the merry-go-round objectively.

Student Senate Minutes

The last meeting of the Student Senate was called to order by Pres. Dick Schultz on Monday, Jan. 28.

The treasurer reported a total of $1,771.11 in the Senate treasury.

ART DISPLAY

Marvin Isum asked permission for the art department to use the Student Activity Center for display purposes. Permission was granted in the form of a motion by Louie Johnson. The art presentation will be in the Center from February 4 through 9.

WINTER CARNIVAL

Dianne Shay, representing the Winter Carnival Chairwoman candidates, made a report on Carnival progress. The report included the following decisions:

1. The old-time dance proposed for Sunday will be dropped from the program.
2. The Vets Club will sponsor

Friday night's sleigh ride, which will follow the basketball game.

3. No action is to be taken on a previously-discussed skating rink. The Senate feels that there is too little time for construction of the rink.

4. Time allotments for presentation of candidates for Carnival Chairwoman have been set at 10 minutes. The prospective Kings have five minutes for their introductions to the student body.

BUS TO AMERY

The Senate agreed to sponsor a bus to the basketball game with St. Cloud at Amery, held Wednesday, Jan. 30.

MARCH OF DIMES

Louie Johnson has been appointed by the Senate to work with the Athletic department to promote a fund-raising drive for the March of Dimes.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"THIS IS A POOR CLASS TO TAKE FIRST PERIOD—SO NOISY YA CANT SLEEP."

GAD BOOKS!

HAGESTAD

Sinclair Lewis' Babbitt, first published in 1922, is a book everybody talks about but nobody reads. Babbitt is a sociological novel and it was read widely enough to coin a sociological term, "babbitry." Though not much used today, the word is a convenient label. It can still be used. Babbitts still exist. But that is beside the point.

It is a foregone critical conclusion that Lewis wanted to utterly demolish Babbitt and all for which he stood, but somewhat less recognized is the other thing Lewis wanted to do in his novel. This "other thing" is rather interesting, for it gives some insight into not only Lewis the writer, but Lewis the man as well.

WHEN SOMEONE SAYS, "He's a regular Babbitt!" that person is speaking in derision. Babbitt is really rather a disgusting character. He is probably likeable only to other Babbitts and that relationship, Lewis shows, is rather tedious too. "Babbitry," as I said, is a term still applicable; Babbitt is a "type."

The time is the '20's—you have to buy your hooch by the dark of night; Prohibition is in effect. George F. Babbitt is a real estate dealer and is making money. He belongs to the Presbyterian Church, the Boosters, the Chamber of Commerce and the Athletic Club (which has no athlete-members.)

Babbitt is against: Reds, Socialists (to him, synonymous with "reds"); art (except to attract tourists); the New Rich (because he isn't one of them); the Union Club (the Athletic Club's more sedate and wealthy rival); and unions.

BABBITT IS FOR: a bigger and better Zenith ("his city"); the university ("it'll advertise the state"); the real estate association (he thinks people should get together to protect "their interests"); and, "little jaunts" to the capitol (though he "loves" his wife).

This is George F. Babbitt—he is an authoritarian, a complete philistine. There is one thing more about Babbitt, though: he is a pitiful person. Lewis intended this and this is what people forget when they slap on the label, "Babbitt!"

As I said, authorities have concluded that Sinclair Lewis wanted to completely destroy babbitry. It is not difficult to see why Lewis would want to do this. Lewis also pitted Babbitt. Lewis' destruction of George F. Babbitt says the author would have preferred Babbitt as somebody else.

Lewis would have preferred a "saved" or redeemed Babbitt. The author hints that it is in his protagonist's nature to redeem himself, but so long a Babbitt, Babbitt is unable to carry through his own redemption. Lewis is enough of a realist to admit that Babbitt is doomed to Babbitry.

BABBITT'S LIFE is a succession of expedient choices. Whenever he does a considered thing—relates his actions to other people or himself—he is nearly crushed and his circle of "good fellows" threatens to ostracize him. Since you cannot "blame" Babbitt's environment, the fault lies in himself: he simply cannot help himself.

This is too much for even the hard realist, Lewis, hence, the

AROUND THE CAMPUS

YM-YWCA

The YM-YWCA will meet in the Social Room tomorrow at 7 p.m. Vern Hathaway, executive secretary of the national council in the North Central area, will speak to the group. Refreshments will be served following his talk.

A YM-YW cabinet meeting is also planned for tomorrow. It is to be held in the Knotty Pine Room at 4:30 p.m.

YOUNG GOP

Dr. James J. McLaughlin, head of the Division of Arts and Sciences, will speak on lobbying practices in Madison at a Young Republicans meeting tomorrow night. The group will meet in 121S at 8 p.m. A discussion of Dr. McLaughlin's topic will follow his talk.

