

Practice Teaching Assignments Made

26 Students Begin Training For Their Teaching Careers

As fall term practice teaching assignments are made, we find five secondary students practicing in the Hudson high school. Veloise Baker, Meta Wright, and Marshall Johnston are practicing in the English and history departments. Willard Lane and Graydon Wood are teaching science and mathematics.

Two students are practicing in the science department of the River Falls high school. Marshall Ward is teaching chemistry, and Theodore Brandt is teaching biology. Reuben Hermanson and Russell Aamodt are practicing in the college physics laboratory.

Other secondary students are practicing in the training school. In the 7th grade, Donald Schwartz is teaching geography, Verna Annett, English, and Roger Hermanson, history. In the 8th grade, Arild Nielson is teaching history and mathematics, and Leona Rhodey and Roger Hermanson are teaching English. Donald Schwartz and Stanley Palm are teaching 9th grade science.

There are eight elementary and four rural students practicing teaching in the training school. In the first grade, Marjorie Patton and Kathleen Ryan, rural, are practicing. Jean Christenson is teaching in the second grade. In third grade, Marjorie Gustafson and Bertha Wilhelm, rural, are teaching. Gertrude Grewe and Helen Leim, rural, are teaching in the fourth grade. Dawn Gates is the fifth grade practice teacher. Practicing in sixth grade are Bernice Lovell, Mildred Wink, and Mrs. Donald Ingli.

Palette Club To Plan Year's Work at First Meeting Tonight

The Palette club will hold its first meeting of the year Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Art Room, 112 South hall.

The club is open to all students who are interested in art or handicrafts, whether or not they are enrolled in the art department.

Election of officers and discussion of plans for the school year will be the business of the meeting.

Cara Wharton Gives Anniversary Recital

Miss Cara Wharton gave an organ recital at Ashland, Wisconsin, the week of September 14. The occasion was the sixtieth anniversary of the Presbyterian church. Miss Wharton was, at one time, the organist of this church.

Frosh Are Mixed at Annual "Y" Opener

The freshman mixer sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA began at seven o'clock Monday night, September 9, with a noisy carnival for the girls in the South hall gymnasium and various games for the men in North hall.

The freshmen girls were given paper money which admitted them to all of the booths, some of which included fortune telling, the wild woman, and the strangest dog in River Falls. Later in the evening the judge pronounced sentence on those who broke their balloons. The offenders entertained the group by paying their fines with singing, reciting, or acting.

The men were entertained in North hall by the YMCA who provided progressive games such as paddle hockey and horseshoe.

At eight o'clock the men and women gathered together in North hall and spent the remainder of the evening folk dancing under the direction of Peter Olson of Minneapolis.

After an evening of seeing the carnival, playing games, and folk dancing, the freshmen seemed to be well acquainted and ready to start their first year of college.

Opportunity Knocks!

A meeting for the purpose of increasing the staff of the Student Voice will be held Wednesday evening, (tonight) in the Student Voice room in the basement of South hall.

The Student Voice is undoubtedly the largest entirely student managed organization on the campus. It is designed to teach students how to find news, how to write news, and how to run a school newspaper. It is also its purpose to create an active campus organization promoting pleasure and profitable use of leisure time.

This year, as never before, there are a great number of vacancies on the Student Voice staff. Perhaps you are interested in regular news writing, editorial writing, feature writing, sports writing, or work on the business staff.

Whether you think you are interested or not, come to the meeting and join a discussion in which plans for the year will be made and new staff members will be signed up. Any person who has already stated his desire to join the staff is also requested to be present.

The only successful students in the institution are those who engage in some sort of extra-curricular work. Try the Student Voice!

Selected As Homecoming Nominees

Merton Timmerman

Robert Thoreson

Donald Martin

These are capable men - - - -

Student Body To Vote On Chairman Nominees

Donald Martin, Robert Thoreson, and Merton Timmerman were chosen as candidates for Homecoming Chairman of 1940. The three were selected at the Student Senate meeting, September 17.

The candidates will be presented to the student body at assembly, Thursday. The vote of the students will determine which of the three will head this year's Homecoming activities.

Here are thumbnail biographies of the three nominees: Don Martin is a senior, in the agricultural department, from Hammond. Don is active in debate, Masquer, FFA, and the Student Voice. He is serving as FFA president, this year.

