SUE GREGG is the winner of the 1966 "Daisy Mae" title. She reigned over the festivities of Dogpatch Days last weekend.

Gregg Crowned 'Daisy Mae'

Authorities report nearly every couple in Dogpatch were bound forever during candle-light shotgun weddings Saturday night. The ceremonies were performed by Dogpatch's Justice of the Peace during the fourth annual Dogpatch Dilemma.

Dogpatch gaiety was heightened when Miss Sue Gregg was crowned Daisy Mae, Queen of Dogpatch, to reign over the activities.

Linda Beulke and Don West were honored with a mouse for having the "Dogpatchiest" costumes at the celebration.

The Xpressmen from St. Paul, Minn., provided the newfangled how-down noise for dancing. Colored lights and streamers set the scene with an official "Ace Out-house", a wishing well and a pump to complete it. There was also an abundance of old-fashioned hot hillbilly cider which proved disastrous for many young folk before the evening was over.

Half of Dogpatch's young population was arrested by authorities and placed in Dogpatch Jail for a portion of the evening. But all were released before all activities officially came to a close.

The event was sponsored by Sigma Tau Epsilon fraternity.

Announce New Housing System

Students who are 21 years or older will be allowed to choose their own housing when they come back to WSU-RF next fall, the Personnel Office announced late last week.

Though there had been unofficial statements made by a number of administrative officials including President E. H. Kleinpell pointing to probably uninspected housing for next fall, this was the first official announcement.

In a statement released Thursday from the Personnel Office, University officials pointed out that "uninspected housing" would be observed next year on an experimental basis. Revisions in the new system may come when the program is evaluated next spring.

This policy will be in effect for all students who are 21 years or older by Sept. 1, 1966 and registered for fall quarter, by Dec. 1, 1966 and registered for winter quarter or by March 8 and registered for spring quarter.

The Personnel Office pointed out that University administrators would prefer to house all students on campus, but that anticipated enrollments make this virtually impossible.

The "uninspected housing" release states:

Uninspected Housing

An undergraduate resident student who is twenty-one years of age may select housing in any unit of his choice. Off-campus housing not listed as "University Approved" will not be inspected by the institution and any contracts, agreements, or special arrangements will be the student's responsibility.

Students living in uninspected housing must have the correct local address on the registration card filed with the Registrar each quarter. Any change of address must immediately be reported to the Registrar's Office.

"Approved" Housing

An undergraduate student who is twenty-one years of age may select housing from the "University Approved" list available

RF Campus Of Future Is Revealed

President E. H. Kleinpell gave River Falls city officials a glance of things to come in future campus construction at a dinner meeting last Tuesday evening.

At the same time, the president unveiled a plan for expanding the University complex on the north side of Cascade Avenue, an area which has formerly been thought to be virtually out of the question for campus expansion.

Future expansion on the North Hall side of Cascade Avenue from Spruce Street to Sixth Street, an area of four square blocks excluding the North Hall block, will probably come about because the South Fork area is unsuitable for construction and because Hwy. 29 which passes through the University, will probably be rerouted east of the city after 1971.

Kleinpell asked the city planning commission not to allow any building of "major importance" in this area because the University will probably need it within 10 years.

Presenting long range plans were three State University officials from Madison, architect Bert Anderson, comptroller Robert Winter and public relations man Robert Doyle.

They spoke to members of the River Falls planning commission, city council, utility commission and executive board of the Chamber of Commerce.

The area on the north side of Cascade Avenue has been designated as a "multiple dwelling area" on the proposed city zoning map. Several city officials said after the meeting that they will consider leaving the four blocks a "single dwelling area" to facilitate University expansion.

Since 1950 the University has constructed more than $3.5 million worth of new buildings. Plans for the next two years call for spending $5.5 million for a new dormitory, a Ramer Food Service building and an addition to the Chalmers Davee Library, Kleinpell said.

AAUP Condemns Firing

A group of WSU-RF faculty members have "condemned" the February dismissal of a student University employee for "disloyalty to the University."

In a strongly worded resolution passed last Tuesday, about 35 members of the River Falls chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) stated the firing of Miss Libby Miller, sophomore from Wisconsin Rapids, violates the recent adopted AAUP "Statement on Faculty Responsibility for the Academic Freedom of and Due Process for Students." One person voted against the resolution.

Miss Miller was released from her position as a dormitory assistant counselor in late January by Associate Dean of Students Dr. Nancy Knaak because of alleged "disloyalty to the University."

Miss Miller said that Dr. Knaak told her later that her "disloyalty" included her protests against AWS hours and allowing her name to appear as an officer of "Cherchez Les Coupables" in that organization's publication "Trouvez."

The resolution was a combination of one resolution made last month by Louis Feldhammer, social science instructor, and another presented Tuesday by Dr.

Robert L. Berg, political science professor.

In the resolution, members of the local chapter of AAUP state that no satisfactory answer has been given to the charge that Miss Miller was dismissed because of her opinions and associations.

Dr. Eugene Maier, associate professor of philosophy, moved to delete the words "is to be condemned as an" from the resolution, but this proposal was voted down by about a three to one margin. Dr. Raymond Anderson, political science professor and president of the River Falls chapter of AAUP, told the Student Voice.

The resolution passed Tuesday reads:

"Whereas no satisfactory answer has been given to the charge that Miss Libby Miller was dismissed as an assistant dormitory counselor because of her opinions and associations, and because reasonable cause remains for the belief that she was dismissed as a punishment for her connections and affiliations, the River Falls Chapter of the AAUP offers the following observations:

"(1) that there is no legitimate reason for Miss Miller to have been denied equally with other students the freedom to hold and express her convictions and to join campus groups open to all students on this campus.

"(2) to dismiss for "disloyalty" is to dismiss on the basis of a vague and ill-defined concept that may easily be abused by administrators simply to forestall criticism. Loyalty does not mean uncritical conformity to a prescribed set of rules and regulations, but rather the free and untrammelled expression of ideas and aspirations which, in the nature of the democratic process, calls forth critical comment and the clash of opinion.

"(3) That the action taken against Miss Miller is to deny her that freedom and due process to which the River Falls Chapter of the AAUP feels all students are entitled, and is in violation of the River Falls tradition that this is the campus "where the free spirit prevails."

"The AAUP is forced to conclude that the aforesaid dismissal is to be condemned as an act violating Articles I and II of the "Statement on Faculty Representation for Academic Freedom of and Due Process for Students" that was accepted at the local AAUP meeting of January 1966."

Senate Elections Are Thursday

Student Senate elections will be held this Thursday, April 21. Students will also have an opportunity vote on an amendment to the senate constitution.

Candidates running for the seven vacant positions will have an opportunity to present their views and platforms at an open forum Wednesday, April 20, in North Hall Auditorium at 4:10 p.m.

The STUDENT VOICE will begin interviewing candidates for the Student Senate at 7 p.m. tonight to find out their views and platforms. The VOICE will publish this information in a special Election Extra on Wednesday.

The VOICE will also endorse in the special issue all the candidates it feels will adequately serve the students and the Senate.

