WISCONSIN STATE COLLEGE VOLUME XLIII NUMBER 18

Guests to Look Behind the Scenes While Touring Campus on Senior Day

A new feature will be part of this year's "Go To College Day". For the first time, high school seniors will have a chance to look "behind the scenes" and see groups in rehearsal. Divided into small groups, the high school pupils will see demonstrations by the M.E.N.C., Dance Theatre, Atelier Club, a tumbling act, and a look at excerpts from the student production of "Little Foxes".

Along this same line, the extra curricular groups and organizations on campus will have exhibits set up in the Student Activity Center.

The opening session each day, Wednesday and Thursday, March 27 and 28, will be addressed by President E. H. Kleinpell and by Richard Kinney, President of the Student Senate.

There will be two panel discussions during the day. A faculty panel on the morning program will discuss "Educational Opportunities". Members of the panel are B. H. Kettlekamp moderator, Dr. Charles Graham, Dr. Virginia Akins, Richard Delorit, and Dr. Wilfred Harris.

The student panel will answer the question, "What Am I Doing Here?" Members are Mike Dodge moderator, Betty Korb, Pat Williams, John Steffen, and Don Kueckler.

For the second year there will be a style show presented by student models. This year the style show will be sponsored by Sigma Chi Sigma in the Little Theatre.

At 11:00 a.m. the students will be divided into special interest groups. They will meet with faculty members interested in specialized fields. During these meetings students will have an opportunity to ask questions and get information about the particular field in which they may major.

GREENHILL VICTOR IN SENATE ELECTION

H. Gaylon Greenhill, junior from New Auburn, was elected to the Student Senate in the all school student elections Friday, March 22.

The other two candidates running for the post were Harry Elzinga, junior from Sheldon, and Robert Seltrecht, junior from Loyal.

A total of 482 votes were cast in the election. The freshmen class cast 143 votes, the sophomores 138, the juniors 116 and the seniors 85.

Mr. Greenhill will take over his new post on the Senate immediately.

QUALIFIED STUDENTS MAY CAST BALLOT

Qualified State College students and faculty may vote in the River Falls municipal election on April 2.

The personal qualifications for voting in this election are: (1) age of twenty-one years or more, (2) one year of residence in the state, and (3) ten days of residence in this election district.

A referendum that will allow the city to construct an improved library building will be included on the ballot.

KAY OSTBY

Kay Ostby Named Most Photogenic In 'Voice' Contest

Kay Ostby, junior from Hudson, has been picked by Student Voice readers as the most photogenic girl on campus.

Chosen over four other candidates for the honor in an election Tuesday, Miss Ostby will now be entered in a "Campus Girl Contest" sponsored by Picture magazine, a supplement to the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune.

Other coeds in the race were Lorraine Brynildson, Marlys Laue, Marlys Matzek, and Patty Ross.

A picture of Miss Ostby, along with photos of the girls from the other Upper Midwestern colleges and universities entered in the contest, will be published in Picture magazine. Its readers will then vote on the girl whom they consider most beautiful.

The winner will be featured on the magazine's cover and in a picture-story published inside.

Annual Foundation Week To Begin Monday, April 1

Getting underway in the auditorium next Monday morning at 10 o'clock will be the annual Foundation Week, April 1-6. Other Activities Monday will include an "Old Time, Hard Time" dance, sponsored by the FFA, in North Hall gym, planned from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Music will be provided by the Ray Concertina Orchestra from Plum City.

Funds from the event, used each year for campus improvements, will go this year for a campus directory. Any surplus will go toward furnishings for the Student Union to be constructed soon.

The directory will serve to orient newcomers and direct visitors to the various buildings and offices on campus.

One big new feature of the Week this year is an "Auction Barn." Scheduled for North Hall gym Thursday at 7:30 p.m., the auction will feature "anything that students are willing to sell," ac-

Area Schools to Send Pupils, Exhibits to Science Fair April 4

Pupils and teachers in high school science courses will be guests on the River Falls campus for a Science Fair Tuesday, April 4. The fair is open to parents and the public.

Exhibits, prepared by pupils from area high schools, will be shown during the morning and afternoon of the fair. Also included on the day's program are current movies on science and a talk by Dr. C. G. Stratton, geology professor emeritus.

College students majoring and minoring in science and math will assist with the program. Exhibits are planned by the Math and Chemistry Clubs of the college. Registration is from 9:30 to 10 a.m.

according to Chairman Duanne Johnson.