"Bob" Thoreson is a senior in the agricultural department, from River Falls. He is active in Meletean, FFA, the Student Voice. Last year, "Bob" as president of his class worked on the Student Senate.

Merton Timmerman is a senior, in the agricultural department, from River Falls. Merton is an active member of Honor Society and FFA.

June Johnson was elected by the student senate to act as president of the Rooters' Club. The college Rooters' Club springs up every year and supplies the loudest cheers at the Homecoming Game. Cheerleaders are chosen by the Rooters' Club to lead the yells at the games.

Three senate members, Paul Prucha, Everett Chapman, and Lucile Kane, were appointed to serve on the Program Committee. These three student representatives will work with a six-member faculty committee in choosing the remaining assembly programs for the year.

Dolores Kramschuster was appointed to assist the freshmen in organizing for election of their class officials.

Notice

The freshman breakfast sponsored by the YWCA and the YMCA will be held September 22 at 7:30 a. m. in the cafeteria. This will be a free breakfast. All freshmen are invited.

Announcements

The YWCA is having its first meeting this Monday, September 23. At this time Mrs. Justin Williams will speak on "What College Means to A Girl." There will also be group singing and a few musical numbers.

The LSA will sponsor a mixer on Thursday evening, September 19, at 8 o'clock. Mixer games will be played, Bob Hatch will play the violin, and the advisers will be introduced.

As a feature attraction of the evening, the national adviser of the LSA, Miss Hortense Hoge, and the president, Milton C. Johnson will be present at the mixer.

All people in college, regardless of age or sex, are invited to join the Falcon College Republican Club now organized on the campus. Even if you are not Republican, but are anti-third term we will welcome you into the club. There will be a general meeting in Room 123 South hall tonight at 7 o'clock.

D. L. Rasmus, president

All women of the campus are invited to join the Women's Chorus. This organization meets at 10:45 on Thursdays. No try-outs are necessary.

All students interested in forming a class in piano and accompaniment are asked to see Miss Wharton at once. If eight or ten are interested, a class will be offered. The price will be very reasonable.

Health Examinations Are Completed During First Week

Nurse A. Hall and Dr. Davee Conduct Physical Exams

Freshman physical examinations were more complete this year because the urinalysis was included. Miss Arabella Hall, our college nurse, supervised the physicals and was assisted by several students. Dr. Chalmer Davee, doctor for the college, conducted the examinations.

Selection, Army Service Reduces RFSTC Fall Term Enrollment to 644

Dance Scheduled

Gene Kay's orchestra will play for the all school party Saturday evening from 8:30 to 12:30 in North hall gym. Admission is 15c for each person.

College Republicans Organize on Campus Rasmus Appointed Chairman; Membership Drive to Begin

The Falcon Chapter of the College Republicans of America was organized on the campus Tuesday. Dana Rasmus was appointed chairman by the national organization and a membership drive is well under way.

An executive committee composed of representatives from the various groups has already been selected and includes Dana Rasmus, Jack King, Peg Monteith, and Graydon Wood.

The College Republicans of America is directly sponsored by the Republican National Committee, in cooperation with the Young Republican National Federation. Its purpose is to provide college men and women a means through which they can learn politics and promote good government by actively participating in political life. The affiliated local clubs are independent organizations, yet they are integrated into the party through the national organization. All college men and women are eligible for membership, regardless of age, for the College Republicans of America is not primarily a vote-getting organization.

The Falcon Republican Club is planning an interesting program of activities such as mock political conventions, rallies, educational meetings, social events and meetings in which well known speakers will speak. All activities will be carried with a view toward acquainting students more directly with the workings of democracy.

Notice

Anyone who would like to act as cheerleader this year is asked to report to June Johnson, head of the Rooters' club.

YM Urges New Men To Join Organization

Last Monday night, September 16, the YMCA had their first meeting of the year. At that time the cabinet members were introduced, and some of them explained their work in the organization.

During this week each cabinet man is to contact as many new members as possible. As it is practically impossible for the cabinet members to see everyone, they would like to have those desiring to become YMCA members see them if they have not already been contacted.

Next Monday night, September 23, is the reception of new members. At this time Franklin Elliott will speak.