Scholarship Deadline Set Back to April 22

"The deadline for scholarship applications was extended until April 22" said Mr. Jack Agnew, financial aids counselor at WSU-RF. The previous deadline was April 15; it was moved because of the Easter break. All but four of financial aid opportunities are affected by the change.

The new deadline is applicable to all students applying for Honor Scholarships and Leadership and Need Scholarships which have replaced "Class A" and "B" scholarships. Agnew said there are "in the neighborhood of about 46 scholarships listed in the WSU-RF catalogue" which will come under this deadline.

The four types of financial aid which do not have the April 22 deadline are Educational Opportunity Grants, National Defense Student Loans, Wisconsin State Welfare Loans, and funds available under the Work Study Program, National Defense Student Loan applications and Wisconsin State Welfare funds for the summer session. Applications for these programs must be submitted by August 1 for fall quarter 1966. There is no application deadline for persons interested in Education Opportunity Grants or the Work-Study Program.

Agnew said applicants for scholarships from the April 22 deadline will be notified by May 15 if they have received a scholarship. These scholarships are based on data processed by computers at Princeton, New Jersey. After processed information is received at WSU-RF it will be reviewed by a scholarship committee appointed by President Kleinpell. This committee will make the final decisions as to who receives scholarships and will notify the recipients.

Agnew expects that "in the neighborhood of 50 percent" of the students who apply will receive scholarships. He explained that there is no way of telling definitely at this time how many applicants will file for the scholarships.

The Educational Opportunity Grants are based on the need of the student and will in no case be over $800 for the 1966 - 67 school year. They may not exceed one half of a student's expenses; the other half of the student's expenses must be met by WSU-RF through the use of jobs, loans or scholarship programs.

To be eligible for the Educational Opportunity Grant (EOG), program a student must be accepted by WSU-RF, maintain good academic standing, be of exceptional financial need and be unable to attend college without an EOG grant.

in the Office of Student Personnel. Leniency in housing rules concerning closing hours or signing in and out will be at the discretion of the householder.

Residence Halls

Undergraduate students who are twenty-one may expect some adjustment in residence hall regulations, such as:

Women students will not be required to sign in and out, and they will have greater choice in closing hours to the degree that this is administratively possible.

The meal contract for the quarter required of other hall residents will be optional for the twenty-one year old.

that the University will have nine dormitories in the Ramer Field complex within the next three or four years.

Anderson said University expansion will also go east on the south side of Cascade Avenue from the present buildings past Ramer Field to the Grotenhuis addition. He asked city officials to put this area in a "moratorium district" to save it for University building.

Anderson predicted that South Hall will be razed in the not too distant future and that a mall will replace it. He also predicted that a new field house will be built south of the campus near the new athletic field which is now under construction. In that event, Karges Center would probably be used more as an auditorium and a site for intramural sports.

The state architect told the city officials that "ambitious plans" to ease the parking problem are now in the planning stages.

Grad Notice

The office of the Registrar asks that all seniors check the tentative graduation list posted on the bulletin board outside the Registrar's Office to see that they are correctly listed.

must be a citizen of the United States, have superior standing in high school classes, college classes, and achievement tests and be a fully accepted student at WSU-RF. A student must also be in need of the loan to begin or continue his college education.

WSU-RF students may qualify for 15 hours of part-time work under the Work Study Program which is part of the Federal Economic Opportunity Act. Federal qualifications for this program limit the assistance to students from families with less than $2,400 a year gross income plus an additional $600 for each dependent child up to a total of $600.

Wisconsin State Welfare Loans are available to Wisconsin residents who are in the upper one half of their high school class or an enrolled student with a 2.0 grade point. Students may borrow up to $750 per year plus $250 for summer session. One percent interest is charged students participating in this program while they are attending school.

Placement Interviews Scheduled

The Placement Bureau has scheduled the following interviews for the next two weeks.

Education majors may interview for jobs with schools from N. St. Paul on Tuesday, April 19; Cambridge, Minn. on the same day during the afternoon; with Whitehall and with Milltown on Thursday, April 21; Niles, Mich. on Saturday, April 23, in the morning after 10 o'clock and with Denmark, Wis. on Monday, May 2 during the afternoon.

The Trane Company will interview for positions on Tuesday, April 19, during the morning and the Boy Scouts will talk with job seekers on Wednesday afternoon, April 20. Interviews are also set for Standard Oil Company on Thursday, April 21 and with the Wisconsin State Department of Public Works on Thursday, April 28, during the afternoon.

'66-'67 Tuition Raised; $42 Increase At R. F.

The price for attending WSU-RF for nine months will increase $42 next year to $965.

The cost of food on the full week plan will be raised from $126 to $132 per quarter.

Room rent in the dorms will also increase $6 from $87 to $93 per quarter.

The only fee raise will be a $2 per quarter hike in the Student Center fee. The other fees will remain where they are for another year with the incidental fee at $70, the student activity and health fee at $13 and the cost of book rental at $5.50. The total fee and textbook rental charges will be $290 for next year at WSU-RF. The same costs at the state universities range from $285 to $296 for the year, according to a report from the board of regents office.

The fees include the basic fee of $210 a year at each university plus student activity fees of $34 to $40, student center fees of $20 to $30, and textbook rental fees of $16 to $20. State University students may purchase their textbooks, but are not required to do so.

Meal charges for the 36 week school year will range from $375 to $400 for 19 to 21 meals a week, an average of about $10.50 to $11 a week. Some of the universities have a lower rate for 14 to 15 meals a week.

Residence hall charges per student in double rooms will range from $279 to $310 for the year, average of $7.75 to $8.60 a week. In some cases the room charges include linen service.

Total costs for fees, meals and room for Wisconsin students living on campus will range from $934 to $996 for the school year. School officials advise students and parents to budget about $400 for the year for other costs, such as transportation, school supplies, snacks, entertainment, laundry, clothing and toilet articles.

Nonresident students will pay an additional $340 a year in tuition.

Following are the charges announced by each university for Wisconsin residents for the school year starting in September 1966: In the following order: Name of the University, Fees and Book Rental, Meals, Room and Total:

Eau Claire, $292, $370, $310, and $972; La Crosse, $296, $400, $280, and $976; Oshkosh, $288, $400, $300, $988; Platteville $294, $370, $288, and $952; River Falls $290, $396, $279 and $965; Stevens Point, $286, $400 $310, and $996; Stout, $292, $398, $296, $986; Superior, $294, $360, $280, and $934; Whitewater $285, $375, $290 and $950.

Students And Taxpayers Share Costs Of Education

The enrollment money a student says at WSU-RF covers only 30 to 40 per cent of the actual cost of his education. C. W. Henriksen, University business manager, told the VOICE last week.

"The remainder of the cost of his college tenure here at River Falls is paid by state taxpayers," he said.

Henriksen stated that with the exception of the $13 student activity fee, all money collected is sent directly to the state treasurer. WSU-RF is granted a certain budget each year and regardless of how much money is sent in to the state, the campus receives only the amount it has been allocated in the budget.