Things such as baked goods, dinner dates with coeds and faculty members, and shoe-shining and car-washing services by students and instructors have been suggested. All proceeds will go to the Foundation.

Louie Johnson will be auctioneer.

Tuesday, a smorgasboard supper is planned in the cafeteria from 5 to 7 p.m.

Because any activities on Wednesday would interfere with regular church services, no events have been planned for the day.

A concert by the Men's Glee Club is on the Foundation Week Schedule for Friday. Beginning at 7:45 p.m., the concert is to be given in North Hall auditorium.

Winding up the Week will be a semi-formal dance in the men's gym Saturday evening. "The Commanders" from Hamline University, St. Paul, will furnish music from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

'Conformity Conference' to Feature Bill Evjue As Main Speaker April 2

WILLIAM EVJUE

William T. Evjue, editor and publisher of the Madison Capital Times, is scheduled as the main speaker at a "Conference on Conformity in American Life" on campus Monday, April 2.

HUT FOUR TO SING AT VETS' CLUB SHOW TOMORROW EVENING

The Hut Four Quartet from Minneapolis will be this year's feature attraction at the annual Vets Club Variety Show. The program will be Tuesday, March 26, at 8 p.m., in the auditorium.

The Hut Four Quartet has sung all over the country and a few years ago appeared on the Arthur Godfrey and Ed Sullivan television programs. Members of the group, all college students, are Bob Dykstra and Don Sundt of River Falls, and John Hansen and Bob Spong of Macalester.

Music seems to be the keynote of the entire show. In addition to the Hut Four, the program will feature a girls trio, the Y-Tones, consisting of Elaine Solum, Mary Louise Olson, and Shirley Olson. The Falconaires with Marge Olson, and soloists Shelby King, Audrey Kane, and Dick Muelemans will also be present.

To provide contrast, the Vets Club has obtained the services of Dick Doetkott, Arlin Albrecht and Henri Elzinga in a comedy routine.

The master of ceremonies will be Ed Phelan, who makes frequent appearances as "MC".

Proceeds of the show will be used to finance the children's day for under-privileged children, which has become a Vets Club tradition.

Winners in Local Meet Eligible for Tourney In Madison April 13

Representing 28 district high schools, 168 pupils participated in the meet of the Wisconsin Forensic Association on campus Saturday.

Those who received "A" ratings and are eligible to attend the State Meet in Madison April 13 are as follows:

Original oratory: Kathleen Hartwig, Hammond; Anita Foss, Hudson; Robert Enstad, River Falls; Karen Vosebil, Baldwin; Jack Huntley, Grantsburg; Michael Thompson, River Falls, and Shirley Lewis, Hammond.

Non-original oratory: Gloria Miller, Hudson; Gayle Dahlberg, Frederic; Allen Brown, Spring

The conference arranged by the social science department, is open to all interested students.

In addition to Mr. Evjue, the program includes two panel discussions in the afternoon and a smorgasbord dinner in the cafeteria from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. Mr. Evjue's talk will be at 8 o'clock in North Hall auditorium.

"A highly controversial figure," says Dr. Walker Wyman, "Mr. Evjue is a crusading editor of the 'old progressive' school of thought." Dr. Wyman added that the editor-publisher is well known in the Midwest as an opponent of the "one party" press.

After registration and a coffee hour in the library, a panel on "Conformity in School" will open the afternoon program at 3:15 o'clock in the Little Theatre.

Discussion on the amount of conformity taught in "progressive" education, the employment of non-conformist teachers, conformity in teaching due to pressure groups, encouragement of student expression and the material available to students on controversial issues will be included in this panel.

Panel members are Dr. Edward Peterson, of the social science department, moderator; Dr. Phillip Anderson, of the education department; Dr. Harold Hodges, of the social science department; Ray Glynn, superintendent of Frederic Public Schools; D. K. Lein, superintendent of Amery Public Schools; William Hagestad, sophomore from River Falls; and Gary Glynn, junior from Frederic.

The day's second panel, on "Conformity in Mass Communications," will start at 4:45 p.m.

Topics to be discussed include the question of whether or not an opinion monopoly exists in mass communication media, the amount of control exerted by advertisers on the reporting of news, and the possible reduction of radio and TV program quality to the taste of the greatest audience.