William Carlson, who attended RFSTC and was graduated from the university of Wisconsin this spring, has received a position as regular staff announcer on WKBH, La Crosse.

College Facilities Sufficient for Present Number of Enrollees

By a selective program in accepting students for entrance in RFSTC this year, the total number has been reduced to 644 students. This selective process has been worked out by President J. H. Ames, who thinks that a teachers college can raise its standards only by having average or above average students as its attendants. This prevents the waste of money by so many of the people who enter for the first term and then must withdraw after 12 weeks.

Last year RFSTC had a record enrollment of 740 students, and in 1938 700 students entered. The number this year was reduced not only by selection used with freshmen but also by the enlistment of many of the college men into military service. This number is more nearly what the school can provide for in class rooms, textbooks, and in seating capacity in the auditorium. However, there is still a shortage of seats in the assembly hall.

Freshmen met Monday morning, September 9, in the auditorium to receive instructions for registration and guidance in making out programs. That evening the YMCA and YWCA cooperated in giving a freshman mixer.

The upper classes, numbering 419, met Tuesday morning to make programs and go through routine registration details. Gene Kay's orchestra provided music for the first all-school party on Tuesday evening. The opening events were concluded Wednesday morning at a general convocation when Frank & Esther and Vince Bernard of WCCO Artists' Bureau presented the program.

Last year's freshman class exceeded the present enrollment by 55 students. Sophomores were 69 in advance last year while this junior class is 21 more than the previous class. The seniors number eight more than last year.

Classes

Freshman	225
Sophomore	180
Junior	141
Senior	98

"Africa" To Be Topic of Assembly Lecture Thursday

"Africa" will be the subject of the assembly program on Thursday morning. The illustrated lecture will be given by Joseph E. Elliott.

This is the first of the regular assembly programs which are scheduled for every Thursday morning at 9:50.

Prof. B. J. Rozehnal is chairman of the assembly committee.

Student Senate

Appoints Committees

Wednesday evening, September 11, the new Student Senate held its first meeting of the year. The meeting was called to order by President Gilbert Rivard.

The first business taken up was the appointment of committees. Harold Odden is on the concessions committee; June Tweed and Ed Jacobson will work on the calendar of activities.

Lucile Kane made a report on the activities of the Senate Public Relations committee. Loren Thompson brought up for discussion the topic of payment of part of the expenses of the YWCA-YMCA mixer. The motion was made, seconded, and adopted.

Senate members were requested by President Rivard to compose some clever slogans for Homecoming and to be prepared to nominate candidates for Homecoming chairmen.

In conclusion, the Senate members were given the suggestion to come to the meetings on time.

The ABC's of Orientation as Freshmen Will Know Them

The problem freshmen have in adjusting themselves to college work is a tremendous one in almost all U. S. colleges. At RFSTC it is often noticed that many freshmen do not fit in with things. This is more or less a natural situation, but one which educators must cope with if education is to be a success.

The process is called orientation. It is the technique of teaching freshmen to study, to carry on an active social life within the bounds of college life, and to keep themselves physically and mentally strong. Freshmen must learn to "take it" and yet "stick it out." A surprising number of freshmen quietly withdraw themselves at the end of the term, and various interesting excuses are offered for the sudden withdrawal.

Each year freshmen are thrown before a great amount of material which is of little value. They learn the tragic meaning of grades upon which education is dependent yet preach against. They take a lot from professors who forget that the educational process is one of building men and women who can intelligently meet the future. They are often stunned by "wise" upper-classmen who know it all and in truth know nothing.

There are in the business of orientation three things which freshmen must watch: first, they must be sure that they are doing enough work to keep ahead of the other fellow; second, they must be careful to make friends and a lot of them too, for associations lead to opportunities; and thirdly, they should be active in student affairs, for these are comparable to problems which must be faced in the future.

And above all, don't forget, freshmen, that college people are looked upon as adults, even though some upper-classmen may appear to be Mickey Rooney II.

Conscription A Fact Which Must Be Faced by Collegians

Peacetime military conscription of the nation's young men is about to become a fact. Whether college men 21 and over like the prospect or not, they now face compulsory registration which for some will lead to service in the nation's armed forces.