WRA

WRA members will be selling school stationery in the cafeteria during the next week.

Women students interested in the WRA-sponsored basketball tournament may practice tonight in the South Hall gym at 7 o'clock. In addition to working out schedules for tournament games, members at tonight's meeting will make final plans for a game with the Land O' Lakes team during Winter Carnival.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club will meet in the Social Room Wednesday, February 6, at 7 p.m. Short cuts in mathematical calculating are to be discussed by the group. Any student interested is welcome to attend.

AWS

The Executive Board of the AWS has scheduled its next meeting for Wednesday, February 6, in the Deans' office at 7:45 p.m.

WORLD TOUR

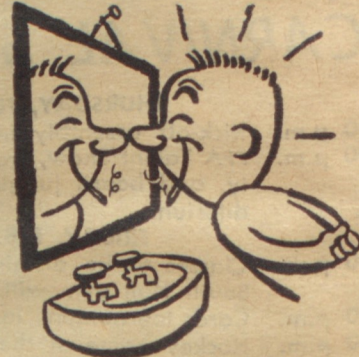

River Falls students have an opportunity to take a trip around the world next summer with persons from the other Wisconsin State Colleges. World-tour programs have been started at Eau Claire and Whitewater.

Anyone interested can get complete details on the summer-long trips from Dr. Nancy Knaak, associate dean of students. She asks that students considering the trip contact her within the next week.

Falcons Bow to St. Cloud, 77-70; Vanquish La Crosse, 94-86

by Ed Schlumpf

Superior rebounding and sharp shooting paid off for the St. Cloud Huskies Wednesday night as the Minnesota school won their second game of the season from the Falcons 77-70 at Amery's "Sports Palace."

St. Cloud held the lead for most of the first half until Dick Fischer's jump shot tied the score at 34-34 with three minutes remaining in the half. The score at intermission read 42-40 in favor of the Falcons as Dave Herum sank his tenth and eleventh free throws just seconds before the buzzer sounded.

The Falcons increased their lead as much as six points several times during the second half. However, Baggenstoss led a Husky rally that vaulted them to a 67-63 lead with 6:37 left. Tom Shield and Mick Lauber hit two quick baskets to tie it up. But after Grams sank a long shot and free throw, Baggenstoss swished a short jump shot to put the game out of the Falcons' reach.

AMERY'S CITY TEAM DOWNS RF FRESHMEN

Neil Christenson poured in 27 points and Rog Knutson banged in 26 to lead Amery's city team to a 69-60 win over the RF freshman team Wednesday night at Amery.

The loss was the third of the season for Coach Phil Belfiori's crew, compared to four wins. Darrell Hart took scoring honors for the freshmen with 16 points.

River Falls held a slight 30-28 half-time edge, but Knutson sparked a second-half rally with 16 points to produce the win.

The combined scoring punch of Falcon center Dave Herum and guard Mick Lauber, plus the sharp rebounding of forwards Tom Shield and Griff Howell and defensive play of Dan Corcoran proved to be too much for the visiting La Crosse Indians as River Falls chalked up its second conference win Saturday night, 94-86.

The Falcons' record now stands 2-4 in conference play and 5-7 for the season. The Indians slipped to 2-4 in WSCC play and 5-10 for the year.

HERUM TALLIED 35 points while Lauber scored 28 for the game. The 6-5 RF center hit on a spectacular 63 percent of his shots (10 of 16) while Mick completed 12 of 26 for 49 percent.

Herum also paced RF with 19 rebounds, followed by Howell with nine and Shield with six. The Falcons picked a total of 45 rebounds off the boards while

"I'LL TAKE IT," seems to be what Falcon guard Mick Lauber is saying as he grabs a rebound away from La Crosse's Gar Ammerman (21) and River Falls' John Steffen in the second half of Saturday's game. Coming up from the left is Indian guard Tom Giombetti (13). La Crosse's John Peterson is behind the group, while other RF players in the picture are, left to right, Griff Howell, Dave Herum and Dick Fischer. The Falcons won, 94-86 sinking 34 of 71 attempts afield for 48 percent. La Crosse was held to 35 percent from the floor (28 of 81).

RF jumped to a 4-0 lead on a field goal by Corcoran, who started in place of John Steffen, and a pair of free throws by Herum, but the Indians seized the lead of 7-4 with 16:05 left.

FIELD GOALS by Lauber and Herum put the Falcons in front 8-7, but a basket by Tom Giombetti and two gift tosses by Winiarski pushed La Crosse ahead again, 11-8, with 14:50 left in the half. River Falls outscored La Crosse 4-6 to bring the score up to 15-14 with 13:30 remaining.

Two minutes later, the Falcons took the lead on two free throws by Herum. RF gradually widened the gap until it hit a peak for the game at 30-19 with 7:35 left. The margin was nine points as the first period ended 44-35.