Participating in this panel will be Wayne Wolfe, of the journalism department; Miss Vera Moss, of the English department; Phillip Huff, general manager of the Red Wing Republican Eagle; and Arlin Albrecht, junior from Chippewa Falls. Moderating the panel will be Dr. Charles Graham of the social science department.

Invited to attend the conference are all area high school social science teachers.

The Editor Speaks

For high school seniors who are contemplating college in the fall, and for college students who are trying to decide if they should return to college, the question of what a college education really means is pertinent.

Is a college education just a passport to a better paying job, with more advancement opportunities? Is it just a necessity for the type of work you want to enter? No doubt these are two factors which come to mind first of all, but there are more.

Did you ever think of the standing it gives you in a community? You are respected by the majority of the people. There is prestige that goes with a diploma . . . not with the piece of paper but with what it represents.

College isn't only a place to learn facts, but also attitudes. Perhaps one of the most useful things acquired is the art of getting along with people of all kinds, and adjusting to others.

While at college, one learns to take responsibility and assume leadership which is important in later life. College prepares you to meet life as an adult and to take a stand in your future community, and know the reason why.

After college one should be able to look at things from a broader point of view . . . that of an educated adult with a basic understanding of many subjects.

To get a college education takes only four years, and it isn't as difficult as it may appear. There are many happy and gay moments in those four years. It isn't all books and burning the midnight oil or, at least, you can make it more if you try. Even if it were difficult, wouldn't it be worth it when you consider what value these four years will mean to you during the rest of your life?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am one of those who firmly believe that issues and events should be given both praise and adverse criticism in a "Letters to the Editor" column. Since those who praise seldom voice their thoughts, I have small pangs of guilt as I join the ranks of those who do little but complain. Yet, at the same time, I hope to somewhat assuage my guilt by offering a constructive comment to my complaint.

My subject is, once more, the art of simple courtesy. At the convocation last Wednesday, the audience was adequate in size, tranquilly responsive, and reasonably courteous (except, of course, for those who consider interludes, or the lack of them, cause for conversation or a good time to walk out). Yet, despite the relatively good behavior, one major courtesy was omitted which would have meant a great deal to any performer and to Mr. Levine in particular. After his demonstration, no one spoke to him except those who had some special obligation to do so. Although it is true that, perhaps, a great many of his listeners did not feel they had gained either knowledge or enjoyment from an hour spent under his spell, we should remember that student audiences are among the hardest to instruct or entertain. In addition, even though Mr. Levine was obviously a novice, we cannot, therefore, presuppose lack of ability or "future promise", a term River Falls students should understand and appreciate. Thus, a word of praise and encouragement spoken directly to him from individuals in his audience quite feasibly might have meant more to him than any amount of applause or respectful listening.

My constructive comment is, then, consider the background, abilities, and goals of any "guest artist or speaker and treat him accordingly. If you can find anything praiseworthy, take the few extra moments to say so. He will appreciate it and his estimation of River Falls will rise unbelievably.

Sincerely,

Mary Laura Johnson

Dear Editor,

I would like to urge everyone here at the college who is qualified to vote in the April 2nd municipal election to do so. I would especially like to urge college voters to vote "yes" on the library referendum.

This referendum, if passed, would allow the City of River Falls to raise $25,000 for library building purposes. This amount would be sufficient to improve greatly on present library conditions.

Students and faculty who use the city's public library know the pitiful state it is in. The public library could be a real asset to students here at the college, if it were only in a position to adequately serve students.

Passage of the library referendum will put the River Falls Public Library in a position to adequately serve students. The opportunity for college voters to vote on this referendum is actually an opportunity for them to give future State College students better educational facilities.

Dear Editor:

Upon return from the recent band and choir trip, we would like to say a big "Thank you" to all the members of both groups for their cooperation in all phases of the tour and for the fine way in which they represented the school. We have received many favorable comments on the six performances and we are justifiably proud.

Special thanks go to James A. Johnson and James Laue for their wonderful job of managing the tour.

Sincerely,

Campus News From Other Colleges

by Donna Williams

At Whitewater a girl was recently chosen as the best dressed girl on campus. She will be a competing candidate in the Glamour Magazine contest to select the ten "Best Dressed Girls in America."

The University of Teheran is offering American students two fellowships for study or research in Iran during 1956-57. The Awards cover maintenance, tuition and round trip transportation. Men receive room and board in a university dormitory. The grants are for study or research in the sciences or humanities, with special opportunities for concentration on Persian language and literature. Some knowledge of the Persian language is required.