As is to be expected, campus support for the Burke-Wadsworth bill has lagged considerably behind the support given the measure by the population as a whole. A recent tabulation of press polls showed that 66 per cent of America's adult voting population favored conscription. Unfortunately, collegiate opinion up to now has not been sounded as extensively as that of the general public. But it is a safe bet that an objective sampling would find college students voting considerably less than two-thirds in favor of compulsory military training.

Nevertheless even among students there is growing sentiment that America must call its manpower to the alert. Undergraduates and faculty groups and individuals in increasing numbers have conceded that some sort of a draft is necessary.

America's college millions watched closely as the bill bounced over a rocky path through the houses of congress. Among the principal senate opponents was Montana's isolationist

Burton K. Wheeler, whose objections, based on two personal convictions, struck a responsive chord in many student minds: 1, that conscription would destroy democracy in the United States; 2, that Hitler has no military designs on the U. S.

Proponents of the measure argued that action was necessary with Hitler supreme over virtually all the European continent; that voluntary enlistment could not provide sufficient high-grade manpower for defense; and that conscription in previous national emergencies has not resulted in destruction of American democracy.

Attitude of the administration and of local draft boards toward actual conscription of college students remains to be seen in actual practice. There seems some basis for the prediction that the proportion of students called to camp will not be high. But at any rate conscription is here, despite thousands of lusty "nays" from hundreds of colleges. — ACP.

Wise Choice Essential in Extra-Curricular Activities

Each student enrolled for the first term has made his curricular program. There is a definite limit to the number of hours of school work which he is allowed to put on his program. Yet each student will begin work on his extra-curricular activities soon and may forget that there should be a limit set on his extra-curricular program as well.

At the present time there are membership drives sponsored by the various organizations. Go to the first meetings, find out what is necessary to gain membership, then decide in which activities you will be at your best and which will be best for you.

Do not limit your extra-curricular work to the field in which you are preparing to teach. The people you will meet in these activities are the same ones you will meet daily in class. Try to join at least one activity where you will come in contact with a different group of students.

The range of activities is wide. Some organizations limit their membership to individuals who have definite skill and interest in certain work. Among these are the dramatic, artistic, and musical groups. However, there are the social and general athletic organizations that are open to everyone.

Not all extra-curricular activities begin in the fall. Debate, for instance, begins later, after the year's debate question has been announced. The indoor sports come into prominence, too, in the winter months.

It is not to the freshmen alone, that this appeal is directed. For it is the wise student indeed who realizes when he has reached his limit in extra-curricular work. Too often it is the upperclassmen who are unable to realize that they cannot be in everything. It is just as unwise to join no extra-curricular activities as it is to join too many. Try to strike the happy medium.

Remember too, that each one of us has just twenty-four hours a day in which to eat, relax, and study. No matter how brilliant you are, it will take you just as long to masticate your food properly, shine your shoes, and brush your teeth, as it will take those of lesser intelligence.

Therefore, while budgeting your time, budget your extra-curricular activities.

Many Positions Open Now On School Publication Staff

Again this year, as in years past, a call has been sent out to all students interested in working on the Student Voice. Often students have the mistaken idea that the call is meant for newswriters only. This is, by no means, true.

Every year there are many different positions which need to be filled. This year there are openings in feature writing, editorial writing, sports writing, headline writing, and plain news writing.

The practice in writing is very valuable in itself. You may feel that you have no talent in writing stories, but there is no harm in trying. Through work on the paper, one acquires a certain training in getting news. Then, too, there is always a certain satisfaction in seeing something of your own in print.

In addition to writing positions, there are many other jobs connected with putting out a paper. Perhaps you would make an excellent copy reader or proof reader. Or you may have a hidden flair for business and may fit in nicely on the business staff.

There is, also, a social side to the paper. Students of all types and from all departments will be found on the staff. This year, it is rumored, the staff will be treated to more parties than ever before.

Try your hand at working on the Voice!

American Collegians Lose Pacifism Inculcated in Past

Despite the fact that most of the war talk on the nation's campuses is peace talk, there nevertheless is a growing tendency among collegians and their campus superiors to discuss what they believe to be the bad effects of peace movements that make collegians more concerned with safety first than with the fate of their nation.