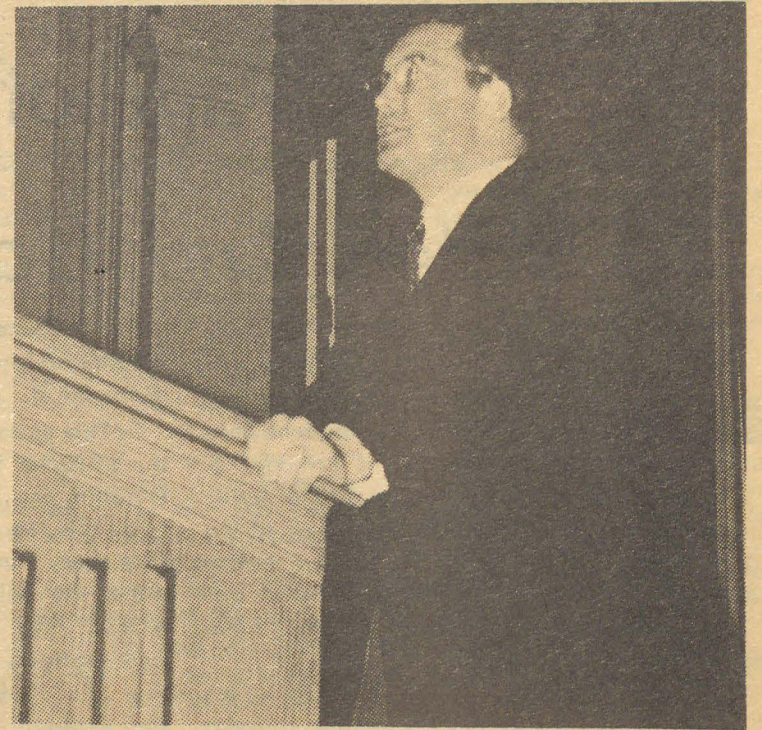

The biggest costs on campus are salaries for teachers, employees and students, Henriksen noted. Students who serve as teaching assistants or perform various functions on the campus receive a modest salary, either from campus funds or the federal government.

This is one of the few areas of campus finance where the state receives assistance from the federal government. The U.S. has a work-study program wherein, with the state to match the funds, needy students are employed to give them needed cash to continue their education.

"These are also on a self-sustaining operation," he emphasized. No tax money is involved in any of these operations, he said. Each is run as a nonprofit organization and receives no help from the state. Dormitory fees, for example, are used to clean and maintain the building and pay off the mortgage. Fees are carefully regulated so the ledger book shows neither too much red or black at the end of each fiscal year.

The $13 student activity fees also are kept on campus to nourish such campus interests as athletics, drama, music, convocations, forensics, The STUDENT VOICE and student government groups.

These units can supplement their income through ticket sales as is seen in athletic and drama

DAVID CARLEY, speaks to Y-Dems last Thursday.

Carley Lauds U.S. Policy Toward Eastern Europe

David Carley, a Democratic candidate for the governor of the State of Wisconsin addressed about fifty WSU-River Falls students last Thursday, April 14.

Carley stated that the "Fulbright hearings on China was the beginning point of a new American foreign policy in Asia.

Carley cited as a myth the assertion that there is solidarity in the Communist world. In support Carley cited his experience while serving the U. S. State Department on a Foreign Service Inspection Team. Visiting Poland during his inspection of the embassy at Germany he asserted that there is a good deal of empathy between the Poles and America.

Carley applauded the Johnson Administration's policy of "Building bridges" to the countries of Eastern Europe. Carley maintained that such a policy towards Asia, and in particular towards Communist China, would be equally effective.

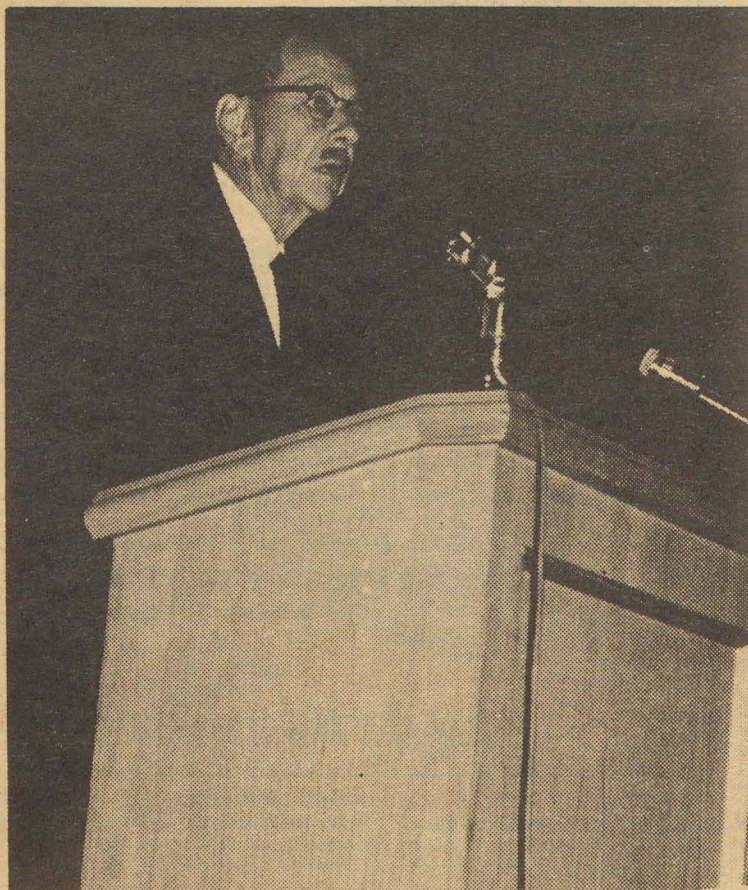

Carley stopped off at River Falls during a spring campaign which will cover 6,800 miles and over 40 different cities.

Changes Made In Credit Load

The Academic Standards Committee has announced changes in the regulations regarding maximum course loads and the period of time at the beginning of a quarter during which students may drop courses. The changes will become effective at the close of the current quarter.

In order to register for as much as 18 credits of work, students, above the freshman level, will need only the approval of their advisors. It will still be necessary to petition the Academic Standards Committee for permission to carry more than 18 credits. For these students, the period during which they may drop courses has been shortened from the current 6 weeks to two weeks following the beginning of classes. During summer sessions, the maximum course load will remain at 12 credits and students will have two weeks during which courses may be dropped.

Regulations for freshmen have not changed. It will be necessary for them to petition to carry any course load involving more than 17 hours of credit and they will continue to have six weeks during which courses may be dropped.

Help Protect Landscape Scientist Urges Students

Man misuses his environment and then expects today's scientist to serve as a witch doctor to save man from his own mistakes.

"Everyone, not just the scientist, must contribute to reducing pollution of the environment and keeping the landscape a decent place to live," said Dr. Paul B. Sears, professor emeritus of botany, Yale University. He spoke to WSU-RF students at a convocation Tuesday.

Dr. Sears referred to the dust storms of the 1930's as an example of what results when man makes changes in his environment which are not to his own good.

The Ohio native, who has done much research in climatic history, said that man is a part of his environment and cannot separate himself from it.

Concerts Held

On Wednesday, April 20, at 11 a.m. the Barron High School Choir will perform in North Hall Auditorium. The choir is under the direction of Edward Thompson, a River Falls graduate. All students and faculty members are welcome to attend.