Comments from other colleges concerning final exams include—Stout's "advice on how to flunk" 1. Do all your studying the last week of school. 2. Have a few friends in the night before finals. 3. Stay up all night. 4. Write examinations rapidly, putting down first impressions. The University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee sponsored a big social event, "Fling for Finals' Flunkies." The Eau Claire newspaper gave grade definitions as: "A's are grades which were given last year when student quality was better. B's are grades given students who do A work and C's are grades given when the professor loses his grade book."

At La Crosse there is a Faculty Decathlon which is a series of four parties held throughout the year, and a dinner party for interested faculty members. The members are divided into five groups with each party being held in a different home. Planned games, musical activities, and refreshments are included at each party. The same game is played each time with the winners being recorded. A loving cup is presented to the final winner.

Directors Return to Campus Pleased With First Combined Band-Choir Tour

"It was one of the finest tours we've ever taken from the standpoint of both reception and performance," was the unanimous comment of band director B. J. Rozehnal and choir head C. B. King, Friday after the organizations' three-day spring tour.

Both directors were well-pleased with the first combined choir and band tour in the College's history. It ended last Thursday after a 500-mile trip through northwestern and central Wisconsin. Concerts were played before audiences totaling more than 2,000 persons in Cumberland, Rice Lake, Spooner, Mellen, Cadott and Owen. The 84 musicians included in the band and choir made the trip via three chartered buses. Both groups are now looking forward to individual spring concerts and a tentative combined performance at Spring Valley high school.

CASH OR CREDIT—

College Available To All

"A college degree, cash or credit, is within the reach of every qualified Wisconsin youngster," according to the Board of Regents of Wisconsin State Colleges.

The Board claims that Wisconsin parents are overlooking one of their best credit risks by not purchasing a college education for their children on credit.

A total of $78,000 in funds handled by the State Department of Public Welfare is "waiting to be borrowed" says the Board.

WSC freshmen may now borrow up to $440 a year and a total of not more than $1,200 during their four years of college. More than a million dollars has been loaned to students under this plan since 1933.

No interest is charged on the loan while the student is in college. Following his graduation, he pays four percent until the maturity of the loan two years later.

A bill to broaden the present loan plan was studied last Thursday by the Assembly Judiciary Committee. If the bill is passed, students already enrolled in the University or the Wisconsin State Colleges would be allowed to borrow money instead of only freshmen.

Provision is also made in the bill for students who want to borrow money before entering college. The bill received no opposition at the committee hearing.

Film Strip Collection Worth $2500 Added to Visual Aids Offerings

Film strips valued at approximately $2500 have been deposited in the Visual Aids section of the Chalmer Davee library by Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc.

The college is the only institution in the state to have this collection of 550 film strips.

Many of the film strips are in color. Subject matter includes science, language arts, music, art, history, civics, and guidance. Also included are three Walt Disney productions, "The Living Desert," "The African Lion," and "The Vanishing Prairie." The films range in grade level from kindergarten through high school and college.

The strips will be used only on campus and their chief use will be in practice teaching. Robert Krueger, of the visual aids department, said there is a strong possibility, however, that previews might be arranged for teachers who wish to come to the campus.

Even before this addition to its holdings, the college had the second largest film strip collection and the second largest number of movie films available in the state. It is exceeded only by the University.

by Mark Wyman

"A list of the records that are available for circulation can be found in the card catalog under the subject heading 'PHONORECORDS.' This statement, appearing in the 'Help Yourself!' booklet issued by the staff of the Chalmer Davee Library, is simple-looking and unobtrusive on the surface, but upon investigation it proved to be a key to a previously unthought-of wealth of recorded materials. This disclosure was only one of the several I found during my "second tour" of the library. My first trip through was made last Fall during the first week of school, in which I was able to examine only the general and obvious segments of the library. But this "second tour" was entirely different—this time, I was looking not for what was apparent to any viewer and already general information, but for things that cannot be seen at a quick glance and that are not used more than occasionally by the student body.

Library Has Microfilms

Besides the vast assortment of phonograph materials, I discovered within the library's walls a valuable collection of micro-filmed newspapers, a varied and unusual movie assemblage, and a "hidden room" containing regional historical relics.

But the record collection intrigued me most—possibly because it contains such a variety, and also because it would seem to be a collection that would attract users. Included in the 180-odd records available for student use are such varied titles as "American Bird Songs", "The Initial Interview in Psychiatric Practice", "History of Oklahoma", and "Brer Mud Turtle's Trickery".