First to focus attention on this particular interpretation of the undergraduate peace movements was President-emeritus William Allen Neilson, of Smith College, who said, "For the moment, the attitude of our academic youth seems to be so largely self-centered that one doubts whether the form in which pacifism was brought to them during these years was best for their spiritual health. The young men of today seem to be largely concerned with safety first and the old men with $30 every Thursday. Peace that is not the crown of justice and liberty is a peace that cannot last, and it would have been more inspiring if our young men and women today had been more concerned with their own safety."

The college press early challenged this view, with the University of Iowa Daily Iowan taking the lead with an editorial which said in part: "He asks us to bring justice and liberty to a world that apparently is not greatly concerned about justice and liberty. If dying for it is the only way, America's youth prefers to live. If Dr. Neilson is concerned because he has not yet heard the battle cry in America, he must continue to be concerned. America believes today, as he apparently is not aware, that nothing is won by war. America believes that there are other ways to settle disputes than by dying on a battlefield."

Here is a quick summary of the other indications that point to the fact that today's college youth is not unanimous in agreeing with the peace-at-any-price talk. The reader should bear in mind that this trend is not as widespread or as vociferous as the trend created by the peace groups—nor should the reader gain the impression that those contributing to this new trend are uninterested in peace for the United States and the world.

The Johnson City (Tenn.) State Teachers Chalk Line says: "Our colleges need to wake up. They need to depart from so much of the present 'theory' teaching and 'idealism,' and teach a few fundamental requisites of good, honest citizenship. If this were done, we would not have a lot of weak-brained college students shouting to the world that they would not fight for their country under any circumstances!"

Turning to the army side of peace talk, the University of Georgia Red & Black maintains that "our fighting forces must be kept at least on par with those of other first class powers. American forces probably will never be the most numerous, but they must maintain a superiority in quality of personnel, equipment, and mechanized strength."

An apt summary of this new trend is this

Behind the Eight
Ball
with the editor

Chief among problems confronting a college editor is the problem of organizing a staff which will be able to carry the burden of the work of writing and editing the paper for the year. The staff of the Student Voice this year differs somewhat from the set-up of a few years ago. The paper is headed by an executive staff made up of five of the most capable staff members and the editor. Each member has his or her responsibility to the paper. Lucile Kane this fall heads the news department of the paper. Her responsibilities include the complete campus coverage of all that is news. Silver Star LaRa handles the copy and proof reading and must see that no errors in type or copy can be found in the paper. Loren Thompson is responsible for the financial success of the paper. In charge of the editorial page is Dolores Kramschuster. Student Voice sports go this year to Fred Kroeger, Falcon athletic star.

These are the head of the staff. It takes a large group of people to fill in the other minor staff positions. There is unlimited opportunity here for any person who thinks he or she might be interested in newspaper work as it is handled in the college. Just see any staff member. He will be glad to give you a chance to write on the Student Voice.

Speaking now of the editorial policy of the paper, I think it well to inform everyone that the editorials of the Voice this year will say something and many times are apt to be quite critical of organizations on the campus. It is never our purpose to attack individuals. The editorial staff of the paper has been carefully instructed to stick to the truth. This brings us to the old question of fact and opinion which most folks tend to disagree upon. A fact to one person is not a fact to another, and the only way to make claim of a fact is to see that there is tangible information to back up all statements.

As to opinion, well, we reserve the right to ours and you may have yours. We will give our opinion. And perhaps there are those who would wish to contradict; so the opportunity is presented by the Student Voice. Because our opinion is printed in the paper and read by 900 people, it is no more than fair that any individual who has a contrary opinion also express himself through the medium of the paper.

Therefore, then, any person wishing to "put the smear" on us is welcome to do so, but he must write his complaint to the staff of this paper and sign it in his name, and it will appear in the editorial columns of this page. No complaint orally "spouted" to staff members will be given much consideration. Your written, signed, pro and con articles are now anxiously awaited.

statement written by a freshman for the Jamestown College Collegian: "Let us forget that fear of death and remember instead our responsibilities. Let us proclaim our willingness to die for democracy, for with that proclamation comes the strength and backbone for a strong nation."

So you see, despite the popular belief that all collegians are pacifists, the anti-pacifism camp is growing steadily, though not spectacularly, in these times when war is an almost universal subject of conversation.