A Sunday, April 24, performance at 8:00 p.m. in North Hall Auditorium features Gono Kumiko of Japan. She graduated from Kunitachi Music College in Tokyo in 1962 and has been studying with Professor Weiser at the University of Minnesota since the fall of 1963.

The scheduled arrangements include: "Four sonatas", a sonata by Barber, a sonatina by Japanese composer Hisatada O-taka, "Ballade No. 2, F Major" by Chopin, and "Mefisto Waltz" by Liszt.

A Page of Editorial Comment-

To Voters And Candidates

On Thursday of this week the students at Wisconsin State University-River Falls will again go to the polls to choose the people who will represent them on the Student Senate for the ensuing year. This privilege is granted to the students with no official guarantee or restriction to see that the best of the candidates are chosen. Too often the students themselves voice disapproval and disgust with the Student Senators that they have elected.

There can never be a means by which you can insure that only qualified students will run for the Senate; and the means that are available which the students must use to evaluate an individual's qualifications have demonstrated themselves to be insufficient. The average student at River Falls has no knowledge of standard guidelines which he, she, or it (pick the correct one) can use to judge the candidates for office. Basic knowledge concerning student government and its responsibilities and functions is not common enough knowledge among the voting populace. The Legislative Action Committee, by its development of leadership training seminars, has made a fine effort to try to overcome this deficiency, but far too many students fail to recognize that this ignorance exists so they do nothing to try to overcome it.

This state of affairs then, has prompted the STUDENT VOICE to lend their hand to alleviating this blight on our campus. In order to do this, we of the STUDENT VOICE requests that every student running for Senate contact either the editor or managing editor of the VOICE. The VOICE will publish the picture and platform of every candidate running so that the student body can better compare and evaluate. By doing so, we hope to force each candidate to run on a platform, and not on his or her smile, athletic, or animalistic abilities as the case may be.

It is also our intent to retain this statement of intentions and see that it becomes more than that. In some circles, we realize that the keeping of campaign promises is something of a joke. The STUDENT VOICE feels that it is time a few of the campaign promises that are made are kept, and if not kept, the voting populace should be made aware of it so that they might consider it when they vote again. By doing so we hope to develop a closer sense of responsibility between the Student Senate and the student body.

Call To Action

In the WSU-RF system of student government there are 10 student-faculty committees. On March 17, 1966, each of the students on these committees were supposed to submit a report to the Student Senate.

As of April 15 only two of these students had turned in their yearly reports. From this vantage point we can see a rather striking reason for the failure of student government: an immense desire to do but not follow through.

Soren Kierrekegaard has said: that, "It is not the how but the what that counts." It seems that we in the University community have, on all levels, shown concern with the How, but the What, which is most important, seems to over shadowed and passed by.

It seems to us that in order to have an effective student government we must have communication between the student government and the faculty. These groups, after all, are the policy making bodies of the University.

If there is no communication between these groups, and if there is not enough interest taken in the action by the groups then some serious changes must be made.

The Student Voice is willing to facilitate this communication by publishing the committee reports and any other types of government news which would create an active exchange between the voting students and their representatives.

We have in recent editorials drawn attention to the upcoming period of change. This period will demand that we have competent student involvement at all levels of government. It is necessary in this time of transition to have an active student body willing to help present their ideas in the growth of the University.

The student body must run the checks and balances of all their representative bodies. If the student body does not check student government, how can our government representatives effectively represent us.

As a suggestion, perhaps it would be worth while for interested students to storm the senate chambers and call the student representatives and other governmental groups to task for their lack of action.

Student Defender Lauded

An important precedent has been set at the last meeting of the Student-Faculty Rules and Disciplinary Committee. For the first time in the operation of this body, one of the persons charged brought a faculty member to act as Defense counsel.

It has been seen in many of the Committee meetings this year that students brought before the committee do not know their rights not the operating procedure of the committee. As a result, frequently the student is "in awe" of the committee and is unable to present his case in the best possible light.

In addition, the whole committee acts as the prosecution as well as judge and jury. It is difficult for the members of the Committee to fill so many different roles at the same time. Most of the courts of the land and similar bodies in many other universities separate these functions.

In the interest of seeing the best possible justice, it would seem that making a place on the Committee for a permanent Defense Counsel would be a great step in this direction.

Scholarship Series

This is the second series of articles concerning scholarships requirements and scholarships which are available to students.

This is an effort to acquaint students with all of the scholarship possibilities which they can take advantage of in their attempt to gain a university education.

Now is the time to make your application for scholarships to the financial aids officer, Jack Agnue. Each scholarship has an application deadline. The majority of scholarships are awarded during or just after spring quarter.

Commends Evaluation

To The Editor:

The undersigned members of the Freshman English Staff would hereby like to give public recognition to Mr. Peiper, Mr. and Mrs. Liljestrand, and Coordinator Seigler of the student committee on faculty evaluation. A questionnaire of this nature has long been needed on this campus to help the student decide at registration, rather than after he has had first hand experience which section of a course will meet his individual needs and which instructor will best teach him what he needs to learn.

In accordance with the student committee's belief that surveys of popular attitudes are both useful and beneficial, it has been felt that a similar project (which presently still is in the talking stage) might be embarked upon by at least the members of the faculty who teach courses in the basic studies curriculum. Because every student enrolled at WSU-RF is obliged to take Freshman English, this department would be, perhaps, the most appropriate to spearhead such a project.

In brief, this is what the plan would include: 1) At the end of each quarter (beginning as soon as details can be worked out) all students' grades, with the exception of graduating seniors, would be published for public perusal. This would not be evaluating the students; it would merely be reporting them, good or bad, to other members of the University. 2) Also published would be a brief pamphlet summarizing the results of a questionnaire on instructor's informal opinions of students they have had in class. As we all know, a certain amount of discussion concerning students goes on over coffee in the Student Center. We would merely print these verbalizations.

During any given quarter these remarks might well help faculty in evaluating student work. We will try to outline the essential information the faculty member will require in anticipating a student's performance; information dealing with tests, homework assignments, performance; information dealing with tests, homework assignments, and the student's idiosyncrasies will be included. Let us repeat, there will be no "rating" of students—merely a reporting of grades and informal comments.

We hope all of this information (which will be published in loose-leaf form so that additional pages may be inserted later) will serve as an accessible and accurate medium for the faculty during final exam weeks in the future.

The booklet will be available to students and faculty free of charge.

Restricted

To the Editor:

When, as a child, I learned that if something seemed to be bothering me, inside, as I lay silently, before sleeping, I could usually determine the cause merely by probing and questioning that feeling rather than by ignoring it. The method, once working, rarely ever failed to produce not only the cause, but also a certain amount of ease in, at least knowing the problem.

Tonight I again had such a feeling. I knew immediately that it centered about my fiancee. Did

I really love her? If that answer was a definite "yes" or "no", why did the feeling not subside? There must be more; my mind plodded on. I thought of our relationship and it stood fast; I was sure of her love, and I thought, she of mine.

My thoughts turned more to our activities of the day; our limited time together, our quest to be alone, our desire to share with each other.