Variety of Recording

The music field, quite understandably, is the best represented in the compilation. Among the grouping, which ranges from classical to semi-classical, from jazz to opera, are albums covering almost every phase of music. Choir albums, made by groups from Augustana, Concordia, St. Olaf, and the Mormon Tabernacle, may be found there along with albums of Mexican and Iberian Folk Songs. Of course, works by all of the great "masters"—Beethoven, Bach, Mozart, etc., are amply represented in the vast array. One rather unusual record is Bach's "Chorale-Preludes" recorded by Albert Schweitzer, on the organ in the Parish Church in Guntach, Alsace. "The Beggar's Opera" and "Carmen" are at present, the lone operas included in the library collection.

For school record hops, a group of modern dance records may be checked out after a permission sheet has first been obtained from the Student Senate.

Several jazz recordings round out the wide range of records in the music section of the file. The Folkways Records Jazz Series includes titles such as Big Bands Before 1935, Boogie Woogie, Jump, and Kansas City, The Blues, and New Orleans. The History of Jazz group features The Golden Age, The 'Solid' South, Then Came Swing, and This Modern Age.

Includes Shakespeare's Works

The English Department also figures prominently in the library's recordings. Quite recently purchased were several of Shakespeare's works, such as Julius Caesar, Macbeth, and Richard III. Several other very significant works are on file; only a few are mentioned here because of space: Steven Vincent Benet's John Brown's Body (done by Tyrone Power, Judith Anderson, and Raymond Massey), Chaucer's The Nun's Priest's Tale, T. S. Eliot Reading His Own Poetry, Robert Frost Reading His Own Poems, excerpts from Walt Whitman's Leaves of Grass read by Ralph Ballamy, Don Juan in Hell by George Bernard Shaw, and an album of W. H. Auden, Steven Vincent Benet, John Peale Bishop, E. E. Cumming, Archibald MacLeish, and Allen Tate, reading their own poems.

Also included are several mechanics of English records, such as English Pronunciation Through The Centuries. A very interesting record in this division is American English Vowels and Diphthongs, which gives examples of American speech from such widely separated sections as Macon, Georgia; Lemar county, Texas; Ellsworth, Maine; Indiana county, Pennsylvania; and Boston, Massachusetts.

The English Department's plans for coming years include expanding the amount of poetry recordings and classical plays.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Wyman will discuss the library's microfilm collection and the historical room in next week's issues of The Student Voice.

Two AWS Delegates At Michigan Meeting

Patty Ross a freshman from Hudson, and Dianne Shay a junior from Somerset were chosen to represent the AWS at the national intercollegiate Associated Womens Convention at Michigan State University, East Lansing, March 23-26.

The main speaker at the convention will be Paulino Fedricks, a U. N. correspondent.

The girls will give a report of the convention at the AWS meeting to be held the first week in April.

FORENSICS SQUAD SENDING TEN TEAMS TO MINNESOTA MEET

About 10 teams from the River Falls Forensics squad will take part in the eleventh annual Upper Midwest Invitational debate tournament at the University of Minnesota April 5-6.

Included in the remainder of this year's forensics schedule are the National Pi Kappa Delta meet at Brookings, S. D., April 14-20 and a tentative trip to a tourney at the New York State Teachers College in Oswego, N. Y., April 27-28.

If the squad makes the trip to New York, Coach Walter Simonson says an attempt will be made to arrange at least two audience debates at universities enroute.

With a total of 10 undefeated teams in tournament competition to date, the River Falls squad has had at least one undefeated team and, consequently, tied on a won-lost basis for first place in half of its meets.

The squad has finished fourth or higher in overall standings in eight of its ten tournaments.

In activities other than debate the forensics group has collected three firsts and a fourth place in extemporaneous speaking, two firsts in oral interpretation, and a third place in the Wisconsin State Oratorical League contest.

Miss Levin To Stress Importance of Dance

Miss Adeline Levin will be guest speaker at the ACEI meeting tonight, March 25. Miss Levin will stress the importance of rhythms and dance in the elementary curriculum.

After Miss Levin's talk, a demonstration of various Czechoslovakian Folk dances will be presented by Bill Clark and Ruth Joes. Afterward there will be a period of group participation.