At the start of the second half, the Indians began to roll behind forward Jerry Robbins and Giombetti. They slowly crept up on the Falcons, tying the score at 55-55 with 13:20 left, then leading by 65-59 with 11 minutes left in the game.

At this point, RFSC scored nine straight points to regain the lead, margin to 78-70. It was increased Corcoran, and Herum built the margin to 8-70. It was increased to 90-80 with 2:35 remaining.

I-M Ten Pin Standings

by Ed Schlumpf

Because there are only eight teams in the B league, while there are nine in the A league, B league bowlers finished the first half schedule a week ahead of A league teams. In order that both leagues could start the second half next week, teams in the A league bowled twice this week while B league teams remained idle.

It has been decided that no playoffs will be held until the end of second half competition. Points and averages compiled during the first half will be carried over into the second half.

TOURNEY BERTHS ASSURED LEADERS IN I-M BASKETBALL

With the conclusion of six weeks of play, most of the league leading intramural basketball teams seem assured of play-off spots. After eight weeks of play the two top teams from each league will meet, leaving four teams to participate in the final tournament.

The current league leaders are:

- A League—Team 2
- B League—Teams 14 and 15, tied
- C League—Team 16
- D League—Team 31

Hungarian Fund Drive Gets First Group Gift

The first contribution to the Hungarian Scholarship fund by a campus organization has been made by the Lutheran Student Association. The group contributed slightly over $21 to the drive.

Other pledges and donations during the past week has brought the cash and pledge total to around $900. Of this, about $250 is in cash.

The first pledge redemption day, January 22, brought in roughly $100 for the fund.

The committee in charge of the scholarship drive asks all campus organizations to discuss group fund-raising activities.

KNAAK HAS REQUESTS FOR WOMEN WORKERS

Dr. Nancy Knaak, associate dean, is now taking applications for two jobs open to women students. One of the openings is in housework, while the other involves evening work.

The evening job, according to Dr. Knaak, is particularly suitable for a commuting student from the Prescott-Ellsworth area. She said there is a possibility that the position would require more than one woman. Anyone interested can get further information by contacting Dr. Knaak.

The Dean also said that she has a large number of requests for women camp counselors for next summer. Too numerous to post, details on the jobs can be obtained from the Deans' office.

A student on probation will be given special aid in discovering the reason for his difficulty and in finding ways to overcome it. However, a student may not be on probation for more than two quarters and still continue in school unless this ruling is waived by the Academic Standards Committee.

The group may decide to make an exception to this rule after considering a petition by the student which presents new evidence of his ability to do college work.

If a student is dropped, he must wait two full quarters before he is eligible for readmission.

Film Exposed for Child Development

by Mark Wyman

Photo development and child development may seem entirely unrelated, but Richard Doetkott, sophomore from River Falls, has brought the two together with a project that made 18 campus school students virtual "shutter-bugs."

As part of his work for a Child Development class, Mr. Doetkott taught pupils of Miss Mary Ullman, fifth-grade critic teacher, how to shoot pictures with "brownie-type" cameras.

AFTER USING Miss Ullman's camera for the first part of the project, many students got cameras of their own. "The children's enthusiasm for photography," says Mr. Doetkott, "was almost amazing."

Included in the project was a study of photographic terms and principles. After learning the fundamentals, the fifth-graders were taken on a tour of the darkroom and heard an explanation on the developing and printing of pictures.

A display of pictures taken by the class will be shown at the next meeting of the Campus School Parents and Teachers Association.

Miss Ullman said that the project has helped the students "... not only to develop a critical eye, but also to see photography as an art."

"Although Mr. Doetkott's project is finished," she added, "the pupils are still taking pictures and appear to be very interested in cameras."

"NOW THE CHILDREN look at magazines such as Life and Post with new respect," Miss Ullman said.

Mr. Doetkott, a speech and English major in secondary education, feels that the plan was worthwhile. He said, "I know that the pupils have learned something they can use throughout life."

Indian Dancers Here Tuesday

One of the more novel groups to appear at RFSC in recent years will perform in the North Hall auditorium tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

The Calumet Dancers, who have been featured at the Minnesota State Fair and on Twin City television, will present their program of Indian dances to grade-school children from River Falls. College students having the hour free are also welcome to attend.

The group is made up of junior and senior high school pupils from St. Paul. They have made more than 230 appearances in the last three year. Their next tour is planned for August. Proposed stops on the trip include cities in 12 Western and Southern states. After returning home, they will perform at the 1957 Minnesota State Fair under the sponsorship of the state's Department of Education.

The Calumet Dancers are being brought to River Falls by Lawrence H. Dawson, city superintendent of schools, Dr. Gordon Stone, director of the college education department, and the River Falls Tuesday Club.