The answer snapped like the wind whistling outside the room: WE WERE RESTRICTED! Everywhere we turned there existed a rule or AWS board or dorm council or Associate Dean of Women - all existing to PUNISH rather than PROVIDE. My mind went red in anger. What existed (and exists) was so unnatural that the system can do no more or less than create in one a desperate sense of frustration and, in my case, an unconscious push to place judgment on my love upon whom rests so much of me.

You of the administration, you of the world, who do this are deserving of all the hate I can conjure up; alas, my only feeling is one of pity. And I hope someday you gain enough "maturity and responsibility" to stop pretending to be gods.

Why Violence

To The Editor:

On Tuesday morning, March 29, a second march protesting the war in Viet Nam took place.

Behind the protestors, marched a group of men (?) from Prucha Hall known as "The Wild Ones," the CH's, who said they were marching to protect the demonstrators. I am wondering if this was their real reason, or if they were simply out there to show-off and hope that some type of out-break would occur. Since there were law enforcement officers present, it hardly seemed necessary for them to be there, too. I am also wondering what significance their posters had other than to attract attention toward them. Since when can beer bring peace to this world?

On the same day at approximately 6:15, one of the CH's walked up to a Sigma Tau Epsilon pledge and started to harass him because of the helmet he was wearing for pledging. The pledge tried to walk on and ignore him, but was unable to. This two party argument grew larger in number, until it was finally necessary to not only call in Mr. Lowery, but also one of the local police officers to break it up.

If the CH's are as wonderful as they claim they are, then why was it so necessary for them to show off and torment other students? No one does this to them when they wear their sweat-shirts that say, "The Wild Ones - CH's." If these students can't act like normal young adults who have brains in their heads and use them, then I feel the administration should step in.

To the Sigma Tau Epsilon pledges involved in the fight, I would like to say, "Congratulations for showing that it isn't necessary to fight when someone else wants to."

Sincerely yours,
An Upset Student

Stickmen Suffer Four Setbacks

By Steve Walters
Voice Sports Writer

A pair of away double headers have resulted in a 0 - 4 record for the River Falls baseball squad. Double losses to St. Olaf and, for the conference opener, Platteville have marred RF's openers.

The season opener, on Tuesday, April 12, saw the Falcons drop their first games, 9 - 8 and 3 - 2 to Minnesota's St. Olaf. Falcon pitcher Ron Peterson threw the first four innings and was replaced by Scott Gaalaas in the high-scoring duel. Peterson however, took the loss. In the second game, the 3-2 loss, pitcher Art Johnson was replaced in the middle innings by freshman Bob Dorn who inherited the 1-0 Olaf lead. On Dorn's single and Dick Hodgkins' home-run, RF posted a 2-1 lead until St. Olaf scored two runs in late innings for the winning margin and Dorn's loss.

On Friday, the squad travelled to Platteville for Saturday's conference opener. The first game went 12 innings but found the Pioneers emerging with a 3-2 win. In the twelfth inning, bases loaded antics accounted for the Platteville third and winning run. Pitcher Ron Peterson went the full 12 innings, allowing eight hits, and took his second loss.

In the second game, Falcon Art Johnson threw a five hitter, only to lose by a 4-0 margin. After Platteville put together their hits for four runs, RF couldn't tap the Pioneer lefty hurler and suffered their first shutout.

Next action for Coach Page's squad falls on Tuesday when the team travels to Stevens Point for a non-conference tilt. Back in action on Saturday, the Falcons play host to Eau Claire at Ellsworth's field.

According to golf coach, Ben Bergsrud, 21 men are out for the team. In a 54 hole qualifying match held at the River Falls golf course on Friday and Saturday, 13 men qualified for top positions.

unable to play on Saturday, shot a 76 on Friday.

Other scorers were Ken Isaac, Luck, 270; Stanley Johnson, 284; John Bosack, Clear Falls, Wis., 289; John Gilbert, Oskaloosa, Iowa, 292.

Coach Bergsrud said that he thought his team would be definitely improved and tougher this year than in previous seasons. Last year the Falcons placed sixth out of nine teams.

... Last year the Falcons. teams.

Miller, who placed 26th in the State meet last year, won 11 1/2 points out of a possible 18 in dual matches last season.

Olson placed 32nd in the state out of 45 competitors and is expected to average from 78 to 81 this year.

Ganske placed 26th in the state competition at Green Lake last season and won 12 1/2 out of a possible 18 in dual matches. Abel placed 23rd in state competition last season.

The Falcons last year posted a 3-4 record while placing fourth in the state.

COACH BEN BERGRUD and Ken Olson, Hudson sophomore, prepare for the opening match which was scheduled this afternoon against St. Olaf.

Thinlads Drop One At La Crosse

By Mike Norman
Voice Sports Writer

In sports history a favored team's loss has always been pictured as a black day for the home town rooters. Well, it was an overcast day and although the River Fallians were not the favored sons it was a dreary day for the RF tracksters.

In a triangular meet with Platteville and LaCrosse last Saturday the Falconmen compiled 12 points while LaCrosse piled up 103 to the Pioneer's second place total of 48.

In the meet held at LaCrosse the Falcons managed only one second. That was captured by Dean Madsen, freshman from Spring Valley, in the 120 yd. high hurdles. Jon Ubbehlohe Milltown finished with a third in the high hurdles for the one third place. River Falls tallied its other points with three fourth place finishes. Tom Staiger, Prescott, finished fourth in the 880 while Guy Bartolain, Lake Bluff, Ill., came in fourth in the three mile and Capt. Dave Wirtala, Owen-Withee, threw the javelin for a fourth place finish.

Next meet for the trackmen will be this Wednesday at Hudson.

New Basketball Coach Appointed

Robert Swander of Bloomington, Indiana, has accepted the position of head basketball coach and will begin his new duties Aug. 1.

Swander, 31, attended high school in Yorktown, Ind., and earned his B.S. degree at Memphis State College and the M.S. degree at the University of Florida. He is currently working toward the Ph.D. degree at Indiana University.

He served as head basketball coach at the Zion, Ill., high school, and at South Side Central High School in Muncie, Ind. and he was assistant basketball coach at the University of Florida for one year. He traveled for a year with the Harlem Globetrotters as a member of the team who provided their opposition.

"I've never seen so many dopes on one campus in my life," magazine writer Richard Goldmine said Thursday at Truax Field before leaving Madison after a visit to the University.

Many of the students, Goldmine said, congregate in a circle around the Library Mall, forming a so-called "dope ring." Some of the dopes make a habit of shoving other dopes into the fountain pool. There are several of these notorious "pushers" involved in the dope ring. Goldmine added.

Undergraduate students in the University of Rochester's College of Arts and Science may elect to receive a grade of Satisfactory or Fail in one course each semester, starting with this semester.

The new system, which has been authorized by the faculty of the College, is designed to reduce the pressure for grades and to enable students to become more "venturesome" in their choice of courses, according to Dean Kenneth Clark.

Intercollegiate Press Bulletin

A guaranteed tuition has been adopted by Westminster College which insures parents or students entering into an agreement with the college that tuition and fees will not increase during four consecutive years. Under the plan, the college guarantees that the yearly cost for tuition and fees will continue at the same rate for four years and that these rates will stand whether or not the college raises its scheduled fees during these four years.