Potentially Good, Recital-Lecture Suffered from Obvious Weakness

by Mary Laura Johnson

The piano recital-lecture, "Lyric vs. Dynamic", presented by Donald Levine on Wednesday, March 20, was well designed for a student convocation even though it contained obvious flaws which are difficult for a student body to accept. Mr. Levine's purpose in planning a program of this type seemed to be two-fold: first, to illustrate to a basically non-musical audience the two main elements to be listened for, and; second, how to appreciate and enjoy piano music after learning to recognize lyric and dynamic qualities. Unfortunately, the purpose was soon lost in the maze of dashes from piano to podium and in wandering words.

Nevertheless, much good was there to be gleaned by a carefully listening group. The Scriabin Prelude in G flat was well chosen to represent both lyricism and the interweaving of supporting voices while the First Movement of the Beethoven Waldstein Sonata was a good choice to exemplify dynamic qualities and the Chopin E minor Nocturne to show the importance of both the composer's and performer's subjective feelings.

He illustrated beautifully the fact that music is far more than notes on a printed page and far more than tones struck on a piano by playing a small snatch of Beethoven in two opposed manners. The first time through it was, quite obviously, only printed notes and plunked keys; the second time a small amount of Beethoven and a large amount of Levine were added to convert it into music. A few points sadly absent throughout, however, were that all music without the other, and that it is the way in which they are combined which distinguishes one piece of music from another.

Mr. Levine's performances were a strange combination of good and bad. Among the good were the Scriabin Prelude in G flat in which he displayed a truly poetic understanding of the music, the Chopin E minor Nocturne, and the last movement of the Schumann Fantasie. Here he particularly displayed a real depth of feeling.

On the other hand, in the first movement of the Beethoven Waldstein Sonata, he seemed to be laboring under technical limitations which caused a great deal of rushing, generally sloppy performance, contains both lyric and dynamic qualities, that neither can exist and lack of musical continuity.

In considering the program as a whole, two things should be kept in mind, one being that outstanding performance upon the piano in the Auditorium is quite a task for even the best of pianists. The other is that Mr. Levine is a young pianist apparently still trying his sails. He should be given credit for his enthusiasm, and for his willingness to try something new to him as this program may have been.

His lack of pianistic control should be given some degree of pardon due to his youthfulness and newness to the stage. Still, it is somewhat painful to realize that an idea with so many potentialities for interesting and worthwhile listening should be disconnected to the extent that the good points, while present, must be searched for rather than firmly dropped into the laps of a squirming audience.

THE CUMBERLAND HIGH SCHOOL BAND, 83 strong, will present a concert in North Hall auditorium on Thursday, March 28, at 2 p.m.

I-M Bowling Review

by Ed Schlumpf

With the season fast drawing to a close, a battle is raging for the four playoff positions in the A League. Team five with 34 points has the playoff berth assured. However, only five points separate the next five teams.

Intramural bowling director, Neil McClellan, announced this week that nothing is certain about playoffs, except that they will definitely involve the four highest teams in both leagues.

Bob Ames, who is moving fast toward the number one spot in the "Top Ten" rating, bowled a 235 for the season's highest single game. Other high games recorded last week included a 198 by Herb Anderson and a 190 by Jim Malenowsky.

One week of bowling action remains in the season, for the B League. Team 7, 2, 5, and 8 all have rolloff positions cinched.

Gene Counard rolled in 180 for the week's highest score. Dennis Briggs had 173 and Jim Karow tallied 172.

The standings:

Sports in a Nutshell

by Lewie

Last week the Boston Red Sox offered a million dollars for the services of Cleveland's ace port-sider Herb Score and didn't get him. This is approximately four times the amount ever offered for one player in the history of the game. The Indian's General Manager Hank Greenberg who supplied the emphatic "no" in reply to the offer, said that he wouldn't even consider trading the 23 year old major league strike out king for Mantle or Kaline . . .

The Detroit Tigers are having a rough time getting started this year. Picked by the experts to be the only threat to the Yankees, the Tigers began by winning only two of their first ten contests . . . Those "Bums", the Dodgers, are having troubles too. Don Newcombe can't get rid of a sore arm he said he acquired during the World Series last fall. Furthermore the "Bums" are having difficulty picking up a good receiver to help "stubble thumbs" Campenella with the catching chores . . .