Jan Sorenson Finds the New Land; Wisconsin

When Jan Carl Sorenson said farewell to his fellow students at Sweden's famous Upsala University, and began his vacation collecting trip, in 1821, he could not know how far that journey was to take him—far from Sweden, still farther from his anticipated career as a scientist. On the cold northern coast of Lapland he found, not the rare Roseate Gull for which he sought, but the peasant girl Margareta who became his wife. When his family disowned him for his marriage, the two started for the strange new land of Wisconsin, somewhere in America.

The new life was vastly different from the quiet lecture-rooms Jan knew best. His aristocratic birth and scholarly training fitted him ill for the cruel labor of homesteading. His grain would not grow, his hands were clumsy at the handles of the plow, he was too ready to abandon the ax when an unfamiliar bird called in the wood. Margretta, ambitious, practical, realistic, filled with dreams of the time to come when they would have fertile fields, cattle, a house with twenty windows, nearly broke her heart over his repeated failures.

Peter Lund, the shrewd, slow farmer whom

Jan taught to read, Enoch Cloud, garrulous and clever merchant, David Wick, who gained the fame as a naturalist that never came to Jan, all moved with the times and made themselves part of the development of the country. They saw the land cleared, the coming of the roads and the railroad, and the rise of the cities in which they were to find success. But Jan made his scientific notes and observations with tireless patience, sent his specimens and monographs to the European museums; and though he let the world of opportunity slip by, he had, ultimately, his own fulfillment and reward.

The Winds of Spring is a different kind of pioneer story. Mr. Havighurst, himself a Wisconsin man, has set down the physical struggle and hardship of life in a new land, with its bleak winds and bitter winters, clearly and vigorously. But this is incidental to the story of the development of an American settlement from a new angle—that of a scholar who would not be submerged in the preoccupation of his neighbors with "getting ahead", and who found his way the best after all.

Falcon Gridders Display Excellent Promise for 1940 Football Season

Coach Lowery Selects Varsity Squad in Opening Scrimmage

On Saturday Coach Lowery divided his varsity squad into two teams, the reds led by Dubbe and the whites by Deirmeier. These two, evenly matched teams staged the first inter-varsity scrimmage of the year on Ramer Field.

The reds showed some superiority but only outclassed the whites by one field goal. The reds scored first on a field goal by Dubbe and followed with a touchdown by Boettcher. The whites came back strong and after a series of first downs and a blocked punt by Lanners scored their lone tally.

At this point Lowery began to change his men about to give every available man some service. The two teams put up a stubborn battle and from all indications many of the positions are still undecided.

When the Falcons meet the Gusties this Saturday they will be out trying to get revenge for last year's defeat at the hands of the same team. This game will be one of the best on the Falcon schedule. Let's all go out and cheer our boys on to a victory!

Fifty Men Report for Football Practice

Once again the tread of football shoes and the banging of locker doors is heard above the steady chatter down in the North hall shower rooms. With it comes America's rising sport, Football.

Approximately 50 men reported for practice during the first week. A smaller frosh squad reported for grid practice than in previous years. At present 30 men comprise the varsity, with the rest of the squad running the Gustavus Adolphus plays against them in scrimmage.

At ends, Schmidt and White are the only returning veterans, but they are nobly assisted by Rasmussen and Babbit.

Captain Dubbe, Dobberstein, and Born are the tackles that boldly wear an 'R', while Lanners and Olson are new men to represent River Falls from this position.

The guards are two deep, with Rivard, Schulenburg, Barto, and Reynolds taking turns.

Isaacson and Diermeier have been strengthened at the center post by a freshman from Madison, Morrow.

Cohneur, another frosh, hails from the local high school to make his debut in college football at quarter. His trained toe and good blocking will give Peterson and Ptacek, veteran reserve quarterbacks, plenty of competition.

The returned halfbacks, namely: Trecker, Thompson, Deiss, Kroeger, Dosch, and Wesenberg have taken on two freshmen recruits Purvis of Cornell and O. Boettcher of Chippewa Falls, incidentally a brother of our varsity fullback "big Boetch."

At fullback, Jackman and Moraz, a freshman from Algoma, are the reserves under Boettcher.

It looks as if the Falcons are stronger at every position this year in comparison with last year, and they are looking forward to a successful season.

"Baby Born" Earns His "R" for RFSTC Coeds

On March 29, 1916, Mr. and Mrs. Born were the proud parents of a 12-pound baby boy. The first words spoken by this bouncing baby were "Hello Ma! I want to earn an 'R' sweater at River Falls so that the girls will all hang around me."