College officials at Augustana College have announced formal organization of a Campus Church, the first congregation, made up exclusively of students, in the 3 1/4 million - member Lutheran Church in America. The students' attitude toward establishing their own church: "College students need to be challenged by a ministry which is aimed directly at their own needs and interests."

Should unmarried women over 18 be eligible for the draft? A surprising 50 per cent of the UWM students were willing to see the girls go.

"Since the U.S. will probably be in Vietnam a long time, I feel warlike couples should settle there, one student said. "They could raise their children to hate and kill the Vietnamese. This would be a big boon to the Army!"

AN EXHIBIT in the Wisconsin Designer-Craftsmen art show being held in the Student Center Gallery.

Wisconsin Designer-Craftsmen Art Called "Hodgepodge;" Pottery Praised

By LIBBY MILLER
 Voice Art Writer

The exhibit being displayed in the University Art Gallery until April 26 was assembled under the auspices of the Wisconsin Designer - Craftsmen. The works are a melange that fail to be consistent with the organization's title and many of them are not even consistent within themselves.

The best example of this hodgepodge is a bright velvet, felt, and net wall hanging which looks like a five-year old's attempt to make a pretty dress for Dolly, without the five-year old's intuitive sense of design.

These play things share the gallery with some well-made pottery and attractive leather bound books.

Negative criticism is tempered by a few well executed and executed works: a silver ladle, printed fabric hangings and a hand woven dress.

The variety in quality of these works stems from the art department's decision to show the exhibit but to show all of the WDC entries. These are not representative of Wisconsin's finest efforts in the crafts. At least we hope not.

Dialogue

By Roger Gratiot

Bernard Baruch stated that, "every man has a right to his opinions, but no man should be wrong about his facts." The VOICE has become concerned that WSU-RF seems to practice the first tenet of Baruch's thesis out ignores the last.

Thus, as a direct result of the anti-Viet Nam war activities which took place on our campus three weeks ago, a weekly article will be printed in the VOICE revealing the major premise and attitude of pro and con factions of the Viet Nam question.

All groups on campus are invited to make an appointment with The VOICE so that their views may be printed.

The March 31 dialogue -- discussion on Viet Nam, held in the Student Center, resulted in convincing arguments for both sides of the war question. Even a foreign student was heard and he added much to the program. Unfortunately, the factions upholding U. S. actions in the conflict were badly outnumbered and their views were not effective.

It is hoped they can be better represented in this series of articles so that both sides can be explored.

Africa Tops U.S. In Making 'Fast Buck'

Matthew Corshu, a student on our campus from Sierra Leone, West Africa, has a bigger smile than usual these days. His country as out-foxed the U.S. at the game of "how to make a buck."

The New York Times has revealed that the West African nation has marketed a self-sticking postage stamp. And that's not all. The paper which is peeled from the back of the stamp to expose the glue has advertisements printed on it. The revenue from these ads help defray the cost of printing the stamps.

Student Voice

VOLUME 50 NUMBER 25

WISCONSIN STATE UNIVERSITY-RIVER FALLS

Voice Endorses Five Candidates

Stower Favored For Chair

By endorsing candidates for the position of Student Senator, THE STUDENT VOICE is undertaking what we feel is a new and vital aspect of journalism on this campus. It is our purpose in doing this to try to ascertain that the individuals elected to the Senate are truly qualified individuals who possess some qualities which we feel should be held by a student representing the student body. We are trying to call the voters attention, and indirectly also the attention of the candidates, to what we feel is the function and purpose of Student Senate. We also are striving to develop a sense of responsibility in the elected Student Senators and to this and we encourage each voter to keep this copy of the VOICE to see how each senator elect fulfilled his platform promises.

The editorial board of the VOICE would like to congratulate all candidates who had the initiative to run for office. We would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank each one of them for cooperating so kindly with us in our attempt to evaluate them. Whatever the results of the election, the VOICE would like to encourage each candidate to continue his interest in student government; it is the rare student who has enough pride in his university to try to improve it.

The most important individual on the Student Senate, or any other governing body is the president. The VOICE is of the opinion that there is only one individual who comes close to meeting our specifications for that office, and that is Harvey Stower.

Stower possesses a complete understanding of the role of Senate, not just as it applies to the students who attend this university, but also as it applies to the university and the problems it faces. He has to his credit more practical experience in student government than any of the other candidates. More important than that, he recognizes the main function of the Student Senate as helping to improve the academic climate at River Falls. He possesses the ability to unite people behind him and proceed towards a common goal. He also has the needed attribute of being able to communicate effectively between students, faculty, and administration.

Charles Wolfe is a newcomer to politics on the campus, but it is the opinion of the VOICE that he has put the most thought into his platform of all the candidates. Wolfe has a fresh approach to student government, an approach that this campus is in dire need of.

His platform grasps the very essence of the problems facing the University, and there by facing the Senate. That is, he is orientated toward the improvement of the educational climate at River Falls. He also possesses a much needed insight into the relationship between the University and the city of River Falls, have participated directly in both communities.

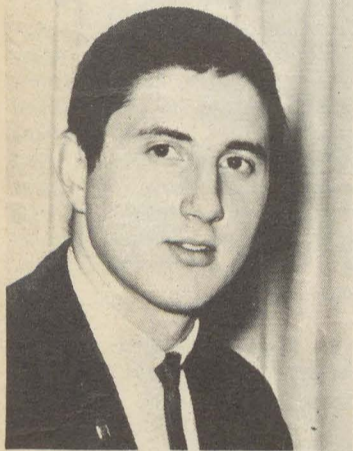

The STUDENT VOICE also endorses Bob Rasmussen for election to the Senate. Rasmussen has served on the Senate this past year and has shown the greatest improvement of any Senator there, until he has reached the point where he equals the potential of those who have been around much longer. He possesses ses the rare ability of being able to grasp the implications of a situation and evaluate the results of certain action. We feel he can supply the needed enthusiasm and idealism that is necessary for the proper functioning of the Senate.

By endorsing Marilyn Nielsen, the STUDENT VOICE among other things is trying to keep the Senate beautiful. Nielsen's more important attributes are a consistent willingness to speak out and fight for the rights of students as she sees them. She has proved to be one of those energetic individuals who maintain their energy long enough to complete the task they set out to do. Nielsen also favors a much needed uniformity and consistency in University policy.

For its final endorsement, the STUDENT VOICE would like to cast its support to Keith Rodli. We feel Rodli has the experience necessary to be a capable Senator. He understands the relationships between the University and the Student Senate and this experience should prove to be valuable in the ensuing year. It is the hope of the VOICE that he uses this experience to work solely for the improvement of the university. Rodli will provide a necessary balance on the Senate as he has proved to be a fiscal conservative slow to alienate the administration.

In making our endorsements, the VOICE has tried to combine the many different types of people that is necessary for the proper system of checks and balances that is essential for the proper and just functioning of any governmental body. We would again like to urge you to vote especially for the candidates which we have endorsed.