Coach Solley's big problem is to decide who is going to be catcher. The first day of practice saw six receivers showing, and most of them looking like potential starters. The infield will no doubt see a change from last year with the return of Joe Burgoyne from service. Joe played shortstop before going to work for Uncle Sam. First base is likely to have its same old caretaker, Dick Hoffman, senior from Arpin. He will be making his bid for the fourth consecutive year. The pitching staff has a few openings due to the fact that only two veteran hurlers are back from last year.

Volleyball, Baseball Added to Spring Term Intramural Activities

With the beginning of spring term, plans are being made for the season's intramural activities. Included are volleyball and baseball.

Volleyball competition will start tomorrow in the North Hall gym.

Baseball will begin as soon as weather and ground conditions permit. Volleyball action will wind up with a playoff for the championship at the start of the I-M baseball season.

Volleyball teams are divided into two leagues.

One league will be composed of seven teams and the other will contain six squads. Each team will play three games every two weeks. Games will be played at 6, 7, and 8 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays.

Each team will play on Tuesdays and Thursdays one week and on Wednesdays during the next week.

Those in charge of the intramural program request that the captain of the winning team in each game write a paragraph summary on the results of the contest. It is to include the names of both teams participating and the winner.

Times and matchings for intramural Volleyball games will be posted on the North Hall bulletin board.

Track Team to Be Strong in Distance Weak in Dashes, Polsfoot Predicts

"We're going to be especially strong in the distances this spring, but weak in the dashes and field events," is the forecast of the 1957 spring Falcon track squad, reported by Coach Fran Polsfoot. Work-outs so far have been confined to individual efforts in North Hall gym. The squad will begin regular conditioning this week and will move outdoors as soon as weather permits.

However, the squad is by no means set, and anyone interested in trying for a position is welcome to do so immediately, Polsfoot said. The Falcon mentor emphasizes the desire to have as many reporting as possible.

Backbone of the squad will be endurance-men Joel Dahlby, Vern Parker, Phil Kuss, Dan Teetzen, and Bill Shimel, all veterans of last fall's cross-country squad. When considered as a unit, this quintet, in Coach Polsfoot's opinion, is in a class by itself and should show up very well this season.

Vern Parker has apparently recovered from last year's foot injury and should develop into one of RF's best distance men. Another tribute to the five is the fact that two of the members set school records last season—Kuss in the half-mile and Dahlby in the two-mile event.

One outstanding addition to the squad is Bob DeGregory, a sophomore transfer from Columbia. He ran the quarter and half-mile as a freshman last year. The young athlete is a native of Groundbrook, New Jersey.

In the dash department, only Wayne Haushalter and Dick Coen are returning, while Wayne Sukow will be back to hold down the top position in the hurdles.

Other divisions include:
Pole vault—Del Mottaz
High jump—Mick Lauber and Del Mottaz

Weights—Bob Koplín, Tom Shield and Don Swanson
Broad jump—Vern McKinney and Ray Meyer (both freshman)

The 1957 spring meet schedule follows:

- April 13—Open Date
- April 17—La Crosse (T)
River Falls, Winona and La Crosse participating.
- April 27—Winona (H)
- May 4—Open date (possible invitation meet)
- May 7—Mankato (T, Night)
River Falls, Mankato and St. Cloud
- May 11—Winona (T)
River Falls, Steven Point, and Winona
- May 19—St. Cloud (T)
River Falls, Mankato, Winona, and St. Cloud
- May 25—State meet at Milwaukee

A total of six schools in the Wisconsin State College conference have spring track—Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Stevens Point, La Crosse, Whitewater, and River Falls.

WOMAN MARINE OFFICER TO BE HERE MARCH 29

There will be a Woman Marine Officer on campus March 29. She will be in Hathorn Hall from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to talk to any girls interested in being an officer in the Women's Marines.

Visiting is the same officer who was on campus earlier this year.

GO TO COLLEGE—Con'd. fr. p. 1

In the afternoon there will be conducted tours of the campus.

Prior to the morning session, Jim Laue, Judy Larriau, and Jerry Best will supply music during registration.

Concluding the program will be a coke hour in Hathorn Hall, where the seniors can get acquainted with the student leaders at College, and talk over events of the day.

Dorm Progress Ahead of Schedule

THREE FEET ABOVE GROUND is the foundation of the men's dormitory being constructed on campus. Workmen report the building is ahead of schedule. Present plans call for its being open by fall of 1958. (Photo by Albrecht)

"We're moving along ahead of schedule," was the report given last week by general contractor George W. Olsen, of Stillwater, regarding progress on the men's dormitory.