Orland Born

In 1928 the Born family moved to the city of Algoma. In 1929 Orland entered high school. In his sophomore year he went out for football and was made a tackle on the first team. He earned three letters in high school. Bud Manion, Bill Hunt, and Johnny Schlicht, all former Falconites, were his high school coaches.

After graduation from high school he attended the Door-Keweenaw county normal school. On completion of this schooling Orland was offered a job in a rural school, but decided there were too many kids in the first grade. Instead of teaching he obtained a job in the Algoma Plywood Company.

Orland entered River Falls in the fall term of 1937. He did not make his letter the first year at River Falls, but was a member of the squad. An injury when he was a sophomore prevented him from getting in the required time.

He was given a medal of recognition for his work on the second team in helping to develop the championship team of 1938. Orland made his letter in football last year at the tackle post, and big things are expected of him this year.

Orland "Dinky" Born is an agriculture major and a science minor. He is treasurer of the senior class and of the LSA. He is also a member in good standing in the famous "Screwball Club" which began in Algoma. This summer, for the first annual banquet of the "Screwballers," Orland was assistant chairman and selected the queen from a group of Algoma beauties.

He keeps in shape during the summer working in the Algoma Plumber Company.

His favorite food is mince meat pie and chocolate cake. Spaghetti is very definitely out. His favorite beverage is foamy buttermilk. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

As to the tourney leaders and the outstanding players, not only in touch football, but in the other physical and mental skills offered on this year's intramural program.

FIRST of all let us initiate this column by saying that this is written by the Sports editor with his own wee pen and from his own wee mind.

AS never before, the Falcons are attempting an eight-game football schedule. This is also one of the toughest the red and white has ever attempted.

LET'S have all the students out for the first home game against the Gusties here on September 21. This promises to be one of the best games of the season.

CAN you tell us where there are three good cheer leaders? It seems that last year's leaders all graduated!

OUR Sports staff this year is composed of newcomers, but we will try to put out the best sports page ever seen in our college.

NEW students are always aghast as to who that big end or that big tackle is — well, we will remedy that situation this year. A surprise is in store.

SOME students would like to know why football players are always dumb. The reason is that you never get to know them well enough.

Intramural Sports

For the coming school year River Falls has planned the largest intramural program in its history. This varied program was planned by our capable physical education instructor, Cliff Juedes.

Every year the intramural program reaches a larger percentage of the men in the student body. This year Mr. Juedes is still standing by his slogan of a double nature - Participation for All - A Sport for Everyone - in hopes of reaching more upper classmen as well as the freshmen.

Intramurals will again be on the point basis, with the student acquiring the highest total number of points and the students highest in each class receiving medals at the close of the year. Competition has always been keen in the various events, and in the past good sportsmanship has always prevailed.

The program this fall includes cribbage, touch football, a class tourney in table tennis, a swim decathlon, and league bowling.

After a Thanksgiving dinner and the start of a new term, intramurals resume with league and tourney basketball, checkers, table tennis tournaments, and a free throw contest.

The last term finds volley ball, a tennis tourney, horseshoe singles, a softball league, and a track pentathlon on the program.

Intramurals get underway this week when a round robin tourney in touch football is started. Student selected teams should be submitted to Mr. Juedes not later than Wednesday, September 18. These teams should not be more than 14 men and must have a name.

This column will keep you posted

Baseball Stuff

The American League pennant race has turned into a four-way affair with the Indians in the lead followed with the Tigers and Indians leading, followed by the Yanks, & White Sox. That has won 15 out of their last 18 games. Critics would cede this, team no stronger than fourth place, but Jimmy Dykes has shown the fans that he wants a share in the race.

While the American leaguers are battling for the lead, the Reds have cinched the pennant in the senior circuit. The Reds, led by Walters and Derringer, have increased their lead to eight full games. Scribes have predicted a World Championship for this year's Cincinnati team.

Last Sunday the Chicago White Sox feted their ace pitcher in a "Teddy Lyons Day." The players presented Lyons with a new Buick and presents totalling nearly $3000. Lyons joined the team in 1923, directly from college, and in these 18 years he has won 232 victories for his matés. He has well over 2000 strikeouts to his credit.