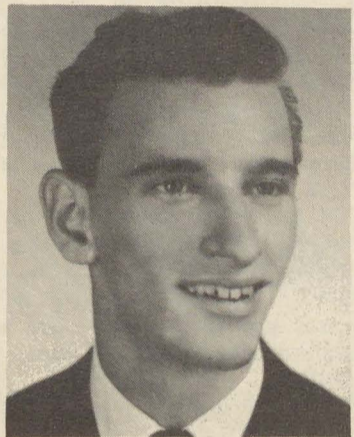

Harvey Stower

The role of the Senate must be one of leadership for student life at the University, and not merely a reflection of the status quo. The Senate, confronting the problems of rapid growth at River Falls, should first seek to develop means of administration, faculty and student unity in attaining common goals for the betterment of the University.

The Senate must work for higher academic standards, toward more student participation in the activities of the University, increased communications between the campus and the surrounding area, better communications within the campus, and examinations of the issues and values not only within the campus but in our total society.

The students should ask for an increase in the academic standards at River Falls. The greatest honor on campus might be focused on the scholar and not on the athlete, the socialite, or the person in student government.

The Senate and LAC should maintain open forums in the Union and dormitories, in order to promote constant dialogue on issues affecting the lives of all students.

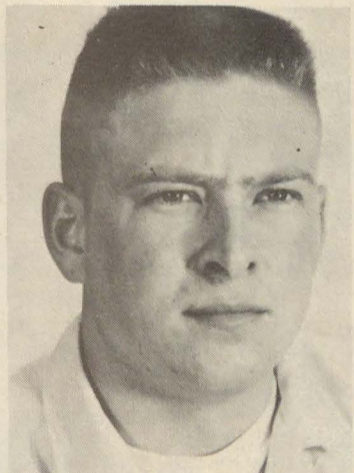

Charles Wolfe

The Student Senate has a greater potential than any other student organization to aid the student body and the university in the following areas: creation of dialogue between the student body and faculty and administration; aiding campus organizations in fulfilling their goals; augmenting the educational advantages of the River Falls Student body and improving the university's image among area residents. The Senate can only they realize its potential if Senators are willing to take their jobs seriously and act with thoughtfulness and foresight.

I would like to see the following programs take form on campus.

A forum for campus organizations (somewhat similar to SAC) which will serve as a place to exchange ideas and solve inter-organizational problems.

An increase in the number of situations in which faculty, students and administration can engage in meaningful dialogue.

Bob Rasmussen

During the past year the Student Senate has been in a period of transition. It is quite evident that this transition is going to continue in the coming year. We must be willing to accept change and new possibilities for changes in Student Government on this campus.

These Changes might include greater delegation of power from Senate to its subcommittees, especially to the University Activities Board, which should handle such things as Big Name Entertainment, the Campus Bloodmobile, and possibly Homecoming, Winter Carnival, and Prom.

Student Government should be basically a continuation of the educational process. (To do this, Student Senate should concern itself more with the formation of general policy, rather than the day to day running of campus activities.)

Although Student Senate should cooperate with the Administration, whenever possible, we must also remember, that our basic responsibility is to the students.

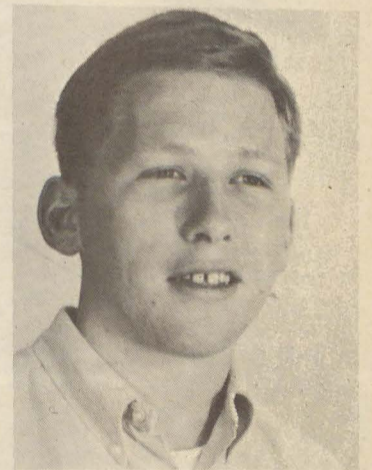

Marilyn Nielsen

Any action I take toward cooperation and good fellowship in the school is preceded by my belief in students rights. If this university fails to recognize students rights and privileges it is the responsibility of the student to defend students and to work on the student's behalf.

Cooperation and good fellowship in the school must be in striving to make this an educational institution. Therefore dissent and discussion are to be encouraged. This can be done by having one hour each week set aside for convocation purposes.

By working for such projects as a student traffic court, removal of Jr. women on the mandatory food plan, follow through with the faculty-course evaluation, and bring in a Board of Regents member at least once a quarter to inform us of their actions.

Keith Rodli

Relations with administrations: the expression "play ball" has met considerable criticism during the past year. My definition of "playing ball" is not to cater to the administration's demands but rather to work cooperatively with the administration. Progress can come only through cooperation and not through selfish demands.

Allotments: during the past year, the Student Senate has freely allotted money to organizations and causes, paying little heed to the financial situation of the Senate. Next year I would like to see allotment requests be referred to the Budget Committee.

Elections Thursday--

Tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. the students of WSU-River Falls will choose representatives for the coming school year to represent them in Student Government.

We will have students elected as class officers, as members of the Student Senate at large and we will also vote on an amendment to the constitution.

It seems the duty of each of the students to vote tomorrow. To choose responsible leadership, and to make responsible legislative choices you must exercise your rights and duties as a student. The most valuable is the right to vote for your Voice in student government.

Each time one student ignores his University by not casting a vote for his leadership, he is slowly putting one more shovel of dirt on an already deepening grave. Their is little hope for apathy, none for indifference to action, but to the cry "I don't want to vote," there is nothing left but the grave.

You see this problem of "not voting" on every level, state, local and national. But we are the core of the problem, we are tomorrows leaders and tomorrows men and women of government, if today we do not vote then tomorrow we will lie in apathy's grave.

In this sense on Thursday we must all vote and choose our leadership for our University. We must look at the issues and ideas which these candidates represent. This is a University and the days of popularity contests in the name of Student Government Elections should be over.

Vote tomorrow, stand behind your choice and call him to task when he does not fulfill his campaign promises.

Candidates For Student Senate

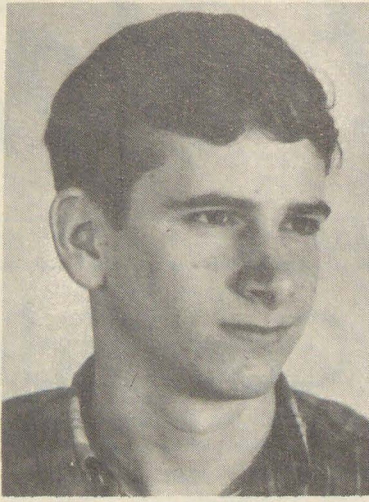

Dave Bushy

If elected to the Student Senate, I would endeavor to unite the student body with the Student Senate in an attempt to make a more effective working body. Without such a working body we might just as well, as some have suggested, abolish the Student Senate altogether.

I would also do my fair share in bringing the senators to a better understanding among themselves. During the past year we have not seen as much accomplished through the Senate as might have been possible had the senators been working together more smoothly. I believe this problem can be alleviated if each senator will do his part.

As far as particular interests are concerned, I feel that as a representative of the student body, I would ask the students to express their opinions to me and I would bring these wishes before the senate for their consideration.

Charles Feltes

The senate should study the feasibility of an Educational Coordinating Committee. This committee would work closely with the administration on academic matters. Projects this committee could undertake would include teacher-course evaluation, freshmen handbooks, Go to College Day, Leadership Training Program and other appropriate but noble projects.