The building, being constructed directly west of the intramural field is to be finished by April 15, 1958.

At present, approximately a dozen men are employed at the dorm site. Bricklaying, plumbing, heating, and electrical work, all to begin in three weeks, will greatly increase the number of workers.

Total cost for the dorm is $448,834.

Early Plumbing and Heating of River Falls had the low bid for plumbing in the structure. Heating and ventilating will be handled by the Winona Plumbing Company, while the Bielenberg Electric Company, of Stillwater, is in charge of all electrical work in the dorm.

In addition to building the dormitory, the Olsen Company has handled construction of the Chalmer Davee Library, the Agronomy Building, and the third story addition to Hathorn Hall.

Student From India Enrolls At RFSC Under Grant From Ford Foundation

by Ken Lundeen

Beginning courses at RFSC this term is Nikhil Sanyal, from India. He is one of twenty science teachers from India selected as a student under the "Exchange-Visitor Program No. G-1" sponsored jointly by the Ford Foundation and Indian government.

This project envisages the observation and study of the methods of teaching science in this country. All twenty of the Indian teachers are having some actual experience in teaching science in various high schools. The program is directed by the "School of Education" of the University of Wisconsin with the cooperation of the various State Colleges. Mr. Sanyal is enrolled at River Falls and doing his practice teaching in the Hudson high school.

Sanyal Subject of Oration

Mr. Sanyal and the teacher exchange program was the subject of an original oration by Anita Foss of Hudson at the speech meet here Saturday. The oration got an "A" rating.

At the end of the Spring quarter, Mr. Sanyal will attend summer school at the University of Wisconsin. Following this, he will return to his country where he is expected to strengthen the field of teacher training.

Has Been Teaching

Mr. Sanyal is 38 years old and has a Master's degree in Chemistry which he received at the University of Lucknow, India, in 1942. Since then he has been teaching in government schools and colleges in his native state of Uttar Pradesh, India.

He has taught five years of high school, seven years in junior colleges, and three years in senior college prior to his coming to the United States. His most recent position was that of Professor of Chemistry at the Government College at Naintal, a town situated 6500 feet above sea level in the foothills of the Himalayas.

In a comparison of teaching techniques in the United States and India, Mr. Sanyal pointed out that the major differences were in uniformity of educational program, and in methods of examination.

In India, a student graduating from any given college, will have very nearly the same background as a graduate of another college having the same degree. This uniformity is achieved by the use of a rigid standard syllabus in all colleges. It is prepared by the University. The elective system is similar to our own, but the required courses and coverage for a particular curriculum will not vary between colleges.

Marks Indicate Progress

The colleges of India have end-of-term examinations given by their own professors, but unlike our system, these marks have no effect on grades. They serve only as an indication of the progress the student is making in his work. The examinations which will determine the grade are given only at the end of the school year. These grades are never given by the professors employed by the college. The University prepares the examination and appoints examiners who have no connection with the college. This form of examination is designed to increase the objectivity of grading.

Mr. Sanyal has been the co-author of a series of English textbooks in general science for high school use as well as two series of books for junior high school classes in Hindi, the language of his state.

He was married in 1946 and has two sons and two daughters. His family lives in India and is receiving one half of his former salary as a teacher from the Indian Government until he returns.

L. G. Stone To Visit Oklahoma, Arkansas

Dr. L. G. Stone of the placement bureau, will be absent from the campus most of this week. Dr. Stone will act as a Coordinator for the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at Oklahoma Southeastern State College, Durant, Okla., Monday and Tuesday, March 25 and 26.

He will travel from there to Pine Bluff, Arkansas, where he will visit the Agricultural Mechanic and Normal College.

Dr. Stone's job during these visits is to encourage improvement in teacher education and improvement of self-study.

ATELIER SPONSORS MOVIE ON VAN GOGH

"Lust for Life," a story of the Dutch painter, Vincent Van Gogh, will be sponsored at the Falls Theatre by Atelier, college art group. Tickets will be on sale in the cafeteria. The movie will be shown March 27 and 28.

Playing the role of Van Gogh is Kirk Douglas. Through the courtesy of museums and private collectors, some 200 Van Gogh originals were photographed for use in the movie. In color, the movie was filmed in the actual locales in which Van Gogh lived and worked—Belgium, Holland, Paris, Provence and Auvers.