Dean of Men Issues Report on Students

Dean C. G. Stratton has been busy since registration compiling information concerning the men of RFSTC. He has separate files for choice of religion, for the types of work in which men are engaged, and for men listed according to the towns from which they come.

In the file for religious preferences 148 registered for Lutheran, which seems to be the most popular church group. Methodists have 83 signers and Catholic 75. Twenty-five chose the Congregational church. There were nine signers for each of Baptist and Presbyterian and six for Reformed and Swedish Mission, with Episcopal the choice of five. Thirteen showed no preferences, and nine others were interested in churches other than the ones listed above.

Many of the men students not employed on NYA earn all or a part of their expenses in other occupations.

Fourteen men, mostly agriculture students, are engaged in farm work.

Ten students earn either board or room or both doing housework and general chores about the house and yard.

The hotel, the different cafes, and the college cafeteria employ 18 men students. Nine other men students are employed as boarding club stewards, oil station attendants, and clerks.

Other occupations listed are: salesman, instructor, theater usher, minister, golf club caretaker, milk driver, ice truck, soil conservation reporter, and projectionist.

Wesley League Plans Program for Coming Year

Believing that work can be successfully combined with play, 14 members of the Wesley League cabinet, its president, Don Martin, and Reverend and Mrs. A. R. Henry spent September 7, 8, and 9 at Fishermen's Rest. A number of business meetings, at which the League program for the coming year was discussed and planned, were supplemented by harmonious singing, hilarious laughter, hard beds, and good eats.

Dinner guests Sunday to help do justice to the culinary efforts of our "Queen of the Cook-Stove" were Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Karges and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hoeft. Leaguers present were: Carolyn Goble, Polly Olson, Muriel Pearson, Marjorie Dalquist, Kathryn Kurtz, Genevieve James, Lois Hatch, Dorothy and Bernice Lovell, George Chipman, Roger Winans, Don Martin, Stanley Atkinson, Ray Hoeft, and Jim Grunke.

WCCO Artists Appear At First Assembly

At the first general convocation last Wednesday morning, students were entertained by the comedy musical team of Frank and Esther and by Vince Bernard, impersonator, all from the WCCO Artists' Bureau. Because of the illness of one of the Bob-o-Links, a group previously engaged, a substitute program was provided by WCCO.

Laughter filled the auditorium at the impersonations of Vince Bernard, known as the "One Man March of Time." He presented imitations of Franklin Roosevelt, Charles E. Coughlin, Boake Carter, Tizzy Lish, and Eleanor Roosevelt.

After a short introduction by Mr. Bernard, Frank and Esther appeared before the microphone, Frank ready to play his violin and Esther with her accordian. "It's Mr. and Mrs." was their first selection. Frank performed tricks on his violin, and Esther played and sang a medley of western cowboy songs and one of her own composition, "Daddy Mine."

Frank and Esther have formerly appeared on vaudeville teams and have just completed a tour of the West.

MARRIED

Warren Hanson and Audrey Nelson, both of whom attended RFSTC, were married on September 5 at the Lutheran church in Woodville. They will reside on Mr. Hanson's farm near Frederic.

Melvin Wall and Margaret Boles were married Friday, September 13. Mr. Wall is a member of the college faculty.

Irvin Erickson and Marguerite Saby were married this summer. Mr. Erickson was graduated from the rural course this spring.

Howard Deetz and Eileen McElmurry were married Aug. 20 at Huron, Wisconsin. Mr. Deetz will teach at Silver Lake, Indiana, again this year.

Good Attendance at All-School Mixer

The all school mixer last Tuesday evening attracted old and new students alike. To the tune of the college radiograph the students danced, first one couple, then others until the floor was filled. The benches and gallery were filled with onlookers while those on the crowded floor bumped elbows and went gaily on with their merriment.

About 9:30 p. m. Gene Kay's orchestra from Eau Claire came bustling in. Apparently they were a little late. But no matter. They were appreciated anyway.

For hours the music went on, and so did the dancing. During the course of the evening one noticed many old couples together, with new ones added and a few changes made. When the evening came to a close, there were many happy faces, those who were glad at seeing old friends, meeting new ones, and glad to have shared in the first big social event of the year.

The mixer was sponsored by the Student Senate.