The senate should in the future cooperate with AWS in trying to achieve more equitable women's hours.

The President of the Senate should be required to submit a Senate Business Agenda to the Student Voice or Supplement before each regularly scheduled Senate meeting.

Student Senators should be disqualified from holding seats on LAC.

Sue Finke

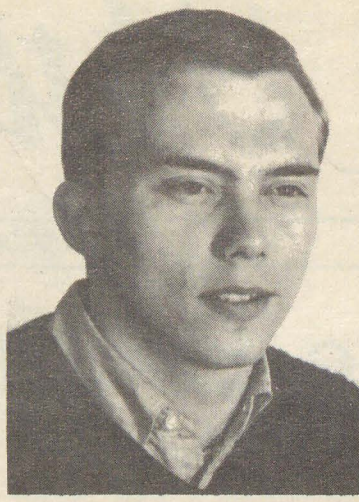

I will strive for better communication between faculty administration and students.

I hope to work on constructive projects to benefit the student; i. e. parking facilities, Student Center facilities, and food service.

I would like to see the Senate becoming a "working" body and not just a decision making body.

I am in favor of River Falls participation in United Council and hope to improve its standing on campus.

I feel there is a definite lack of communication between students, between students and faculty, between everyone. I hope to arouse enough interest among all of us to improve this situation.

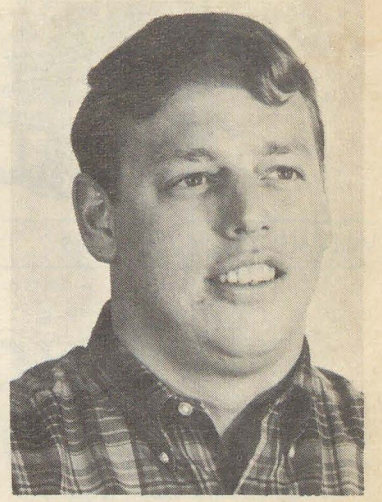

Kurt Kleinhans

I believe a Senator's job is to represent the views of the students who have elected him and not to use the Senate for private vendettas. I also feel that the Senate's job should be concerned with events on our own campus and not mingle with state and national affairs.

I would submit proposals to increase the activities of UAB to include the supervision of Homecoming and Winter Carnival, provided the student body has a larger voice in the selection of UAB members.

I feel the senate should attempt to use its influence to urge the Rules and Disciplinary Committee to review more of the cases presented to it. Also a student defender would be beneficial.

I also support the Senate constitutional amendment which advocates the separation of the offices of Student Senator and class president.

Bob Petersen

I believe that the students should be represented on Senate. Presently they are not. I sincerely believe that not enough time is being spent by senators accessing the public opinion. It is foolish to make campaign promises as they have very little meaning and are forgotten after the election. This is why I believe that they are unnecessary. If elected I will continue to vote for the student irregardless of my own personal opinions.

I believe that the students should be represented on Senate.

Three Men Vie For Senior Class Presidency

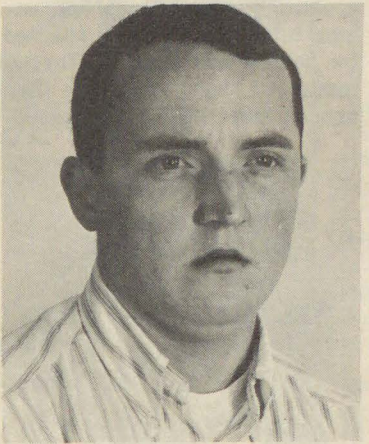

John Bosak

I believe that the student as well as the student senate needs to see more of the Administrative side of the picture. I endorse more class participation in such functions as the President's Roundtable and coffee hours.

The senior class is the last time our group will have a chance to do something constructive and lasting for the school. We must have closer participation in our determined projects.

We, as a unified group should seek to reestablish as a vital functioning body the class system using our many and varied talents along with effective leadership.

The senior class should be the leaders of the campus and should play a more vital role in the leadership of all the campus.

Jack Brown

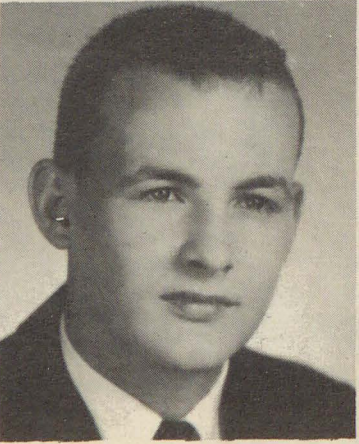

The status of the classes should be brought, so that an awareness of these class structures is distinguishable.

We should bring in more companies to talk to interested seniors concerning Job Placement.

I think that we could present more cultural orientated entertainment in our social programs.

I feel that we can cut graduation costs by using the money we have in the treasury or if this is not necessary then donate this money to some appropriate cause.

Give the senior class responsible representation on Student Senate.

Phil Foster

I will represent the wishes of the largest possible number of classmates in action taken by the class.

I will bring more information concerning student and class affairs to the attention of the class.

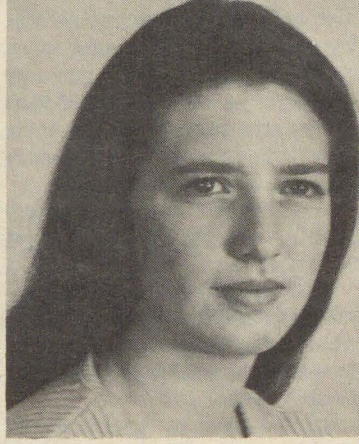

I will be a responsible leader and make graduation the best ever.

I will see that the senior class funds are spent with best wishes to the majority of students in mind.

I will hold more class meetings and activities where members of the class take part.

As a future member of the Senate, I feel there should be a more responsible, representative mature Student Senate which would meet the needs of the faculty as well as the students in University affairs.

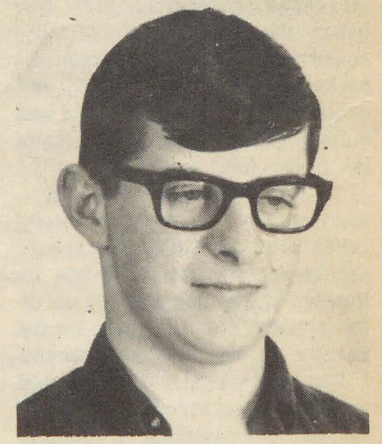

Only One Candidate In Sophomore, Junior Class

Donna Kraeger

As junior class president I will strive for one goal and to meet it. This will be through at least one event sponsored by the class and to donate the funds to some campus project if the class does not have the need for the money.

As a senator I will help the functioning of the administration and its policies concerning the students and vice versa. Also to take concern of the students to benefit them and their organizations through their ideas and actions and to help to make and administer the student government for the benefit of the students and the university.

John Harter

I feel we must have a unification of our class to create school spirit among our class. A re-evaluation of freshmen initiation. This could be done by keeping homecoming for the alumni not freshmen and have initiation during a freshman week, earlier in the year.

Big name band for class party.

Quarterly class meetings for appropriating money discussing class projects and current senate issues.

Polls Open Thursday--8 a.m. to 6 p.m.
