METHODISTS SWAMPED IN RETURN ENGAGEMENT—10-1

That strange and unheard of things can happen in the baseball world on cold and rainy afternoons, was conclusively demonstrated by the Falls nine in their return engagement with Hamline Tuesday, April 26, when the Methodists went under for a ten to one beating.

Luther was again on the mound for the locals and added another nine innings of brilliant pitching to his string; this time being backed by errorless fielding and the kind of walling that would sooth any slab artist into a state of contentment.

Ray Smith, who did the "shut-out" stunt here the previous week, did not appear on the hillock for the Methodists, preferring to rest up for the opening conference tilt with St. Thomas. Maybe Ray had a premonition.

Minot Recruit Gets Awful Lacing

Paulda, the Minot recruit, was made to order for the local club swingers. Gurnoe, batting lead-off, smashed one of his offerings for a screaming double, and from then on, until the first of the third when he was yanked in favor of Koplan, the chilly spring air was constantly in motion by the reverberations issuing from the big bludgeons of the revengeful Chandlerites. Carlson scored Gurnoe on a clean single. Davis then gave the bewildered Paulda a ray of hope by whiffing, but the relief was of short duration, for Johnson, Olson, Melvin and Carolan banged out consecutive singles, bringing three more tallies over the platter. Fahland then struck out and Luther retired the side by forcing Melvin at third on a fielder's choice.

The second was productive of two more runs for the locals. The batting order had made one complete revolution during the wild opening frame, and Gurnoe, who was again first man up, duplicated his previous performance by slashing out his second double. Carlson sacrificed and Davis brought Gurnoe home with a single. Johnson put Davis on second with another sacrifice and Olson slammed a double scoring Davis. Melvin retired the side with a fly to center.

At this point Mr. Paulda departed from the riotous scene with his pitching system full of knots. Koplan followed and stemmed the tide for a brief two innings, but in the fifth he fell into the erring footsteps of his predecessor and by the time the final out-out had been made in the ninth, four more tallies had raced across

In the fifth Johnson walked. Olson singled, and Johnson was caught trying to make third on the play. Olson pulled up to second while the put-out was being made. Melvin got a life on Ames' error, Olson taking third. Carolan struck out but Barnes allowed Olson to score when he muffed Fahland's grounder. Luther grounded to short for a third put-out.

Two more runs were scored in the seventh on singles by Olson and Melvin. A sacrifice hit by Carolan, an error by Kobs and a hit batsman.

Olson scored the final run in the ninth when he drew his fifth consecutive hit, taking second on Melvin's sacrifice, third on another sacrifice by Carolan, and scored on Fahland's single.

The Methodists' only run came in the first inning. Barnes walked and stole second. Erickson struck out, and Hartfield sacrificed. The latter then pulled a bit of dirty baseball by blocking Olson and delaying his throw to the plate, thus allowing the speedy Barnes to count.

Olson's batting was the outstanding feature of the matinee. The lanky first baseman did himself proud by drawing a double and four singles out of five trips to the plate. He is now leading the local swatsmen by a comfortable margin.

ASSEMBLY

The current topic last Thursday morning was given by Helen Pittman. Her topic was on Aviation and revealed some surprising facts concerning the condition of our war-time aviation system.

The remainder of the hour was given over to Miss Hollister. Her subject was "Fairy Tales," which she dealt with in a most interesting way. To illustrate how a fair world is a better world to the child she gave several readings, which she afterward interpreted to the real meaning which underlies the seemingly childish fairy story.

Mr. Ames made a trip to Madison last Saturday, where he attended a meeting of a special committee on Normal school budgets.

Mr. Jacobson made a very interesting talk on intensification and reduction of films. A few of the members made themselves conspicuous by their absence.
